1 The virgins looking for the Bridegrome. 13 Wee must watch. 14 The talents deliuered vnto the seruants. 24 The euill seruant. 30 After what sort the last iudgement shalbe. 41 The cursed.

THen 1 the kingdome of heauen shalbe likened vnto tenne virgins, which tooke their lampes, and a went foorth to meete the bridegrome.
2 And fiue of them were wise, & fiue foolish.

1 Wee must desire strength at Gods hand, which may serue vs as a torche while we walke through this darkenesse, to bring vs to our desired ende: otherwise if wee become slouthfull and negligent as wearie of our paines and trauell, we shalbe shut out of the doores. a The pompe of brideales was wont for the most part to bee kept in the night season, and that by damsels.

3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke none oyle with them.

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Nowe while the bridegrome taried long, all b slumbred and slept.

b Their eyes being heauie with sleepe.

6 And at midnight there was a crie made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meete him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish said to the wise, Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, Not so, least there will not be ynough for vs and you: but goe ye rather to them that sell, and bye for your selues.

10 And while they went to bye, the bridegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, I knowe you not.

13 ✠Watch therfore: for ye know neither the day, nor the houre, when the sonne of man will come.

✠Luke 19.12, 13. 2 Christ witnesseth that there shal be a long time, betweene his departure to his father, and his comming againe to vs, but notwithstanding, that he will at that day take an account not onely of the rebellious and obstinate, how they haue bestowed that which they receiued of him, but also of his houshold seruants, which haue not through slothfulnesse employed those gifts which he bestowed vpon them.

15 And vnto one he gaue fiue talents, & to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his own c habilitie, & straightway went frõ home.

c According to the discretion and skill in dealing, which was giuen them.

16 Then he that had receiued the fiue talents, went and occupied with them, and gained other fiue talents.

17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, hee also gained other two.

18 But he that receiued that one, went & digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came hee that had receiued fiue talents, and brought other fiue talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me fiue talents: behold, I haue gained with them other fiue talents.

21 Then his master saide vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: d enter into thy masters ioy.

d Come & receiue the fruite of my goodnesse: nowe the Lords ioy is doubled, Iohn 15.11. that my ioy may remaine in you, and your ioy be full.

22 Also he ŷ had receiued two talents, came, and said, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talẽts more.

23 His master saide vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in litle, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter into thy masters ioy.

24 Then hee which had receiued the one talent, came, & said, Master, I knewe that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraide, and went, & hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.

26 And his master answered, & said vnto him, Thou euill seruant, and slouthfull, thou knewest that I reape where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to ŷ e exchangers, & then at my comming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

4 And

4 And consulted together that they might take Iesus by subtiltie, and kill him.
5 But they saide, Not on the [a] feast day, least 6 ¶ ✠ 3 And when Iesus was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, 7 [b] There came vnto him a woman, which had a [c] boxe of very costly oyntment, and pow-red it on his head, as he sate at the table.

8 And when his [d] disciples sawe it, they had indignation, saying, What needed this [e] waste?
9 For this oyntment might haue bene solde for much, and bene giuen to the poore.
10 4 And Iesus knowing it, saide vnto them, Why trouble yee the woman? for shee hath wrought a good worke vpon me.
11 ✠ 5 For yee haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.
12 For [f] in that she powred this oyntment on my body, she did it to burie me.
13 Verely I say vnto you, Wheresoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached throughout all the world,

14 ¶ ∵ Then one of the twelue, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priestes, 15 And saide, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they appointed vnto him thirtie pieces of siluer.
16 And from that time, he sought opportunitie to betray him.
17 ¶ ⁜ 6 Nowe [g] on the first day of the feast of vnleauened bread the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that wee prepare for thee to eate the Passeouer?
18 And he saide, Goe ye into the citie to such a man, and say to him, The master saith, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Passeouer at thine house with my disciples.
19 And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made readie the Passeouer.
20 ✠ So when the Euen was come, hee [h] sate downe with the twelue.
21 And as they did eate, hee saide, * Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.
22 And they were exceeding sorowfull, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?
23 And hee answered and saide, ✠ Hee that [i] dippeth his hand with me in the dish, he shall 24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had beene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

25 Then Iudas [k] which betraied him, answered, and saide, Is it I, master? He saide vnto him, Thou hast said it.
26 ¶ 7 ✠ And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had [l] blessed, he brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and saide, Take, eate: [m] this is my body.
27 Also he tooke the cuppe, and when he had giuen thankes, he gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye [n] all of it.
28 [o] For this is my blood of the [p] Newe Testament, that is shedde for many, for the remission of sinnes.
29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruite of the vine vntil that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdome.
30 And when they had sung [q] a Psalme, they went out into the mount of Oliues.
31 ¶ 8 ✠ Then saide Iesus vnto them, All yee shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I ∵ will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe of the flocke shalbe scattered.
32 But ⁜ after I am risen againe, I will goe before you into Galile.
33 But Peter answered, and saide vnto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee,
yet will I neuer be offended.
34 ✠ Iesus saide vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrise.
35 Peter saide vnto him, Though I should die with thee, I will in no case denie thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.
36 ¶ * 9 Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, & said vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe, and pray yonder.
37 And hee tooke vnto him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorowfull, and [r] grieuously troubled.
38 10 Then saide Iesus vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarie ye here, and watch with me.
39 So he went a litle further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, [s] let this [t] cup passe from me: neuerthelesse, not as I will, but as thou wilt.
40 11 After, hee came vnto the disciples, and founde them a sleepe, and saide to Peter, What?
coulde ye not watch with me one houre?

a By this worde Feast, is meant the whole feast of vnleauened bread: the first and eight day whereof were so holy, that they might do no maner of worke therein, though the whole companie of the Sanhedrin determined otherwise: And yet it came to passe through Gods prouidence, that Christ suffered at that time, to the ende that all the people of Israel might be witnesses of his euerlasting sacrifice.

42 Againe he went away the second time, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if this cuppe cannot passe away from me, but that I must drinke it, thy 43 And he came, and found them a sleepe alaide hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drewe his sword, and strooke a seruaunt of the high Priest, and smote off his eare.

15 3 Nowe at the feast, the gouernour was wont to deliuer vnto the people a prisoner whom

6 ¶ [2] And the Pharises departed, and straight-

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.
21 [4] And when his [n] kinsfolkes heard of it, they went out to lay holde on him: for they sayde that he was beside himselfe.
22 ¶ ✠ And the Scribes which came downe fro Hierusalem, saide, He hath Beelzebub, & through

23 But he called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satan driue out Satan?
24 For if a kingdome bee deuided against it selfe, that kingdome cannot stand.
25 Or if a house be deuided against it selfe, that

AND ∵ hee began againe to teache by the a sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that hee entred into a shippe, and sate b in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.
2 And he taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them in his doctrine, 3 1 Hearken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sowe.
4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the foules of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.
5 And some fell on stonie grounde, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.
6 But assoone as ẏ Sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not roote, it withered away.
7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grewe vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruite.
8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yeelde fruite that sprong vp, and grewe, and it brought foorth, some thirtie folde, some sixtie folde, and some an hundreth folde.
9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.
10 And whē he was c alone, they that were d about him with the twelue, asked him of ẏ parable.
11 And he sayd vnto them, To you it is giuen to knowe the mysterie of the kingdome of God:
but vnto them that are e without, all things bee done in parables,
12 ✠ That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing, may heare, and not vn-derstand, least at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should be forgiuen them.
13 Againe he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? howe then should ye vnderstand all other parables?
14 The sower soweth the worde.
15 And these are they that receiue the seede
by the wayes side, in whome the worde is sowen:
but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth im-mediatly, and taketh away the worde that was sowen in their hearts.
16 And likewise they that receiue the seede in stony ground, are they, which whē they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse.
17 Yet haue they no roote in themselues, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the worde, immediatly they be offended.
18 Also they that receiue the seede among the thornes, are such as heare the worde: 19 But the cares f of this world, and the ✠ de-ceitfulnes of riches, and the lustes of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.
20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the worde, and receiue it, and bring foorth fruite: one corne thirtie, another sixtie, and some an hundreth.
21 ¶ 2 Also he sayd vnto them, ✠ Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlesticke?
22 ∵ For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.
23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him

24 3 And he sayd vnto them, Take heede what ye heare. ✠ With what measure ye mete, it shall be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.
25 ✻ For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.
26 ¶ 4 Also he said, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seede in the ground, 27 And g should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and growe vp, he h not knowing howe.
28 For the earth bringeth foorth fruite i of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares.
29 And assoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon hee putteth in the sickle, because the haruest is come.
30 ¶ * 5 He sayd moreouer, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?
31 It is like a graine of mustarde seede, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth: 32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

11 Now there was there in the e mountaines a great heard of swine, feeding, 12 And all ẏ deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.
13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leaue.
Then the vncleane spirites went out, and entred into the swine, and the hearde ranne headlong from the high banke into the f sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were choked vp in the sea.
14 And the swineheards fled, and tolde it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.
15 And they came to Iesus, and sawe him that had bene possessed with the deuill, and had the legion, sit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraide.
16 And they that saw it, tolde them, what was done to him that was possessed with the deuil, and concerning the swine.
17 Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coastes.
18 And when he was come into the shippe, he that had bene possessed with the deuil, prayed him that he might be with him.
19 Howbeit, Iesus would not suffer him, but said vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friendes, and shewe them what great things the Lorde hath done vnto thee, and how hee hath had compassion on thee.
20 So he departed, and began to publish in De-capolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.
21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer againe by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered together to him, & he was neere vnto the sea.
22 ✠ And g beholde, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus:
and when he sawe him, he fell downe at his feete, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My litle daughter lyeth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine hands on her, that she may be healed, and liue.
24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.
25 (2 And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, 26 And had suffred many things of many physicions, and had spent all that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.
27 When she had heard of Iesus, she came in the preasse behinde, and touched his garment.
28 For she said, If I may but touch his clothes,
I shalbe whole.
29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried vp, and she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plague.
30 And immediatly when Iesus did knowe in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the preasse, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?
31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude throng thee, and sayest thou, Who did touche me?
32 And he looked round about, to see her that had done that.
33 And the woman feared and trembled: for she knewe what was done in her, and shee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole trueth.
34 And hee sayde to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)
35 While hee yet spake, there came from the same ruler of the Synagogues house certaine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why disseasest thou the Master any further?
36 3 Assoone as Iesus heard that word spoken, he said vnto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraide: onely beleeue.
37 And he suffered no man to folow him saue
Peter and Iames, and Iohn the brother of Iames.
38 So hee came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and sawe the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.
39 And he went in, and said vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the childe is not dead, but sleepeth.
40 4 And they laughed him to scorne: but hee put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the childe, and them h that were with him, and entred in where the childe lay, 41 And tooke the childe by the hand, and sayd vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Mayden, I say vnto thee, arise.
42 And straightway the mayden arose, and walked: for she was of the age of twelue yeeres, and they were astonied out of measure.

4 And when they come from the d market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and e pots, and of brasen vessels, and of beds.)

5 Then asked him the Pharises and Scribes, Why f walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meat with vnwashen handes?

14 ✠ Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Hearken you al vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the things which proceede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when hee came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And hee saide vnto them, What? are yee without vnderstanding also? Do ye not know that whatsoeuer thing from without entreth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entreth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the h purging of all meates?

3 And if I sende them away fasting to their owne houses, they woulde a faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.
4 Then his disciples answered him, Whence can a man satisfie these with bread here in the wildernes?
5 And hee asked them, Howe many loaues haue ye? And they said, Seuen.
6 Then he commaunded the multitude to sit downe on the ground: and hee tooke the seuen loaues, and gaue thankes, brake them, and gaue to them before the people.

7 They had also a few small fishes: and when

8 So they did eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meate that was left, seuen

16 3 And they reasoned among them selues, saying, It is, because we haue no bread.
17 And when Iesus knew it, he said vnto them, Why reason you thus, because ye haue no bread? perceiue ye not yet, neither vnderstande? haue ye your hearts yet hardened?
18 Haue yee eyes, and see not? and haue yee eares, and heare not? and doe ye not remember?

tooke ye vp? They sayd vnto him, Twelue.
20 And when I brake seuen among foure thousande, howe many baskets of the leauings of broken meate tooke ye vp? And they said, Seuen.
21 Then he said vnto them, e Howe is it that ye vnderstand not?
22 4 And hee came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blinde man vnto him, and desired him to touch him.
23 Then he tooke the blinde by the hand, and ledde him out of the towne, and spat in his eyes, and put his handes vpon him, and asked him, if he 24 And he looked vp, and said, I f see men: for restored to his sight, and sawe euery man a farre off clearely.

26 5 And hee sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.
27 ¶ ♣ 6 And Iesus went out, and his disciples into the townes of Cesarea Philippi. And by the way hee asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whome doe men say that I am?
28 And they answered, Some say Iohn Baptist:
and some, Elias: and some, one of the Prophets.
29 And he sayd vnto them, But whome say ye that I am? Then Peter answered, and sayde vnto him, Thou art that Christ.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ entreth into Hierusalem riding on an asse. 13 The fruitlesse figge tree is cursed. 15 Sellers and buyers are cast out of the Temple. 23 The force of faith. 24 Faith in prayer. 25 The brothers offences must bee pardoned. 27 The Priestes aske by what authoritie he wrought those things that he did. 30 Whence Iohns baptisme was.

AND ✠ ¹ when they came neere to Hierusalem,

2 And saide vnto them, Goe your wayes into as yee shall enter into it, ye shall finde a colte tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring

him.

3 And if any man say vnto you, Why doe ye this? Say that the Lorde hath neede of him, and straightway he will send him hither.

4 And they went their way, and found a colte tyed by the doore without, in a place where two wayes met, and they loosed him.

5 Then certaine of them, that stoode there, said vnto them, What doe ye loosing the colte?

6 And they said vnto them, as Iesus had commaunded them: So they let them goe.

7 ¶ ✠ And they brought the colte to Iesus, and cast their garments on him, and he sate vpon him.

✠ Iohn 12. 14.

8 And many spred their garments in the way:
other cut downe branches off the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 And they that went before, and they that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

ᵃ Well be it to him that commeth to vs from God, or that is sent of God.

10 ᵇ Blessed be the kingdome that commeth

3 Christ sheweth in deede, that he is the true King and high Priest, and therefore the reuenger of the diuine seruice of the Temple.

16 Neither would he suffer that any man should

of that newe Testament, which is shed for many.
25 Verely I say vnto you, I will drinke no more went out to the mount of Oliues.

27 ¶ ✠ [8] Then Iesus said vnto them, Al ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, ✠ I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.
28 But after that I am risen, I will goe into [*] Galile before you.
29 [9] And Peter saide vnto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.
30 Then Iesus saide vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the cocke crowe twise, thou shalt denie me thrise.
31 But he saide [g] more earnestly, If I shoulde die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also said they all.
32 ¶ ✠ [10] After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he saide to his disciples, Sit yee here, till I haue prayed.
33 And he tooke with him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and he beganne to be troubled, and in great heauinesse,
34 And saide vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarie here, and watch.
35 So he went forward a litle, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible,

36 And he saide, [h] Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me:
neuertheles not that I wil, but ẏ thou wilt, be done.
37 [11] Then he came, and found them sleeping, and saide to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one houre?
38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the spirite in deede is ready, but the flesh is weake.
39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same wordes.
40 And he returned, and founde them a sleepe againe: for their eyes were heauie: neither knewe they what they should answere him.
41 And he came the third time, and saide vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is ynough: the houre is come: beholde, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.
42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betraieth me, is at hand.
43 ✠ [12] And immediatly while hee yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with swordes and staues from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.
44 And he that betraied him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, he it is:
take him and leade him away [i] safely.
45 And assoone as hee was come, hee went straightway to him, and saide, Haile Master, and kissed him.
46 Then they laide their handes on him, and
tooke him.
47 And [k] one of them that stoode by, drewe out a sworde, and smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and cut off his eare.
48 And Iesus answered and saide to them, Ye be come out as against a thiefe with swordes, and with staues, to take me.
49 I was daily with you teaching in the Temple, and yee tooke me not: but this is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.
50 Then they [l] all forsooke him, and fled.
51 [13] And there followed him a certaine yong man, clothed in [m] linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.
52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.
53 ∵ So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came [n] together all the hie Priestes, and the Elders, and the Scribes.
54 And Peter folowed him afarre off, euen into the hall of the hie Priest, and sate with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.
55 [14] And the ✻ hie Priestes, and all the Councill sought for witnesse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.
56 For many bare false witnesse against him,
but their witnesse agreed not together.
57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnesse against him, saying, 58 We heard him say, ✻ I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes
I will build another, made without hands.
59 But their witnesse yet agreed not together.
60 Then the hie Priest stoode vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare wit-nesse against thee?
61 But hee helde his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, and saide vnto him, Art thou that Christ the sonne of the [o] Blessed?
62 And Iesus saide, I am he, ✠ and ye shall see the Sonne of man sitte at the right hande of the 63 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and said, What haue we any more neede of witnesses?

64 Ye haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to be worthie of death.
65 [15] And some beganne to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beate him with fistes, and to say vnto him, Prophesie. And the sergeants smote him with their roddes.
66 ✠ [16] And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the hie Priest.
67 And when shee sawe Peter warming himselfe, shee looked on him, and saide, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.
68 But he denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porche, and the cocke crewe.
69 ∵ Then [p] a maid sawe him againe, & began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.
70 But hee denied it againe: and anon after, they that stoode by, saide againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy speach is like.
71 And he began to curse, and sweare, saying,
I knowe not this man of whom ye speake.
72 ✻ Then the second time the cocke crewe, and Peter remembred the worde that Iesus had saide vnto him, Before the cocke crowe twise, thou shalt denie me thrise, and waying that with himselfe, he wept.

a It was not lawfull for them to put any man to death, for all causes of life and death were taken away from them, first by Herode the great, and afterwardes by the Romaines, about fourtie yeeres before the destruction of the Temple, and therefore they deliuer Iesus to Pilate. ✻ Matth. 27. 12. luke 23. 3. iohn 18. 33.

desire that he woulde doe as he had euer done vn-

9 Then Pilate answered them, and saide, Will ye that I let loose vnto you the King of ẏ Iewes?
10 For he knewe that the hie Priests had deli-uered him of enuie.
11 But the high Priestes had moued the people to desire that he would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them.
12 And Pilate answered, and saide againe vnto them, What will ye then ẏ I doe with him, whome ye call the King of the Iewes?
13 And they cried againe, Crucifie him.
14 Then Pilate said vnto them, But what euill ly, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, & deliuered Iesus, when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified.
16 Then the souldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band, 17 [2] And clad him with purple, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head, 18 And beganne to salute him, saying, Haile, King of the Iewes.
19 And they smote him on the heade with a

and did him reuerence.
20 And whē they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.
21 ✠ And they [3] compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.
22 ✠ [4] And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skulles.
23 And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with myrrhe: but he receiued it not.
24 ∵ [5] And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what euery man should haue.
25 And it was the third houre, when they crucified him.
26 And the title of his cause was written aboue,
THAT KING OF THE IEVVES.
27 They crucified also with him two theeues, the one on ẏ right hand, & the other on his left.
28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which sayth,
⁎ And he was counted among the wicked.
29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, ✱ Hey, thou that de-stroyest the Temple, & buildest it in three dayes, 30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.
31 Likewise also euen the hie Priests mocking, said among themselues with the Scribes, He saued other men, himselfe he cannot saue.
32 Let Christ the King of Israel nowe come downe from the crosse, that wee may see, and beleeue. They also that were crucified with him reuiled him.
33 ¶ Nowe when the sixt houre was come,

houre.

2 Christ, going about to take away the sinnes of men, who went about to vsurpe the throne of God himselfe, is condemned as one that hunted after the kingdome, and mocked with a false shewe of a kingdome, that we on the other side, who shall indeede be eternall kings, might receiue the crowne of glorie at Gods owne hand.

4 Christ is led out of the walles of the earthly Ierusalem, into a foule place of dead mens carkases, as a man most vncleane, not touching himselfe, but touching our sinnes, which were laid vpon him, to the end that we being made cleane by his blood, might be brought into the heauenly Sanctuarie.
∵ Luke 23.34.

come, and take him downe.
37 And Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, and gaue vp the ghost.
38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the toppe to the bottome.
39 Nowe when the Centurion, which stoode ouer against him, sawe that he thus crying gaue vp the ghost, hee saide, Truely this man was the Sonne of God.

5 IN [2] the [f] time of [g] Herod King of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the ✠ [h] course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabet.
6 Both were [i] iust before God, and [k] walked in all the [l] commaundements and ordinances of the Lord, [m] without reproofe.
7 And they had no childe, because that Elisa-bet was barren: and both were well striken in age.
8 And it came to passe, as hee executed the Priestes office before God, as his course came in order,
9 ✠ According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the [n] Temple of the Lord.
10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, ∵ while the incense was burning.
11 Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lorde standing at the right side of the altar of incense.
12 And when Zacharias sawe him, he was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.
13 But the Angel saide vnto him, Feare not,
Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisabet shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.
14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnes, and

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumme, and not

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marueiled that he taried so long in the Temple.
22 And when hee came out, he coulde not had seene a vision in the Temple: For hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the dayes wherein he looked on me, to take from me

26 ¶ [3] And in the sixth moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, 27 ✠ To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the [y] house of Dauid, and the 28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and saide, Haile thou that art [z] freely beloued: the Lorde is

with thee: [a] blessed art thou among women.
29 And when she sawe him, she was [b] troubled at his saying, and thought what maner of salutati-

30 Then the Angel saide vnto her, Feare not,
Marie: for thou hast [c] found fauour with God.
31 ✠ For lo, thou shalt cōceiue in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, ✠ and shalt call his name Iesus.
32 He shall be great, and shall be [d] called the giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 ✠ And he shall reigne ouer the house of Ia-cob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none

34 Then saide Marie vnto the Angel, [e] Howe shall this be, seeing [f] I knowe not man?
35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her,
The holy Ghost [g] shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadowe thee:
therefore also that [h] holy thing which shall bee borne of thee, shall be [i] called the Sonne of God.
36 And behold, thy [k] cousin Elisabet, she hath also conceiued a sonne in her olde age: and this is her [l] sixt moneth, which was called barren.
37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.
38 Then Marie saide, Behold the seruant of the Lorde: be it vnto me according to thy worde. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ [4] And Marie arose in those dayes, & went 40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elisabet heard the salutation of Marie, the babe [o] sprang in her bellie, and Elisabet was filled with the holy Ghost.
42 And she cried with a loud voyce, and saide, Blessed art thou among women, because [p] the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.
43 And whence commeth this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?
44 For loe, assoone as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my bellie for ioye.
45 And blessed is shee that beleeued: for those

56 ¶ And Marie abode with her about three moneths: after, she returned to her owne house.
57 ¶ [6] Nowe Elisabets time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, and she brought foorth a 59 And it was so that on the eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and saide, Not so,
but he shalbe called Iohn.
61 And they saide vnto her, There is none of thy kindred, that is named with this name.
62 Then they made signes to his father, howe
he would haue him called.
63 So he asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marueiled all.
64 And his mouth was opened immediatly, and

1 And 1 it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a decree from Augustus Cesar, that all the a world should be b taxed.
2 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.) 3 Therefore went all to be taxed, euery man to his owne Citie.
4 And Ioseph also went vp from Galile out of a citie, called Nazareth, into Iudea, vnto the c citie of ✠ Dauid, which is called Beth-leem (because he was of the house and linage of Dauid,) 5 To bee taxed with Marie that was giuen him to wife, which was with childe.
6 ¶ And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that shee should be deliuered,
7 And she brought foorth her first begotten sonne, and wrapped him in swadling clothes, and laide him in a cratch, because there was no roome for them in the ynne.

[illegible] the sonne [illegible] taking vpon him the forme of a seruant, and making him selfe of no reputation, is poorely borne in a stable: and by the meanes of Augustus the mightiest prince in the world, (thinking nothing lesse) hath his cradle prepared in Bethleem, as the Prophets forewarned.
a So farre as the Empire of the Romanes did stretch.
b That is, the inhabitants of euery citie should haue their names taken, and their goods rated at a certaine value, that the Emperour might vnderstand, howe riche euery countrey, citie, familie, and house was. c Which Dauid was borne, and brought vp in. ✠ Iohn 7.42.

8 ¶ 2 And there were in the same countrey shepheards, d abiding in the fielde, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke.
9 And loe, the Angel of the Lorde e came vp-on them, and the glorie of the Lorde shone about them, and they were sore afraide.
10 Then the Angel saide vnto them, Be not afraide: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that shalbe to all the people, 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Dauid, a Sauiour, which is Christ the Lord.
12 And this shalbe a signe to you, Ye shall finde the babe swadled, and laid in a cratch.
13 And straightway there was with the Angel
f a multitude of heauenly souldiers, praising God, and saying,
14 Glory be to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men g good will.
15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepheards saide one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and see this thing that is come to passe which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.
16 So they came with haste, and found both Marie and Ioseph, and the babe laide in the cratch.
17 And when they had seene it, they published abroade the thing, that was told them of that childe.
18 And all that heard it, wondred at the things which were tolde them of the shepheards.
19 But Marie kept all those sayings, and pondred them in her heart.
20 And the shepheardes returned glorifying and praysing God, for all that they had heard and seene as it was spoken vnto them.
21 ¶ ✠ 3 And when the eight dayes were accomplished, that they shoulde circumcise the childe, his name was then called ✠ Iesus, which was named of the Angel, before hee was conceiued in the wombe.

of Israel, and the i holy Ghost was vpon him.

hie Priestes) the worde of God came vnto Iohn, the sonne of Zacharias in the wildernes.
3 ✠ And hee came into all the coastes about Iordan, preaching the baptisme of repentance for the remission of sinnes, 4 As it is written in the booke of the sayings of Esaias the Prophet, which saith, ∵ The voyce of him that crieth in the wildernes is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.
5 Euery valley shalbe filled, and euery moun-taine and hill shall be brought lowe, and crooked things shalbe made straight, and the rough wayes shalbe made smoothe.
6 And all flesh shall see the saluation of God.
7 Then said he to the people that were come out to be baptized of him, ✱ O generations of vi-pers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the wrath to come?
8 Bring foorth therefore fruites worthy amendement of life, and beginne not to say with your selues, We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.
9 Nowe also is the axe layed vnto the roote of the trees: therefore euery tree which bringeth not foorth good fruite, shalbe hewen downe, and cast into the fire.
10 ¶ Then the people asked him, saying, What shall we doe then?
11 And he answered, and said vnto them, ✱ He that hath two coates, let him part with him that hath none: and hee that hath meate, let him doe likewise.
12 Then came there Publicanes also to bee baptized, and sayde vnto him, Master, what shall we doe?
13 And he saide vnto them, Require no more then that which is b appointed vnto you.
14 The souldiers likewise demaunded of him, saying, And what shall we doe? And he sayd vnto them, Doe violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely, and be content with your c wages.
15 2 As the people waited, and all men mused in their heartes of Iohn, if he were not that Christ, 16 Iohn answered, and sayd to them all, ✠ In deede I baptize you with water, but one stronger then I, commeth, whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to vnloose: hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.
17 3 Whose fanne is in his hand, and he will make cleane his floore, and will gather the wheate into his garner, but the chaffe will hee burne vp with fire that neuer shalbe quenched.
18 Thus then exhorting with many other things, he preached vnto the people.
19 ✠ 4 But when Herod the Tetrarch was rebuked of him, for Herodias his brother Philips wife, and for all the euils which Herod had done, 20 He added yet this aboue all, that he shut vp Iohn in prison.
21 ✠ 5 Nowe it came to passe, as all the people were baptized, and that Iesus was baptized and did pray, that the heauen was opened: 22 And the holy Ghost came downe in a bodily shape like a doue vpon him, and there was a

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of Christes temptation, and fasting. 16 Hee teacheth in Nazareth to the great admiration of all. 24 A Prophet that teacheth in his owne countrey is contemned. 33 One possessed of the deuill is cured. 38 Peters mother in Lawe healed, 40 and diuers sicke persons are restored to health. 41 The deuils acknowledge Christ.

AND [1] Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was led by that Spirit into the wildernes, 2 ✠ And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuil, & in those dayes he did eate nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungry.
3 [2] Then the deuil sayd vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, commaunde this stone that it be made bread.
4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, ☩ That man shall not liue by bread only, but by euery worde of God.
5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkeling of an eye.
6 And the deuill sayde vnto him, All this [a] power will I giue thee, and the glory of those kingdomes: for that is [b] deliuered to mee, and to whomsoeuer I will, I giue it.
7 If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shalbe all [c] thine.
8 But Iesus answered him, and sayde, Hence from mee, Satan: for it is written, ✠ Thou shalt worship the Lorde thy God, and him alone thou shalt serue.
9 Then hee brought him to Hierusalem, and set him on a pinacle of the Temple, and sayd vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,
10 For it is written, ☩ That hee will giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee:
11 And with their handes they shall lift thee vp, least at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone.
12 And Iesus answered, and said vnto him, It is said, ∵ Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.
13 And when the deuil had ended all the tentation, he departed from him for a litle season.
14 ¶ And Iesus returned by the power of the spirite into Galile: and there went a fame of him throughout all the region round about.
15 For he taught in their Synagogues, and was honoured of all men.
16 ✠ [3] And hee came to Nazareth where hee had bene brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stoode vp to reade.
17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: and when hee had [d] opened the booke, he found the place, where it was written,
18 ✠ The Spirit of the Lorde is vpon mee, because he hath anoynted me, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: he hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recouering of sight to the blinde, that I should set at libertie them that are bruised:
19 And that I shoulde preache the acceptable yeere of the Lord.
20 And hee closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and sate downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue, were fastened on him.
21 Then hee began to say vnto them, This day is the Scripture fulfilled in your eares.
22 [4] And all [e] bare him witnes, and [f] wondered at the [g] gracious wordes, which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Iosephs sonne?
23 Then he saide vnto them, Ye wil surely say vnto mee this prouerbe, Physician, heale thy selfe:
whatsoeuer wee haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine owne countrey.
24 And he sayde, Verely I say vnto you, * No Prophet is accepted in his owne countrey.
25 But I tell you of a trueth, many widowes were in Israel in the dayes of ✠ Elias, when heauen was shut three yeeres & sixe moneths, when great famine was throughout all the [h] land:

widowe.

and went his way,
31 ¶ + And came downe into Capernaum a ci-tie of Galile, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.
32 ∵ And they were astonied at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.
33 ※ And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an vncleane deuil, which cried with a loude voyce, stroy vs? I knowe who thou art, euen the holy one

of God.

peace, and come out of him. Then the deuil throwing him in the middes of them, came out of him, and hurt him nothing at all.
36 So feare came on them all, and they spake among themselues, saying, What thing is this: for with authoritie and power hee commaundeth the foule spirits, and they come out?
37 And the fame of him spred abroad throughout all the places of the countrey round about.
38 ¶ ✠ 7 And hee rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simons house. And Simons wiues mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her.
39 Then hee stoode ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her, and immediatly she arose, and ministred vnto them.

sicke folkes of diuers diseases, brought them vnto him, and he layd his hands on euery one of them, and healed them.

and saying, Thou art that Christ that Sonne of

went foorth into a desart place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.

THen 1 + it came to passe, as the people a preas-sed vpon him to heare the worde of God, that he stoode by the lake of Gennesaret, 2 And saw two shippes stand by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nettes.
3 And he entred into one of the ships, which was Simons, & required him that hee would thrust off a little from the land: and hee sate downe, and taught the people out of the ship.
4 ¶ Now when he had left speaking, he saide vnto Simon, Lanche out into the deepe, and let downe your nettes to make a draught.
5 Then Simon answered, and saide vnto him, b Master, we haue trauailed sore all night, and haue taken nothing: neuerthelesse at thy worde I will let downe the net.
6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.
7 And they beckened to their parteners, which were in the other shippe, that they shoulde come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the ships, that they did sinke.
8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fel downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me: for I am a sinfull man.
9 For hee was vtterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.
10 And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon.
Then Iesus saide vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.
11 And when they had brought the shippes to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.
12 ¶ + 2 Nowe it came to passe, as he was in a certaine citie, behold, there was a man full of leprosie, and when he sawe Iesus, hee fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.
13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him.
14 And hee commaunded him that hee should tell it no man: but Goe, saith he, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy clensing, as + Moses hath commaunded, for a witnes vnto them.
15 3 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to bee healed of him of their infirmities.
16 But he kept himselfe apart in the wildernes, and prayed.
17 ¶ 4 And it came to passe, on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharises and doctours of the Lawe sate by, which were come out of euery towne of Galile, and Iudea, and Hierusalem, and the power of the Lord c was in him to heale them.
18 ∵ Then beholde, men brought a man lying in a bedde, which was taken with a palsie, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him.
19 And when they coulde not finde by what way they might bring him in, because of the preasse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tyling, bed and all, in the mids before Iesus.
20 And when he sawe their faith, hee saide vnto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiuen thee.
21 Then the Scribes and the Pharises began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? who can forgiue sinnes, but God onely?
22 But when Iesus perceiued their reasonings, he answered, and saide vnto them, What reason ye in your heartes?
23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Rise and walke?

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the Centurions seruant. 9 The Centurions faith. 11 The widowes sonne raised from death at Naim. 19 Iohn sendeth his disciples to Christ. 33 His peculiar kinde of liuing. 37 The sinfull woman washeth Iesus feete.

When ✠ [1] hee had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entred into Capernaum.
2 And a certaine Centurions seruant was sicke and ready to die, which was deare vnto him.
3 And when he heard of Iesus, hee sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that he would come, and heale his seruant.
4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that hee was worthy that hee should doe this for him: 5 For he loueth, sayd they, our nation, and he hath built vs a Synagogue.
6 Then Iesus went with them: but when he was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent friendes to him, saying vnto him, Lorde, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter vnder my roofe: 7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthy to come vnto thee: but say the worde, and my seruant shalbe whole.
8 For I likewise am a man set vnder authori-tie, and haue vnder mee souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, Doe this,
and he doeth it.
9 When Iesus heard these things, he marueiled at him, and turned him, and said to the people, that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, no not in Israel.
10 And when they that were sent, turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.
11 [2] And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a citie called [a] Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.
12 Nowe when hee came neere to the gate of they that bere him, stoode still) and he sayd, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise.

15 And he that was dead, sate vp, and began to speake, and he deliuered him to his mother.

fell downe before him, and with a loude voyce said, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of God the most High? I beseeche thee torment me not.
29 For hee commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times he had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in more then the raiment.

24 Consider the rauens : for they neither sowe nor reape : which neither haue storehouse nor barne,and yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better then foules?
25 And which of you with taking thought,can adde to his stature one cubite?
26 If ye then be not able to doe the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?
27 Consider the lilies howe they growe : they labour not , neither spin they: yet I say vnto you, that Solomon himselfe in all his royaltie was not clothed like one of these.
28 If then God so clothe the grasse which is to day in the fielde , and to morowe is cast into the

THere [1] were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood [a] Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

Suppose ye, that these Galileans were greater sinners then al the other Galileans,because they haue suffered such things?
3 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your
liues,ye shall all likewise perish.
4 Or thinke you that those eighteene, vpon whom the tower in [b] Siloam fell,and slewe them, were sinners aboue all men ẏ dwel in Hierusalem?
5 I tell you, nay: but except ye amend your
liues,ye shall all likewise perish.
6 ¶ [2] Hee spake also this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard : and he came & sought fruite thereon,& found none.
7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Beholde,this three yeeres haue I come and sought fruite of this figge tree, and finde none: cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground [c] barren?
8 And he answered, and said vnto him, Lord, let it alone this yeere also, till I digge round about it,and doung it.
9 And if it beare fruite, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe.

tred into the house of [a] one of the chiefe Pharises on the Sabbath day, to eate bread, they watched him.
2 And beholde, there was a certaine man before him, which had the dropsie.
3 Then Iesus answering, spake vnto the Lawyers and Pharises, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?
4 And they held their peace. Then hee tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe, 5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an oxe fallen into a pit, & wil not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?
6 And they could not answere him againe to those things.
7 ¶ 2 He spake also a parable to the ghestes, when hee marked howe they chose out the chiefe roomes, and said vnto them, 8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefest place, lest a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him,
9 And hee that bade both him & thee, come,
and say to thee, Giue this man roome, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest roome.
10 ✣ But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest roome, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, he may say vnto thee, Friende, presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ✣ For whosoeuer exalteth himselfe, shall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shal

1 The parable of the steward accused to his master. 13 To serue two masters. 16 The Law and the Prophets. 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

AND he saide also vnto his disciples, [1] There was a certaine riche man, which had a steward, and he was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods.
2 And hee called him, and saide vnto him,
Howe is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an accounts

3 Then the stewarde saide within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot digge, and to begge I am ashamed.
4 I knowe what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue me

5 Then called he vnto him euery one of his masters debters, and said vnto the first, How much owest thou vnto my master?

7 Then said he to another, How much owest

The rich man also died, and was buried.
23 And being in hell in torments, [i] he lift vp his eyes, and sawe Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.
24 Then he cryed, and saide, Father Abraham haue mercie on me, and sende Lazarus that hee may dippe the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.
25 But Abraham saide, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: nowe therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.
26 Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, can not: neither can they come from thence to vs.
27 [7] Then he said, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house, 28 (For I haue fiue brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, least they also come into this place of torment.
29 Abraham said vnto him, They haue Moses and the Prophets: let them heare them.
30 And he saide, Nay, father Abraham: but if one came vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.
31 Then he saide vnto him, If they heare not

CHAP. XVII.

1 Offences. 3 Wee must forgiue him that trespasseth against vs. 10 Wee are vnprofitable seruants. 11 Of the tenne lepers. 20 Of the comming of the kingdome of heauen. 23 False Christes. 30 After what maner Christes comming shall be.

THEN saide he to his disciples, ✠ [1] It can not be auoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.
2 It is better for him that a great milstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea, then that he should offend one of these litle ones.
3 ¶ [2] Take heede to your selues: if thy brother trespasse against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgiue him.

1 Seeing that men oftentimes purchase friendship to themselues, by other mens costes, it is shame for vs, if with a free and liberall bestowing of ÿ goods which the Lord hath giuen vs to that purpose, we doe not please him, not [illegible] the good [illegible] our neighbour [illegible] that [illegible] of [illegible] to [illegible] the [illegible] ... c This is not spoken of goods that are euill gotten, for God [illegible] our bountifulnesse to the poore, procede and come from a good fountaine: but hee calleth those riches of iniquitie, which men vse naughtily. d To wit, the poore Christians: for they are the inheritours of these Tabernacles. Theophyl. 2 We ought to take heede, that for abusing our earthly function and duetie, wee be not depriued of heauenly giftes: for howe can they vse spirituall giftes aright, who abuse worldly things? e That is, heauenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and flitting substance. f In worldly goods, which are called other mens, because they are committed to our credite. ✠ Matth. 6.24. 3 No man can loue God and riches together. 4 Our sinnes are not hidden to God, although they be hidden to men, yea although they be hidden to them whose sinnes they are.

✠ Matth. 11.12. 5 The Pharises despised the excellencie of the newe Couenant, in respect of the olde, being ignorant of the perfect righteousnesse of the Lawe, and howe false expounders they were of the Lawe, Christ declareth by the seuenth commandement. ✠ Matth. 5.18. ∵ Matth. 5.32 and 19.9. 1. cor. 7.11. g They that gather by this place, that a man cannot be maried againe after that he hath put away his wife for adulterie, while she liueth, reason fondly: for Christ speaketh of those diuorces, which the Iewes vsed, of which sort we can not take the diuorcement for adulterie, for adulterers were put to death by the Lawe. 6 The ende of the pouertie and miserie of the godly, shalbe euerlasting ioye: as the ende of the riotousnes and cruell pride of the rich shall be euerlasting miserie, without all hope of mercie. h Very gorgeously and sumptuously, for purple garments were costly, and this fine linnen which was a kinde of linnen that came out of Achaia, was as deare as golde. i Heauenly and spirituall things are expressed and set foorth vnder colours and resemblances fit for our senses. 7 Seeing that we haue a most sure rule to liue by, laied foorth vnto vs in the worde of God, rashly and vainely doe men seeke for other reuelations.

✠ Matth. 18.7. mar. 9.42. 1 The Church is of necessitie subiect to offences, but the Lord will not suffer them vnpunished, if any of the least be offended. 2. Our reprehensions must be iust, and proceede of loue and charitie. ✠ Matth. 18.21.

times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth mee, thou shalt forgiue him.
5 ¶ And the Apostles saide vnto the Lorde, Increase our faith.
6 And the Lord said, ✠ If ye had faith, as much as is a a graine of mustard seede, and should say vnto this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you.
7 ¶ 4 Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing or feeding cattell, woulde say vnto him by and by, when hee were come from the fielde, Goe, and sit downe at table?
8 And would not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, and girde thy selfe, and serue mee, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eate thou, and drinke thou?
9 Doeth he thanke that seruant, because hee did that which was commaunded vnto him? I trowe not.
10 5 So likewise yee, when yee haue done all those things, which are commaunded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: wee haue done that which was our duetie to doe.
11 ¶ 6 And so it was when hee went to Hieru-salem, that he passed through the middes of Samaria, and Galile.
12 And as hee entred into a certaine towne, there met him tenne men that were lepers, which stoode a farre off.
13 And they lift vp their voyces and sayde, Ie-sus, Master, haue mercie on vs.
14 And when he saw them, he said vnto them, ✠ Goe, shewe your selues vnto the Priestes. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were clensed.
15 Then one of them, when hee sawe that hee was healed, turned backe, and with a loude voyce praysed God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thankes: and he was a Samaritan.
17 And Iesus answered, and said, Are there not tenne clensed? but where are the nine?
18 There is none found that returned to giue
God prayse, saue this stranger.
19 And he sayd vnto him, Arise, goe thy way, thy faith hath saued thee.
20 ¶ 7 And when hee was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God shoulde come, he answered them, and said, The kingdome of God commeth not with b obseruation.
21 Neither shal men say, Loe here, or lo there:
for behold, the kingdome of God is c within you.
22 8 And he sayd vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see d one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.
23 ✠ 9 Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or beholde there: but goe not thither, neither followe them.
24 For as the lightening that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.
25 But first must he suffer many things, and be reprooued of this generation.

3 God will neuer vtterly lacking to the godly, (al-though he be not so perfitly with them, as they would) euen in those difficulties, which cannot be ouercome by mans reason.
✠ Matth.17.20.
a If ye had but so much faith, but the quantitie of the graine of mustard seede.
4 Seeing that God may challenge vn-to himselfe of right, both vs and all that is ours, he can be detter vn-to vs for nothing, although we la-bour manfully euen vnto death.
5 The most perfit keeping of the Lawe, which wee can performe, de-serueth no reward.
6 Christ doeth well euen vnto such, as wil be vn-thankfull, but the benefites of God profite them onely to saluation, which are thankefull.
✠ Leuit.14.2.
7 The kingdome of God is not mar-ked of many, al-though it be most present before their eyes: because they foolishly per-swade themselues, that it is ioyned with outwarde pompe.
b With any out-warde pompe and shewe of maiestie, to be knowen by: for there were otherwise many plaine and euident tokens whereby men might haue vnderstoode that Christ was the Messias, whose kingdome was so long looked for: but he speaketh in this place of those signes which the Pharises dreamed of, which looked for an earth-ly kingdome of Messias.
c You looke about for Messias, as though he were ab-sent, but hee is a-mongst you, in the middes of you.

26 ✠ 10 And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.
27 They ate, they dranke, they married wiues, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.
28 ✠ Likewise also, as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they solde, they planted, they built.
29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.
30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the Sonne of man is reueiled.
31 11 At that day hee that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in ye house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the fielde likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behinde.
32 ✠ Remember Lots wife.
33 ✠ Whosoeuer will seeke to saue his soule, shall loose it: and whosoeuer shall loose it, shall e get it life.
34 ✠ I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe left.
35 Two women shalbe grinding together, the one shalbe taken, and the other shalbe left.
36 Two shalbe in the fielde: one shalbe recei-
37 12 And they answered, and sayde to him, Where, Lord? And he sayd vnto them, ✠ Where-soeuer the body is, thither shall also the egles be gathered together.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The Parable of the vnrighteous Iudge and the widow. 10 Of the Pharise and the Publicane. 15 Children are of the king-dome of heauen. 22 To sell all and giue to the poore. 28 The Apostles forsake all. 31 Christ foretelleth his death. 35 The blinde man receiueth sight.

AND 1 he spake also a parable vnto them, to this ende, that they ✠ ought alwayes to pray, and not to a waxe faint,
2 b Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine ci-tie, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.
3 And there was a widowe in that citie, which came vnto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine aduersarie.
4 And hee would not of long time: but afterward he said with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man, 5 Yet because this widowe troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last shee come and c make me wearie.
6 And the Lord sayd, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge sayth.
7 Now shall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though d he suffer long for them?
8 I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, shall he finde faith on the earth?
9 ¶ 2 He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselues that they were iust, and despised other,
10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray:

d We oftentimes neglect those things when they be present, which we afterwards desire when they are gone, but in vaine. d The time will come that you shall seeke for the Sonne of man, with great feruent of heart, and shall not finde him. ✠ Mat.24.23. mar.13.21. 9 Christ forewarneth vs, that false Christes shall come, and that his glory shall suddenly be spred farre and wide through the world, after that the ignominie of the crosse is put out and extinguished.

the one a Pharise, and the other a Publican.
11 3 The Pharise stoode and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniust, adulterers, or euen as this Publican.
12 I fast twise in the weeke: I giue tithe of all that euer I possesse.
13 But the Publican standing e a farre off, woulde not lift vp so much as his eyes to heauen, but smote his brest, saying, O God, be mercifull to me a sinner.
14 I tell you, this man departed to his house iustified rather then the other: ✠ for euery man that exalteth himselfe, shall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shalbe exalted.
15 ¶ ✠ f They brought vnto him also babes that he should touche them. 4 And when his disciples sawe it, they rebuked them.
16 5 But Iesus g called them vnto him, and said, Suffer the babes to come vnto mee, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.
17 6 Verely I say vnto you, whosoeuer recei-ueth not the kingdome of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.
18 ✠ Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying,
Good Master, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life?
19 And Iesus said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? none is good, saue one, euen God.
20 Thou knowest the commandements, ✠ Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnes: Honour thy father and thy mother.
21 7 And he sayd, All these haue I kept from my youth.
22 Nowe when Iesus heard that, he sayde vnto him, Yet thou lackest one thing. Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come followe me.
23 But when he heard those things, he was very heauie: for he was marueilous riche.
24 8 And when Iesus sawe him very sorowfull, he said, With what difficultie shall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!
25 Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needles eye, then for a riche man to enter into the kingdome of God.
26 Then said they that heard it, And who then can be saued?
27 And he said, The things which are vnpossi-ble with men, are possible with God.
28 ¶ ✠ Then Peter said, Loe, we haue left all,
and haue followed thee.
29 9 And he said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods sake, 30 Which shall not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life euerlasting.
31 ¶ ✠ 10 Then Iesus tooke vnto him ẏ twelue, and said vnto them, Beholde, we goe vp to Hieru-salem, and all things shalbe fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.
32 For he shall be deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shalbe mocked, and shalbe spitefully entrea-ted, and shalbe spitted on.
33 And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: but the thirde day he shall rise againe.

3 Although wee confesse, that whatsoeuer we haue, we haue it of God, yet are we despised of God, as proude and arrogant, if we put neuer so litle trust in our owne workes before God.

into a wilde figge tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.
5 And when Iesus came to the place, he looked vp, and saw him, and said vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at 6 Then he came downe hastily, and receiued him ioyfully.

7 2 And when all they sawe it, they murmured, saying, that hee was gone in to lodge with a sinfull man.
8 3 And Zaccheus stood forth, & said vnto the Lord, Beholde, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by b forged cauillation, I restore him foure folde.
9 Then Iesus said to him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as hee is also become the c sonne of Abraham.
10 ✠ For the Sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost.
11 4 And whiles they heard these thinges, hee continued and spake a parable, because hee was red them ten pieces of money, and said vnto them, Occupie till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an am-bassage after him, saying, Wee will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.
15 And it came to passe, when hee was come againe, and had receiued his kingdome, that he commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his money, that he might know what eue-

16 Then came the first, saying, Lorde, d thy piece hath encreased ten pieces.
17 And he saide vnto him, Well, good seruant:
because thou hast bene faithful in a very litle thing,
take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.
18 And the seconde came, saying, Lorde, thy piece hath encreased fiue pieces.
19 And to the same he saide, Be thou also ruler ouer fiue cities.
20 e So the other came, and said, Lord, beholde thy piece, which I haue laide vp in a napkin: 21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straight man: thou takest vp that thou layedst not downe, and reapest that thou diddest not sowe.
22 Then hee sayde vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruaunt. Thou knewest that I am a strait man, taking vp that I layd not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe.
23 Wherefore then gauest not thou my money into the f banke, that at my comming I might haue required it with vantage?
24 And hee saide to them that stoode by, Take 25 (And they said vnto him, Lorde, he hath ten pieces.)

26 ✠ For I say vnto you, that vnto al them that haue, it shalbe giuen: and from him that hath not,
euen that he hath, shalbe taken from him.
27 Moreouer, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.
28 ¶ And when hee had thus spoken, f he went foorth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem.
29 ✠ 7 And it came to passe, when he was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, he sent
two of his disciples,
30 Saying, Goe ye to the towne which is before you, wherein, assoone as ye are come, ye shall finde a colt tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him hither.
31 And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lorde hath neede of him.
32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had said vnto them.
33 And as they were loosing the colte, the owners thereof saide vnto them, Why loose ye the colte?
34 And they saide, The Lorde hath neede of
him.
35 ¶ ✠ So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colte, and set Iesus thereon.
36 And as hee went, they spred their clothes in the way.
37 And when hee was nowe come neere to the going downe of the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, and to praise God with a loude voyce, for all the great workes that they had seene, 38 Saying, Blessed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places.
39 8 Then some of the Pharises of the compa-nie said vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.
40 But he answered, and saide vnto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.
41 ¶ ✠ 9 And when he was come neere, he be-

45 ¶ ✠ 10 Hee went also into the Temple, and

10 And at the time conuenient he sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they shoulde giue him of the fruite of the vineyarde: but the husbandmen did beate him, and sent him away emptie.

11 Againe he sent yet another seruant: and they did beate him, and foule entreated him, and sent him away emptie.

12 Moreouer hee sent the thirde, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyarde, What shall I doe? I will sende my beloued sonne: it may bee that they will doe reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen sawe him, they reasoned with themselues, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may bee ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyarde, and killed him. What shall the Lorde of the vineyarde therefore doe vnto them?

16 Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will giue out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he behelde them, & said, What meaneth this then that is written, ✢ The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoeuer shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoeuer it shall fall, it will grinde him to pouder.

27 ✻ 4 Then came to him certaine of the Sadduces (which denie that there is any resurrection) and they asked him, 28 Saying, Master, ✻ Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seede vnto his brother.

29 Now there were seuen brethren, & the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childelesse.

31 Then the thirde tooke her: and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, The [g] children of this world marry wiues, and are married.

35 But they which shalbe counted worthy to enioye that worlde, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wiues, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equal vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, since they are the [h] children of the resurrection.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said.

t will of the flesh, nor of ẏ wil of man, but of God.

1 The Sonne of God is of one, and the selfe same eternitie or euerlastingnesse, and of one and the selfe same essence or nature, with the Father.
a From the beginning, as the Euangelist saith, 1. epistle 1.1. as though hee said, that the word beganne not then to haue his being, when God beganne to make all that was made: for the word was euen then when all things that were made, beganne to be made, and therefore he was before the beginning of all things. b Had his being. c This word, That, pointeth out vnto vs a peculiar and choise thing about all other, and putteth a difference betweene this Worde, which is the Sonne of God, and the Lawes of God, which otherwise are also called the worde of God. d This word With, pointeth out the distinction of persons to vs. e This worde (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, and is that which the learned call (Subiectum) and this worde (God) is the latter in order, and the same which the learned call (predicatum) ✣ Col. 1.16. 2 The sonne of God declareth that same his euerlasting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preseruing of them, and especially by the excellent giftes of reason and vnderstanding, wherewith he hath beautified man aboue all other creatures. f Paul expoundeth this place, Coloss. 1.15, and 16. verses. g That is, as the Father did worke, so did the Sonne worke with him: for he was fellow worker with him. h Of all those things which were made, nothing was made without him. i That is, by him: and it is spoken after the maner of the Hebrewes, meaning thereby that by his force and working power, all life commeth to the world. k To wit, euen then, when all things are made by him, for els hee would haue said, Life is in him, and not life was. l That force of reason and vnderstanding, which is kindled in our mindes to acknowledge him the authour of so great a benefite.

3 The light ... 4 There is as it ... their more full manifestation of the Sonne of God, to the consideration whereof men are ... stirred vp ... by Iohns ... who is as it were the herault of Christ. m Through Iohn. o That light, which is here spoken of, to wit, Christ, who onely can lighten our darkenesse. 5 When as the Sonne of God sawe, that men did not acknowledge him by his workes, although they were endued with vnderstanding (which he had giuen to them all,) he exhibited himselfe vnto his people to be seene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receiue him. p Who onely and properly deserueth to bee called the light, for hee shineth of himselfe and borroweth light of none. q That person of the Word, was made manifest euen at that time when the world was made. ∵ Heb. 11.3. r The Word shewed himselfe againe, when he came in the flesh. 6 The Sonne being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a fewe, doeth regenerate them by his owne vertue and power, and receiueth them into that honour which is common to all the children of God, that is to bee the sonnes of God. f Hee vouchsafed to giue them this prerogatiue to take them to bee his children. t Of that grosse and corrupt nature of man, which is throughout the Scriptures set as enemie to the Spirite.

Sonne of the Father) [a] full of grace and trueth.
15 ¶ 8 Iohn bare witnesse of him, and cryed, saying, This was he of whom I said, He that commeth [b] after me, was [c] before me: for he was better then I.
16 ∵ 9 And of his fulnesse haue al we receiued, and [d] grace for grace.
17 For the Law was giuen by Moses, but grace, and trueth came by Iesus Christ.
18 10 ✠ No man hath seene God at any time:
that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the [e] bo-
some of the Father, he hath [f] declared him.
19 ¶ 11 Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priestes and Leuites from Hierusalem to aske him, Who art thou?
20 And hee [g] confessed and [h] denied not, and said plainely, I ✠ am not that Christ.
21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And hee saide, [i] I am not. Art thou [k] that Prophet? And he answered, No.
22 Then saide they vnto him, Who art thou, that we may giue answere to them that sent vs?
What sayest thou of thy selfe?
23 He said, I * am the voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernesse, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Esaias.
24 12 Nowe they which were sent, were of the Pharises.
25 And they asked him, and saide vnto him, [l] Why baptizest thou then, if thou bee not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?
26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one [m] among you, whome yee knowe not.
27 ✠ Hee it is that commeth after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthie to vnloose.
28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize.
29 ¶ 13 The next day Iohn seeth Iesus com-ming vnto him, and saith, Beholde [n] that Lambe of God, which [o] taketh away the [p] sinne of the worlde.
30 This is he of whome I saide, After me commeth a man, which was before mee: for hee was better then I.
31 And [q] I knewe him not: but because hee should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.
32 14 So Iohn bare recorde, saying, I behelde ✠ that Spirit come downe from heauen, like a doue, and it abode vpon him, 33 And I knewe him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, hee saide vnto mee, Vpon whome thou shalt see that Spirit come downe, and tary still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.
34 And I sawe, and bare recorde that this is [r] that Sonne of God.
35 ¶ 15 The next day, Iohn stoode againe, and
two of his disciples.
36 16 And hee behelde Iesus walking by, and saide, Beholde that Lambe of God.
37 17 And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.
38 Then Iesus turned about, and sawe them followe, and saide vnto them, What seeke ye? And they saide vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) [s] where dwel-lest thou?
39 Hee saide vnto them, Come, and see. They came and sawe where hee dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the [t] tenth
houre.
40 Andrewe, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.
41 The same founde his brother Simon first,
and said vnto him, Wee haue founde that Messias, which is by interpretation, that [u] Christ.
42 And hee brought him to Iesus. And Iesus behelde him, and saide, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a stone.
43 ¶ The day following, Iesus woulde goe into Galile, and founde Philip, and saide vnto him, Followe me.
44 Nowe Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie
of Andrewe and Peter.
45 18 Philippe founde Nathanael, and saide vnto him, Wee haue founde him of whome

1 Christ turneth water into wine, 11 which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 Hee goeth downe to Capernaum, 13 from thence hee goeth vp to Hierusalem, 15 and casteth the marchandise out of the Temple. 19 Hee foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body shall be destroyed of the Iewes. 23 Many beleeue in him, seeing the miracles which he did.

AND [1] the [a] third day, was there a mariage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Iesus was there.
2 And Iesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the mariage.
3 [2] Nowe when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus saide vnto him, They haue no wine.
4 Iesus saide vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine [b] houre is not yet come.
5 His mother said vnto the seruants, Whatsoeuer he sayeth vnto you, doe it.
6 And there were set there, sixe [c] waterpots of stone, after the maner of the purifying of the Iewes, conteining two or three [d] firkins a piece.
7 And Iesus saide vnto them, Fill the waterpottes with water. Then they filled them vp to the brimme.
8 Then he saide vnto them, Drawe out nowe and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.
9 Nowe when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for he knew not whence it was: but the seruants, which drewe the water, knewe) the gouernour of the feast called the bridegrome, 10 And saide vnto him, All men at the beginning set foorth good wine, and when men haue [e] well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill nowe.
11 This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana a towne of Galile, and shewed foorth his glorie: and his disciples beleeued on him.
12 After that, he went downe into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his [f] brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.
13 [3] For the Iewes Passeouer was at hand.
Therefore Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.
14 [4] And he found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheepe, and doues, and changers of money, sitting there.
15 Then hee made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them all out of the Temple with the sheepe and oxen, and powred out the changers money, and ouerthrewe the tables, 16 And said vnto them that solde doues, Take these things hence: make not my fathers house, an house of marchandise.
17 And his disciples remembred, that it was written, ✠ The [g] zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp.
18 [5] Then answered the Iewes, and saide vnto him, What [h] signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?
19 Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, ✠ Destroy this Temple, and in three dayes I will raise it vp againe.
20 Then said the Iewes, Fourtie and sixe yeeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three dayes?
21 But he spake of the [i] temple of his body.
22 Assoone therefore as he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembred that he thus said vnto them: and they beleeued the Scripture, and the word which Iesus had said.
23 Nowe when hee was at Hierusalem at the Passeouer in the feast, many beleeued in his Name, when they sawe his miracles which he did.
24 [6] But Iesus did not commit himselfe vnto them, because he knewe them all, of man: for he knewe what was in man.

[illegible] The beginning of Christianitie consisteth in this, that we knowe our selues not onely to be [illegible] in part, but to be wholy dead in sinne: so that our nature had neede to be created anewe, as touching the qualities thereof: which can be done by no other vertue, but by the diuine and heauenly, whereby we were first created. d [That is, goe in] or enter, as he expoundeth himselfe afterward, verse 5. e The Church, for Christ sheweth in this place, howe we come to be citizens, and to haue our dwelling in the citie of God. f Howe can [illegible] that am olde, be borne againe? for he supposeth, as if Christ [illegible] wordes belonged to none but to him. g That is, fleshly, to wit, wholy corrupt and vnder the wrath of God: and therefore this worde (Flesh) signifieth the corrupt nature of man: contrary to which is the (Spirit) that is the man ingrafted into Christ through the grace of the holy Ghost, which nature is euerlasting and immortall, though the flesh also still remaineth. h With free and wandering blasts as it listeth.

thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it commeth, and whither it goeth: so is euery man that is borne of the Spirit.

9 3 Nicodemus answered, and saide vnto him, Howe can these things be?

10 Iesus answered, and saide vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Israel, and knowest not these things?

11 Verely, verely I say vnto thee, wee speake that we know, and testifie that we haue seene: but ye receiue not our i witnesse.

12 If when I tel you earthly things, ye beleeue not, howe should ye beleeue, if I shall tell you of heauenly things?

13 For no k man l ascendeth vp to heauen, but he that hath descended from heauen, m that Sonne of man which n is in heauen.

14 ✠ And as Moses lift vp the serpent in the wildernesse, so must that Sonne of man be lift vp,

15 That whosoeuer beleeueth in him, shoulde not perish, but haue eternall life.

16 ✠ 5 For God so loued the worlde, that he hath giuen his onely begotten Sonne, that whosoeuer beleeueth o in him, should not perish, but haue euerlasting life.

17 ∵ 6 For God sent not his Sonne into the world, that he should p condemne the world, but that the q world through him might be saued.

18 He that beleeueth in him, is not condemned: but he that beleeueth not, is condemned already, because he hath not beleeued in the Name of that onely begotten Sonne of God.

19 ✱ 7 And this is the r condemnation, that that light came into the worlde, and men loued darkenesse rather then that light, because their deedes were euill.

20 For euery man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither commeth to light, least his deedes should be reproued.

21 But he that s doeth trueth, commeth to the light, that his deedes might be made manifest, that they are wrought t according to God.

22 ¶ After these things, came Iesus and his disciples into the lande of Iudea, and there taried with them, and ✱ baptized.

23 And Iohn also baptized in Enon besides Salim, because there was much water there: and they came, and were baptized.

24 For Iohn was not yet cast into prison.

26 And they came vnto Iohn, and saide vnto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Iorden, to whom * thou barest witnesse, beholde, he baptizeth, and all men come to him.

27 Iohn answered, and saide, A man u can receiue nothing, except it be giuen him from heauen.

7 Philip answered him, Two hundreth peni-

8 Then saide vnto him one of his disciples, Andrewe, Simon Peters brother, 9 There is a little boy here, which hath fiue barlie loaues, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?
10 And Iesus saide, Make the people sit downe.
(Nowe there was much grasse in that place.)
Then the men sate downe in nomber, about fiue thousand.
11 And Iesus tooke the bread, & gaue thankes, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples, to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.
12 And when they were satisfied, he said vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meate which remaineth, that nothing be lost.
13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the fiue barly loaues, which remained vnto them that had eaten.
14 Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, saide, This is of a trueth that Prophet that should come into the world.
15 [2] When Iesus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a King, he departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.
16 ¶ [3] When euen was nowe come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea, 17 ∵ And entred into a ship, and went ouer the sea, [b] towardes Capernaum: and now it was darke, and Iesus was not come to them.
18 And the Sea arose with a great winde that blewe.
19 And when they had rowed about fiue and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they sawe Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing neere vnto the ship:
so they were afraide.
20 But he said vnto them, It is I: be not afraid.
21 Then [c] willingly they receiued him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.
22 ¶ The day following, the people which stoode on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, saue that one, wherein-to his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone, 23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thankes.
24 Nowe when the people sawe that Iesus was 26 [4] Iesus answered them, and saide, Verely, ve-rely I say vnto you, ye seeke me not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaues, and were filled.

27 [d] Labour not for the meate which perisheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerlasting life, which the Sonne of man shall giue vnto you:
for him hath ✠ God the Father [e] sealed.
28 Then saide they vnto him, What shall we doe, that we might worke the [f] workes of God?
29 [5] Iesus answered, and saide vnto them,
✠ [8] This is the worke of God, that yee beleeue

31 Our fathers did eate Manna in the desart, as it is ∵ written, He gaue them bread from heauen

from heauen, but my Father giueth you that [illegible] bread from heauen.
33 For the bread of God is he which commeth downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto the 34 Then they said vnto him, Lorde, euermore giue vs this bread.

35 And Iesus saide vnto them, I am that bread
[i] of life: he that commeth to me, shall not hunger, and he that beleeueth in me, shall neuer thirst.
36 But I saide vnto you, that ye also haue seene me, and beleeue not.
37 [8] All that the Father giueth me, shall come to me: and him that commeth to me, I cast not away.
38 For I came downe from heauen, not to doe mine [k] owne will, but his will which hath sent me.
39 And this is the Fathers will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath giuen me, I should lose nothing, but shoulde raise it vp againe at the last day.
40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that euery man which [l] seeth the Sonne, and be-leeueth in him, should haue euerlasting life: and I will raise him vp at the last day.
41 [9] The Iewes then murmured at him because he saide, I am that bread, which is come downe from heauen.
42 And they said, ∵ Is not this Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, whose father and mother wee knowe?

47 ∵ He that is of God, heareth Gods wordes:
yee therefore heare them not, because ye are not
of God.
48 15 Then answered the Iewes, and said vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuil?
49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuil, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me.
50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one q that seeketh it, and iudgeth.
51 16 Verely, verely I say vnto you, If a man keepe my worde, he shall neuer r see death.

12 The true disciples of Christ continue in his doctrine, that profiting more & more in the knowledge of the trueth, they may be deliuered from the most grieuous burden of sinne, into the true libertie of righteousnesse and life.

13 Our wicked maners declare, that we are plainely borne of a deuilish nature: But we are changed, and made of the housholde of God, according to the couenant which hee made with Abraham by Christ onely, apprehended and laide holde on by faith: which faith is knowen by a godly and honest life.

6 No man can know God, but in Christ onely. e This was some place appointed for the gathering of the offerings. 7 We liue and die at the pleasure of God and not of men: Therefore this one thing remaineth that wee goe forwarde constantly in our vocation. 8 Because that men doe naturally abhorre heauenly things, no man can be a fitte disciple of Christ, vnlesse the Spirite of God frame him: in the meane season notwithstanding, the world must of necessitie perish, because it refused the life that is offered vnto it. 9 He shall at length know who Christ is, which will diligently heare, what he sayth. f That is, I am Christ, and the sauiour, for so I tolde you from the beginning that I was. 10 God is the reuenger of Christs doctrine despised. 11 Euen the contempt of Christ maketh for his glory: which thing his enemies shall feele at length to their great smart.

14 Christ did throughly execute the office, that his Father inioyned him. ∵ 1.Iohn 4.6. 15 The enemies of Christ make their brauerie for a while, but the Father will appeare at his time to reuenge the reproch that is done vnto him in the person of his sonne. q That is that will reuenge both your despising of me, and of him. 16 The onely doctrine of the Gospell apprehended by faith, is a sure remedie against death. r That is, he shall not feele it: for euen in the midst of death, the faithfull see life.

52 17 Then

52 [17] Then said the Iewes to him, Now knowe we that thou hast a deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keepe my worde, he shall neuer taste of death.
53 Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thy selfe?
54 [18] Iesus answered, If I honour my selfe, mine honour is [f] nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth mee, whome ye say, that he is your God.
55 [19] Yet yee haue not knowen him: but I knowe him, and if I should say I knowe him not, I should be a liar like vnto you: but I know him, and keepe his worde.
56 [20] Your father Abraham [t] reioyced to see my [u] day, and he [x] sawe it, and was glad.
57 Then said the Iewes vnto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeere olde, and hast thou seene Abraham?
58 Iesus said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, before Abraham was, I [y] am.
59 [21] Then tooke they vp stones, to cast at him, but Iesus hidde himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And hee passed through the middes of them, and so went his way.

CHAP. IX.

1 Christ giueth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was borne blinde: 13 Whome, after hee had long reasoned against the Pharises, 22. 35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 36. Christ endueth with the knowledge of the euerlasting light.

AND [1] as Iesus passed by, hee sawe a man which was blinde from his birth.
2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man, or his parents, that he was borne blinde?
3 Iesus answered, [a] Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him.
4 [2] I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is [b] day: the night commeth when no man can worke.
5 As long as I am in the worlde, ✠ I am the light of the world.
6 [3] Assoone as he had thus spoken, hee spat on the ground, and made claye of the spettle, and an-oynted the eyes of the blinde with the clay, 7 And saide vnto him, Goe wash in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) Hee went his way therefore, and washed, and came againe seeing.
8 [4] Nowe the neighbours and they that had seene him before, when hee was blinde, saide, Is not this he that sate and begged?
9 Some saide, This is he: and other said, Hee is like him: but he himselfe said, I am he.
10 Therefore they saide vnto him, Howe were thine eyes [c] opened?
11 He answered, and saide, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and anoynted mine eyes, and said vnto me, Go to the poole of Siloam and wash.
So I went and washed, and receiued sight.
12 Then they said vnto him, Where is hee? Hee said, I cannot tell.
13 ¶ They brought to the Pharises him that was once blinde.
14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.
15 Then againe the Pharises also asked him, howe hee had receiued sight. And hee saide vnto them, He layd clay vpon mine eyes, and I washed, and doe see.
16 [5] Then saide some of the Pharises, This man is not of God, because he keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, Howe can a man that is a sinner, doe such miracles? and there was a dissention among them.
17 Then spake they vnto the blinde againe,
What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a Prophet.
18 Then the Iewes did not beleeue him (that hee had bene blinde, and receiued his sight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had recei-ued sight.
19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whome ye say was borne blinde? How doth he now see then?
20 His parents answered them, and saide, We know that this is our sonne, and that he was borne blinde:
21 But by what meanes he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tell:
he is olde ynough: aske him: hee shall answere for himselfe.
22 These wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confesse that hee was Christ, he should be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.
23 Therefore sayde his parents, Hee is olde ynough: aske him.
24 Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, and saide vnto him, [d] Giue glory vnto God: we know that this man is a [e] sinner.
25 Then he answered, and saide, Whether he be a sinner or no, I can not tell: one thing I knowe, that I was blinde, and now I see.
26 Then said they to him againe, What did he
to thee? how opened he thine eyes?
27 Hee answered them, I haue tolde you already, and yee haue not heard it: wherefore woulde yee heare it againe? will yee also be his disciples?
28 [6] Then reuiled they him, and saide, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses disciples.
29 We knowe that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.
30 The man answered, and sayde vnto them, Doutlesse, this is a maruelous thing, that ye knowe not whence hee is, and yet hee hath opened mine eyes.
31 Now we knowe that God heareth not sinners: but if any man bee a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.
32 Since the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde.

1 Sinne is the beginning euen of all bodily diseases, and yet doth it not followe, that God alway respecteth their sinnes, whom he most sharpely punisheth.

a Christ reasoneth here, as his disciples thought, which presuppose that there come no diseases but for sinnes onely: whereupon he answereth that there was an other cause of this mans blindenes, and that was, that God his workes might be seene.

3 The workes of Christ, are as it were a light, which lighten the darkenesse of the world.

b By (day) is meant, the light that is, the lightsome doctrine of the heauenly truth: and by night is meant the darkenes which commeth by the obscuritie of the same doctrine. ✠ Chap. 1. 9. and 8. 12. and 12. 35.

3 Christ healing the man borne blinde, by taking the signe of clay, and afterwarde the signe of the fountaine of Siloam (which signifieth Sent) sheweth that as hee at the beginning made man, so doeth hee againe restore both his body and soule: and yet so, that hee himselfe commeth first of his owne accorde to heale vs. 4 A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blinde, doe neither themselues receiue the light that is offered vnto them, nor suffer it in other, and yet make a great adoe amongst themselues.

c This is an Hebrewe kinde of speach, for they call a mans eyes shut, when they cannot receiue any light: And therefore they are saide to haue their eyes opened, which of blinde men are made to see.

5 Religion is not assaulted by any meanes more, then by pretence of Religion: but the more it is pressed downe, the more it riseth vp.

d A [illegible] der, [illegible] were [illegible] knowe [illegible] fault [illegible] if they [illegible] Confessi[illegible] before God [illegible] knoweth the w[illegible] matter, and therefore set then reuerence his maiestie, and to him they be bounde rather to confesse the whole matter openly, then to lie before him, Iosh. 7. 19. 1. Sam. 6. 5.

e He is called a sinner in the Hebrew tongue, which is a wicked man, and maketh as it were an arte of sinning.

6 Proude wickednes must needs at length breake foorth, which in vaine lieth hid vnder a zeale of godlines.

33 If this man were not of God, he could haue done nothing.

34 They answered, and saide vnto him, f Thou art altogether borne in sinnes, and doest thou teach vs? so they cast him out.

35 7 Iesus heard that they had cast him out: and when he had found him, hee saide vnto him, Doest thou beleeue in the Sonne of God?

36 He answered, and sayd, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleeue in him?

37 And Iesus saide vnto him, Both thou hast seene him, and he it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then he said, Lorde, I beleeue, and worshipped him.

39 8 And Iesus saide, I am come vnto g iudgement into this worlde, that they h which see not, might see: and that they ✠ which see, might bee made blinde.

40 And some of the Pharises which were with him, heard these things, and said vnto him, Are wee blinde also?

41 Iesus saide vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not haue sinne: but nowe ye say, Wee see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

f Thou art naught euen from thy cradle, and as we vse to say, there is nothing in thee but sinne.

7 Most happie is their state, which are cast furthest out of the Church of the wicked (which proudly boast themselues of the name of the Church) that Christ may come neerer to them.

8 Christ doeth lighten all them by the preaching of the Gospel, which acknowledge their owne darknes, but such as seeme to themselues to see cleare-ly ynough, those he altogether blindeth, of which [illegible] are they oftentimes, which haue the hiest place in the Church. g With great [illegible], to doe what is righteous and iust: as if hee saide, these men take [illegible] the people of God after their owne lust, as though they sawe all [illegible] but they: but I will rule farre otherwise then these men doe: for whom [illegible] for blinde [illegible] them will I lighten, and such as take themselues to be wisest, [illegible] most grosse darkenesse of ignorance. h In these wordes (of [illegible] and not seeing) there is a secret taunting and checke to the Pharises: for they [illegible] blinde but themselues. ✠ Chap. 3. 17. and 12. 47.

CHAP. X.

1 Christ proueth that the Pharises are the euill shepheards, 8 and by many reasons, that himselfe 11. 14 is the good shepheard: 19 And thereof dissension ariseth, 31 They take vp stones, 39 and goe about to take him, but he escapeth.

1 Verely, verely I say vnto you, Hee that entreth not in by the doore into the sheepefold, but climeth vp another way, hee is a theefe and a robber.

2 But hee that goeth in by the doore, is the shepheard of the sheepe.

3 To him the a porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when hee hath sent foorth his owne sheepe, hee goeth before them, and the sheepe follow him: for they know his voyce.

5 And they will not followe a stranger, but they flee from him: for they knowe not the voyce of strangers.

6 This b parable spake Iesus vnto them: but they vnderstood not what things they were which he spake vnto them.

7 Then saide Iesus vnto them againe, Verely, verely I say vnto you, I am that doore of the sheepe.

8 2 All, that c euer came before me, are theeues and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

9 3 I am that doore: by mee if any man enter in, he shall be saued, and shall d go in, and goe out, and finde pasture.

[illegible] also [illegible] Christ [illegible] therefore he speaketh after the maner of those dayes.

b This worde (parable) which the Euangelist vseth here, signifieth a darke kinde of speach, when words are taken from their naturall meaning, to signifie another thing to vs.

a It maketh no matter, how many, neither howe olde the false teachers haue bene. c These large termes must bee applied to the matter hee speaketh of. And therefore when hee calleth himselfe the doore, hee calleth all them theeues and robbers which take vpon them this name of Doore, which none of the Prophetes can, for they shewed the sheepe that Christ was the doore. 3 Onely Christ is the true Pastor, and that onely is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their onely Pastor: To him are opposite theeues which feede not the sheepe, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flocke in time of danger, because they feede it onely for their owne profite and gaines. d That is, shall liue safely: So vse the Iewes to speake, as Deuter. 28. 6. and yet there is a peculiar alluding to the shepheards office.

10 The theefe commeth not, but for to steale, and to kill, and to destroye: I am come that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance.

11 ✠ I am that good shepheard: that good shepheard giueth his life for his sheepe.

12 But an hireling, and hee which is not the shepheard, neither the sheepe are his owne, seeth the wolfe comming, and he leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the wolfe catcheth them, and scattereth the sheepe.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe.

14 I am that good shepheard, and know mine, and am knowen of mine.

15 As the Father e knoweth me, so know I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my sheepe.

16 4 Other sheepe I haue also, which are not of this folde: them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce: and ✠ there shalbe f one sheepefolde, and one shepheard.

17 5 Therefore doeth my Father loue mee, because ∵ g I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from mee, but I laye it downe of my selfe: I haue power to laye it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this ⁑ comandement haue I receiued of my Father.

19 ¶ 6 Then there was a dissension againe among the Iewes for these sayings.

20 And many of them sayde, He hath a deuill, and is madde: why heare ye him?

21 Other said, These are not the wordes of him that hath a deuil: can the deuil open the eyes of the blinde?

22 And it was at Hierusalem the feast of the b Dedication, and it was winter.

23 7 And Iesus walked in the Temple, in Solomons porche.

24 Then came the Iewes round about him, and said vnto him, How long doest thou make vs dout? If thou be that Christ, tell vs plainely.

25 8 Iesus answered them, I tolde you, and yee beleeue not: the workes that I doe in my Fathers Name, they beare witnes of me.

26 9 But ye beleeue not: i for yee are not of my sheepe, as I said vnto you.

27 My sheepe heare my voyce, and I knowe them, and they follow me, 28 And I giue vnto them eternall life, and they shall neuer perish, neither shall any plucke them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gaue them mee, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 ✠ 10 Then the Iewes againe tooke vp stones, to stone him.

32 Iesus answered them, Many good workes haue I shewed you from my k Father: for which of these workes doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him, saying, For the good worke wee stone thee not, but for blasphemie, and that thou being a man, makest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, Is it not written in your Lawe, * I said, Ye are gods?

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ, to shewe that hee is 25 the life and the resurrection, 14 commeth to Lazarus being dead, 17. 34 and buried, 43 and raiseth him vp. 47 As the Priestes were consulting together, 49 Caiaphas so prophecieth that one must die for the people. 56. 57 They commaunde to seeke Christ out, and to take him.

1 Christ in restoring the stinking carcase of his friend to life, sheweth an example both of his mighty power, and also of his singular good wil toward men: which is also an image of the resurrection to come.

2 In that, that God seemeth sometimes to linger in helping of vs, hee doth it both for his glory, and for our saluation, as the falling out of the matter in the ende, plainely proueth.

3 This only is the sure and right way to life, to followe God boldly without feare, who calleth vs and shineth before vs in ẏ darknes of this world.

✠ Chap.7.30. and 8.59 and 10.31.

c All things are fitly wrought and brought to passe in their season.

d The Iewes vsed a milder kinde of speech, and called death a sleepe, whereupon in other languages the place of buriall where the dead are layde waiting for the resurrection, is called a sleeping place.

4 God who is the maker of nature, doeth not condemne naturall affections, but sheweth that they ought to be examined by the rule of faith.

AND [1] a certaine man was sicke, named Lazarus of Bethania, the [a] towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.
2 (And it was that ✠ Mary which anointed the Lord with oyntment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.) 3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying,
Lord, beholde, he whome thou louest, is sicke.
4 When Iesus heard it, he sayde, This sicknes is not vnto [b] death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.
5 ¶ Nowe Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.
6 [2] And after he had heard that hee was sicke, yet abode hee two dayes still in the same place where he was.
7 Then after that, sayd he to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.
8 [3] The disciples sayd vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to ✠ stone thee, and doest thou goe thither againe?
9 Iesus answered, Are there not [c] twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, hee stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.
10 But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him.
11 These things spake he, and after, he said vnto them, Our friend Lazarus [d] sleepeth: but I goe to wake him vp.
12 Then sayd his disciples, Lord, if he sleepe, he shalbe safe.
13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.
14 Then sayd Iesus vnto them plainely, Lazarus is dead.
15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleeue: but let vs go vnto him.
16 Then sayde Thomas (which is called Didy-mus) vnto his felow disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.
17 ¶ Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure dayes already.
18 (Nowe Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fifteene furlongs off.) 19 [4] And many of ẏ Iewes were come to Martha and Marie to comfort them for their brother.
20 Then Martha, when shee heard that Iesus was comming, went to meete him; but Mary sate still in the house.
21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.
22 But now I know also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.
23 Iesus sayde vnto her, Thy brother shall [e] rise againe.
24 Martha said vnto him, I know that he shall rise againe ✠ in the resurrection at the last day.
25 Iesus sayde vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: ✠ he that beleeueth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he liue.
26 And whosoeuer liueth, and beleeueth in me, shall neuer die: Beleeuest thou this?
27 She sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleeue that thou art that Christ that Sonne of God, which should come into the world.
28 ¶ And when she had so sayd, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying,
The Master is come, and calleth for thee.
29 And when she heard it, shee arose quickly, and came vnto him.
30 For Iesus was not yet come into the towne, but was in the place where Martha met him.
31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they sawe Marie, that she rose vp hastily, & went out, folowed her,
saying, She goeth vnto the graue, to weepe there.
32 Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and sawe him, she fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou haddest bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

came to Bethania, where Lazarus ws, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.
2 There they made him a supper, and Martha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at 3 Then tooke Mary a pound of oyntment of Spikenarde very costly, and anoynted Iesus feete, and wiped his feete with her haire, and the house was filled with the sauour of the oyntment.

4 Then said one of his disciples, euen Iudas Iscariot Simons sonne, which should betray him: 5 [1] Why was not this oyntment sold for three hundreth pence, and giuen to the poore?
6 Now he sayd this, not that he cared for the poore, but because he was a theefe, and ∵ had the

on, as it is written,
15 ✠ Feare not, daughter of Sion: beholde, thy King commeth sitting on an asses colte.

5 The approuing of the vertue of Christ is not included within his owne person, but it is spread thorow the body of his whole Church.
f That is, not I only doe them, but I can also giue other men power to doe greater.
✠ Chap. 16. 23. matth. 7. 7. mar. 11. 24. iames 1. 5.
6 Hee loueth Christ aright, which obeyeth his commaundements: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite sort of miseries, although he be absent in body, yet doeth he comfort his with the present vertue of the holy Ghost, whome the world despiseth, because it knoweth him not.
g The holy Ghost is called the Spirit of trueth, of the effect which he worketh, because he inspireth the trueth into vs, whereas otherwise he hath trueth in himselfe.
h Worldly men.
i The Sonne is in the Father after such sort, that he is of one selfe same substance with the Father, but hee is in his disciples in a certaine respect as an ayder and helper of them.
k I will shew my selfe to him, and be knowen of him, as if he saw me with his eyes: but this shewing of himselfe is not boldly, but spiritually, yet so plaine as none can bee more.
7 We must not aske why the Gospel is reueiled to some rather then to other, but we must rather take heede, that wee embrace Christ who is offered vnto vs, and that we truely loue him, that is to say, that we giue our selues wholy to his obedience.
8 It is the office of the holy Ghost to imprint in the mindes of the elect in their times and seasons, that which Christ once spake. ✠ Chap. 15. 26.

27 9 Peace I leaue with you: my peace I giue vnto you not as the world giueth, giue I vnto you.
Let not your heart be troubled, nor feare.
28 10 Yee haue heard howe I said vnto you, I goe away, and will come vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verely reioyce, because I said, I goe vnto
the Father: for the Father is l greater then I.
29 And nowe haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleeue.
30 11 Hereafter will I not speake many things vnto you: for the prince of this world commeth, and hath m nought in me.
31 But it is that the world may knowe that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I doe. Arise, let vs goe hence.

9 All [illegible] commeth [illegible] vs by Christ alone.
10 So farre is it, that we should be sory for the departing of Christ from vs according to the flesh, that wee should rather reioyce for it, seeing that al the blessing of the members dependeth vpon the glorifying of the head.
l This is spoken in that, that he is Mediator, for so the Father is greater then he, in as much as the person to whome request is made, is greater then hee that maketh the request.
11 Christ goeth to death not vnwillingly, but willingly, not as yeelding to the deuill, but obeying his Fathers decree. m As who would say, Satan will by and by set vpon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power ouer me, neither shall he finde any such thing in me as he thinketh he shall.

CHAP. XV.

1 By the paralle of the vine, 2 and the branches, 5. 6 he declareth howe the disciples may beare fruite. 12. 17 Hee commendeth mutuall loue. 18 Hee exhorteth them to beare afflictions patiently, 20 by his owne example.

I 1 Am that true vine, and my Father is that husband man.
2 ✠ Euery branch that beareth not fruite in me, he taketh away: and euery one that beareth fruite, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruite.
3 ✠ Nowe are yee cleane through the worde, which I haue spoken vnto you.
4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branche cannot beare fruite of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.
5 I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, & I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruite: for without me can ye doe nothing.
6 ∵ If a man abide not in me, hee is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.
7 ✠ 2 If ye abide in me, and my wordes abide in you, aske what ye will, & it shalbe done to you.
8 a Herein is my Father glorified, that yee beare much fruite, and be made my disciples.
9 3 As the father hath loued mee, so haue I loued you: b continue in that my loue.
10 If ye shall keepe my commandements, yee shall abide in my loue, as I haue kept my Fathers commandements, and abide in his loue.
11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full.
12 ✠ This is my commandement, that ye loue
one another, as I haue loued you.
13 Greater loue then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friendes.
14 Ye are my friendes, if ye doe whatsoeuer I command you.
15 4 Henceforth call I you not seruants: for the seruant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I haue called you friends: for all things that I haue heard of my Father, haue I made knowen to you.
16 5 Ye c haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeined you, ✠ that ye goe & bring foorth fruite, and that your fruite remaine, that whatsoeuer yee shall aske of the Father in my Name, he may giue it you.
17 These things commaunde I you, that yee loue one another.
18 6 If the worlde hate you, ye knowe that it hated me before you.
19 If ye were of the worlde, the world woulde loue his owne: but because ye are not of ẏ world, but I haue chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.
20 Remember the word that I saide vnto you,
✠ The seruant is not greater then his master. ∵ If they haue persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they haue kept my worde, they will also keepe yours.
21 7 But ✠ all these things will they doe vnto you for my Names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me.
22 d If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they should not haue had sinne: but now haue they no cloke for their sinne.
23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.
24 If I had not done workes among them which none other man did, they had not had sinne:
but nowe haue they both seene, and haue hated both me, and my Father.
25 But it is that the worde might be fulfilled, that is written in their e Lawe, ✠ They hated me without a cause.
26 8 But when that Comforter shall come,
*whome I will sende vnto you from the Father, euen the Spirit of trueth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me.
27 And ye shall witnesse also, because ye haue bene with me from the beginning.

1 We are of nature drie and fit for nothing, but the fire: Therefore that we may liue and be fruitfull, we must first be graffed into Christ, as it were into a vine, by the Fathers hand: and then be dayly dressed with continuall meditation of the word and the crosse: otherwise it shall not auaile any man at all to haue bene graffed, vnlesse he cleaue fast vnto the vine, and so drawe iuyce out of it.

3 The loue of the Father towardes the Sonne, and of the sonne towards vs, and ours towardes God and our neighbour, are ioyned together with an vnseparable knot: and there is nothing more sweete and pleasant then it is. CHAP. XVI.

1 He foretelleth the disciples of persecution. 7 Hee promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 21 He compareth the the afflictions of his, to a woman that trauayleth with childe.

THese 1 things haue I saide vnto you, that yee should not be offended.
2 They shall excommunicate you: yea, the time shall come, that whosoeuer killeth you, will thinke that he doeth God seruice.
3 And these things wil they doe vnto you, because they haue not knowen ẏ Father, nor me.
4 ✠ But these things haue I tolde you, that when the houre shall come, yee might remember, that I tolde you them. And these things said I not vnto you from ẏ beginning, because I was ẇ you.
5 But now I goe my way to him that sent me,
and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?
6 But because I haue saide these things vnto you, your hearts are full of sorowe.
7 2 Yet I tell you the trueth, It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I will send him vnto you.

1 The [illegible] of the Gospel [illegible] looke for all maner of reproches, not onely of them which are open enemies, but euen of them also which seeme to [illegible] of the same housholde, and the very pillars of the Church.
✠ Chap. 15.21.
2 The absence of Christ, according to the flesh, is profitable to the Church, that we may wholy depend vpon his spirituall power.

8 3 And

8 5 And when he is come, hee will a reproue the b worlde of sinne, and of righteousnesse, and of iudgement.
9 Of sinne, because they beleeued not in me:
10 Of c righteousnesse, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.
11 Of d iudgement, e because the prince of this world is iudged.
12 4 I haue yet many things to say vnto you,
but ye cannot beare them nowe.
13 Howbeit, when hee is come which is the Spirit of trueth, hee will leade you into all trueth:
for he shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoe-uer he shall heare, shall he speake, and he will shew you the things to come.
14 5 He shall glorifie me: for he shall receiue of mine, and shall shewe it vnto you.
15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore saide I, that hee shall take of mine, and shewe it vnto you.
16 6 A f litle while, and ye shall not see me: and againe a litle while, and ye shall see me: g for I goe to the Father.
17 Then said some of his disciples among them selues, What is this that hee saieth vnto vs, A litle while, and ye shall not see me, and againe, a litle while, and ye shall see me, and, For I goe to the Father.
18 They saide therefore, What is this that he saith, A litle while? we knowe not what he sayeth.
19 Now Iesus knewe that they would aske him, and said vnto them, Doe yee enquire among your selues, of that I said, A litle while, & ye shal not see me: and againe, a litle while, and yee shall see me?
20 Verely, verely I say vnto you, that ye shall weepe and lament, and the worlde shall reioyce:
and ye shall sorowe, but your sorowe shalbe turned to ioye.
21 A woman when shee traueileth, hath so-rowe, because her houre is come: but assoone as she is deliuered of the childe, she remembreth no more the anguish, for ioy that a man is borne into the world.
22 And yee nowe therefore are in sorowe: but I will see you againe, & your hearts shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you.
23 And in that day shall ye aske mee nothing.
✠ Verely, verely, I say vnto you, whatsoeuer yee shall aske the Father in my Name, he will giue it you.
24 Hitherto haue yee asked nothing in my Name: aske, and yee shall receiue, that your ioye may be full.
25 7 These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shewe you plainely of the Father.
26 8 At that day shall yee aske in my Name, and I say not vnto you, that I wil pray vnto the Father for you:
27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, ✠ and haue beleeued that I came out from God.
28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the worlde: againe I leaue the worlde, and goe to the Father.
29 9 His disciples saide vnto him, Loe, nowe speakest thou plainely, and thou speakest no parable.
30 Nowe knowe wee that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee. By this we beleeue, that thou art come out from God.
31 Iesus answered them, Doe you beleeue nowe?
32 ✠ 10 Beholde, the houre commeth, and is already come, that yee shalbe scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me.
33 11 These thinges haue I spoken vnto you, that b in me ye might haue peace: in the world ye shall haue affliction, but bee of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Christ prayeth that his glorie together with his Fathers may be made manifest. 9 He prayeth for his Apostles, 20 and for all beleeuers.

THese 1 things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and saide, 2 Father, that houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne also may glorifie thee,
2 ∵ As thou hast giuen him power ouer a all flesh, that he shoulde giue eternall life to all them that thou hast giuen him.
3 And this is life eternall, that they knowe thee to be the b onely very God, and whom thou hast sent, Iesus Christ.
4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe.
5 And now glorifie mee, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glorie which I had with thee before the world was.
6 3 I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest me out of the worlde: c thine they were, and thou d gauest them me, and they haue kept thy worde.
7 ✠ Now they knowe that all things whatsoeuer thou hast giuen me, are of thee.
8 For I haue giuen vnto them the wordes which thou gauest me, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowen surely that I came out from thee, and haue beleeued ŷ thou hast sent me.
9 I pray for them: I pray not for the worlde, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are thine.

3 The Spirit of God worketh so mightily by the preaching of the worde, that hee constraineth the world, will it, nill it, to confesse it owne vnrighteousnesse & Christs righteousnesse and almightinesse. a He will so reproue the worlde, that the worldlings shalbe able to pretend no excuse. b He respecteth the time that followed his ascension, when as all gainesayers were manifestly reproued, through the powring out of the holy Ghost vpon the Church: So that the very enemies of Christ were reproued of sinne, in [illegible] arme you with that heauenly power, whereby you may destroy euery high thing which is lifted vp against the knowledge of God, 2. Cor. 10. 12.

1 Iesus Christ the euerlasting high Priest, being readie straightwayes to offer vp himselfe, doeth by solemne prayers consecrate himselfe to God the Father, as a sacrifice, and vs together with himselfe: Therefore this prayer was from the beginning, is, and shalbe to the ende of the world, the foundation & grounde of the Church of God. 2 He first declareth, that as he came into the worlde to the end that the Father might shewe in him, being apprehended by faith, his glorie in sauing his elect, so he applied himselfe to that onely: and therefore desireth of the Father, that he woulde blesse the worke which hee had finished. ∵ Matth. 28. 18. a Ouer all men. b Hee calleth the Father the onely very God, to set him against all false gods, and not to shut out himselfe and the holy Ghost, for straightwayes hee ioyneth the knowledge of the Father and the knowledge of himselfe together, and according to his accustomed maner, setteth foorth the whole Godhead in the person of the Father: So is the Father alone said to be King, immortall, wise, and dwelling in light which no man can attaine vnto, inuisible, Rom. 16. 27. 1. tim. 1. 17. 3 First of all hee prayeth for those his disciples, by whome hee woulde haue the rest to bee gathered together, and commendeth them vnto the Father, (hauing once reiected the whole companie of the reprobate) because he receiued them of him, into his custodie, and for that they embracing his doctrine, shall haue so many and so mightie enemies, that there is no way for them to be in safetie, but by his helpe onely. c He sheweth hereby that euerlasting election and choise, which was hidden in the good will and pleasure of God, which is the ground worke of our saluation. d Hee sheweth howe that euerlasting and hidden purpose of God is declared in Christ, by whome we are iustified and sanctified, if we lay hold on him by faith, that at length we may come to the glorie of the election. ✠ Chap. 16. 27.

4 The doctrine of the Apostles, proceeded from the holy Ghost, and is most perfite. 5 The holy Ghost bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was vttered by Christes owne mouth, and imprinteth it in our mindes. 6 The grace of the holy Ghost is a most liuely glasse, wherein Christ is truely beholden with the most sharpe sighted eyes of faith, and not with the bleared eyes of the flesh: Whereby we feele a continuall ioy euen in the midst of sorowes. f When a litle time is once past. g For I passe to eternall glory, so that I shalbe much more present with you then I was before: for then you shall feele in deede what I am, and what I am able to do. ✠ Chap. 14. 13. mat. 7. 7. & 21. 22. mar. 11. 24. luk. 11. 9. iam. 1. 5. 7 The holy Ghost which was powred vpon the Apostles after the Ascension of Christ, instructed both them in all the chiefest mysteries and secretes of our saluation, and also by them the Church, and will also instruct it to the end of the world. 8 The summe of the worship of God, is the inuocation of the Father in the Name of the Sonne the Mediatour, who is alreadie heard for vs, for whome he both abased himselfe, and is now also glorified.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.
11 And nowe am I no more in the world, but these are in the worlde, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, euen them whom thou hast giuen me, that they may be [e]one,
as we are.
12 While I was with them in the worlde, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the ✣ Scripture might be fulfilled.
13 And nowe come I to thee, and these things speake I in the worlde, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in themselues.
14 I haue giuen them thy worde, & the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.
15 [4] I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the worlde, but that thou keepe them from euill.
16 They are not of the worlde, as I am not of the world.
17 [f] Sanctifie them with thy trueth: thy word is trueth.
18 [5] As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.
19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may bee sanctified through the [g] trueth.
20 [6] I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleeue in me, through their worde,
21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in me, and I in thee: euen that they may be also one in vs, that the world may beleeue that thou hast sent me.
22 And the glory that thou gauest me, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as we are one, 23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, & hast loued them, as thou hast loued me.
24 ✣ Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with me euen where I am, that they may beholde that my glory, which thou hast gi-uen me: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.
25 O righteous Father, the worlde also hath not knowen thee, but I haue knowen thee, and these haue knowen, that thou hast sent me.
26 [7] And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me, may be in them, and I in them.

[e] He prayeth that his people may [...] agree and be ioyned together [...] that as the Godhead is one, so they may be of one mind and one consent together.
[4] Hee sheweth what maner of deliuerance he meaneth, not that they should be in no danger, but that they being preserued from all, might prooue by experience that the doctrine of saluation is true, which they receiued at his mouth to deliuer to other.
[f] That is, make them holy: and that is said to be holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God onely.
[5] Hee addeth moreouer, that the Apostles haue a vocation common with him, & therefore that they must be holden vp by the selfe same vertue to giue vp themselues wholy to God, whereby he being first, did consecrate himselfe to the Father.
[g] The true and substantiall sanctification of Christ, is set against the outward purifyinge.
[6] Secondarily he offreth to God the Father all his, that is, howe many so euer shall beleeue in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as hee cleaueth vnto the Father, receiuing from him all fulnesse, so they being ioyned with him, may receiue life from him, and at length being together beloued in him, may also with him enioy euerlasting glory ✣ Chap. 12. 26.
[7] Hee communicateth with his by litle and litle, the knowledge of the Father, which is most full in Christ the Mediatour, that they may in him be beloued of the Father, with the selfe same loue wherewith he loueth the Sonne.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Christes power, whom Iudas betrayeth, 6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 13 Christ is lead to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22. 23 His answere to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being deliuered to Pilate, 36 he declareth his kingdome.

WHen [1] Iesus had spoken these thinges, he went foorth with his disciples ouer the brooke ∵ Cedron, where was a garden, into the
which he entred, and his disciples.
2 And Iudas which betraied him, knewe also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.
3 ✣ [2] Iudas then, after hee had receiued a band of men and officers of the high Priestes, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.
4 [3] Then Iesus, knowing al things that should come vnto him, went foorth and saide vnto them, Whom seeke ye?
5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Ie-sus saide vnto them, I am he. Nowe Iudas also which betraied him, stood with them.
6 Assoone then as he had saide vnto them, I am he, they went away backwardes, and fell to the ground.
7 Then he asked them againe, Whom seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.
8 [4] Iesus answered, I saide vnto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these go their way.
9 This was that the worde might be fulfilled which he spake, ✣ Of them which thou gauest me, haue I lost none.
10 [5] Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drewe it, and smote the hie Priests seruant, and cut off his right eare. Nowe the seruants name was Malchus.
11 Then saide Iesus vnto Peter, Put vp thy sworde into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cuppe which my Father hath giuen me?
12 Then the band and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Iesus, and bound him, 13 [6] And led him away to ∵ Annas first (for he was father in lawe to Caiaphas, which was the hie-Priest that same yeere) 14 ✣ And Caiaphas was he, that gaue counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.
15 ¶ [7] ✣ Now Simon Peter folowed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was knowen of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the hie Priest: 16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was knowen vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.
17 Then saide the maide that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.
18 And the seruants and officers stoode there, which had made a fire of coles: for it was colde, and they warmed themselues. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.
19 ¶ ([8] The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.
20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.
21 Why askest thou me? aske them which heard me what I saide vnto them: beholde, they 22 When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stoode by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witnes of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

26 One of the seruaunts of the hie Priest, his phas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselues went not into the common

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and saide,
What accusation bring ye against this man?
30 They answered, and saide vnto him, If hee were not an euill doer, we would not haue deliue-red him vnto thee.
31 Then saide Pilate vnto them, Take ye him,

33 ✠ So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and saide vnto him, Art

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iewe? Thine owne this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be de-liuered to the Iewes: but nowe is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then said vnto him, Art thou a King

CHAP. XIX.

1 Pilate, when Christ was scourged, 2 and crowned with thorne, 4 was desirous to let him loose: 8 but being ouercome with the outrage of the Iewes, 16 Hee deliuereth him to be crucified. 26 Iesus committeth his mother to the disciple. 30 Hauing tasted vineger, he dyeth: 34 and being dead, his side is pearced with a speare. 40 Hee is buried.

THen ✠ Pilate tooke Iesus and [1] scourged him.
2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,
3 And saide, Haile, King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their roddes.
4 [2] Then Pilate went foorth againe, and saide vnto them, Behold, I bring him foorth to you, that ye may knowe, that I finde no fault in him at all.
5 Then came Iesus foorth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate saide vnto them, Beholde the man.
6 Then when the hie Priests and officers sawe him, they cryed, saying, [a] Crucifie, crucifie him.
Pilate saide vnto them, Take ye him and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.
7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a lawe, and by our lawe he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.
8 ¶ [3] When Pilate then heard that worde, he was the more afraide, 9 And went againe into the common hall, and saide vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answere.
10 Then saide Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?
11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.
12 From thence foorth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cesars friende: for whosoeuer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cesar.
13 ¶ [4] When Pilate heard this word, he brought Iesus foorth, and sate downe in the iudgement seate in a place called the Pauement, and in Hebrewe, [b] Gabbatha.
14 And it was the Preparation of the Passeo-uer, and about the sixt houre: and he said vnto the Iewes, Beholde your King.
15 But they cryed, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate saide vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The high Priestes answered, We haue no King but Cesar.
16 [5] Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. ✠ And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.
17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens Skulles, which is called in Hebrewe, Golgotha: 18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the middes.
19 ¶ [6] And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEVVES.
20 This title then read many of Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrewe, Greeke and Latine.
21 Then saide the hie Priestes of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he said, I am King of the Iewes.
22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.
23 ¶ [7] Then the ✠ souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure partes, to euery souldier a part) and his coate:
and the coate was without seame wouen from the toppe throughout.
24 Therefore they saide one to another, Let vs not deuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which sayeth, ∵ They parted my garments among them, and on my coate did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things in deede.

bath was an hie day) besought Pilate that their legges might be broken, and that they might bee taken downe.
32 Then came the souldiers and brake the legges of the first, and of the other which was crucified with Iesus.
33 But when they came to Iesus, and saw that he was dead alreadie, they brake not his legges.

ture should be fulfilled, ✠Not a bone of him shal-

38 ⌘ [12] And after these things, Ioseph of Arimathea (who was a disciple of Iesus, but secretly for feare of the Iewes) besought Pilate that hee might take downe the bodie of Iesus. And Pilate 39 And there came ✲also Nicodemus (which first came to Iesus by night) & brought of myrrhe

40 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen clothes with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie.
41 And in that place where Iesus was crucified, was a garden, and in the garden a newe sepulchre, wherein was [e] neuer man yet laid.
42 There then laide they Iesus, because of the 2 Then she ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whome Iesus loued, and saide vnto them, They haue taken away the Lorde out of the sepulchre, and wee knowe not where they haue laid him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, and the other disciple, and they came vnto the sepulchre.
4 So they ranne both together, but the other disciple did outrunne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.
5 And hee stouped downe, and sawe the lin-

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and sawe the linnen clothes lye,
7 And the kerchiefe that was vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe.
8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he sawe it, and be-

not that it was Iesus.
15 Iesus saith vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? Shee supposing that he had bene the gardener, saide vnto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell mee where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.
16 Iesus saith vnto her, Marie. She turned her selfe, and said vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say,

17 [4] Iesus saith vnto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my [d] brethren, and say vnto them, I ascend vnto [e] my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and 18 Marie Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seene the Lorde, and that he had spoken these things vnto her.

19 ¶ ∴ [5] The same day then at night, which was the first day of the weeke, and when the

CHAP. XXI.

1 Jesus appeareth to his disciples as they were a fishing. 6. 7 whom they knowe by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15 Hee committeth the charge of the sheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the maner of his death.

AFter these things, 1 Iesus shewed himselfe againe to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias:
and thus shewed he himselfe:
2 There were together Simon Peter, & Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his disciples.
3 Simon Peter said vnto them, I goe a fishing.
They said vnto him, Wee also will goe with thee.
They went their way & entred into a ship straightway, and that night caught they nothing.
4 But when the morning was nowe come, Iesus stoode on the shore: neuerthelesse the disciples knewe not that it was Iesus.
5 Iesus then said vnto them, Syrs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No.
6 Then he saide vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall finde. So they cast out, & they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.
7 Therefore saide the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lorde, hee girded his a coate to him (for he was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea.
8 But the other disciples came by shippe (for they were not farre from lande, but about two hundreth cubites) and they drewe the net with fishes.

a It was a linnen garment, which could not let his swimming.

9 Assoone then as they were come to lande, they sawe hoate coales, and fish laide thereon,
and bread.
10 Iesus saide vnto them, Bring of the fishes, which ye haue nowe caught.
11 Simon Peter stepped foorth and drewe the net to land, full of great fishes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.
12 Iesus saide vnto them, Come, and dine.
And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? seeing they knewe that hee was the Lord.
13 Iesus then came and tooke bread and gaue them, and fish likewise.
14 This is nowe the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from the dead.
15 ¶ 2 So when they had dined, Iesus said to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He said vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. Hee said vnto him, Feede my lambes.
16 He said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? He saide vnto him, Yea Lorde, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feede my sheepe.
17 He said vnto him the b third time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sorie because he said to him the third time, Louest thou me? and said vnto him, Lorde, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus saide vnto him, Feede my sheepe.
18 3 Verely, verely I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou c girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt be olde, thou shalt stretch foorth thine hands, and another shall d gird thee, and lead thee whither thou wouldest e not.
19 And this spake hee signifying by f what death he shoulde glorifie God. And when he had said this, he said to him, Folowe me.
20 4 Then Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple whome IESVS loued, folowing, which had also ✠ leaned on his breast at supper, and had saide, Lorde, which is hee that betrayeth thee?
21 When Peter therefore sawe him, he saide to Iesus, Lorde, what shall this man doe?
22 Iesus saide vnto him, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee? followe thou me.
23 Then went this worde abroade among the brethren, that this disciple shoulde not die.
Yet Iesus saide not to him, Hee shall not die: but if I will that hee tarie till I come, what is it to thee?
24 5 This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimonie is true.
25 ✠ Nowe there are also many other things which Iesus did, the which if they shoulde bee written euery one, I suppose the worlde coulde not conteine the bookes that shoulde be written.
Amen.

2 Peter by his triple confession is restored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple deniall: and therewithall is aduertised, that he is in deede a pastour, which sheweth his loue to Christ, in feeding his sheepe.
b It was meete that he that had denied him thrise, should confesse him thrise, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgiuenesse of his so grieuous a sinne, nor of his restoring to the office of the Apostleship.
3 The violent death of Peter is foretolde.
c They that tooke farre iourneyes, specially in the East countrey and in those places where the people vsed long garments, had neede to be girded and trussed vp.
d He meant that kinde of girding which is vsed toward captiues, when they are bound fast with cordes and chaines, as who would say, Now thou girdest thy selfe as thou thinkest best, to goe whither thou listest, but the time will be, when thou shalt not gird thee with a girdle, but an other shall binde thee with chaines, and carie thee whither thou wouldest not.
e Not that Peter suffered ought for the truth of God against his will, for we reade that he came with ioy and gladnesse when he returned from the Councill where he was whipped, but because this will commeth not from the flesh, but from that gift of the Spirit which is giuen vs from aboue, therefore he shewed there should be a certaine striuing and conflict or repugnancie, which also is in vs, in all our sufferances as touching the flesh. f That is, that Peter should die by a violent death. 4 Wee must take heede, that whiles wee cast our eyes vpon other, we neglect not that which is inioyned vs. ✠ Chap.13.23. 5 The historie of Christ is true and warily written: not for the curiositie of men, but for the saluation of the godly. ✠ Chap.20.30.

THE ACTES OF THE HOLY APOSTLES WRITTEN BY LVKE THE EVANGELIST.

CHAP. I.

1 Luke tieth this historie to his Gospel. 9 Christ being taken into heauen, 10 the Apostles 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 returne, 14 and giue themselues to prayer. 15 By Peters motion, 18 into Iudas the traitours place, Matthias is chosen.

I Haue made the [1] former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that IESVS began to [a] doe and teach,
2 Vntill the day that he was taken vp, after that hee through the holy Ghost, had giuen commaundements vnto the Apostles, whom hee had chosen:
3 [2] To whom also he presented himselfe aliue after that he had suffered, by many [b] infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie dayes, and speaking of those things which appertaine to the kingdome of God.
4 ✠ And when he had [c] gathered them together, he commaunded them that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, ✠ which said he, ye haue heard of me.
5 ∵ For Iohn in deede baptized with water, but ye shall be baptized [d] with the holy Ghost within these fewe dayes.
6 [3] When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lorde, wilt thou at this time [e] restore the kingdome to Israel?
7 And he said vnto them, It is not for you to knowe the times, or the [f] seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power, 8 ✠ But yee shall receiue power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you: and ye shalbe witnesses vnto me both in Hierusalem and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, and vnto the vttermost part of the earth.
9 ✠ [4] And when he had spoken these things, while they behelde, he was taken vp: for a cloude tooke him vp out of their sight.
10 And while they looked stedfastly towarde heauen, as he went, beholde, two men stoode by them in white apparell, 11 Which also saide, Ye men of Galile, why stand ye gasing into heauen? This Iesus which is taken vp [g] from you into heauen, shall so come, as ye haue seene him goe into heauen.
12 ¶ Then returned they vnto Hierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Oliues, which is neere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath [h] dayes iourney.
13 [5] And when they were [i] come in, they went vp into an vpper chamber, where abode both Peter and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrewe, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemewe, and Matthewe, Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas Iames brother.
14 These all [k] continued with [l] one accorde in [m] prayer and supplication with the [n] women, and Marie the mother of Iesus, and with his [o] brethren.
15 ¶ [6] And in those dayes Peter stoode vp in the middes of the disciples, and saide (nowe the nomber of [p] names that were in one place were about an hundreth and twentie.)
16 [7] Ye men and brethren, this scripture must needes haue beene fulfilled, which the ✠ holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was ✠ guide to them that tooke Iesus.
17 For he was nombred with vs, and had obteined felowship in this ministration.
18 He therefore hath [q] purchased a fielde with the reward of iniquitie: and when ∵ he had [r] throwen downe himselfe headlong, he brast asunder in the middes, and all his bowels gushed out.
19 And it is knowen vnto all the inhabitants of Hierusalem, in so much, that that field is called in their owne language, Aceldama, That is, the fielde of blood.
20 For it is written in the booke of Psalmes, ✠ Let his habitation be voide, and let no man dwell therein: ✠ also, Let another take his [s] charge.
21 [8] Wherefore of these men which haue companied with vs, all the time that the Lorde Iesus was [t] conuersant among vs, 22 Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn vnto the day that he was taken vp [u] from vs, must one of them be made a witnesse with vs of his resurrection.
23 [9] And they [x] presented two, Ioseph called Barsabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias.
24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the heartes all men, shewe whether of these two thou hast chosen, 25 That he may take the [y] roume of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Iudas hath [z] gone astray, to goe to his owne place.
26 Then they gaue foorth their lottes: and the lotte fell on Matthias, and he was by a common consent counted with the eleuen Apostles.

1 A passing ouer from the historie of the Gospel, that is, from the historie of the sayings and doings of Christ, vnto the actes of the Apostles.
a The actes of Iesus are the miracles and doings which shewed his Godhead, and his most perfite holines and examples of his doctrine.
2 Christ did not straightwayes ascend into heauen after his resurrection, because he would throughly proue his resurrection, and with his presence confirme his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had heard.
b He calleth these infallible tokens, which are otherwise termed necessarie: nowe in that, that Christ spake, and walked, and ate, and was felt of many, these are sure signes and tokens that hee truely rose againe.
c They were dispersed here and there, but he gathereth them together that they might altogether be witnesses of his resurrection.
∵ Matth.3.11. marke 1.8. luke 3.16 chap.2. 2.and 11.16. and 19.4.
d Either of the Father, or of me: so that either the Father or Christ, is set here against Iohn, as the holy Ghost is against the water, as things answerable the one to the other. 3 We must fight before we triumph: and we ought not curiously to search after those things, which God hath not reueiled. e To the olde and auncient state. f That is, the fitte occasions that serue to doing of matters which the Lorde hath appointed to bring things to passe in. ✠ Chap. 2.2. ✠ Luke 24.51. 4 After that Christ had promised the full vertue of the holy Ghost, wherewith he woulde gouerne his Church, although hee shoulde be absent in body, he tooke vp his body from vs into the heauenly tabernacles, there to continue vntill the latter day of iudgement, as the Angels witnesse. g That is, out of your sight. h About two mile. 5 Ecclesiasticall assemblies to heare the worde, and to make common prayer, were first instituted and kept in priuate houses by the Apostles. i They went into the house, which the Church had chosen at that time to be a receite for the whole assemblie.

k The Greke worde signifieth an inuincible constancie, and steadinesse.
l It is to good purpose that this concorde is mentioned: for those prayers are most acceptable to God, which are made with agreeing mindes and willes.

And it is a Metaphore taken from the way: for callings are signified by the name of wayes ... the Hebrewes.*

CHAP.

CHAP. II.

1 The Apostles 4 filled with the holy Ghost 8 speake with diuers tongues. 12 They are thought to be drunke, 15 but Peter disprooueth that : 34 He teacheth that Christ is the Messias: 37 And seeing the hearers astonied, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.

AND 1 when the day of Pentecost was a come,
they were b all with one accord in one place.
2 And suddenly there came a sounde from heauen, as of a russhing and mightie winde, and it filled all the house where they sate.
3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues, like fire, and it sate vpon eche of them.
4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and began to speake with c other tongues, as the d Spirit gaue them vtterance.
5 And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Iewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.
6 Nowe when this was noised, the multitude came together and were astonied, because that e-uery man heard them speake his owne language.
7 And they wondered all, and marueiled, saying among themselues, Beholde, are not all these which speake, of Galile?
8 e Howe then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?
9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia.
10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the partes of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and f Iewes, and Proselytes, 11 Creetes, and Arabians: wee heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderfull workes
of God.
12 2 They were all then amased, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?
13 And others g mocked, and saide, They are full of newe wine.
14 ¶ But Peter standing with the Eleuen, h lift vp his voice, and said vnto them, Ye men of Iudea, and ye all that inhabite Hierusalem, be this knowen vnto you, and hearken vnto my wordes.
15 For these are not drunken, as ye suppose, since it is but the i third houre of the day.
16 But this is that, which was spoken by the k Prophet ✠ Ioel,
17 3 And it shalbe in the last dayes, saith God, I wil powre out of my Spirite vpon l all m flesh, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your olde men shall dreame dreames.
18 And on my seruants, and on mine handmaides I will powre out of my Spirite in those dayes, and they shall prophecie.
19 And I will shew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire,
and the vapours of smoke.
20 The Sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.
21 4 And it shalbe, that whosoeuer shall n call on the Name of the Lord, shall be saued.
22 5 Yee men of Israel, heare these wordes, IESVS of Nazareth, a man o approoued of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middes of you, as ye your selues also knowe: 23 Him, I say, being deliuered by the deter-minate counsell, and p foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked q handes you haue crucified and r slaine.
24 6 Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed the s sorrowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.
25 For Dauid sayeth concerning him, ✠ I be-helde the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.
26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not t leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.
28 Thou hast u shewed me the wayes of life, and shalt make me full of ioy with thy countenance.
29 Men and brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, ✠ that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.
30 Therefore, seeing hee was a Prophet, and knewe that God had ∵ x sworne with an othe to him, that of the fruite of his loynes he would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne,
31 He knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that ✠ his soule shoulde not be left in graue, neither his flesh shoulde see corruption.
32 7 This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.
33 Since then that he by the y right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, he hath shed foorth this which ye nowe see and heare.
34 For Dauid is not ascended into heauen, but he sayth, ✠ The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand,
35 Vntill I make thine enemies thy footestoole.
36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath z made him both Lorde, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom ye haue crucified.

1 The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemne feast day in one place, that it might euidently appeare to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirite, one faith, are by a double signe from heauen authorised, and anointed with all the most excellent giftes of the holy Ghost, and especially with an extraordinarie and necessarie gift of tongues.

[illegible] for word, [illegible] that [illegible] he calleth them newe tongues. d Hereby wee vnderstand, that the Apostles [illegible] not nowe one tongue, and then another by haphazard and at all aduenture, or as fantasticall men vse to doe, but with good consideration of their hearers: and to be short, that that they spake nothing but as the holy Ghost gouerned their tongues. e Not that they spake with one voyce, and many languages were heard, but that the Apostles spake with strange tongues: for els the miracle had rather bene in the hearers, whereas nowe it is in the speakers, Nazian. in his oration of Whitsunday. f By Iewes, he meaneth them that were both Iewes by birth, and Iewes by profession of religion though they were borne in other places: and they were Proselytes, which were Gentiles borne, and embraced the Iewish religion. 2 Gods worde pearceth some so, that it driueth them to seeke out the trueth, and it doeth so choke other, that it forceth them to be witnesses of their owne impudencie. g The worde which he vseth here, signifieth such a kinde of mocking which is reprochefull and contumelious: And by this reprochefull mocking we see, that there is no miracle so great and excellent, which the wickednesse of man dareth not speake euill off. h Peter his boldnesse is to bee marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seene, euen straight after the beginning. i After the sunne rising, which may bee about seuen or eight of the clocke with vs. k There is nothing that can dissolue questions and doubts, but testimonie taken out of the Prophets: for mens reasons may be ouerturned, but Gods voyce cannot be ouerturned. ✠ Ioel. 2. 28. Esai 44. 3. 3 Peter setting the trueth of God against the false accusations of men, sheweth in himselfe and in his fellowes, that that is fulfilled which Ioel spake before concerning the full giuing of the holy Ghost in the latter dayes: which grace also is offered to the whole Church, to their certaine and vndoubted destruction, which doe contemne it. l All without exception, both vpon the Iewes and Gentiles. m That is, men.

4 The chiefest vse of all the giftes of the holy Ghost, is to bring men to saluation by faith.
n This worde, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and crauing for helpe at Gods hand.
5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods prouidence crucified of wicked men.
o Who is by those workes which God wrought by him, so manifestly approued and allowed of, that no man can gainesay him.
p Gods euerlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsell, as the Epicures say, neither yet be the cause of euill: for God in his euerlasting & vnchangeable counsell, appointed the wicked acte of Iudas to an excellent ende: and God doeth that well, which the instruments doe ill.
q Gods counsell doeth not excuse the Iewes, whose hands were wicked.
r The fact is said to be theirs, by whose counsell and egging forward it is done.
6 Christ (as Dauid foretolde) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the graue voide of all corruption.
s The death that was full of sorowe both of body and minde: therefore when death appeared conquerour and victorer ouer those sorowes, Christ is rightly said to haue ouercome those sorowes of death, when as being dead, he ouercame death, to liue for euer with his Father.
t Thou wilt not suffer me to remaine in graue.

u Thou hast opened me the way to the true life. ✠ 1. King. 2. 10. chap. 13. 36. ∵ Psal. 132. 11. x Had sworne solemnely. ✠ Psal. 16. 10. chapter 13. 35. 7 Peter witnesseth that Iesus Christ is the appointed euerlasting King, which he prooueth manifestly by the giftes of the holy Ghost and the testimonie of Dauid. y Might and power of God. ✠ Psalme 110. 1. z Christ is saide to be made, because hee was aduanced to that dignitie: and therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his state and high dignitie.

37 Nowe

[illegible] repentance and [illegible] of sinnes [illegible] Christ, are two [illegible] of the [illegible] and there[illegible] of our saluation: and they are [illegible] by the [illegible] apprehended by faith, and are ratified in [illegible] by Baptisme, [illegible] with is ioyned the vertue of the holy Ghost.
a The word that is [illegible] here, giueth vs to vnderstand, that it is a free gift.
9 Hee is truely ioyned to the Church, which separateth himselfe from the wicked.
10 A notable example of the vertue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized, before they make confession of their faith.
11 The markes of the true Church are the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charitie, the pure & simple administration of the Sacraments,

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and saide vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe?
38 [8] Then Peter said vnto them, Amend your liues, and bee baptized euery one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of sinnes:
and ye shall receiue the gift of the holy Ghost.
39 For the [a] promise is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are a farre off, euen
as many as the Lord our God shall call.
40 [9] And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, Saue your selues from this froward generation.
41 [10] Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules.
42 [11] And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and [b] fellowship, and [c] breaking of bread, and prayers.
43 ¶ [12] And feare came vpon euery soule: and many wonders & signes were done by ỹ Apostles.
44 [13] And all that beleeued, were in one place,
and had all things common.
45 And they solde their possessions and goods, and parted them to all mẽ, as euery one had neede.
46 [14] And they continued dayly with one accorde in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meate together with gladnesse and singlenesse of heart, 47 Praysing God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lorde added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saued.

and true inuocation vsed of all the faithful. b Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charitie, as is shewed afterward. c The Iewes vsed thinne loaues, and therefore they did rather breake them then cut them: So by breaking of bread, they vnderstood that liuing together, and the banquets which they vsed to keepe. And when they kept their loue feastes, they vsed to celebrate the Lords Supper, which euen in these dayes began to be corrupted, and Paul amendeth it, 1. Cor. 11. 12 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridleth the rage of strangers, that the Church may be planted, and haue some refreshing. 13 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the vse, according as necessitie requireth. 14 The faithful came together at the beginning with great fruite, not only to the hearing of the worde, but also to meate.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter goeth into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 To the people gathered together to see the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 14 accusing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring their repentance.

1 Christ, in healing a man that was borne lame, and well knowen to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the handes of his Apostles, doeth partly confirme them which beleeued, and partly also calleth other to beleeue.
a Both with heart and eyes.

NOwe [1] Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.
2 And a certaine mã which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, was caried, whom they layde dayly at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into ỹ Temple.
3 Who seeing Peter & Iohn, that they would enter into the Temple, desired to receiue an almes.
4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with Iohn, sayd, Looke on vs.
5 And hee [a] gaue heede vnto them, trusting to receiue some thing of them.
6 Then said Peter, Siluer & gold haue I none, but such as I haue, that giue I thee: In the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.
7 And hee tooke him by the right hand, and lift him vp, and immediately his feete and ankle bones receiued strength.
8 And he leaped vp, stoode, and walked, and entred with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praysing God.
9 And all the people sawe him walke, and praysing God.
10 And they knewe him, that it was he which sate for the almes at the Beautifull gate of the Temple: and they were amased, and sore astonied at that, which was come vnto him.
11 ¶ And as the creeple which was healed, [b] helde Peter & Iohn, all the people ranne amased vnto them in the porch which is called Salomons.
12 [2] So when Peter saw it, he answered vnto the people, Ye mẽ of Israel, why marueile ye at this? or why looke ye so stedfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlines, we had made this mã go?
13 The GOD of Abraham, & Isaac, & Iacob, the ✠ GOD of our fathers hath glorified his Sonne Iesus, whom ye betrayed, & denied in the presence of Pilate, when he had iudged him to be deliuered.
14 But yee denied the Holy one and the Iust, and desired a murtherer to be giuen you, 15 And killed the Lorde [c] of life, whome God hath raised frõ the dead, whereof we are witnesses.
16 And his Name hath made this man sound, whom ye see, & know, through faith in his Name: [d] and the faith which is by him, hath giuen to him this perfite health of his whole body in the presence of you all.
17 [3] And now brethren, I know that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your gouernours.
18 But those thinges which God before had shewed [e] by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.
19 Amend your liues therefore, and turne, [illegible] your sinnes may be put away, when the time [illegible] freshing shall come from the presence of the [illegible] 20 And he shall sende Iesus Christ, which [illegible] fore was preached vnto you, 21 [f] Whome the heauen must containe [illegible]
the time that all things be restored, which [illegible] had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Proph[illegible] since the world began.
22 ✠ For Moses said vnto the Fathers, The L[illegible] your God shall raise vp vnto you [g] a Prophet, [illegible] of your brethren, like vnto me: ye shall heare h[illegible] in all things, whatsoeuer he shall say vnto you.
23 For it shalbe that euery person which sha[illegible] not heare that Prophet, shall be destroyed out o[illegible]
the people.
24 Also all the Prophets [h] from Samuel, and thencefoorth as many as haue spoken, haue likewise foretolde of these dayes.
25 [4] Ye are the [i] children of the Prophets, and of the couenant, which God hath made vnto our fathers, saying to Abraham, ✠ Euen in thy seede shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed.
26 First vnto you hath God [k] raised vp his Sonne Iesus, and him hee hath sent to blesse you, in turning euery one of you from your iniquities.

b Rather because he healed them, who had healed him: or because he feared that if hee went from them, he should be lame againe.
2 Miracles are appointed to conuince the vnbeleeuers, and therefore they doe wickedly abuse them, who standing amased, gather at the miracles themselues, or as the instruments and meanes which it pleaseth God to vse, take an occasion to establish idolatrie and superstition, by that, which God hath prouided for the knowledge of his true worship, that is, Christ [illegible]
✠ [illegible]
[illegible] be [illegible] vp [illegible] be found [illegible] vnbeleeuers [illegible]

ly perish. e Though there were many Prophets, yet he speaketh but of one mouth, to shewe vnto vs the consent and agreement of the Prophets. f Or, be taken vp into heauen. ✠ Deut. 18. 15. chap. 7. 37. g This promise was of an excellent and singular Prophet. h At what time the kingdome of Israel was established. 3 The Iewes that beleeue are the first begotten in the kingdome of God. i For whom the Prophets were specially appointed. ✠ Gen. 12. 3. gala. 3. 8. k Giuen to the world, or raised from the dead, and aduanced to his kingdome.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Peter and Iohn 3 are taken and brought before the council, 7 and 19 They speake boldly in Christes cause. 24 The disciples pray vnto God. 32 Many sell their possessions: 36 Of whome Barnabas is one.

AND [1] as they spake vnto the people, the Priestes and the [a] Captaine of the Temple,

1 None are commonly more deadly or bolder enemies of the Church, then such as professe themselues to be head builders: but the more they rage, the more constantly the faithfull seruants of God doe continue. a The Iewes had certaine garrisons for the garde and safetie of the Temple and holy things, Matth. 27. 65. These garrisons had a Captaine, such as [illegible] Ananias the hie Priests sonne was in the time of the warre that was in [illegible] a very [illegible] and proude yong man, Ioseph. lib. 2. of the taking of [illegible]

and

and the Sadduces came vpon them, 2 Taking it grieuously that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection from the dead.
3 And they layde handes on them, and put them in holde, vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.
4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the word, beleeued, and the b number of the men was about fiue thousand.
5 ¶ And it came to passe on the morow, that their c rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hierusalem, 6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the d kindred of the hie Priestes.
7 2 And whē they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what e Name haue ye done this?
8 Then Peter ful of the holy Ghost, said vnto them, Ye rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel, 9 3 For as much as we this day are examined of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole, 10 4 Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of IESVS CHRIST of Nazareth, whom ye haue crucified, whom God raised againe from the dead, euen by him doth this man stand here before you, whole.
11 ✠ This is the stone cast aside of you builders which is become the head of the corner.
12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is f giuen none other g Name
h vnder heauen, whereby we must be saued.
13 5 Nowe when they sawe the boldnes of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstoode that they were vn-learned men and without i knowledge, they marueiled, & knew them, that they had bin with Iesus: 14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.
15 Then they commaunded them to goe aside out of the Council, and k conferred among themselues,
16 6 Saying, What shall we doe to these men?
for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot denie it.
17 But that it be noysed no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake henceforth to no man in this Name.
18 So they called them, and commaunded them, that in no wise they should speake or teache in the Name of Iesus.
19 7 But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God,
to obey you rather then God, iudge ye.
20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.
21 8 So they threatened them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praysed God for that which was done.
22 For the man was aboue fourtie yeeres olde, on whome this miracle of healing was shewed.
23 9 Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their felowes, and shewed all that the hie Priestes and Elders had sayd vnto them.
24 10 And when they heard it, they lift vp their voyces to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heauē, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, 25 Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast saide, ✠ Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?
26 The Kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.
27 For doutlesse, against thine holy Sonne Ie-sus, whome thou haddest anoynted, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the l people of Israel gathered themselues together, 28 To m doe whatsoeuer n thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to be done.
29 And nowe, O Lorde, beholde their threatnings, and graunt vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy worde, 30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand, that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Iesus.
31 11 And when they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the worde of God boldely.
32 12 And the multitude of them that beleeued, were of o one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them sayd, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all thinges ✠ common.
33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witnes of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was vpon them all.
34 13 Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of landes or houses, solde them, and brought the price of the things that were solde, 35 And layde it downe at the Apostles feete, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according
as he had neede.
36 Also Ioses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation the sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cyprus,
37 Where as he had land, solde it, and brought the money, & layd it downe at the Apostles feete.

CHAP. V.

1 Ananias, for his deceite in keeping backe part of the price, 5 falleth downe dead, 10 and likewise Sapphira his wife. 12 Through diuers the Apostles miracles 14 the faith is increased. 18 The Apostles that were imprisoned, 19 are deliuered by an Angel, 26 and being before the Synode of the Priests, 36 Through Gamaliels counsell they are kept aliue, 40 and beaten. 41 They glorifie God.

BVt 1 a certaine man named Ananias, with Sap-phira his wife, solde a possession, 2 And a kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsell, and brought a certaine part, and layde it downe at the Apostles feete.
3 Then sayde Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan

b filled

b While they thought to diminish the number, they increased them. c These were they that made the Sanhedrim, which were all of the tribe of Iuda, vntill Herod vsed that crueltie against Dauids stock. d Of whome the high Priestes were wont to be chosen and made, the execution of the yeerely office being nowe changed. 2 Against such as bragge of a succession of persons, without a succession of doctrine, and by that meanes beate downe the true ministers of the word, so farre foorth as they are able. e By what autho- [illegible] h Any where: and this setteth foorth vnto vs the largenesse of Christes kingdome. 5 The good libertie and boldnes of the seruants of God doth yet thus much good, that such as lay hid vnder a vizarde of zeale, do at length betray themselues to be in deede wicked men. i The word vsed here is, Idiot, which being spoken in comparison had to a Magistrate, betokeneth a priuate man: but when we speake of sciences and studies, it signifieth one that is vnlearned: and in accompt of honour and estimation, it importeth one of base degree, and no estimation. k Layd their heads together. 6 He that flattereth himselfe in ignorance, commeth at length to doe open wickednes, and that against his owne conscience. 7 We must so obey men to whome we are subiect, that especially and before all things we obey God. 8 So farre off are the wicked from doing what they list, that contrariwise God vseth euen that to the setting foorth of his glory, which he giueth them leaue to doe.

9 The Apostles communicate their troubles with the Congregation. 10 We ought neither to be afraid of the threatnings of our enemies, neither yet foolishly contemne their rage and madnesse against vs: but we haue to set against their force and malice, an earnest thinking vpon the power and good wil of God (both which we doe manifestly beholde in Christ) and so flee to the ayde & succour of our Father. ✠ Psalme 2.1. l Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the plurall number is here vsed, not so much for the twelue tribes, euery one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of them, as though many nations had assembled themselues together, as Iudg. 5 14. m The wicked execute Gods counsel, though they thinke nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault. n Thou haddest determined of thine absolute authoritie and power. 11 God witnesseth to his Church by a visible signe, that it is he that will establish it, by shaking the powers both of heauen and earth. 12 An example of the true Church, wherein there is consent as well in doctrine as in charitie one towards another: And the Pastours deliuer true doctrine both syncerely, and constantly. o They agreed both in counsell, will, and all purposes. ✠ Chapter 2.44. 13 True charitie helpeth the necessitie of the poore with his owne losse: but so, that all things be done well and orderly.

1 Luke sheweth by cōtrary examples, how great a sinne hypocrisie is, especially in them which vnder a false pretence and cloke of zeale would seeme to shine and be chiefe in the Church. a Craftily tooke away.

a Fully possessed.
c For when they had appointed that summe or possession for the Church, they stucke not as it is to keepe away a part of the price, as though they had had to doe with men, and not with God, and therefore he saith afterward that they tempted God.
d Hereby is declared an aduised and purposed deceite, and the fault of the man in admitting the deuils suggestions.
e Looke how oft men do things with an euil conscience, so oft they pronounce sentence against themselues, and as much as in them lieth, prouoke God to anger, as of set purpose minding to trie whether he be iust and almightie or no.
f Are at hand.
2 The Lord by his marueilous vertue brideleth some, that they may not hurt the Church: other some he keepeth in his awe & feare: and other some he allureth vnto him.
g Highly praised them.
3 The more that the Church increaseth, the more increaseth the rage of Satan, and therefore they proceede from threatnings, to prisoning.
h The word which is vsed here, is Heresie, which signifieth a choyse, and so is taken for a right forme of learning, or fashion, or studie and course of life, which the Latines call a sect: at the first this word was indifferently vsed, but at length, it came to be taken onely in euill part, whereupon came the name of Heretike, which is taken for one that goeth away from sound and wholesome doctrine after such sort, that he setteth light by the iudgement of God and the Church, and continueth in his opinion, and breaketh the peace of the Church.

b filled thine heart, that thou shouldest c lye vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession?

4 Whiles it remained, appertained it not vnto thee? and after it was solde, was it not in thine owne power? how is it that thou hast d conceiued this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lyed vnto men, but vnto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these wordes, hee fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and tooke him vp, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter saide vnto her, Tell mee, solde ye the lande for so much? And shee saide, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter sayde vnto her, Why haue yee agreed together, to e tempt the Spirit of the Lord? beholde, the feete of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the f doore, and shall carie thee out.

10 Then she fell downe straightway at his feete, and yeelded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 2 And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the handes of the Apostles were many signes and wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accorde in Salomons porch.

13 And of the other durst no man ioyne himselfe to them: neuerthelesse the people g magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that beleeued in the Lorde, both of men and women, grewe more and more)

15 In so much that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and layde them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadowe of Peter, when he came by, might shadow some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities rounde about vnto Hierusalem, bringing sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ 3 Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the h sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation, 18 And layde handes on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 4 But the Angel of the Lord, by night opened the prison doores, and brought them foorth, and said, 20 5 Go your way, & stand in the Temple, and speake to the people all the i wordes of this life.

21 6 So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came, & found them not in the prison, they returned and told it,

23 Saying, Certainely we found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priest, and the captaine of the Temple, and the hie Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, wherunto this would growe.

25 7 Then came one and shewed them, saying, Beholde, the men that ye put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 8 Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should haue bene stoned)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them, 28 9 Saying, Did not wee straightly commaund you, that ye should not teach in this Name? and behold, ye haue filled Hierusalē with your doctrine, and ye would k bring this mans blood vpon vs.

29 10 Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and said, We ought rather to obey God then men.

30 11 The ✠ God of our fathers hath raised vp Iesus, whom ye slewe, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift vp with his right hande, to be a Prince and a Sauiour, to giue repentance to Israel, and forgiuenes of sinnes.

32 12 And wee are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, & the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 Now when they heard it, they l brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 13 Then stoode there vp in the Councill a certaine Pharise named Gamaliel, a doctour of the Lawe, honoured of all the people, and commaunded to put the Apostles foorth a litle space, 35 And saide vnto them, Men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what ye intende to doe touching these men.

36 14 For before these times, rose vp Theudas m boasting himselfe, to whome resorted a number of men, about a foure hundreth, who was slaine, and they all which obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, arose vp Iudas of Galile, in the dayes of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And nowe I say vnto you, n Refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsel, or this worke be of o men, it wil come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye can not destroy it, lest ye be found euen fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commaunded that they shoulde not speake in the Name of Iesus, and let them goe.

41 15 So they departed from the Councill, reioycing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And dayly in the p Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Iesus Christ.

7 The more openly that Christs vertue sheweth it selfe, the more increaseth the madnes of his enemies which conspire against him.
8 Tyrants which feare not God, are constrained to feare his seruants.
9 It is the propertie of tyrants to set out their owne commaundements as right and reason, be they neuer so wicked. k Make ... of ...

CHAP. VI.

1 The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconship 5 to seuen chosen men: 8 Of whom Steuen, full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 and accused as a transgressour of Moses Lawe.

AND [1] in those dayes, as the nomber of the disciples grewe, there arose a murmuring of the a Grecians towardes the Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the b dayly ministring.

2 [2] Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, and saide, It is not c meete that we should leaue the worde of God to serue the d tables.

3 [3] Wherefore brethren, looke ye out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisedome, which we may appoint to this busines.

4 And wee will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministration of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and ✠ Philippe, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antiochia,

6 [4] Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and e layed their handes on them.

7 [5] And the worde of God increased, and the nomber of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priestes were obedient to the f faith.

8 ¶ [6] Now Steuen full of faith and g power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 [7] Then there arose certaine of the h Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 [8] But they were not able to resist the wisedome, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which saide, Wee haue heard him speake blasphemous wordes against Moses, and God.

12 [9] Thus they mooued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill,

13 [10] And set foorth false witnesses, which said, This man ceasseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the Lawe.

14 For wee haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, & shal change the ordinances, which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that sate in the Councill, looked stedfastly on him, they i sawe his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

e This ceremonie of laying on of handes, came from the Iewes, who vsed this order both in publike affaires, and offering of sacrifices, and also in priuate prayers and blessings, as appeareth, Genes. 28. and the Church obserued this ceremonie, 1. Timoth. 5. 22. actes 8. 17. but here is no mention made either of creame, or shauing, or rasing, or crossing, &c. 5 An happy ende of temptation. f This is the figure Metonymia, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Gospell, which engendreth faith.
6 God exerciseth his Church first with euill wordes and slaunders, then with imprisonments, afterwarde with scourgings, and by these meanes prepareth it in such sort, that at length hee causeth it to encounter with Satan and the worlde, euen to bloodshead and death, and that with good successe. g Excellent and singuler giftes. 7 Schooles and Vniuersities were of olde time addicted to false pastours, and were the instruments of Satan to blowe abroade and defende false doctrines. h Of the company and Colledge as it were. 8 False teachers, because they will not bee ouercome, flee from disputations to manifest and open slaundring and false accusations. 9 The first bloody persecution of the Church of Christ beganne and sprang from a Council of Priestes by the suggestion of the Vniuersitie doctours. 10 An example of cauillers or false accusers, which gather false conclusions of things that are well vttered and spoken. i Hereby it appeared that Steuen had an excellent and goodly countenance, hauing a quiet and setled minde, a good conscience, and sure persuasion that his cause was iust. For seeing hee was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the ende that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes mindes might be pearced and amased.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordeined according to the heauenly Paterne. 54 The Iewes gnashing their teeth, 59 stone him.

THen [1] saide the chiefe Priest, Are these things so?

2 [2] And he said, Ye men, brethren and Fathers, hearken. ✠ That God of a glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while hee was in b Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And saide vnto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kindred, and come into the land, which I shall shew thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwel,

5 And hee gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the c bredth of a foote: yet hee d promised that hee would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God spake thus, that his ✠ seede should bee a soiourner in a strange lande: and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreate it euill e foure hundreth yeeres.

7 But the nation to whome they shall bee in bondage, wil I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come foorth and serue me in this place.

8 ∵ He gaue him also the couenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate ✠ Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begate ✱ Iacob, and Iacob the twelue * Patriarkes.

9 [3] And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, sold ✠ Ioseph into Egypt: but God was f with him,

10 And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and ✠ gaue him g fauour and wisdome in the sight of Pharao king of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine ouer al the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when ∵ Iacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he sent out our fathers first.

13 ✱ And at the second time, Ioseph was knowen of his brethren, and Iosephs kindred was made knowen vnto Pharao.

14 Then sent Ioseph and caused his father to be brought, and all his kindred, euen threescore and fifteene soules.

15 So ✱ Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he *died, and our fathers,

16 And were h remooued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought ✠ for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promes drewe neere, which God had sworne to Abraham, the people ✠ grewe and multiplied in Egypt,

1 Steuen is admitted to pleade his cause, but to this end and purpose, that vnder a cloke and colour of Lawe, he might be condemned.
2 Steuen witnesseth vnto the Iewes, that he acknowledgeth the true fathers, and the onely true God: and sheweth moreouer that they are more auncient then the Temple, with all that seruice appointed by the Lawe, and therefore they ought to lay an other foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free couenant, that God made with the fathers.

Ioseph.
19 The same i dealt subtilly with our kindred, and euill entreated our fathers, and made them to ter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdome of the Egyptians, and was mightie in wordes and in deedes.
23 Nowe when he was full fourtie yeere olde, it came into his heart to visite his brethren, the children of Israel.
24 ✠ And whē he saw one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, & auenged his quarell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.
25 For hee supposed his brethren would haue vnderstand, that God by his hande should giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstoode it not.
26 ∵ And the next day, he shewed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set them at one againe, saying, Syrs, ye are brethren: why doe ye wrong one to another?
27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge ouer vs?
28 Wilt thou kill mee, as thou diddest the Egyptian yesterday?
29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where hee begate two sonnes.
30 And when fourtie yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the ⁘ wildernes of moūt Sina,

CHAP. VI.

1 The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconship 5 to seuen chosen men: 8 Of whom Steuen, full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 and accused as a transgressour of Moses Lawe.

AND [1] in those dayes, as the nomber of the disciples grewe, there arose a murmuring of the [a] Grecians towardes the Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the [b] dayly ministring.

2 [2] Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, and saide, It is not [c] meete that we should leaue the worde of God to serue the [d] tables.

3 [3] Wherefore brethren, looke ye out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisedome, which we may appoint to this busines.

4 And wee will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministration of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and ✠ Philippe, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antiochia,

6 [4] Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and [e] layed their handes on them.

7 [5] And the worde of God increased, and the nomber of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priestes were obedient to the [f] faith.

8 ¶ [6] Now Steuen full of faith and [g] power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 [7] Then there arose certaine of the [h] Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 [8] But they were not able to resist the wisedome, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which saide, Wee haue heard him speake blasphemous words against Moses, and God.

12 [9] Thus they mooued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Counciil,

13 [10] And set foorth false witnesses, which said, This man ceasseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the Lawe.

14 For wee haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, & shal change the ordinances, which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that sate in the Councill, looked stedfastly on him, they [i] sawe his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

6 God exerciseth his Church first with euill wordes and slaunders, then with imprisonments, afterwarde with scourgings, and by these meanes prepareth it in such sort, that at length hee causeth it to encounter with Satan and the worlde, Euen to bloodshead and death, and that with good successe. g Excellent and singular giftes. 7 Schooles and Vniuersities were of olde time addicted to false pastours, and were the instruments of Satan to blowe abroade and defende false doctrines. h Of the company and Colledge as it were. 8 False teachers, because they will not bee ouercome, flee from disputations to manifest and open slaundring and false accusations. 9 The first bloody persecution of the Church of Christ beganne and sprang from a Council of Priestes by the suggestion of the Vniuersitie doctours. 10 An example of cauillers or false accusers, which gather false conclusions of things that are well vttered and spoken. i Hereby it appeared that Steuen had an excellent and goodly countenance, hauing a quiet and setled minde, a good conscience, and sure persuasion that his cause was iust: For seeing hee was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the ende that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes mindes might be pearced and astonied.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordeined according to the heauenly Paterne. 54 The Iewes gnashing their teeth, 59 stone him.

THen [1] saide the chiefe Priest, Are these thinges so?

2 [2] And he said, Ye men, brethren and Fathers, hearken. ✠ That God of [a] glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while hee was in [b] Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And saide vnto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kindred, and come into the land, which I shall shew thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwel,

5 And hee gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the [c] bredth of a foote: yet hee [d] promised that hee would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God spake thus, that his ✠ seede should bee a soiourner in a strange lande: and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreate it euill [e] foure hundreth yeeres.

7 But the nation to whome they shall bee in bondage, wil I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come foorth and serue me in this place.

8 ∵ He gaue him also the couenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate ✠ Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begate ✠ Iacob, and Iacob the twelue * Patriarkes.

9 [3] And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, sold ✠ Ioseph into Egypt: but God was [f] with him,

10 And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and ✠ gaue him [g] fauour and wisdome in the sight of Pharao king of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine ouer al the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when ∵ Iacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he sent out our fathers first.

13 ✠ And at the second time, Ioseph was knowen of his brethren, and Iosephs kindred was made knowen vnto Pharao.

14 Then sent Ioseph and caused his father to be brought, and all his kindred, euen threescore and fifteene soules.

15 So ✠ Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he * died, and our fathers,

16 And were [h] remooued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought ✠ for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promes drewe neere, which God had sworne to Abraham, the people ✠ grewe and multiplied in Egypt,

1 Steuen is admitted to pleade his cause, but to this end and purpose, that vnder a cloke and colour of Lawe, he might be condemned

2 Steuen witnesseth vnto the Iewes, that he acknowledgeth the true fathers, and the onely true God: and sheweth moreouer that they are more auncient then the Temple, with all that seruice appointed by the Lawe, and therefore they ought to lay an other foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free couenant that God made with the fathers.

went to and fro preaching the worde.
5 ¶ 4 Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.
6 And the people gaue heed vnto those things which Philippe spake, with one accorde, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.
7 For vncleane spirits crying wͭ a loude voyce, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken wͭ palsies, & that halted, were healed.
8 And there was great ioy in that citie.
9 5 And there was before in the citie a certaine man called Simon, which vsed b witchcraft, and c bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himselfe was some great man.
10 To whome they gaue heede from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.
11 And they gaue heed vnto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them wͭ sorceries.
12 But assoone as they beleeued Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdome of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.
13 6 Then Simon himselfe beleeued also and was baptized, and continued with Philippe, and wondred, when he sawe the signes and great miracles which were done.
14 ¶ 7 Nowe when the Apostles, which were at Hierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued the worde of God, they sent vnto them Peter and Iohn.
15 Which whẽ they were come downe, prayed for them, that they might receiue the d holy Ghost.
16 (For as yet hee was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the Name of the Lord Iesus.) 17 Then layd they their hands on them, and they receiued the holy Ghost.
18 8 And when Simon sawe, that through laying on of the Apostles hands the holy Ghost was giuen, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Giue me also this power, that on whomsoeuer I lay the handes, he may receiue the holy Ghost.
20 9 Then sayde Peter vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obteined with money.
21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this e businesse: for thine heart is not f right in the sight of God.
22 10 Repent therefore of this thy wickednes, and pray God, that if it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiuen thee.
23 For I see that thou art in the g gall of bitternes, and in the h bonde of iniquitie.
24 Then answered Simon, and sayd, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye haue spoken, come vpon me.
25 ¶ So they, when they had testified & preached the worde of the Lord, returned to Hierusalem, and preached the Gospel in many townes of the Samaritans.
26 11 Then the Angel of the Lorde spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, and goe toward the South vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza, which is waste.
27 And hee arose and went on: and beholde, a certaine Eunuche of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queene of the Ethiopians i chiefe Gouernour, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Hierusalem to worship:
28 And as he returned sitting in his charet, he read Esaias the Prophet.
29 Then the Spirit sayd vnto Philip, Goe neere and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet.
30 And Philip ranne thither, and heard him reade the Prophet Esaias, and said, But vnderstandest thou what thou readest?
31 And he sayde, How can I, except I had k a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come vp and sit with him.
32 12 Nowe the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, ✠ He was led as a sheepe to the slaughter: and like a lambe domme before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.
33 In his l humilitie his iudgement hath bene exalted: but who shall declare his m generation?
for his life is taken from the earth.
34 Then the Eunuche answered Philippe, and sayd, I pray thee of whome speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man?
35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, & preached vnto him Iesus.
36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certaine water, and the Eunuche said, See, here is water: what doeth let me to be baptized?
37 13 And Philippe sayd vnto him, If thou beleeuest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and saide, n I beleeue that that Iesus Christ is that Sonne of God.
38 Then he commanded the charet to stand stil: & they went downe both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuche, and he baptized him.
39 And assoone as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of the Lorde caught away Philip, that the Eunuche sawe him no more: so he went on his way reioycing.

CHAP. IX.

1 Saul going towards Damascus, 4 is stroken downe to the ground of the Lord: 10 Ananias is sent 18 to baptize him. 23 The laying awaite of the Iewes 25 hee escapeth, being let downe through the wall. 33 Peter cureth Aeneas of the palsie, 36 and by him Tabitha being dead 40 is restored to life.

AND [1] ✠ Saul yet [a] breathing out threatnings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the hie Priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that [b] way (either men or women) he might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 Now as hee iourneyed, it came to passe that as hee was come neere to Damascus, ✠ suddenly there shined rounde about him a light from heauen.

4 And hee fell to the earth, and heard a voyce, saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he saide, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Iesus whome thou persecutest: it is [c] hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonied, saide, Lorde, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lorde said vnto him, Arise and goe into the citie, and it shall be tolde thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which iourneyed with him, [d] stoode amased, hearing the [e] voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, 9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him saide the Lorde in a vision, Ananias. And he saide, Beholde, I am here Lorde.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and goe into the streete which is called Straight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of [f] Tarsus: for beholde, he prayeth,

12 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his handes on him, that he might receiue his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, how much euil he hath done to thy Saincts at Hierusalem.

14 Moreouer here he hath authoritie of the hie Priestes, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, Goe thy way: for hee is a [g] chosen vessell vnto mee, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will [h] shewe him, how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entred into [i] that house, and put his handes on him, and said, Brother Saul, the Lorde hath sent mee (euen Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and bee filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly hee receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized, 19 And receiued meate, and was strengthened. So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 [2] And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Sonne of God, 21 So that all that heard him, were amased, and saide, Is not this hee, that made hauocke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, & came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests?

22 [3] But Saul encreased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, [k] confirming, that this was that Christ.

23 [4] And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counsell together, to kill him, 24 But their laying awaite was knowen of Saul: now they ✠ watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 [5] Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in a basket.

26 [6] And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, he assayed to ioyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraide of him, and beleeued not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken vnto him, and howe hee had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 [7] And he was conuersant [l] with them at Hierusalem, 29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the [m] Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 [8] But when the brethren knewe it, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him foorth to Tarsus.

31 [9] Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were [n] edified, and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 [10] And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsie.

34 Then sayde Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together. And he arose immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at [o] Lydda and Saron, sawe him, and turned to the Lord.

36 [11] There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good works and almes which she did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they layed her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, & the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that hee would not delay to come vnto them.

1 Saul (who is also Paul) persecuting Christ most cruelly, who did as it were flee before him, falleth into his hands and is ouercome: and with a singular example of the goodnes of God, in stead of punishment which he iustly deserued for his crueltie, is not onely receiued to fauour, but is also euen by the mouth of God appointed an Apostle, and is confirmed by the ministerie and witnes of Ananias.

n This is a borowed kinde of speache, which signifieth established and increased. 10 Peters Apostleship is confirmed, by healing of the man that was sicke of the palsie. o Lydda was a citie of Palestine, and Saron a champion countrey, and a place of good pasturage, betweene Cesarea of Palestine and the mountaine Tabor, and the lake of Genezareth which extendeth it selfe in great length beyond Ioppa. 11 Peter declareth euidently by raysing vp a dead body through the Name of Christ, that he preacheth the glad tidings of life.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the vp-per chamber, where all the widowes stoode by him weeping, and shewing the coates and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.
40 But Peter put them all foorth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and saide, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she sawe Peter, sate vp.
41 Then hee gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saintes and widowes, and restored her aliue.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius, 4 at the Angels commaundement, 5 sendeth for Peter: 11 Who also by a vision, 15, 20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles: 34 Hee preacheth the Gospell to Cornelius and his houshold: 45 Who hauing receiued the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

FVrthermore [1] there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the bande called the Italian band, 2 A [a] deuoute man, and one that feared God with [b] all his houshold, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.
3 He saw in a vision euidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angell of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.
4 But when he looked on him, hee was afraid, and said, [c] What is it, Lord? and he said vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are [d] come vp into [e] remembrance before God.
5 Nowe therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.
6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shal tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.
7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, hee called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,
8 And tolde them all things, and sent them to Ioppa.
9 On the morowe as they went on their iour-ney, and drewe neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the sixt houre.
10 Then waxed he an hungred, and would haue eaten: but while they made some thing ready, hee fell into a [f] trance.
11 And he sawe heauen opened, and a certaine vessell come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheete, knit at the [g] foure corners, and was let downe to the earth.
12 Wherein were [h] all maner of [i] foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes and [k] creeping things, and foules of the heauen.
13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eate.
14 [2] But Peter saide, Not so, Lorde: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted, or vncleane.
15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The thinges that God hath purified, [l] pollute thou not.
16 This was so done thrise: and the vessell was drawen vp againe into heauen.
17 ¶ Nowe while Peter douted in himselfe what this vision which hee had seene, meant, be-holde, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons house, and stoode at the gate, 18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.
19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirite sayde vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee.
20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doute nothing: for I haue sent them.
21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and saide, Be-holde, I am he whome ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?
22 And they said, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, and of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel, to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy wordes.
23 Then called hee them in, and lodged them, and the next day, Peter went foorth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanied
him.
24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Cesarea. Nowe Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsemen, and speciall friendes.
25 [3] And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worshipped him.
26 But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stande vp:
for euen I my selfe am a man.
27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.
28 And he saide vnto them, Ye knowe that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed mee, that I shoulde not call any man polluted, or vncleane.
29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for me?
30 Then Cornelius saide, Foure dayes agoe, about [m] this houre, I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and beholde, a man stoode before me in bright clothing, 31 [4] And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.
32 [5] Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter (hee is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the sea side) who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee.
33 Then sent I for thee immediatly, and thou hast well done to come. Nowe therefore are we all here present before God, to heare all thinges that are commanded thee of God.
34 [6] Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a trueth I perceiue, that [n] ✠ God is no accepter of 7 The summe of the Gospel (which shall be made manifest at the latter day, when Christ himselfe shall sit as Iudge both of the quicke and dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mightie power of God, (which was by all meanes shewed) and at length crucified to reconcile vs to God, did rise againe the third day, that whosoeuer beleeueth in him should be saued through the remission of sinnes.

35 But in euery nation hee that ° feareth him,

36 Ye p know the worde which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, which is Lord of all:
37 7 Euen the worde which came through all Iudea, ✠ beginning in Galile, after the baptisme which Iohn preached.
38 To wit, how God q anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, and with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the deuill: for God was with him.
39 And we are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hierusalem, whom they slewe, hanging him on a tree.
40 Him God raysed vp the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly: 41 Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses r chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eate and drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.
42 And hee commanded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testifie, that it is he that is ordained of God a iudge of quicke and dead.
43 To him also giue all the ✠ Prophets witnes, that through his Name al that beleeue in him, shal receiue remission of sinnes.
44 8 While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fel on al them which heard the word.
45 So they of the circumcision which beleeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.
46 For they heard them speake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, 47 9 Can any man forbidde water, that these shoulde not be baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost, as well as we?
48 So hee commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lorde. Then prayed they him to tary certaine dayes.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.
4 Then Peter beganne, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying, 5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a 7 Also I heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eate.

8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.
9 But the voyce answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.
10 And this was done three times, and all were taken vp againe into heauen.
11 Then behold, immediatly there were three men already come vnto the house where I was,
sent from Cesarea vnto me.
12 And the Spirit saide vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreouer these sixe brethren came with me, and we entred into the mans house.
13 And hee shewed vs, howe hee had seene an Angel in his house, which stoode and saide to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.
14 Hee shall speake wordes vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shalbe saued.
15 And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, ✠ euen as vpon vs at the beginning.
16 Then I remembred the word of the Lorde, howe he saide, ✠ Iohn baptized with water, but ye shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost.
17 For as much then as God gaue them a like gift, as he did vnto vs, when we beleeued in the Lorde Iesus Christ, who was I, that I coulde let God?
18 2 When they heard these things, they helde their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles graunted repentance vnto life.
19 ¶ 3 And they which were ✠ scattered abroade because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout till they came vnto Phenice and Cyprus, and a Antiochia, preaching the worde to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.
20 4 Nowe some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.
21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleeued and turned vnto
the Lord.
22 5 Then tydings of those things came vnto
the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent foorth Barnabas, that he should goe vnto Antiochia.
23 Who when hee was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.
24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, and much people ioyned them selues vnto the Lord.
25 ¶ 6 Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul:
26 And when he had founde him, he brought him vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yeere they were conuersant with ye Church, and taught much people, in so much that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

... was in Syria ... Seleucia.

4 The Church of Antioche, the newe Hierusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

5 The Apostles doe not rashly condemne an extraordinarie vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effectes.

6 There was no contention amongst the Apostles eyther of vsurping, or of holding places and degrees.

7 God doeth so wrappe vp his Church with the wicked, in his scourges and plagues which he sendeth vpon the earth, that notwithstanding he prouideth for it conueniently.
8 All congregations or Churches make one bodie.

27 7 In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia.
28 And there stoode vp one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Cesar.
29 8 Then the disciples, euery man according to his habilitie, purposed to sende b succour vnto
the brethren which dwelt in Iudea.
30 Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

b That is, that thereof the Deacons might succour the poore: for it behoued to haue all these things done orderly and decently, and therefore it is saide, that they sent these things to the Elders, that is, to the gouernours of the Church.

CHAP. XII.

2 Herod killeth Iames with the sworde: 4 And imprisoneth Peter, 8 whom the Angel deliuereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus, 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honour due to God, to himselfe, 23 he is eaten with wormes, and so dyeth.

1 God giueth his Church a truce, but for a litle time.
a This name Herod was common to all them that came of the stocke of Herod Ascalo- [illegible]

NOwe 1 about that time, a Herod the King stretched forth his hands to vexe certaine of the Church,
2 And he b killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the sword.
3 2 And when hee sawe that it pleased the Iewes, hee proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vnleauened bread.) 4 3 And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, intending after the Passeouer to bring him foorth to the people.
5 4 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of ye Church vnto God for him.
6 And when Herod woulde haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slept Peter betweene two souldiers, bound wt two chaines, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.
7 ✠ And behold the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and a light shined in the c house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raysed him vp, saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fell off from his handes.
8 And the Angel saide vnto him, Girde thy selfe, and binde on thy sandales. And so hee did.
Then he saide vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and folowe me.
9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knewe not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.
10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, & they went out, and passed through one streete, and by and by the Angel departed from
him.
11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Nowe I know for a trueth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for
of the people of the Iewes.
12 5 And as he considered the thing, hee came to the house of Marie, the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.
13 6 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide d came foorth to hearken, named Rhode,
14 But when she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and tolde howe Peter stood before the entrie.

[illegible] will [illegible] of [illegible] counsell [illegible] angels of [illegible] the prison, vnloose chaines, put Satan to flight, and preserue the Church.
✠ Chap. 5.19.
c In the prison.
5 Holy meetings in the night as well of men as women (when they cannot be suffered in the day time) are allowable by the example of ye Apostles.
6 We obteine more of God, then we dare well hope for.
d Out of the place where they were assembled, but not out of the house.

15 But they said vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.
16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and sawe him, they were astonied.
17 7 And hee beckened vnto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And hee saide, Goe shewe these things vnto Iames and to the brethren: and he departed and went into an other place.
18 ¶ 8 Nowe assoone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.
19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, hee examined the keepers, and commaunded them to be led to bee punished. And hee went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.
20 9 Then Herod was angrie with them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the Kings land.
21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sate on the iudge-ment seate, and made an oration vnto them.
22 10 And the people gaue a shoute, saying,
The voyce of God, and not of man.
23 11 But immediatly the Angel of the Lorde smote him, because he e gaue not glorie vnto God, so that he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.
24 12 And the f worde of God grewe and multiplied.
25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and tooke wt them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

7 We may some times giue place to the rage of the wicked, but yet so, that our diligence which ought to be vsed in Gods busines, be not a whit slackened.
8 Euill counsell falleth out in the end to the hurt of the deuisers of it.
9 A miserable and shamefull example of the end of the enemies of the Church.
10 The flatterie of the people, maketh fooles faine.
11 God resisteth the proude.
e Iosephus recordeth, that this king did not represse those flatterers tongues, and therefore at his death he complained and cryed out of their vanitie.
12 Tyrants build vp the Church by plucking it downe.
f They that heard the worde of God.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The holy Ghost commaundeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated vnto him. 6 At Paphus 8 Elymas the sorcerer 11 is strooken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antiochia, 17 they preache the Gospel, 45 the Iewes vehemently withstanding them.

THere 1 were also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certaine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen (which had bin brought vp with a Herod the Tetrarche) and Saul.
2 Nowe as they b ministred to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost saide, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue c called them.
3 2 Then fasted they and prayed, and layde their hands on them, and let them goe.
4 3 And they, after they were sent foorth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto d Seleucia, and from thence they sayled to Cyprus.
5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the worde of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had also Iohn to their minister.
6 So when they had gone throughout the yle vnto Paphus, they found a certaine sorcerer, a 1 Paul with Barnabas is againe the second time appointed Apostle of the Gentiles, not of man, neither by man, but by an extraordinarie commandement of the holy Ghost.

a The same was Antipas, which put Iohn Baptist to death.
b Whiles they were busie doing their office, that is, as Chrysostome expoundeth it, while they were preaching.
c The Lord is said to call (where of this worde (calling) commeth which is vsuall in the Church) when hee causeth that to be, which was not, whether you referre it to the matter it selfe, or to any qualitie or thing about the matter: and it groweth of this, because when things beginne to bee, then they haue some name: as God his mightie power is also declared thereby, who spake the word, and things were made.
2 Fast, and solemne prayers were vsed before the laying on of handes. 3 Paul and his companions doe at the first bring Cyprus to the subiection and obedience of Christ. d Seleucia was a citie of Cilicia, so called of Seleucus one of Alexanders successours.

false prophet, being a Iewe, named Bariesus, 7 Which was with ÿ Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and desired to heare the word of God.
8 4 But Elymas, the sorcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) withstoode them, and sought to turne away the Deputie from the faith.
9 Then Saul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eyes on him, 10 5 And saide, O full of all subtiltie and all e mischiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemie of all righteousnesse, wilt thou not cease to peruert
the straight wayes of the Lord?
11 Nowe therefore beholde, the f hand of the Lorde is vpon thee, and thou shalt be blinde, and not see the sunne for a season. And immediatly there fell on him a mist and a darknes, and he went about, seeking some to leade him by the hand.
12 Then the Deputie when he sawe what was done, beleeued, and was astonied at the doctrine of the Lord.
13 6 Nowe when Paul and they that were with him were departed by shippe from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hierusalem.
14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of g Pisidia, & went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, & sate downe.
15 7 And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue sent vnto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye h haue any word of exhortation for the people, say on.
16 8 Then Paul stoode vp and beckened with the hand, and saide, Men of Israel, and ye that feare God, hearken.
17 The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and i exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of ✣ Egypt, and with an ✣ k high arme brought them out thereof.
18 And about the time ∵ of fourtie yeeres, suffered he their maners in the wildernesse.
19 And he destroyed seuen nations in the land of Chanaan, & ✕ deuided their lād to them by lot.
20 Then afterward he gaue vnto them ✱ Iudges about l foure hundreth and fiftie yeeres, vnto the time of Samuel the Prophet.
21 So after that, they desired a * King, and God gaue vnto them ✣ Saul, the sonne of Cis, a man of ÿ tribe of Beniamin, by the space of m fourtie yeres.
22 And after he had taken him away, he raised vp ✣ Dauid to be their King, of whom he witnessed, saying, I haue found Dauid the sonne of Iesse, a man after mine owne heart, which will doe all things that I will.
23 9 Of this mans seede hath God ∵ according to his promise raised vp to Israel, ÿ Sauiour Iesus: 24 When ✕ Iohn had first preached n before his comming the baptisme of repentance to all the people of Israel.
25 And when Iohn had fulfilled his course, he saide, ✣ Whom ye thinke that I am, I am not he:
but beholde, there commeth one after me, whose shooe of his feete I am not worthy to loose.
26 10 Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whosoeuer among you feareth God, to you is the worde of this saluation sent.
27 11 For the inhabitants of Hierusalem, and their rulers, because they knewe him not, nor yet the wordes of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemning him.
28 And though they found no cause of death in him, ✣ yet desired they Pilate to kill him.
29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they tooke him downe from the tree, and put him in a sepulchre.
30 12 But God ∵ raised him vp from the dead.
31 And hee was seene many dayes of them, which came vp with him from Galile to Hierusalem, which are his witnesses vnto the people.
32 And we declare vnto you, that touching the promise made vnto the fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it vnto vs their children, in that he o raised vp Iesus, 13 euen as it is written in the second Psalme, ✕ Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.
34 Nowe as concerning that he raised him vp from the dead, no more to returne to corruption, he hath said thus, ✱ I will giue you the holy things of Dauid, p which are faithfull.
35 14 Wherefore hee sayeth also in another place, * Thou wilt not suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.
36 Howbeit, Dauid after hee had serued his time by the counsell of God, he ✣ slept, and was laid with his fathers, and sawe corruption.
37 But he whom God raised vp, sawe no corruption.
38 15 Be it knowen vnto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached vnto you the forgiuenesse of sinnes.
39 And from q all things, from which ye could not be iustified by the Law of Moses, by him euery one that beleeueth, is iustified.
40 16 Beware therefore lest that come vpon you, which is spoken of in the Prophets, 41 ✣ Behold, ye despisers, and wonder, and vanish away: for I worke a worke in your dayes, a worke which ye shall not beleeue, if a man would declare it you.
42 ¶ 17 And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles besought, that they would preach these wordes to them the next Sabbath day.
43 Nowe when the congregation was dissol-ued, many of the Iewes and r Proselytes that feared God, followed Paul & Barnabas, which spake vnto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

4 The deuill maketh the conquest of Christ more glorious, in that that he setteth himselfe against him.
5 The sorcerer which was stricken of Paul with a corporall punishment (although extraordinarily) sheweth an example to lawfull magistrates, how they ought to punish them which wickedly and obstinately hinder the course of the Gospel.

g This putteth a difference betwixt it, and Antiochia which was in Syria.
7 In the Synagogue of ÿ Iewes (according to the patterne whereof Christian congregations were instituted) first the Scriptures were read, then such as were learned, were licensed by the rulers of the Synagogue to speake & expound.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted from Iconium: 6 At Lystra Paul 10 healeth a creeple: 11 They are about to doe sacrifice vnto them, 15 but they forbid it: 19 Paul, by the perswasion of certaine Iewes, is stoned: 23 From thence passing through diuers Churches, 26 They returne to Antiochia.

AND [1] it came to passe in [a] Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, & so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleeued.

2 And the [b] vnbeleeuing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 [2] So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lorde, which gaue testimonie vnto the worde of his grace, and caused signes and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the citie was deuided: and some were with the Iewes, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and [c] fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospel.

8 ¶ [3] Nowe there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feete, which was a creeple frō his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.

9 He heard Paul speake: who beholding him, and perceiuing that he had faith to be healed,

10 Said with a loude voyce, Stand vpright on thy feete. And he leaped vp, and walked.

11 Then when the people sawe what Paul had done, they lift vp their voyces, saying in the speach of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: and Paul, Mercurius, because hee was the chiefe speaker.

13 Then Iupiters priest, which was before their citie, brought bulles with garlands vnto the [d] gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 [4] And saying, O men, why doe ye these things? We are euen men subiect to the [e] like passions that ye be, and preach vnto you, that yee shoulde turne from these [f] vaine things vnto the liuing God, ✢ which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are:

16 [5] Who in times past ✢ [g] suffered al the Gentiles to walke in their owne wayes.

17 Neuerthelesse, he left not himselfe without witnesse, in that he did good and gaue vs raine from heauen, and fruitful seasons, filling our hearts with foode, and gladnesse.

18 And speaking these things, scarce appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.

19 [6] Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had persuaded the people, ∵ stoned Paul, and drewe him out of the citie, supposing he had bene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stoode rounde about him, he arose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day hee departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 [7] And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia, 22 [8] Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

23 [9] And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in euery Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lorde in whom they beleeued.

24 [10] Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came downe to [h] Attalia, 26 And thence sailed to [i] Antiochia, ✠ from whence they had bene cōmended vnto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and howe he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

7 We must goe forward in our vocation through a thousand deaths.

8 It is the office of the ministers, not onely to teach, but also to confirme them that are taught, and prepare them to the crosse.

9 The Apostles committed the Churches which they had planted, to proper and peculiar Pastours, which they made not rashly, but with prayers and fastings going before: neither did they thrust them vpon Churches through briberie or lordly superioritie, but chose and placed them by the voyce of the congregation.

CHAP. XV.

1 Certaine goe about to bring in circumcision at Antiochia: 6 About which matter the Apostles consult, 19 and what must be done 23 they declare by letters. 36 Paul and Barnabas 39 are at great variance.

Then

THen [1] came downe [a] certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moses, yee cannot be saued.
2 [2] And when there was great dissension, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeyned that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question.
3 Thus [b] being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring ẏ conuersion of the Gentiles, & they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.
4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.
5 But said they, certaine of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleeue, rose vp, saying, that it was needefull to circumcise them, and to commaunde them to keepe the lawe of Moses.
6 [3] Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.
7 And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and said vnto them, ✠ [4] Ye men and brethren, ye know that a [c] good while ago, among vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the worde of the Gospel, and beleeue.
8 And God which knoweth the heartes, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them ẏ holy Ghost euen as he did vnto vs.
9 And he put no [d] difference betweene vs and them, after that ✠ [e] by faith he had purified their heartes.
10 [5] Nowe therefore, why [f] tempt ye God, to ∵ lay a yoke on the disciples neckes, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?
11 But wee beleeue, through the grace of the Lord Iesus Christ to be saued, euen as they doe.
12 [6] Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which tolde what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.
13 And when they helde their peace, [g] Iames answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.
14 [7] Simeon hath declared, howe God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name.
15 And to this agree the woordes of the Prophets, as it is written, 16 ※ After this I will returne, and will builde againe the tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will set it vp,
17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lorde, and all the Gentiles vpon whom my Name is called, saith the Lorde which doeth all these things.
18 From the beginning of the worlde, God
[h] knoweth all his workes.

19 [8] Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not them of the Gentiles ẏ are turned to God, 20 But that we send vnto them, that they absteine themselues from [i] filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.
21 For Moses of olde time hath in euery citie them that preache him, seeing he is read in the Synagogues euery Sabbath day.
22 [9] Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church, to sende chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren,
23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.
24 [10] Forasmuch as we haue heard, that certaine which [k] went out from vs, haue troubled you with wordes, and [l] cumbred your mindes, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keepe the Lawe:
to whome we gaue no such commaundement, 25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when wee were come together with one accord, to send chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,
26 Men that haue [m] giuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ.
27 Wee haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tell you ẏ same things by mouth.
28 [11] For it seemed good to the [n] holy Ghost, and [o] to vs, to lay no more burden vpon you, then these [p] necessary things, 29 [12] That is, that yee absteine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.
30 [13] Nowe when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.
31 And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation.
32 And Iudas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many wordes, & strengthened them.
33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in [q] peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.
34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.
35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other,
the worde of the Lord.
36 ¶ [14] But after certaine dayes, Paul said vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne, & visite our brethren in euery citie, where we haue preached the worde of the Lord, and see how they doe.

1 The Church is at length troubled with dissension within it selfe, and the trouble riseth of the proude and stubborne wittes of certaine euill men: The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether we be saued by his only righteousnesse apprehended by faith, or we haue neede also to obserue the Lawe.
a Epiphanius is of opinion that this was Cerinthus.
2 Meetings of Congregations were instituted to suppresse heresies, whereunto certaine were sent by common consent in the name of all.
b Courteously and louingly brought on their way by the Church, that is, by certaine appointed by the Church.
3 The matter is first handled, both partes being heard, in the assembly of the Apostles and auncients, and after is communicated with the people.
✠ Chap. 10. 20. and 11. 13.
4 God himselfe in calling of the Gentiles which are vncircumcised, did teache that our saluation doeth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Lawe.
c Word for word, of olde time, that is, euen from the first time that we were commaunded to preach the Gospel, and straightwayes after that the holy Ghost came downe vpon vs.
d He put no difference betweene vs and them, as touching the benefite of his free fauour.

e Christ pronounceth them Blessed, which are pure of heart; and here wee are plainely taught, that men are made such by faith. 5 Peter, passing from the Ceremonies, to the Lawe it selfe in generall, sheweth that none coulde be saued, if saluation were to bee sought for by the Lawe, and not by grace onely in Iesus Christ: because that no man coulde euer fulfill the Lawe, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle. f Why tempt ye God, as though hee coulde not saue by faith? ∵ Matth. 23. 4. 6 A true paterne of a lawfull Councill, where Gods trueth onely reigneth. g The sonne of Alpheus, who is also called the Lordes brother. 7 Iames confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles, out of the worde of God, therein agreeing to Peter. ※ Amos 9. 11. h And therefore nothing commeth to passe by fortune, but by Gods appointment.

8 In matters indifferent, we may so farre beare with the weaknesse of our brethren, as they may haue time to be instructed.

9 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed and chosen Iudges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannously or vpon a Lordlines, neither doeth the common multitude let them selues tumultuously against them which sit as iudges by the worde of God: as the like order also is holden in publishing and ratifying the things which haue bene so determined & appointed [illegible]

11 That is a lawfull Councill, which the holy Ghost ruleth.
n First they make mention of the holy Ghost, that it may not seeme to be any mans worke.
o Not that men haue any authoritie of themselues, but to shewe the faithfulnesse that they vsed in their ministerie and labour. p This was no precise necessitie, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Iewes might more peaceably liue together with lesse occasion of quarell. 12 Charitie is requisite euen in things indifferent. 13 It is requisite for all people to knowe certainely what to holde in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, shoulde depende vpon the pleasure of a fewe. q This is an Hebrewe kinde of speache, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leaue. 14 Congregations or Churches doe easily degenerate, vnlesse they bee diligently seene vnto, and therefore went these Apostles to ouersee such as they had planted, and for this cause also, Synodes were instituted and appointed.

37 [15] And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.
38 But Paul thought it not meete to take him vnto their companie, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.
39 [16] Then were they so [r] stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cyprus.
40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.
41 And hee went through Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

15 A lamentable example of discord betweene excellent men and very great friends, yet not for prophane or their priuate affaires, neither yet for doctrine. 16 God vseth the faultes of his seruants to the profite and building of his Church: yet we haue to take heede, euen in the best matters, that we passe not measure in our heate. r They were in great heate: But herein we haue to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this meanes it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospell was exercised in many places.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul hauing circumcised Timotheus, 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructeth Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of Diuination 18 is by him cast out: 20 and for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake 27 the prison doores are opened. 31 32 The Iailer receiueth the faith.

Then [1] came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and beholde, a certaine disciple was there named ✠ Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a [a] Iewesse and beleeued, but his father was a Grecian, 2 Of whome the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, [b] reported well.
3 [2] Therefore Paul would that hee should goe forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of ÿ Iewes, which were in those quarters:
for they knewe all, that his father was a Grecian.
4 [3] And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them the [c] to keepe decrees, ordeined of the Apostles & Elders, which were at Hierusalem.
5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and encreased in number daily.
6 ¶ [4] Nowe when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were [d] forbidden of the holy Ghost to preache the worde in Asia.
7 Then came they to Mysia and sought to go into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.
8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas, 9 [5] Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stoode a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.
10 [6] And after he had seene the vision, immediatly we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preache the Gospel vnto them.
11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis, 12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in ÿ partes of Macedonia, & whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there, and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.
13 [7] And on the Sabbath day, we went out of the citie, besides a Riuer, where they were wont to [e] pray: and wee sate downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.
14 [8] And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lorde opened, that shee attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.
15 [9] And when shee was baptized, and her houshold, she besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithfull to ÿ Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained vs.
16 [10] And it came to passe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maide hauing a spirit of [f] diuination, mette vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining.
17 Shee followed Paul and vs, and cryed, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shewe vnto you the way of saluation.
18 And this did shee [g] many dayes: but Paul being grieued, turned about, and said to the spirit, I commaund thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her, And he came out the same houre.
19 [11] Nowe when her masters sawe that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drewe them into the market place vnto the Magistrates, 20 [12] And brought them to the gouernours, saying, These men which are Iewes, trouble our citie,
21 [13] And preache ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.
22 [14] The people also rose vp together against them, and the gouernours rent their clothes, and commaunded them to be beaten with roddes.
23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commaunding the Iayler to keepe them surely.
24 Who hauing receiued such commaunde-ment, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete [h] fast in the stockes.
25 [15] Nowe at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the Prisoners heard them.
26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken:
and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.
27 [16] Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when he sawe the prison doores open, he drewe out his sword and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had bin fled.
28 [17] But Paul cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme: for we are all here.
29 Then hee called for a light, and leaped in,
and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and said, Syrs, what must I doe to be saued?
31 And they saide, Beleeue in the Lorde Iesus Christ, and thou shalt be saued, & thine houshold.
32 And they preached vnto him the worde of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.
33 [18] Afterwarde hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him, straightway.
34 And when hee had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, and reioyced that he with all his houshold beleeued in God.
35 [19] And when it was day, the gouernours sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

1 Paul himselfe doth not receiue Timothie into the ministerie without sufficient testimonie, and allowance of the brethren. [illegible]

2 [illegible]

3 [illegible]

4 [illegible]

God appointeth certaine and determinate times to open and set foorth his trueth, that both the election, and the calling may proceede of grace. d He sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden, teaching vs to obey, and not to enquire.

5 They are the Ministers of the Gospel, by whome hee helpeth such as were like to perish. 6 The Saints did not easely beleeue euery vision. 7 God beginneth his kingdome in Macedonia by the conuersion of a woman, and so sheweth that there is no acception of person in the Gospel. e Where they were wont to assemble themselues. 8 The Lorde onely openeth the heart to heare the worde which is preached.

9 An example of a godly huswife. 10 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angel of light, and coueteth to enter by vndermining, but Paul openly letteth him, and casteth him out. f This is a proper note of Apollo, which was wont to giue answeres to them that asked him. g Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as he was lead by the Spirit. 11 Couetousnesse of lucre and gaines is an occasion of persecuting the trueth. In the meane season, God sparing Timothie, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger, to battaile. 12 Couetousnesse pretendeth a desire of common peace and godlinesse. 13 It is an argument of the deuil, to vrge the authoritie of ancesters without any distinction. 14 An example of euill Magistrates, to obey the furie and rage of the people. h Because hee would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stockes. 15 The prayers of the godly do shake both heauen and earth. 16 The mercifull Lorde, so oft as he listeth, draweth men to life euen through the middest of death, and whereas iustly they deserued great punishment, he sheweth them great mercie. 17 In meanes, which are especially extraordinarie, we ought not to moue our foote forwarde, vnlesse that God goe before vs. 18 God with one selfe same hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him. 19 Shame and confusion is in processe of time, the rewarde of wicked and vniust Magistrates.

36 Then the keeper of the prison tolde these wordes vnto Paul, saying, The gouernours haue sent to loose you: nowe therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.
37 [20] Then saide Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and nowe would they put vs out priuily? nay verely: but let them come and bring vs out.
38 [21] And the sergeants tolde these wordes vnto the gouernours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.
39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.
40 [22] And they went out of the prison, and en-tred into the house of Lydia: and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

20 We must not render iniurie for iniurie, and yet notwithstanding it is lawfull for vs to vse such helpes as God giueth vs, to bridle the outragiousnesse of the wicked, that they hurt not other in like sort.
21 The wicked are not mooued with the feare of God, but with the feare of men: and by that meanes also God prouideth for his, when it is needefull. 22 We may eschewe dangers, so that we neuer neglect our duetie.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6. 7 is intertained of Iason: 10 Hee is sent to Berea: 15 from thence comming to Athens, 19 in Mars streete 23 he preacheth the liuing God to them vnknowen, 34 and so many are conuerted vnto Christ.

NOwe [1] as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagoue of the Iewes.
2 And Paul, as his maner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath dayes disputed with them by the Scriptures,
3 [2] Opening, and alleadging that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead: and this is Iesus Christ, whom, said he, I preach to you.
4 And some of them beleeued, and ioyned in companie with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a fewe.
5 [3] But the Iewes which beleeued not, moo-ued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine [a] vagabonds and wicked felowes, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.
6 But when they founde them not, they drewe Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These are they which haue subuerted the state of the [b] world, and here they are, 7 Whom Iason hath receiued, and these all doe against the decrees of Cesar, saying that there is another King one Iesus.
8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citie, when they heard these things.
9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient [c] assurance of Iason and of the other, they let them goe.
10 [4] And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into ŷ Synagogue of the Iewes.
11 [5] These were also more [d] noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which receiued the worde with all readinesse, and searched the Scriptures dayly, whether those things were so.
12 Therefore many of them beleeued, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a fewe.
13 ¶ [6] But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knewe, that the worde of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and moo-ued the people.
14 [7] But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Ti-motheus abode there still.
15 [8] And they that did conduct Paul, [e] brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commaundement vnto Silas and Timotheus that they should come to him at once, they departed.
16 ¶ [9] Nowe while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirite was [f] stirred in him, when hee sawe the citie subiect to [g] idolatrie.
17 Therefore he disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market dayly with [h] whomsoeuer he met.
18 [10] Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoickes, disputed with him, and some saide, What will this [i] babler say? Others said, He seemeth to be a setter foorth of strange gods (because hee preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)
19 And they tooke him, and brought him into [k] Mars streete, saying, May we not knowe, what this newe doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?
20 For thou bringest certaine strange things vnto our eares: we would knowe therefore, what these things meane.
21 [11] For all the Athenians, and strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselues to nothing els, but either to tell, or to heare some newes.
22 [12] Then Paul stoode in the middes of Mars streete, and saide, Ye men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things ye are too [l] superstitious.
23 For as I passed by, and behelde your [m] deuotions, I founde an altar wherein was written, VNTO THE [n] VNKNOVVEN GOD.
Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him shewe I
vnto you.
24 [13] God that made the worlde, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lorde of heauen and earth, ✝ dwelleth not in temples made with hands,
25 ✝ Neither is worshipped with mens handes, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giueth to all life and breath and all things, 26 [14] And hath made of [o] one blood all mankinde, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath asigned the seasons which were ordeined before, and the boundes of their habitation,

1 The casting out of Silas and Paul, was the sauing of many other.
2 Christ is therefore the Mediatour, because he was crucified and rose againe: much lesse is he to be reiected because the crosse is ignominious.
3 Although the zeale of the vnfaithfull seeme neuer so goodly, yet at length it is found to haue neither trueth nor equitie: But yet the wicked cannot doe what they list, for euen among themselues God stirreth vp some, whose helpe he vseth to the deliuerance of his.
a Certaine companions which doe nothing but walke the streetes, wicked men, to be hired for euery mans money, to do any mischiefe, such as wee commonly call the rascals and very sinkes and dunghill knaues of all townes and cities.
b Into what countrey and place so euer they come, they cause sedition and tumult.
c When Iason had put them in good assurance that they should appeare.
4 That is in deede the wisedome of the spirit, which alwayes setteth the glorie of God before it selfe as a marke whereunto it directeth it selfe and neuer swarueth from it. 5 The Lord setteth out in one moment, and in one people, diuers examples of his vnsearchable wisedome, to cause them to feare him. d Hee compareth the Iewes with the Iewes.

6 Satan hath his, who are zealous for him, and that euen such, as least of all ought.
7 There is neither counsell nor furie, nor madnesse against the Lord.
8 The sheepe of Christ doe also watch for their pastours health and safetie, but yet in the Lord.
e It is not for naught that the Iewes of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul safe from Macedonia to Athens, & there is in distance betwixt those two, all Thessalia, and Boeotia, and Attica.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 The Lorde comforteth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vaine: 18 From thence he saileth to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacie.

AFter [1] these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus,

2 And found a certaine Iewe named ✠ Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla (because that a Claudius had commaunded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tentes.)

4 [2] And he disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and b exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul, c forced in spirite, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ.

6 [3] And when they resisted and blasphemed, he ∵ shooke his raiment, and said vnto them, Your d blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles.

7 So he departed thence, & entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And ✠ Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleeued in the Lord with all his houshold: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleeued and were baptized.

9 [4] Then saide the Lorde to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake, and holde not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay handes on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 So he e continued there a yeere & six moneths, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ [5] Nowe when Gallio was deputie of f Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accorde against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, 13 Saying, This fellow persuadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Lawe appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio saide vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deede, O ye Iewes, I would according to g reason maintaine you.

15 But if it be a question of h wordes and i names, and of your Lawe, looke ye to it your selues: for I will be no iudge of those things.

16 And hee draue them from the iudgement seate.

17 Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the iudgement seat: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

18 [6] But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, he tooke leaue of the brethren, and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that k he had shorne his head in l Cenchrea: for he had a ✠ vowe.

19 Then hee came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes.

20 [7] Who desired him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not consent, 21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needes keepe this feast that commeth, in Hierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, ✠ m if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when he came downe to Cesarea, he went vp to Hierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went downe vnto Antiochia.

23 Nowe when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went thorowe the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

24 [8] And a certaine Iewe named ∵ Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and n mightie in the Scriptures.

25 The same was instructed in the way of the Lorde, and he spake feruently in the Spirite, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, & knewe but the baptisme of Iohn onely.

26 And he began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when ✠ Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the o way of God more perfectly.

27 And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receiue him: and after hee was come thither, he holpe them much which had beleeued through p grace.

28 For mightily hee confuted publikely the Iewes, with great vehemencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 3 hauing onely receiued Iohns baptisme, 2 and knew not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith God had beautified his Sonnes kingdome, 5 are baptized in the Name of Iesus. 13 The Iewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the deuill. 19 Coniuring bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

AND [1] it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when he passed thorowe the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,
2 And sayd vnto them, Haue ye receiued the a holy Ghost since yee beleeued? And they saide vnto him, Wee haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.
3 [2] And he said vnto them, Vnto b what were ye then baptized? And they sayde, Vnto c Iohns baptisme.
4 Then sayde Paul, ✠ Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying vnto the people, that they should beleeue in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus.
5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Iesus.
6 So Paul layde his hands vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophecied.
7 And all the men were about twelue.
8 ¶ Moreouer hee went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdome of God.
9 [3] But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the d way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed dayly in the schole of one e Tyrannus.
10 And this was done by the space of two yeeres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of ÿ Lord Iesus, both Iewes & Grecians.
11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,
12 So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kerchefs, or handkerchefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the euill spirits went out of them.
13 [4] Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, f exorcistes, tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euil spirits, the Name of the Lord Iesus, saying,
We adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.
14 (And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Iewe, the Priest, about seuen which did this) 15 And the euil spirit answered, and said, Iesus
I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are ye?
16 And the man in whome the euil spirit was,
ranne on them, and ouercame them, and g preuailed against them, so that they fledde out of that house, naked, and wounded.
17 And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Grecians also, which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lorde Ie-sus was magnified,
18 [5] And many that beleeued, came and h confessed, and shewed their workes.
19 Many also of them which vsed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it i fiftie thousand pieces of siluer.
20 So the worde of God grewe mightily, and preuailed.

1 Paul being nothing offended at the rudenesse of the Ephesians, planteth Church amongst them.
a Those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost, which were in those dayes in the Church.
2 Iohn did onely begin to instruct ÿ disciples whome Christ should make perfite.

e This was a mans proper name.
4 Satan is constrained to giue witnes against himselfe.
f So were they called which cast out deuils by coniuring them in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, they which had the gift of working miracles, and layd their handes on them that were possessed with deuils, were also so called.
g He preuailed against them, though they stroue neuer so much.
5 Coniuring and sorcerie is condemned by open testimonie, and by the authoritie of the Apostle.
h Confessed their errours, & detested them openly, being terrified with the feare of the iudgement of God: and what is this to eare shrift?

i They that make the least value of it, recken it to be about eight hundreth pounds English.

21 ¶ [6] Nowe when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the k Spirite to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome.
22 So sent hee into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto him, Timotheus, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.
23 [7] And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.
24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluersmith, which made siluer l temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftesmen, 25 Whom he called together, with the worke-men of like things, and sayd, Syrs, ye know that by this craft we haue our goods: 26 Moreouer ye see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not gods which are made with handes.
27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our m portion shall be reproued, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia & the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.
28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught ✠ Gaius, and ✠ Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his iourney.
30 And when Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffered him not.
31 [8] Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia which were his friendes, sent vnto him, desiring him that hee would not present him selfe in the Common place.
32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assemblie was out of order, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.
33 And some of the company drew foorth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with the hand, and woulde haue excused the matter to the people.
34 [9] But when they knew that he was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
35 [10] Then the towne clearke when hee had stayed the people, sayde, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not howe that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great god-desse Diana, and of the image, which n came downe from Iupiter?
36 Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly.
37 For yee haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacrilege, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse.
38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftes men which are with him, haue a o matter against any man, the p lawe is open, and there are q Deputies: let them accuse one another.
39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters,

40 For wee are euen in ieopardie to be accused of this dayes sedition, for as much as there is no cause, whereby we may giue a reason of this concourse of people.
41 And when he had thus spoken, hee let the assembly depart.

a He speaketh of a lawfull assembly, not onely to except against the disordered hurly burly of the people, but also against all meeting and comming together which was not by order: for there were certaine dayes appointed to call the people together in.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appointeth to goe to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching vntill midnight, 9 Eutychus fell downe dead out of a windowe, 10 he raiseth him to life: 15 At Miletum, 17 hauing called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 hee declareth what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

NOwe [1] after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia.
2 And when hee had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with [a] many words, he came into Grecia.
3 [2] And hauing taried there three moneths, because the Iewes layde waite for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, hee purposed to returne through Macedonia.
4 And there accompanied him into Asia, So-pater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.
5 These went before, and taried vs at Troas.
6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleauened bread, & came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.
7 [3] And the [b] first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the mo-row, and continued the preaching vnto midnight.
8 [4] And there were many lightes in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together.
9 And there sate in a windowe a certaine yong man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, hee ouer-come with sleepe, fell downe from the thirde loft, and was taken vp dead.
10 But Paul went downe, and layde himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selues: for his life is in him.
11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, hee so departed.
12 And they brought the boye aliue, and they were not a litle comforted.
13 ¶ Then we went before to shippe, and sailed vnto the citie Assos, that wee might receiue Paul there: for so had hee appointed, and would himselfe goe afoote.
14 Now when he was come vnto vs to Assos,
and we had receiued him, we came to Mitylenes.
15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arri-ued at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.
16 [5] For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if he could possible, at Hierusalem, at the day of Pentecost.
17 ¶ Wherefore from [c] Miletum, hee sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.
18 [6] Who when they were come to him, hee sayd vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what maner I haue bene with you at all seasons, 19 Seruing the Lorde with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto me by the layings awaite of the Iewes, 20 And how I kept [d] backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, and taught you openly and throughout euery house, 21 Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance towarde God, and fayth toward our Lord Iesus Christ.
22 [7] And nowe beholde, I goe [e] bound in the Spirit vnto Hierusalem, and know not what things shall come vnto me there, 23 Saue that ŷ holy Ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying, that bondes and afflictions abide me.
24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioye, and the ministration which I haue receiued of the Lorde Iesus, to testifie the Gospell of the grace of God.
25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whome I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more.
26 Wherefore I take you to recorde this day, that I am [f] pure from the blood of all men.
27 [8] For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.
28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Ouerseers, to [g] feede the Church of God, which [h] hee hath purchased with [i] that his owne blood.
29 [9] For I knowe this, that after my departing shall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.
30 Moreouer of your owne selues shall men arise speaking peruerse things, to [k] drawe disciples after them.
31 Therefore watche, and remember, that by the space of three yeeres I ceased not to warne eue-ry one, both night and day with teares.
32 [10] And nowe brethren, I commend you to God, and to the worde of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an [l] inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified.
33 [11] I haue coueted no mans siluer, nor golde, nor apparell.
34 Yea, ye knowe, that these hands haue ministred vnto my ✠ necessities, and to them that were with me.
35 I haue shewed you all things, howe that so labouring, ye ought to [m] support the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lord Iesus, howe that he sayde, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather then to receiue.
36 And when he had thus spoken, hee kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.
37 [12] Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him, 38 Being chiefly sorie for the words which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Hierusalem: 8 at Cesarea hee talketh with Philip the Euangelist: 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After he came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 The Iewes layd handes on him: 32 Lysias the captaine taketh him from them.

AND [1] as we lanched foorth,and were departed from them,we came with a straight course vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.
2 And we found a shippe that went ouer vnto Phenice,and went aboard, and set foorth.
3 And when we had discouered Cyprus,we left it on the left hand,and sailed toward Syria,and arri-ued at Tyrus: for there ÿ ship vnladed the burden.
4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there seuen dayes.And they told Paul through the [a] Spirit,that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.
5 But when the dayes were ended,wee departed and went our way,and they al accompanied vs with their wiues and children,euen out of the citie:
and we kneeling downe on the shore,prayed.
6 Then when we had embraced one another,
we tooke shippe,and they returned home.
7 And when wee had ended the course from Tyrus,we arriued at Ptolemais,and saluted the brethren,and abode with them one day.
8 And the next day, Paul and wee that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cesarea: and we entred into the house of ✠ Philippe the Euan-gelist, which was one of the [b] seuen Deacons, and abode with him.
9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did [c] prophecie.
10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.
11 And when hee was come vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, and bound his owne handes & feete, and saide, Thus saith the holy Ghost,So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the hands of the Gentiles.
12 And when wee had heard these things,both we and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.
13 Then Paul answered,and saide,What doe ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am readie not to be bound only, but also to die at Hieru-salem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.
14 [2] So when he would not be perswaded,wee ceased,saying,The will of the Lord be done.
15 And after those dayes we trussed vp our fardels,and went vp to Hierusalem.
16 There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus,an olde disciple, with whom we should lodge.
17 And when we were come to Hierusalem,the brethren receiued vs gladly.
18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled.
19 [3] And when he had embraced them,he told by order all things,that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.
20 [4] So when they heard it,they glorified God, and said vnto him, Thou seest, brother,how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all zealous of the Lawe: 21 Nowe they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the a They foretolde through the Spirit what dangers hanged ouer Pauls head,and this they did as Prophets: but of a fleshly affection they prayed him from going to Hierusalem.

Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liue after the customes.
22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needs come together:for they shal heare that thou art come.
23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee. Wee haue foure men,which haue made a vowe, 24 Them take, and [d] purifie thy selfe with them, and [e] contribute with them, that they may ✠ shaue their heads: and all shall knowe,that those things, whereof they haue bene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Lawe.
25 For as touching the Gentiles,which beleeue, we haue written,and determined that they obserue no such thing,but that they keepe themselues from things offered to idoles,and from blood,and from that that is strangled,and from fornication.
26 Then Paul tooke the men,and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple,[f] declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should bee offered for euery one of them.
27 [5] And when the seuen dayes were almost ended,the Iewes which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) mooued all the people, and layde hands on him,
28 Crying,Men of Israel,helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people,and the Lawe,and this place: moreouer,he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.
29 For they had seene before Trophimus an E-phesian with him in the citie,whome they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.
30 Then all the citie was moued, and the people ranne together: and they tooke Paul and drew him out of the Temple,and foorthwith the doores were shut.
31 [6] But as they went about to kil him, tydings came vnto the chiefe captaine of the band, that all Hierusalem was on an vproare.
32 Who immediatly tooke souldiers and Centurions,and ran downe vnto them: and when they saw the chiefe Captaine and the souldiers,they left beating of Paul.
33 Then the chiefe Captaine came neere and tooke him,and commanded him to be bound with two chaines,and demaunded who he was,and what he had done.
34 And one cried this,another that,among the people.So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commanded him to be led into the castell.
35 And when hee came vnto the grieces, it was so that hee was borne of the souldiers,for the violence of the people.
36 For the multitude of the people followed after,crying,Away with him.
37 And as Paul should haue bene led into the castell, hee saide vnto the chiefe Captaine, May I speake vnto thee? Who saide, Canst thou speake

1 Paul yeeldeth a reason of his faith, 22 and the Iewes heare him a while: 23 But so soone as they cried out, 24 he is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is a citizen of Rome.

YE men, brethren and Fathers, heare my defence now towards you.
2 (And when they heard that hee spake in the Hebrewe tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said)
3 [1] I am verely a man, which am a Iewe, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie at the [a] feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect maner of the Lawe of the Fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.
4 And I persecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into prison both men and women.
5 As also the chiefe Priest doeth beare me witnes, and al the company of the Elders: of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hierusalem, that they might be punished.
6 ¶ And so it was, as I iourneyed and was come neere vnto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me.
7 So I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voyce, saying vnto mee, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee?
8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.
9 Moreouer they that were with mee, sawe in deede a light and were afraide: but they heard not the voyce of him that spake vnto me.
10 Then I said, What shall I doe, Lorde? And the Lord said vnto me, Arise, and goe into Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all thinges, which are appointed for thee to doe.
11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.
12 And one Ananias a godly man, as perteining to the Lawe, hauing good report of all the Iewes which dwelt there,
13 Came vnto me, and stood, and said vnto me,
Brother Saul, receiue thy sight: and that same houre
I looked vpon him.
14 And hee saide, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his will,
and shouldest see that Iust one, & shouldest heare
the voyce of his mouth.
15 For thou shalt be his witnes vnto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard.
16 Nowe therefore why tariest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.
17 ¶ And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a traunce, 18 And sawe him saying vnto mee, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Hierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnes concerning me.
19 Then I saide, Lord, they knowe that I prisoned, and beat in euery Synagogue them that beleeued in thee.
20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was shed, I also stoode by, and consented vnto his death, & kept the clothes of them that [b] slew him.
21 Then he said vnto me, Depart: for I wil send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.
22 ¶ [2] And they heard him vnto this worde, but then they lift vp their voyces, and saide, Away with such a fellowe from the earth: for it is not meete that he should liue.
23 And as they [c] cried and cast off their clothes,
and threw dust into the ayre, 24 [3] The chiefe captaine commaunded him to be led into the castle, and bade that he should bee scourged, and examined, that hee might knowe wherefore they cried so on him.
25 [4] And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said vnto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?
26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went,
and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.
27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and said to him, Tel me, art thou a Romane? And he said, Yea.
28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul said, But I was so borne.
29 Then straightway they departed from him, which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after he knew that he was a [d] Romane, and that he had bound him.
30 On the next day, because hee woulde haue knowen the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, he loosed him from his bonds, and commaunded the hie Priestes and all their Councill to come together: and hee brought Paul, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXIII.

ANd [1] Paul behelde earnestly the Councill, and said, Men and brethren, I haue in all good conscience serued God vntill this day.
2 [2] Then the hie Priest Ananias commanded them that stood by, to smite him on the mouth.
3 [3] Then saide Paul to him, God [a] will smite mee according to the Lawe, and [c] transgressing the Lawe, commaundest thou me to be smitten?

4 There is no cause why we may not vse those lawfull meanes which God giueth vs, to repell, or put away an iniurie.

d Not by nation, but by the Lawe of the citie.

1 Paul, against the false accusations of his enemies, setteth a good conscience, for proofe whereof, he repeateth the whole course of his life.

2 Hypocrites are constrained at length, to betray themselues by their intemperancie.

3 It is lawfull for vs to complaine of iniuries, & to summon the wicked to the iudgement seate of God, so that we do it without hatred, and with a quiet and peaceable minde. a It appeareth plainely by the Greeke phrase that Paul did not curse the hie Priest, but only pronounce the punishment of God against him. *b This is a vehement and sharpe speach, but yet not reprochfully. Pharises, hee cried in the Council, Men and brethren, ✝ I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.
7 [6] And when hee had sayde this, there was a dissension betweene the Pharises and the Sadduces, so that the multitude was deuided.
8 [7] ✝ For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither [d] Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.
9 [8] Then there was a great crye: and the [e] Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.
10 [9] And when there was a great dissension, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in pieces of them, commaunded the souldiers to go downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castel.
11 Nowe the night folowing, the Lord stoode by him, and saide, Be of good courage Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.
12 [10] And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assemblie, and bounde themselues [f] with a curse, saying, that they woulde neither eate nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.
13 And they were more then fourtie, which had made this conspiracie.
14 And they came to the chiefe Priestes and Elders, and said, We haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that wee will eate nothing, vntill we haue slaine Paul.
15 Nowe therefore, ye and the [g] Council signifie to the chiefe captaine, that hee bring him foorth vnto you to morow: as though you would know some thing more perfectly of him, and we,
or euer he come neere, will be ready to kill him.
16 But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying awaite, he went, and entred into the castel, and tolde Paul.
17 [11] And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for he hath a certaine thing to shewe him.
18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and sayd, Paul the prisoner called mee vnto him, and prayed mee to bring this yong man vnto thee, which hath some thing to say vnto thee.
19 Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shewe me?
20 And he sayde, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring foorth Paul to morow into the Council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly: 21 But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in waite for him of them, more then fourtie men, which haue bound themselues with a curse, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and nowe are they ready, and waite for thy promes.
22 [12] The chiefe captaine then let the yong man depart, after hee had charged him to vtter it to no man, that he had ‖ shewed him these things.
23 And he called vnto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soul-diers, that they may go to Cæsarea, and horsemen three score and ten, and two hundred with dartes, at the thirde houre of the night.
24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the Gouernour.
25 And he wrote an epistle in this maner:
26 [13] Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble Gouernour Felix sendeth greeting.
27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and shoulde haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane.
28 And when I would haue knowen the cause, wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Council.
29 There I perceiued that hee was accused of questions of their Lawe, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bondes.
30 And when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes laide waite for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commaunded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.
31 Then the souldiers as it was commaunded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.
32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned vnto the Castel.
33 Now when they came to Cæsarea, they de-liuered the epistle to the Gouernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.
34 So when the Gouernour had read it, hee asked of what prouince he was: and when he vnderstoode that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, said he, when thine accusers also are come, and commaunded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

f Confirmed Tertullus his saying.
2 Tertullus by the deuils rhethorike beginning with flatterie, maketh an ende with lies: but Paul vsing heauenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning, casteth off from himselfe the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a simple deniall.
g Paul pleaded his cause two yeeres before Felix departed out of the prouince, Chap. 27. but he had gouerned Trachonite, and Batanea, and Galaunite, before that Claudius made him Gouernour of Iudea: Iosephus in the historie of the Iewes [illegible] lib. 2. cap. 11.
h They cannot lay [illegible] before thee, [illegible] by good [illegible]
[illegible]

9 And the Iewes likewise f affirmed, saying that it was so.
10 ¶ 2 Then Paul, after that the gouernour had beckened vnto him that hee should speake, answered, I do the more gladly answere for my selfe, for as much as I knowe that thou hast bene of g many yeeres a iudge vnto this nation, 11 Seeing that thou mayest knowe, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.
12 And they neither found mee in the Temple disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.
13 Neither can they h proue the things, whereof they now accuse me.
14 3 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call i heresie) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets, 15 And haue hope towardes God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shalbe both of iust and vniust.
16 And herein I endeuour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience towarde God and toward men.
17 4 Now after many yeres, I came & brought almes to my nation and offerings.
18 At k what time, certaine Iewes of l Asia found mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.
19 Who ought to haue bene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.
20 Or let these themselues say, if they haue found any vniust thing in mee, while I stoode in the m Council, 21 Except it be for this one voyce, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.
22 5 Nowe when Felix heard these things, hee deferred them, and said, When I shall more n perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lysias the chiefe Captaine, I will decise your matter.
23 6 Then hee commaunded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.
24 ¶ And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife o Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called foorth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.
25 And as he disputed of righteousnes & temperance, & of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.
26 Hee hoped also that money shoulde haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore hee sent for him the oftner, and communed with him.
27 7 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix roome: and Felix willing to p get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

[illegible] appea[illegible] these of [illegible] were Paul his [illegible], and those [illegible] stirred vp the people against him.
m Whither the Tribune brought mee.
5 The iudge suspendeth his sentence because the matter is doutfull.
n Felix could not iudge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, vntill he had better vnderstāding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, he thinketh good to deferre it till he heare Lysias, and therefore he gaue Paul somewhat more libertie.
6 God is a most faithfull keeper of his seruants, and the force of the trueth is wonderfull, euen amongst men which are otherwise prophane.
o This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterwarde, a very harlot and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azizus King of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.
7 In a naughtie minde, that is guiltie to it selfe, although sometime there be some shewe of equitie, yet by and by it will be extinguished; but in the meane season we haue neede of patience, and that continuall.
p For whereas he had behaued himselfe very wickedly in the prouince, had it not bene for fauour of his brother Pallas, he should haue died for it: so that we may gather hereby why he would haue pleasured the Iewes.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeeding Felix, 6 commaundeth Paul to be brought foorth. 11 Paul appealeth vnto Cesar. 14 Festus openeth Pauls matter to King Agrippa, 23 and bringeth him before him, 27 that he may vnderstand his cause.

WHen 1 Festus was then come into the prouince, after three dayes hee went vp from Cæsarea vnto Hierusalem.
2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him,
3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they layde waite to kill him by the way.
4 But Festus answered, that Paul should bee kept at Cæsarea, and that he himselfe would shortly depart thither.
5 Let them therefore, sayd he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednes in the man, let them accuse him.
6 ¶ 2 Now when he had taried among them no more then ten dayes, hee went downe to Cæsarea, and the next day sate in the iudgement seate, and commaunded Paul to be brought.
7 And when he was come, the Iewes which were come frō Hierusalem, stoode about him and layd many and grieuous complaints against Paul, whereof a they could make no plaine proofe,
8 Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against ẏ temple, nor against Cæsar.
9 3 Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and sayd, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before me?
10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cæsars iudgement seate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.
11 For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cæsar.
12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, he answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cæsar? vnto Cæsar shalt thou goe.
13 ¶ 4 And after certaine dayes, King b Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cæsarea to salute Festus.
14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto the King, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix, 15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the high Priestes and Elders of the Iewes informed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.
16 To whome I answered, that it is not the maner of the Romanes for fauour to c deliuer any man to the death, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime.
17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seate, and commaunded the man to be brought foorth.
18 Against whom when the accusers stood vp,

1 Satans ministers are subtil and diligent in seeking all occasions: but God who watcheth for his, hindreth all their counsels easely.
2 We may repel an iniurie iustly, but not with iniurie.
a They could not proue them certainly and with vndoubted reasons.
3 God doeth not onely turne away the counsel of the wicked, but also turneth it vpon their owne heads.
4 Festus, thinking no such thing, euē before Kings, bringing to light the wickednes of the Iewes, and Pauls innocencie, doeth marueilously confirme the Church of God.
b This Agrippa, was Agrippa his sonne, whose death Luke spake of before, and Bernice was his sister.
c The Romanes vse not to deliuer any man to be punished before, &c.

they brought no crime of such thinges as I supposed:

19 [5] But had certaine questions against him of their owne [d] superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such maner of question, I asked him whether he would go to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things.

21 But because hee appealed to be reserued to the examination of Augustus, I commaunded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 [6] Then Agrippa said vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morow when Agrippa was come and Bernice with great [e] pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commaundement Paul was brought foorth.

24 And Festus saide, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with vs, yee see this man, about whome all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpon me, both at Hierusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet haue I found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: neuerthelesse, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my [f] Lorde: wherefore I haue brought him foorth vnto you, and specially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write.

27 For mee thinketh it vnreasonable to sende a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are layde against him.

5 The prophane and wicked take an occasion to condemne the true doctrine, by reason of priuate controuersies and contentions of men betwixt themselues: but the trueth neuertheles abideth in the meane season safe and sure.
d This prophane man calleth the Iewish religion, superstition, and that before King Agrippa, but no marueile: for the rulers of prouinces by reason of the maiestie of the empire of Rome, vsed to preferre themselues before Kings.
6 That is fulfilled in Paul, which the Lord before had tolde to Ananias of him, Chap. 9.15.
e Gorgeously like a Prince.
f To Augustus. Good Princes refused this name at the first, so wit to be called Lords, but afterwards they admitted it, as wee reade of Traianus.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childehood, 16 and his calling, 22 with such efficacie of words, 28 that almost he perswadeth him to Christianitie. 30 But hee and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched foorth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 [1] I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answere this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes.

3 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee, to heare me patiently.

4 [2] As touching my life from my childhoode, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, know all the Iewes.

5 Which [a] knewe mee heretofore, euen from my [b] elders (if they woulde testifie) that after the [c] most straite sect of our religion I liued a Pharise.

6 [3] And nowe I stande and am accused for the hope of the promes made of God vnto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly seruing God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 [4] Why should it bee thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 ✠ Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the hie Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my [d] sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout al the Synagogues, and [e] compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to ✠ Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the hie Priestes, 13 At midday, O King, I saw in the way a light from heauen, passing the brightnesse of the sunne, shine rounde about mee, and them which went with me.

14 So when wee were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, and saying in the Hebrewe tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

15 Then I saide, Who art thou, Lord? And hee said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vp on thy feete: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee, 18 [5] To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenes to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiuenesse of sinnes, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 [6] Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision, 20 ✠ But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and throughout all the coastes of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe workes worthy amendement of life.

21 For this cause the Iewes caught mee in the ✠ Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 [7] Neuerthelesse, I obteined helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witnessing both to [f] small and to great, saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should [g] suffer, and that hee should be the [h] first that should rise from the dead, and should shew [i] light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 [8] And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus said with a loude voyce, Paul, thou art besides thy selfe: much learning doeth make thee madde.

25 But he said, I am not madde, O noble Festus, but I speake the wordes of trueth and sobernes.

26 For the King knoweth of these things, before whome also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a [k] corner.

27 [9] O King Agrippa, beleeuest thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleeuest.

28 Then Agrippa saide vnto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul saide, [l] I would to God that not onely thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 [10] And when he had thus spoken, the King rose

1 To haue a skilfull iudge is a great and singular gift of God.
2 Paul deuideth the historie of his life into two times: for the first he calleth his aduersaries witnesses: for the latter, the fathers and Prophets.
a What I was, and where, and how I liued.
b That my parents were Pharises.
c The sect of the Pharises was the most exquisite amongst all the sectes of the Iewes, for it was better then all the rest.
3 There are three chiefe and principall witnesses of true doctrine, God, the true Fathers, and the consent of the Church.
4 He proueth the resurrection of the dead, first by the power of God, then by the resurrection of Christ, whereof he is a sufficient witnes.

that sate with them.
31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themselues, saying, This man doeth vnto Cesar.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Paul 7. 9 foretelleth the perill of the voyage, 11. but hee is not beleeued. 14 They are tossed to and fro with the tempest, 21. 41 and suffer shipwracke: 33 Yet all safe and sound 44 escape to land.

1 Paul with many other prisoners, and through the midst of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and set foorth and commended vnto the world with many singular testimonies.
Cor. 11.25.

NOw [1] when it was concluded, that we should saile into Italie, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion named Iulius, of the band of Augustus.
2 And ✠ we entred into a shippe of Adramyttium purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and launched foorth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with vs.
3 And the next day wee arriued at Sidon: and Iulius courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to goe vnto his friends, that they might refresh him.
4 And from thence wee launched, and sayled hard by Cyprus, because the windes were contrary.
5 Then sayled wee ouer the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a citie in Lycia.
6 And there the Centurion found a shippe of Alexandria, sayling into Italie, and put vs therein.
7 And when we had sailed slowly many dayes, and scarce were come against Gnidum, because the winde suffered vs not, wee sailed hard by Candie, neere to [a] Salmone, 8 And with much adoe sailed beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the citie Lasea.
9 [2] So when much time was spent, and sayling was nowe ieopardous, because also the [b] Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them, 10 And sayde vnto them, Syrs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and shippe onely, but also of our liues.
11 [3] Neuerthelesse the Centurion beleeued rather the gouernour and the master of the shippe, then those things which were spoken of Paul.
12 And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an hauen of Can-die, and lyeth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West.
13 And when the Southerne winde blew softly, they supposing to atteine their purpose, loosed neerer, and sailed by Candie.
14 But anon after, there arose by [c] it a stormie winde called [d] Euroclydon.
15 And when the shippe was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her goe, and were caried
away.
16 And we ran vnder a litle Yle named Clauda, and had much a doe to get the boat.
17 Which they tooke vp and vsed all helpe, vndergirding the ship, fearing least they should haue fallen into Syrtes, and they strake saile, and so were caried.
18 [4] The next day when wee were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the shippe.
19 And the thirde day wee cast out with our owne hands the tackling of the shippe.
20 And when neither sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued, was then taken away.
21 [5] But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the mids of them, and said, Syrs, ye should haue hearkened to mee, and not haue loosed from Can-die: so should ye haue gained this hurt and losse.
22 But nowe I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shall be no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the shippe onely.
23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whome I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must bee brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely all that saile with thee.
25 [6] Wherefore, sirs, bee of good courage: for I beleeue God, that it shall bee so as it hath bene tolde me.
26 Howbeit, wee must bee cast into a certaine Iland.
27 [7] And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were caried to and fro in the [e] Adriatical sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some countrey [f] approched vnto them, 28 And sounded, & found it twentie fathoms:
and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.
29 Then fearing least they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ancres out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.
30 [8] Nowe, as the mariners were about to flee out of the shippe, and had let downe the boat into the sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreship, 31 [9] Paul saide vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the shippe, ye cannot be safe.
32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.
33 [10] And when it began to bee day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the fourteenth day that yee haue taried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing: 34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meate: for this is for your safegarde: for there shall not an [g] haire fall from the head of any of you.
35 And when hee had thus spoken, hee tooke bread and gaue thanks to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.
36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meate.
37 Now we were in the shippe in all two hun-dreth threescore and sixteene soules.
38 And whe͂ they had eaten ynough, they lightened the ship, & cast out the wheat into the sea.
39 [11] And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they spied a certaine [h] creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the shippe.
40 So when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed the ship vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoysed vp the maine saile to the winde, and drew to the shore.
41 And when they fell into a place, where [i] two seas mette, they thrust in the shippe: and the forepart stucke fast, and could not be mooued, but the hinderpart was broken with the violence of the waues.

42 [12] Then

2 ... which ... we ... and is ... mani- ... sailing. ... cast them ... willingly ... an infinite ... of dangers, when they chuse to follow their owne wisdome, rather then God speaking by the mouth of his seruants. a By Candie.

c By Candie, from whose shore our ship was driuen by that meanes.
d Northeast wind.
4 The ende proueth that none prouide worse for themselues, then they which commit themselues to be gouerned onely by their owne wisdome.
5 God spareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and chosens sake.
6 The promise is made effectuall through faith.
7 We attaine and come to the promised and sure saluation through the midst of tempests and death it selfe.
e For Ptolome writeth, that the Adriaticall sea beateth vpon the East shore of Sicilia.
f That they drew neere to some countrey.
8 There is none so foule an acte, whereunto distrust and an euill conscience do not enforce men.
9 Although the perfourming of Gods promises doeth not simply depend vpon second causes, yet they make themselues vnworthy of Gods bountifulnes, which doe not embrace those meanes which God offereth them, either vpon rashnes or distrust.
10 When the world trembleth, the faithfull alone be not only quiet, but confirme others by their example.
g This is a prouerbe which the Hebrues vse, whereby is meant, that they shalbe safe, and not one of them perish.
11 Then are tempests most of all to be feared and looked for, when the Port or Hauen is neerest.
h A creeke is a sea within land, as the Adriaticall sea, and the Persian sea.
i So is Isthmus called because the sea toucheth it on both sides.

42 [12] Then the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners, least any of them, when hee had swomme out, should flee away.

43 [13] But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commaunded that they that coulde swimme, should cast them selues first into the sea, and goe out to land:

44 [14] And the other, some on boardes, and some on certaine pieces of the ship: and so it came to passe that they came all safe to land.

12 There is no where more vnfaithfulnesse and vnthankefulnesse then in vnbeleeuers.
13 God findeth euen amongst his enemies them whose helpe he vseth to preserre his.
14 The goodnesse of God ouercommeth mans malice.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The Barbarians courtesie towardes Paul and his companie. 3 A viper on Paules hand: 6 He shaketh it off without harme: 8 Publius 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iewes 20 the cause of his comming: 22 He preacheth Jesus 30 two yeeres.

AND when they were come safe, then they knewe that the Yle was called [a] Melita.

2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no litle kindnesse: for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present showre, and because of the colde.

3 [1] And when Paul had gathered a nomber of stickes, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand.

4 [2] Nowe when the Barbarians saw the worme hang on his hande, they saide among themselues, This man surely is a murtherer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet [b] Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

5 But hee shooke off the worme into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they wayted when he should haue [c] swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly: [3] but after they had looked a great while, and sawe no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and said, That he was a God.

7 [4] In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the Yle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feuer, and of a bloodie flixe: to whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, he laide his hands on him, and healed him.

9 [5] When this then was done, other also in the Yle, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed,

10 [6] Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laded vs with things necessarie.

11 ¶ [7] Nowe after three moneths we departed in a shippe of Alexandria, which had wintred in the Yle, whose [d] badge was Castor and Pollux.

12 And when we arriued at Syracuse, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence wee fet a compasse, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South wind blewe, and wee came the seconde day to Puteoli:

14 [8] Where wee found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seuen dayes, and so wee went toward Rome.

15 ¶ [9] And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the [e] Market of Appius, and at the Three tauernes, whome when Paul sawe, hee thanked God, and waxed bolde.

16 So when wee came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by [f] him selfe with a souldier that kept him.

17 [10] And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together: and when they were come, hee saide vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the handes of the Romanes.

18 Who when they had examined me, would haue let me goe, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 [11] But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they saide vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, wee knowe that euery where it is spoken against.

23 [12] And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whome hee expounded [g] testifying the kingdome of God, and perswading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Lawe of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 [13] And some were perswaded with ỳ things which were spoken, and some beleeued not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet vnto our fathers, 26 [14] Saying, ✠ Goe vnto this people, and say, By hearing ye shall heare, and shal not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fatte, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they [h] winked, least they shoulde see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their heartes, and shoulde returne that I might heale them.

28 [15] Bee it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it.

29 [16] And when he had saide these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselues.

30 [17] And Paul remained two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speache, without let.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE ROMANES.

CHAP. I.

2 Hee first sheweth on what authoritie his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then he commendeth the Gospel, 16 by which God setteth out his power to those that are saued 17 by faith, 21 but were guiltie of wicked unthankefulnesse to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powred on them, 39 so that they ranne headlong to all kindes of sinne.

PAVL 1 a 2 a seruant of Iesus
Christ called to be an b Apostle, ✠ c put apart to preache the Gospel
of God,
2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophetes in the holy Scriptures)
3 3 Concerning his d Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord(which was e made of the seede of Dauid f according to the flesh,
4 And g declared h mightily to be the Sonne of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead) 5 i By whome we haue receiued k grace and Apostleship (that l obedience might be giuen vnto the faith) for his Name m among al the Gentiles, 6 Among whom ye be also the n called of Ie-sus Christ:
7 To all you that bee at Rome beloued of God, called to be Saints: o Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.
8 4 First I thanke my God through Iesus Christ for you all, because your faith is p published throughout the q whole world.
9 For God is my witnesse (whome I serue in my r spirit in the s Gospel of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you 10 Alwayes in my prayers, beseeching that by some meanes, one time or other I might haue a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come
vnto you.
11 For I long to see you, that I might bestowe among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened:
12 That is, that t I might bee comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine.
13 Now my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, how that I haue oftentimes pur-posed to come vnto you(but haue bene let hitherto) that I might haue some fruite also among you,
as I haue among the other Gentiles.
14 I am detter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and vnto the vnwise.
15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am readie to preach ÿ Gospel to you also that are at u Rome.
16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: 5 for it is the x power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleeueth, to the Iewe first,
and also to the y Grecian.
17 6 For by it the righteousnesse of God is re-uailed from z faith to faith: 7 as it is written, ✠ The iust shall liue by faith.
18 8 For the wrath of God is reueiled from heauen against a all vngodlinesse, and vnrighte-ousnesse of men, which withhold the b trueth in vnrighteousnesse.
19 9 Forasmuch as that, which may be knowē of God, is manifest in c them: for God hath shewed it vnto them.
20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternall power & Godhead, are seene by ÿ creation of the worlde, being d considered in his workes, to the intent that they should be without excuse: 21 Because that when they knewe God, they e glorified him not as God, neither were thankefull, but became f vaine in their thoughtes, and their foolish heart was ful of darkenesse.
22 When they g professed themselues to bee wise, they became fooles.
23 For they turned the glorie of the h incorruptible God to the similitude of the i image of a corruptible man, and of birdes, and foure footed beastes, and of creeping things.
24 10 Wherefore i also God k gaue them vp to their hearts lusts, vnto vncleannesse, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselues: 25 Which turned the trueth of God vnto a lie, and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking the Creator, which is blessed for euer, Amen.
26 For this cause God gaue them vp vnto vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature.
27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselues such l recompence of their errour, as was meete.

1 The first part of the Epistle conteining a most profitable preface vnto verse 16.
2 He mouing the Romanes to giue diligent eare vnto him, in that hee sheweth that hee commeth not in his owne name, but as Gods messenger vnto the Gentiles, entrea[illegible] them of [illegible] is, pro[illegible] since [illegible] many [illegible] and [illegible] length [illegible] in [illegible]

✠ Actes 13.1. c Appointed of God to preache the Gospel.
3 By declaring the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, he stirreth vp the Romanes to good consideration of the matter whereof he entreateth: So then hee sheweth that Christ (who is the very substance and summe of the Gospel) is the onely Sonne of God the Father, who as touching his humanitie, is made of the seede of Dauid, but touching his diuine and spirituall nature, whereby hee sanctified himselfe, is begotten of the Father from euerlasting, as by his mightie resurrection manifestly appeareth. d This is a plaine testimonie of the person of Christ, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties. e Which tooke flesh of the Virgin, Dauid his daughter. f As he is man: for this worde, Flesh, by the figure Synecdoche, is taken for man. g Shewed and made manifest. h The diuine and mightie power is set against the weakenesse of the flesh, for that ouercame death. i Of whome. k This marueilous liberall and gracious gift, which is giuen me, the least of all the Saintes, to preach, &c. Ephes.3.8. l That men through faith might obey God. m For his Names sake. n Which through Gods goodnesse, are Christes. o Gods free good will: by peace, the Hebrewes meane a prosperous successe in all things. 4 He prooueth their fauourable patience, in that he reckoneth vp their true commendation, and his true Apostolique good will towarde them, confirmed by taking God himselfe to witnesse. p Because your faith is such, that it is commended in all Churches. q In all Churches. r Very willingly and with all my heart. s In preaching his sonne. t Though Paul were neuer so excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be instructed by it.

u He meaneth all them that dwelt in Rome, though some of them were not Romaines, Looke the end of the epistle.
5 The seconde part of the Epistle vnto the beginning of the 9. chap. Nowe the whole ende and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say, to shewe that there is but one way to atteine vnto saluation (which is set forth vnto vs of God in the Gospel, without any difference of nations) and that is Iesus Christ apprehēded by faith.
x God his mightie and effectuall instrument to saue men by.
y When this word, Grecian, is set against this word, Iewe, then doeth it signifie a Gentile.
6 The confirmation of the former propositiō: we are taught in the Gospel, that we are iustified before God by faith which encreaseth daily: and therfore also saued.
z From faith which encreaseth daily.
7 The proofe as well of the first as the second proposition, out of Abakuk, who attributeth and giueth vnto faith, both iustice and life before God.)
✠ Abak.2.4.
8 An other confirmation of that principal question: All men being considered in them selues, or without Christ, are guiltie both of vngodlinesse and also vnrighteousnesse, and therfore are subiect to condemnation: Therefore must they needes seeke righteousnesse in some other.
a Against all kinds of vngodlines. b By trueth Paul meaneth all the light that is left in man since his fall, not as though they being led thereby were able to come into fauour with God, but that their owne reason might condemne them of wickednesse both against God and man. 9 Their vngodlines he prooueth hereby, that although all men haue a most cleare and euident glasse wherein to beholde the euerlasting and almightie nature of God, euen in his creatures, yet haue they fallen away from those principles to most foolish and fond deuises of their owne braines, in constituting and appointing the seruice of God. c In their hearts. d Thou seest not God, and yet thou acknowledgest him as God by his workes, Cicero. e They did not honour him with that honour and seruice, which was meete for his euerlasting power and Godhead. f As if he said, became so wise of themselues. g Or, thought them selues. h For the true God they tooke another. 10 The vnrighteousnes of men he setteth forth first in this, that euen against nature following their lustes, they defiled themselues one with another, by the iust iudgement of God. i The contempt of religion is the fountaine of all mischiefe. k As a iust Iudge. l A meete rewarde for their desertes.

aa 28 For

28 ¶ For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a m reprobate minde, to doe those things which are not conuenient,
29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednes, couetousnes, maliciousnes, full of enuie, of murther, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euill part, whisperers, 30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proud, boasters, inuenters of euill things, disobedient to parents, without vnderstanding, n couenant breakers, without natural affection, such as can neuer be appeased, mercilesse.
31 Which men, though they knew the o Lawe of God, howe that they which commit such things are worthie of death, yet not onely doe the same, but also p fauour them that doe them.

11 He prooueth the vnrighteousnesse of man by a large rehearsall of many kindes of wickednesse, from which (if not from all, yet at the least from many of them) no man is altogether free.
m Into a mad and frowarde minde, whereby it commeth to passe that the conscience being once put out, and hauing almost no more remorse of sinne, men runne headlong into all kinde of mischiefe.

n Vnmindfull of their couenants and bargaines. o By the lawe of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers themselues termed the Lawe of Nations. p Are fellowes and partakers with them in their wickednesse, and beside that, commend them which doe amisse.

CHAP. II.

1 He bringeth all before the iudgement seate of God. 12 The excuse that the Gentiles might pretend 14 of ignorance, he taketh quite away. 17 Hee rebuketh the Iewes with the written Lawe, 23 in which they boasted: 27 And so maketh both Iewe and Gentile alike.

Therefore 1 thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoeuer thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.
2 But we 2 knowe that the iudgement of God is according to b truth, against them which commit such things.
3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which doe such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement
of God?
4 a Or despisest thou the riches of his bounti-fulnesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?
5 But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that cannot repent, ✠ c heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God, 6 3 ✠ Who will reward euery man according to his workes:
7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seeke d glorie, and honour, and im-mortalitie, euerlasting life: 8 But vnto them that are contentious and disobey the e truth, and obey vnrighteousnesse, shalbe f indignation and wrath.
9 Tribulation and anguish shalbe vpon the soule of euery man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian.
10 But to euery man that doeth good, shalbe glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iew first, and also to the Grecian.
11 For there is g no respect of persons with God.

1 He conuinceth them which would seeme to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other mens faults, and sayeth, that they are least of al to be excused, for if they were wel and narrowly searched (as God surely doeth) they themselues would be found guiltie in those things which they reprehend, and punish in other: so that in condemning other, they pronounce sentence against them selues.
a Paul alledgeth two places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as euery man is perswaded of in his mind, so that the deuill him selfe is not able to pluck them cleane out.
b Considering and iudging things aright, and not by any outward shewe.
2 A vehement and grieuous crying out against them that please themselues because they see more then other doe, and yet are no whit better then others are. ✠ Iam.5.3. c Whilest thou giuest thy selfe to pleasures, thinking to encrease thy goods, thou shalt find God his wrath. 3 The ground of the former disputation, That both the Iewes and Gentiles haue altogether neede of righteousnesse. ✠ Psal.62.12. mat.16.27. reuel.22.12. d Glory which followeth good workes, which he layeth not out before vs, as though there were any that coulde attaine to saluation by his owne strength, but, by laying this condition of saluation before vs, which no man can performe, to bring men to Christ, who alone iustifieth the beleeuers, as he himselfe concludeth, chap.3.21,22. following. e By trueth, hee meaneth that knowledge which we haue of nature. f Gods indignation against sinners, which shall quickely be kindled. g God doeth not measure men either by their bloud or by their countrey, either to receiue them, or to cast them away.

12 4 For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Lawe, shall be iudged
by the Lawe, 13 5 (For the hearers of the Lawe are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Lawe shall be h iustified.
14 6 For when the Gentiles which haue i not the Lawe, doe by k nature, the things conteined in the Lawe, they hauing not the Lawe, are a Lawe vnto themselues,
15 Which shewe the effect of the Lawe l written in their hearts, their r conscience also bearing witnes, and their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing,) 16 7 At the day when God shall iudge the secretes of men by Iesus Christ, according to m my Gospel.
17 ¶ 8 Beholde, thou art called a Iewe, and restest in the Lawe, and gloriest in God, 18 And knowest his will, and n ‖ triest the things that dissent from it, in that thou art instructed by the Law:
19 And persuadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse,
20 An instructer of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the o forme of knowledge, & of the trueth in the p Law.
21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? thou that preachest,
A man should not steale, doest thou steale?
22 Thou that saiest, A man should not commit adulterie, doest thou commit adulterie? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacrilege?
23 Thou that gloriest in the Lawe, through breaking the Lawe, dishonourest thou God?
24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, ✠ as it is written.
25 9 For circumcision verely is profitable, if thou do the Lawe: but if thou be a transgressour of the Lawe, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.
26 Therefore if the q vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Lawe, shall not his r vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?
27 And shall not s vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the Lawe) condemne thee which by the t letter and circumcision art a trans-gressour of the Lawe?
28 For hee is not a Iewe, which is one u out-

4 He applieth the generall accusation of mankinde particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes.
5 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Iewes, whom the Law doeth not excuse, but condemne, because that not the hearing of the Lawe, but the keeping of the Lawe doeth iustifie.
h Shalbe pronounced iust before Gods iudgement seate: which is true in deede if any such could be found that had fulfilled the Lawe: but seeing Abraham was not iustified by the Law, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iustified by workes.

C H A P. III.

1 He giueth the Iewes some 2 preferment, for the couenants sake, 4 but yet such, as wholy dependeth on Gods mercie. 9 That both Iewes and Gentiles are sinners, 11 he proueth by Scripture: 19 and shewing the vse of the Lawe, 28 he concludeth that we are iustified by faith.

1 WHat [1] is then the preferment of the Iewe? or what is the profite of circumcision?

2 Much euery maner of way: for [a] chiefely, because vnto them were of credite committed the [b] oracles of God.

3 For what, though some did not beleeue? shall their vnbeliefe make the [d] faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true and euery man a lyar, as it is written, That thou mightest be [e] iustified in thy wordes, and ouercome, [f] when thou art iudged.

5 [2] Now if our [g] vnrighteousnes commend the righteousnes of God, what shall we say? Is God vnrighteous which punisheth? (I speake as [h] a man.)

6 God forbid: els how shal God iudge the world.)

7 [3] For if the [i] veritie of God hath more abounded through my lie vnto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirme, that we say) why doe we not euill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 [4] What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for wee haue already prooued, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are [k] vnder sinne, 10 As it is written, ✠ There is none righteous, no not one.

11 There is none that vnderstandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They haue all gone out of the way: they haue bene made altogether vnprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 ✠ Their throte is an open sepulchre: they haue vsed their tongues to deceite: the poyson of aspes is vnder their lippes.

14 ✠ Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitternesse.

15 ✠ Their feete are swift to shead blood.

16 Destruction & calamitie are in their wayes,

17 And the [l] way of peace they haue not knowen.

18 * The feare of God is not before their eyes.

19 [5] Nowe we know that whatsoeuer the [m] Lawe saieth, it saieth it to them which are vnder the Law, that [6] euery mouth may be stopped, and all the world be [n] subiect to the iudgement of God.

20 Therefore by the [o] workes of the Law shall no [p] flesh be [q] iustified in his [r] sight: for by the Lawe commeth the knowledge of sinne.

21 [7] But nowe is the righteousnesse of God made manifest without the Lawe, hauing witnes of the Lawe and of the Prophets, 22 [8] To wit, the righteousnesse of God by the faith of [s] Iesus Christ, vnto all, and vpon all that beleeue.

23 For there is no difference: for all haue sinned, and are depriued of the [t] glorie of God,

24 [9] And are iustified [u] freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesus,

25 [10] Whom God hath set forth to be a reconciliation through faith in his [x] blood to declare his righteousnes, by the forgiuenesse of the sinnes that [y] are passed,

26 Through the [z] patience of God, to shewe at [a] this time his righteousnesse, that he might be [b] iust, and a [c] iustifier of him which is of the [d] faith of Iesus.

27 [11] Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what [e] Lawe? of workes? Nay: but by the Lawe of faith.

28 Therefore we conclude, that a man is iustified by faith, without the workes of the Lawe.

29 [12] God, is he the God of the [f] Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also.

30 For it is one God, who shall iustifie [g] circumcision of faith, and vncircumcision through faith.

31 [13] Doe we then make the Lawe of [h] none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, we [i] establish the Lawe.

1 The first meeting with, or preuenting an obiection of the Iewes: what then, haue the Iewes no more preferment then the Gentiles? yes, that haue they, sayeth the Apostle, on Gods behalfe, for he committed the tables of the couenant to them, so that the vnbeliefe of a few, cannot cause the whole nation [illegible] excepti[illegible] be cast away [illegible] who is [illegible] also [illegible] faith [illegible] pre[illegible]ing [illegible] former [illegible] that the [illegible] God is [illegible] com[illegible] and set [illegible] our vn[illegible]snes, that [illegible] God for[illegible]th not that he is the iudge of the world, and therefore a most seuere reuenger of vnrighteousnesse. g Trecherie, and all the fruites thereof. h Therefore I speake not these wordes in mine owne person, as though I thought so, but this is the talke of mans wisedome, which is not subiect to the will of God. 3 A third obiection, which addeth somewhat to the former, If sinnes doe turne to the glorie of God, they are not onely not to be punished, but we ought rather to giue our selues to them: which blasphemie Paul contending him selfe to curse and detest, pronounceth iust punishment against such blasphemers. i The trueth and constancie. 4 An other answere to the first obiection: that the Iewes, if they be considered in themselues, are no better then other men are: as it hath bene long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets. k Are guiltie of sinne. ✠ Psal.14.1,3.and 53.1,3. ✠ Psal.5.10. ∵ Psal.140.3. ✠ Psal.10.7. ✠ Esai.59.7. l An innocent and peaceable life. * Psal.36.1. 5 He proueth that this grieuous accusation which is vttered by Dauid and Esaias, doeth properly concerne the Iewes. m The Lawe of Moses. 6 A conclusion of all the former disputation, from the 18 verse of the first chapter. Therefore sayeth the Apostle, No man can hope to be iustified by any Lawe, whether it be that generall Lawe, or the particular Lawe of Moses, and therefore to be saued: seeing it appeareth (as we haue alreadie prooued) by comparing the Law and mans life together, that al men are sinners, and therefore worthie of condemnation in the sight of God.

n Be found guiltie before God. o By that, that the Lawe can by vs be performed. p Flesh is here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore hath here a greater force: for it is put to shewe the contrarietie betwixt God and man: as if you would say, Man who is nothing els but a piece of flesh defiled with sinne, and God who is most pure and most perfite in himselfe. q Absolued before the iudgement seate of God. r A secrete setting of the righteousnesse which is before men, be they neuer so iust, against the iustice which can stand before God: nowe there is no righteousnesse can stand before God, but the righteousnesse of Christ onely. 7 Therefore sayeth the Apostle, Least that men should perish, God doeth nowe exhibite that, which hee promised of olde, that is to say, a way whereby wee may bee iustified and saued before him without the Lawe. 8 The matter, as it were, of this righteousnesse is Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, and for this ende offered to all people, as without him all people are shutte out from the kingdome of God. s Which wee giue to Iesus Christ, or which resteth vpon him. t By the glorie of God, is meant that marke which wee all shoote at, that is, euerlasting life, which standeth in that wee are made partakers of the glory of God. 9 Therefore this righteousnesse touching vs, is altogether freely giuen, for it standeth vpon those thinges which we haue not done our selues, but such as Christ hath suffered for our sakes, to deliuer vs from sinne. u Of his free gift, and mere liberalitie. 10 God then is the authour of that free iustification, because it pleased him: and Christ is hee, which suffered punishment for our sinnes, and in whom wee haue remission of them: and the meane whereby wee apprehend Christ, is faith. To bee short, the ende is the setting foorth of the goodnesse of God, that by this meanes it may appeare, that hee is mercifull in deede, and constant in his promises, as hee that freely, and of meere grace, iustifieth the beleeuers. x This name of blood, calleth vs backe to the figure of the olde sacrifices, the trueth and substance of which sacrifices is in Christ. y Of those sinnes which which wee committed, when wee were his enemies. z Through his patience, and suffering nature. a To witte, when Paul wrote this. b That hee might bee founde exceeding true and faithfull. c Making him iust and without blame, by imputing Christes righteousnesse vnto him. d Of the number of them which by faith lay holde vpon Christ: contrarie to whom are they, which looke to bee saued by circumcision, that is by the Lawe. 11 An argument to prooue this conclusion, that wee are iustified by faith without workes, taken from the ende of iustification. The ende of iustification is the glorie of God alone: therefore wee are iustified by faith without workes: for if wee were iustified either by our owne workes onely, or partly by faith, and partly by workes, the glory of this iustification shoulde not be wholy giuen to God. e By what doctrine? nowe the doctrine of workes hath this condition ioyned with it, if thou doest: and the doctrine of faith, hath this condition, if thou beleeuest. 12 An other argument of an absurditie: if iustification depended vpon the Lawe of Moses, then shoulde God bee a Sauiour to the Iewes onely. Againe: if hee shoulde saue the Iewes after one sort, and the Gentiles after another, hee shoulde not be one and like himselfe. Therefore hee will iustifie both of them after one selfe same maner, that is to say, by faith. Moreouer, this argument must bee ioyned to that which followeth next, that his conclusion may bee firme and euident. f God is saide to bee their God, after the maner of the Scripture, whom hee loueth and tendereth. g The circumcised. 13 The taking away of an obiection: yet is not the Lawe taken away therefore, but is rather established, as it shall bee declared in his proper place. h Vaine, voide, to no purpose, and of no force. i We make it effectuall and strong.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee proueth that which hee saide before of faith, by the example of Abraham. 3. 6 and the testimonie of the Scripture: and tenne times in the chapter hee beateth vpon this worde imputation.

WHat [1] shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath founde concerning the [a] flesh?
2 [2] For if Abraham were iustified by workes, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.
3 [3] For what saith the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted to him for righteousnesse.
4 [4] Nowe to him that [b] worketh, the wages is not [c] counted by fauour, but by dette: 5 But to him that worketh not, but beleeueth in him that [d] iustifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousnesse.
6 [5] Euen as Dauid declareth the blessednesse of the man, vnto whome God imputeth righteousnes without workes, saying, 7 Blessed are they, whose iniquities are forgiuen, and whose sinnes are couered.
8 Blessed is the man, to whome the Lord im-puteth not sinne.
9 [6] Came this [e] blessednesse then vpon the circumcision onely, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousnesse.
10 [7] Howe was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was vncircumcised.
11 [8] After, he receiued the [f] signe of circumcision, as the [g] seale of the righteousnesse of ẏ faith which he had, when he was vncircumcised, [9] that he should be the father of all them that beleeue, not being circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed to them also,
12 [10] And the father of circumcision, not vnto them onely which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steppes of the faith of our father Abraham, which he had when he was vncircumcised.
13 [11] For the promise that hee shoulde be the [h] heire of the worlde, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seede, through the [i] Lawe, but through the righteousnesse of faith.
14 [12] For if they which are of the [k] Lawe, be heires, faith is made voide, & the promise is made of none effect.
15 [13] For the Lawe causeth wrath: for where no Lawe is, there is no transgression.
16 [14] Therfore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the [l] seede, [15] not to that onely which is of the Lawe:
but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham,
who is the father of vs all, 17 (As it is written, I haue made thee a [16] father of many nations) euen before [m] God whome he beleeued, who [n] quickeneth the dead, and [o] calleth those thinges which be not, as though they were.
18 [17] Which Abraham aboue hope, beleeued vnder hope, that hee should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seede be.
19 And he [p] not weake in the faith, considered not his owne bodie, which was nowe [q] dead, being almost an hundreth yeere olde, neither the deadnes of Saraes wombe.
20 Neither did hee doubt of the promise of God through vnbeliefe, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue [r] glorie to God, 21 Being [s] fully assured that he which had promised, was also able to doe it.
22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousnesse.
23 [18] Nowe it is not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousnesse, 24 But also for vs, to whom it shalbe imputed for righteousnesse, which beleeue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead, 25 Who was deliuered to death for our [t] sinnes, and is risen againe for our iustification.

1 A newe argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleeuers: And this is the proposition, If Abraham be considered in himselfe by his workes, he hath deserued nothing wherein to reioyce with God. a By workes as appeareth in the next verse. 2 A preuenting of an obiection: Abraham may wel reioyce, and extoll himselfe amongst men, but not with God. 3 A confirmation of the proposition: Abraham was iustified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his workes. 4 The first proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that deserueth any thing by his labour, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by dette: but to him that hath done nothing but beleeueth in him which promiseth freely, faith is imputed. b To him that hath deserued any thing by his workes. c Is not reckoned nor giuen him. d That maketh him which is wicked in himselfe, iust in Christ. 5 Another proofe of the same confirmation: Dauid putteth blessednes in free pardon of sinnes, therefore iustification also. 6 A newe proposition: that this maner of iustification belongeth both to the vncircumcised, and also to the circumcised: as is declared in the person of Abraham. e This saying of Dauid, wherein he pronounceth them blessed. 7 Hee proueth that it belongeth to the vncircumcised (for there was no doubt of the circumcisedin this sort: Abraham was iustified in vncircumcision, therefore this iustification belongeth also to the vncircumcised. Nay it doeth not apperteine to the circumcised, in respect of the circumcision, much lesse are the vncircumcised shut out for their vncircumcision. 8 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then was Abraham circumcised, if he were already iustified? That the gift of righteousnesse (sayeth he) might be confirmed in him. f Circumcision, which is a signe: as we say the Sacrament of Baptisme, for Baptisme which is a Sacrament. g Circumcision, was called before, a signe, in respect of the outwarde ceremonie: now Paul sheweth the force and substance of that signe, that is, to what end it is vsed, to wit, not onely to signifie, but also to seale vp the righteousnes of faith, whereby we come to possesse Christ himselfe: for the holy Ghost worketh that inwardly in deede, which the Sacraments being ioyned with the worde, doe represent. 9 An applying of the example of Abraham to the vncircumcised beleeuers, whose father also he maketh Abraham. 10 An applying of the same example, to the circumcised beleeuers, whose father Abaham is, but yet by faith. 11 A reason why the seede of Abraham is to be esteemed by faith, because that Abraham himselfe through faith was made partaker of that promes, whereby he was made the father of all nations. h That all the nations of the worlde, should be his children: or by the worlde may be vnderstoode the land of Canaan. i For workes that he had done, or vpon this condition, that he should fulfill the Lawe. 12 A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Lawe, and therefore it should be frustrate: the other, that the condition of faith shoulde bee ioyned in vaine to that promise which shoulde be apprehended by workes. k If they bee heires which haue fulfilled the Lawe.

13 A reason of the first confirmation why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Lawe: because that the Law doeth not reconcile God and vs, but rather denounceth his anger against vs, for so much as no man can obserue it. 14 The conclusion of this argument: The saluation and iustification of all the posteritie of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith which layeth hold on the promise made vnto Abraham and which promise, Abraham himselfe first laide hold ... l To all the ... 15 ...

CHAP. V.

1 He amplyfieth 2 Christes righteousnesse, which is layde holde on by faith, 5 who was giuen for the weake, 8 and sinful. 14 He compareth Christ with Adam, 17 Death with Life, 20 and the Lawe with Grace.

THen being [1] iustified by faith, we haue peace toward God through our Lorde Iesus Christ.
2 ✠ [2] By whō also through faith, we haue [a] had this accesse into this grace, [b] wherein we [c] stand, 3 and [d] reioyce vnder ẏ hope of the glory of God.
3 [4] Neither that onely, but also wee ✠ reioyce in tribulations, [5] knowing that tribulation bringeth

... the Law, as it was before saide, therefore by faith wee are iustified and not by the Law. ✠ Ephe.2.18. 2 Whereas quietnes of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Christ, who is the giuer of faith it self, and in whom faith it selfe is effectuall. a We must here knowe, that wee haue yet still this same effect of faith. b By which grace, that is, by which gracious loue and good will, or that whereunto we are graciously taken. c We stand stedfast. 3 A preuenting of an obiection against them, which beholding the daily miseries and calamities of the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they brag of their felicitie: to whome the Apostle answereth, that their felicitie is laid vp vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they doe no lesse reioyce for that happines, then if they did presently enioy it. d Our mindes are not only quiet and setled, but also we are marueilously glad, and conceiue great ioy for that heauenly inheritance which waiteth for vs. 4 Tribulation it selfe giueth vs diuers and sundry wayes occasion to reioyce, much lesse doth it make vs miserable. ✠ Iam.1.2. 5 Afflictions accustome vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnes of God, and this experience confirmeth and fostereth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs.

geth forth patience,
4 And patience experience, and experience hope,
5 6 And hope maketh not ashamed, because the e loue of God is shed abroade in our heartes by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs.
6 7 For Christ, when wee were yet of no strength, at his f time died for the ✣vngodly.
7 8 Doutles one will scarce die g for a righteous man; but yet for a good man it may bee that one dare die.
8 But God h setteth out his loue towards vs, seeing that while wee were yet i sinners, Christ died for vs.
9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, we shalbe saued from k wrath through him.
10 For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shalbe saued by his life, 11 9 And not onely so, but wee also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue nowe receiued the atonement.
12 10 Wherefore, as by l one man m sinne en-tred into the world, & death by sinne, and so death went ouer all men: n in whō all men haue sinned.
13 11 For vnto the o time of the Law was sinne in the worlde, but sinne is not p imputed, while there is no lawe.
14 12 But death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer q them also that sinned not after the like r maner of the transgression of Adam, 13 which was the figure of him that was to come.
15 14 But yet the gift is not so, as is the offence:
for if through the offence of f that one, many bee dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.
16 15 Neither is the gift so, as that which entred in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to t iustification.
17 16 For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousnesse, u reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ.
18 17 Likewise then as by the offence of one,
the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefite abounded toward all men to the x iustification of life.
19 18 For as by one mans y disobedience z many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one shall many also be made righteous.
20 19 Moreouer the Lawe a entred thereupon that the offence shoulde abound: neuerthelesse, where sinne abounded, there grace b abounded much more:
21 That as sinne had reigned vnto death, so might grace also reigne by righteousnesse vnto eternall life though Iesus Christ our Lord.

6 The ground of hope is an assured testimonie of the conscience, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloued of God, and this is nothing els but that which we call faith, whereof it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted. e Wherewith he loueth vs. 7 A sure comfort in aduersitie, that our peace and quietnesse of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loued them that were of no strength and while they were yet sinners, that he died for them, how can he neglect thē being [illegible] sanctified [illegible] in him? [illegible] be then that Christ being nowe aliue, shoulde not saue them [illegible] whome by his death hee iustifieth and reconcileth? g In the [illegible] iust man. h Hee setteth out his loue vnto vs, that in the middest [illegible] wee may knowe assuredly, hee will bee present with vs. i While [illegible] by vs. k From affliction, and destruction. 9 Hee nowe passeth [illegible] other part of Iustification, which consisteth in the free imputation of [illegible] of Christ: so that to the remission of sinnes, there is added moreo[uer] [illegible], the gift of Christes righteousnesse imputed or put vpon vs by [illegible] swalloweth vp that vnrighteousnesse which flowed from Adam into [illegible] the fruites thereof: so that in Christ wee doe not onely cease to bee vn[iust but] begin also to be iust. 10 From Adam in whom all haue sinned, both [illegible] and death (which is the punishment of the guiltinesse) came vpon all. [illegible] who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of them make [illegible] theirs, partakers of that they haue: but they are vnlike in this, that A[illegible] sinne into them that are his, euen of nature, and that to death: but Christ [illegible] that are his, partakers of his righteousnesse by grace, and that vnto life. [illegible] is meant that disease which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly [illegible] originall sinne: for so hee vseth to call that sinne in the singular number, whereas [illegible] speake of the fruits of it, he vseth the plurall number calling them sinnes. n That [illegible] Adam. 11 That this is so, that both guiltinesse and death beganne not af[ter] the giuing and transgressing of Moses Lawe, it appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Lawe was giuen: for in that they died, sinne, which is the cause of death, was then: and in such sort, that it was also imputed: whereupon it followeth that there was then some Lawe, the breach whereof was the cause of death. o Euen from Adam to Moses. p Where there is no Lawe made, no man is punished as faultie and guiltie. 12 But that this Lawe was not that vniuersall Lawe, and that death did not proceede from any actuall sinne of euery one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could euer know nor transgresse that naturall Lawe, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam. q Ouer infants. r Not after that sort as they sinne that are of moe yeeres, following their lustes: but yet the whole posteritie was corrupted in Adam, when as he wittingly and willingly sinned. 13 Nowe that first Adam answereth the latter, who is Christ, as it is afterward declared. 14 Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them doe giue and yeelde to theirs, that which is their owne: but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath spred his fault to the destruction of many, but Christs obedience hath by grace ouerflowed many. f That is, Adam. 15 An other inequalitie consisteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guiltie, but the righteousnesse of Christ imputed vnto vs freely, doeth not onely absolue vs from that one fault, but from all others.

t To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit and pronounced righteous. 16 The third difference is, that the righteousnesse of Christ, being imputed vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addict his posteritie to death. u Be partakers of true and euerlasting life. 17 Therefore to be short, as by one mans offence, the guiltines came on all men to make them subiect to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousnesse of Christ, which by Gods mercie is imputed to all beleeuers, iustifieth them, that they may become partakers of euerlasting life. x Not onely because our sinnes are forgiuen vs, but also because the righteousnesse of Christ is imputed to vs. 18 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two stockes or rootes, so that out of the one, sinne by nature, out of the other, righteousnesse by grace doeth spring foorth vpon others. y So then, sinne entred not into vs onely by following the steppes of our forefather, but we take corruption of him by inheritance. z This word, Many, is set against this word, a fewe. 19 A preuenting of an obiection: why then did the Law of Moses enter thereupon? that men might be so much the more guiltie, and the benefite of God in Christ Iesus be so much the more glorious. a Beside that disease which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one mans sinne, the Lawe entred. b Grace was powred so plentifully from heauen, that it did not onely counteruaile sinne, but aboue measure passed it.

What 1 shall we say then? Shall we continue

1 He passeth now to another benefite of Christ, which is called sanctification or regeneratiō. a In that corruption, for though the guiltinesse of sinne be not imputed to vs, yet the corruption remaineth still in vs: the which, Sanctification that followeth Iustification, killeth by litle and litle. 2 The benefite of Iustification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inseparably, and both of them proceede from Christ by the grace of God: Nowe, Sanctification is the abolishing of sinne, that is, of our naturall corruption, into whose place succeedeth the cleannesse and purenesse of nature reformed. b They are said of Paul to bee dead to sinne, which are in such sort made partakers of the vertue of Christ, that that naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruites: And on the other side, they are saide to liue to sinne, which are in the flesh, that is, whome the spirite of God hath not deliuered from the slauerie of the corruption of nature. 3 There are three partes of this Sanctification: to wit, the death of the old man or sinne, his buriall, and the resurrection of the newe man, descending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefite our baptisme is the signe and pledge. ✣ Gal. 3.27. c To the ende that growing vp in one with him, wee should receiue his strength, to quench sinne in vs, and to make vs newe men. ✣ Col. 2.12. d That Christ himselfe being discharged of his infirmitie and weakenesse, might liue in glory with God for euer. e And wee which are his members rise for this end, that being made partakers of the selfe same vertue, we should begin to leade a newe life, as though we were already in heauen. ∵ Ephe. 4.23. colos. 3.8. hebr. 12.1. 1. peter 2.1. 4 The death of sinne and the life of righteousnesse, or our ingrassing into Christ and growing vp into one with him, cannot be separated by any meanes, neither in death nor life: whereby it foloweth, that no man is sanctified, which liueth still to sinne, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not and turneth not from his wickednesse: for as he saide before, the Lawe is not subuerted but established by faith. ✖ 1. Cor. 6.14. 2. tim. 2.11.

f In so much as by meanes of the strength which commeth from him to vs, wee so die to sinne as he is dead.
g For we become euery day more perfect then other: for we shall neuer be perfectly sanctified, as long as we liue here.
h All our whole nature, as we are conceiued & borne into this world with sinne, which is called old, partly by comparing that olde Adam with Christ, & partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which wee change with a newe.
i Our corrupt nature is attributed to Christ, not in deede, but by imputation.
k That naughtines which sticketh fast in vs.
l The end of sanctification which we shoote at, and shall at length come to, to wit, when God shalbe all in all.
5 He prooueth it by the effectes of death, vsing a comparison of Christ the head with his members.

n With God.
6 An exhortation to contend and striue with corruption and all the effects thereof.
o By reigning, S. Paul meaneth that chiefetie and high rule, which no man striueth against, and if any do, yet it is in vaine.
p To sinne, as to a Lord or tyrant.
q Your mind and all the powers of it.
r As instruments to commit wickednes withall.

f similitude of his death, euen so shall we g be to the similitude of his resurrection, 6 Knowing this, that our h old man is crucified with i him, that y^e body k of sinne might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not l serue sinne.
7 5 For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.
8 Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, we beleeue that we shall liue also with him, 9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him.
10 For in that he died, he died m once to sinne:
but in that he liueth, he liueth to n God.
11 Likewise thinke ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are aliue to God in Iesus Christ our Lord.
12 6 Let not sinne o reigne therefore in your mortall body, y^t ye should obey it in y^e lusts thereof: 13 Neither p giue ye your q members, as r weapons of vnrighteousnes vnto sinne: but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteousnesse vnto God.
14 7 For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer
you: for ye are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.
15 8 What then? shall we sinne, because we are not vnder the Lawe, but vnder grace? God forbid.
16 ✠ Knowe ye not, that to whomsoeuer ye giue your selues as seruants to obey, his seruants ye are to whom ye obey, whether it be of sinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteousnesse?
17 9 But God be thanked, that ye haue beene the seruants of sinne, but ye haue obeyed from the heart vnto the f forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were deliuered.
18 Being then made free from sinne, ye are made the seruants of righteousnesse.
19 I speake after the maner of man, because of the infirmitie of your flesh: for as ye haue giuen your members seruants to vncleannes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so now giue your members seruants vnto righteousnesse in holinesse.
20 For when ye were the seruants of sinne, ye were t freed from righteousnesse.
21 10 What fruite had ye then in those things, whereof ye are nowe ashamed? For the u ende of those things is death.
22 But nowe being freed from sinne, and made seruants vnto God, ye haue your fruit in holines, and the end, euerlasting life.
23 11 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

7 He graunteth, that sinne is not yet so dead in v^s that it is vtterly extinct: but he promiseth victorie to them that contend manfully, because we haue the grace of God giuen vs which worketh so, that the Lawe is not nowe in vs the power and instrument of sinne. 8 To be vnder the Law and vnder sinne, signifie all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrary side, to be vnder grace and righteousnes, agree to them that are regenerate. Nowe these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteousnes expel sinne. ✠ Iob 8.34. 2.pet.2.19. 9 By nature we are slaues to sinne, & free from righteousnes, but by the grace of God we are made seruants to righteousnesse, and therefore free from sinne. f This kind of speach hath a force in it: for he meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like vnto a certaine moulde which we are cast into, to be framed and fashioned like vnto it. t Righteousnesse had no rule ouer you. 10 An exhortation to the studie of righteousnesse and hatred of sinne, the contrary endes of both, being set downe before vs. u The reward or paiment. 11 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, vnto life euerlasting.

CHAP. VII.

Hee declareth what it is, to be no more vnder the Lawe, 2 by an example taken of the Law of mariage: 7. 12 And least the Lawe shoulde seeme faultie, 14 he prooueth, that our sinne is the cause, 13 that the same is an occasion of death, 17 which was giuen vs, vnto life: 21 He setteth out the battaile betweene the flesh and the spirit.

Knowe 1 ye not, brethren, (for I speake to them that knowe the Lawe) that the Lawe hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth?
2 ✠ For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bound by the Lawe to the man, while he liueth: but if the man be dead, she is deliuered from the lawe of the man.
3 So then, if while the man liueth, shee taketh another man, she shalbe a called an ✠ adulteresse:
but if the man be dead, she is free fro the Lawe, so that shee is not an adulteresse, though shee take another man.
4 2 So yee, my brethren, are dead also to the Law by y^e b body of Christ, y^t ye should bee vnto an other, euen vnto him that is raised vp from y^e dead, that we should bring forth c fruite vnto d God.
5 3 For when we e were in y^e flesh, the f affections of sinnes, which were by y^e g Lawe, had h force in our members, to bring forth fruite vnto death.
6 But nowe we are deliuered from the Lawe, he i being dead k in whom we were l holden, that we should serue in m newnesse of Spirite, and not in the oldnesse of the n letter.
7 4 What shall we say then? Is the Lawe sinne? God forbid. Nay, I knewe not sinne, but by the Law: for I had not knowen o lust, except the Lawe had said, ∵ Thou shalt not lust.
8 But sinne tooke an occasion by y^e commandement, and wrought in me all maner of concupiscence: for without the Lawe sinne is p dead.
9 5 For I once was aliue, without y^e q Law: but when the commandement r came, sinne reuiued, 10 But I f died and the same commaundement which was ordeined vnto life, was found to be vnto me vnto death.
11 For sinne tooke occasion by the commandement, and deceiued me, and thereby slewe me.
12 6 Wherefore the Lawe is ✠ holy, and that
t commandement is holy, and iust, and good.

1 By propounding the similitude of mariage, he compareth the state of man both before & after regeneration together. The lawe of matrimonie, saith he, is this, that so long as the husband liueth, the mariage abideth in force, but if he be dead, the woman may marry againe.
✠ 1 Cor.7.39.
a That is, shee shall be an adulteresse, by the consent & iudgement of all men.
✠ Mat.5.32.
2 An application of the similitude thus. So, saith he, doeth it fare with vs: for now we are ioyned to the spirite, as it were to the second husband, by whom [illegible]

But [illegible] band is dead, & so consequently being deliuered from the force of [illegible] we haue passed into the gouernance of the Spirit, so that we bring [illegible] those rotten and dead, but liuely children. e When we were in the [illegible] mariage, which he calleth in the next verse following, the oldnesse of the [illegible] motions that egged vs to sinne, which shewe their force euen in our [illegible] saith not of the Lawe, but by the Lawe, because they spring of sinne which [illegible] in vs, and take occasion to worke thus in vs, by reason of the restraint that [illegible] keth, not that the fault is in the Lawe, but in our selues. h Wrought [illegible] i As if he saide, The band which bound vs, is dead, and vanished [illegible] that sinne which helde vs, hath not nowe wherewith to holde vs. k [illegible] is within vs. l Satan is an vniust possessour, for he brought vs in [illegible] and himselfe, deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as we are sinners, [illegible] liuely. m As becommeth them, which after the death of their olde [illegible] red to the Spirit: as whom the spirit of God hath made newe men. n [illegible] he meaneth the Lawe, in respect of that olde condition: for before that our [illegible] med by the holy Ghost, the Lawe speaketh but to deafe men, and therefore it [illegible] and dead to vs, as touching the fulfilling of it. 4 An obiection: What then [illegible] the Lawe and sinne all one, and doe they agree together? nay saith he: Sinne is reproued and condemned by the Law. But because sinne cannot abide to be reprooued, and was not in a maner felt vntill it was prouoked and stirred vp by the Lawe, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outragious, and yet by no fault of the Lawe. o By the worde, Lust, in this place he meaneth not euill lustes themselues, but the fountaine from whence they spring: for the very heathen philosophers themselues condemned wicked lustes, though somewhat darkely, but as for this fountaine of them, they coulde not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the very seate of that naturall and vncleane spotte and filth. ∵ Exod.20.17 deut.5.21. p Though sinne be in vs, yet it is not knowen for sinne, neither doeth it so rage, as it rageth after that the Lawe is knowen. 5 He setteth himselfe before vs for an example, in whom all men may beholde, first what they are of nature before they earnestly thinke vpon the Lawe of God: to witte, blockish, and headie to sinne and wickednesse, without all true sense and feeling of sinne, then what maner of persons they become, when their conscience is reproued by the testimonie of the Lawe, to wit, stubberne and more enflamed with the desire of sinne then euer they were before. q When I knew not the Law, then was I thought I liued in deede: for my conscience neuer troubled me, because it knewe not my disease. r When I beganne to vnderstand the commandement. f In sinne, or by sinne. 6 The conclusion: That the Lawe of it selfe is holy, but all the fault is in vs which abuse the Lawe. ✠ 1.Tim.1.8. t Touching not coueting.

7 The propositiō: That the Lawe is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not only discouered, but also stirred vp: and tooke occasion thereby to rebell, as which, the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, and from hence commeth guiltinesse, and occasion of death. u Beareth it the blame of my death? x That sinne might shewe it selfe to be sinne, and bewray it selfe to be that, which it is in deede. y As euill as it could, shewing all the venime it could. 8 The cause of [illegible] matter, is this: [illegible] that the [illegible]

13 7Was that then which is good, u made death vnto me? God forbid: but sinne, that it might x ap-peare sinne, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sinne might be y out of measure sin-full by the commandement.
14 8For we knowe that the Lawe is spirituall, but I am carnall, sold vnder sinne.
15 9For I 10alow not that which I do: for what I 11would, that do I not: but what I hate, ý doe I.
16 If I doe then that which I would not, I consent to the Law, that it is good.
17 Nowe then, it is no more I, that doe it, but z sinne that dwelleth in me.
18 12For I know, ý in me, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to wil is present ẘ me:
but I find a no meanes to performe ý which is good.
19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euil, which I would not, that doe I.
20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more
I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.
21 13I finde then that when I would do good,
I am thus yoked, that euill is present with me.
22 For I delite in the Law of God, concerning the b inner man:
23 But I see another Law in my members, re-belling against the Lawe of my c minde, and leading me captiue vnto the lawe of sinne, which is in my members.
24 14O d wretched man that I am, who shall deliuer me from the body of this death!
25 I e thanke God through Iesus Christ our Lord. Then I f my selfe in my minde serue the Lawe of God, but in my flesh the lawe of sinne.

[illegible] appeare the strife of the Spirite and the flesh, and therefore of the [illegible] and our wickednesse. For since that the Lawe in a man not regene-[illegible] death onely, therefore in him, it may easely be accused: but [illegible] which is regenerate, it bringeth foorth good fruite, it doeth [illegible] euill actions proceede not from the Lawe, but from sinne, that [illegible] nature: And therefore the Apostle teacheth also, what the true [illegible] reprooving sinne in the regenerate, vnto the ende of the chap-[illegible] (to witte, from the seuenth verse vnto this fifteenth) hee decla-[illegible] them which are not regenerate. 10 The deedes of my life, [illegible] nay they are contrary to my will: Therefore by the consent [illegible] Lawe, and repugnancie with the deedes of my life, it appeareth [illegible] Lawe and a right ruled will doe perswade one thing, but cor-[illegible] her seate also in the regenerate, an other thing. 11 It is to [illegible] one selfe same man is saide to will and not to will, in diuers respects: [illegible] saide to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, [illegible] is not regenerate, or in that, that he is such an one as he was borne. [illegible] part which is regenerate, at length becommeth conquerour, there-[illegible] ing the part of the regenerate, speaketh in such sort as if the corrup-[illegible] neth willingly, were something without a man: although afterward [illegible] that this euill is in his flesh, or in his members. z That naturall cor-[illegible] cleaueth fast euen to them that are regenerate, and not cleane conqu-[illegible] This vice, or sinne, or lawe of sinne, doeth wholy possesse those men [illegible] regenerate, and hindreth them or holdeth them backe that are rege-[illegible] This doeth in deede agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made [illegible]: for where the Spirit is not, howe can there be any strife there? 13 The [illegible]: As the Lawe of God exhorteth to goodnesse, so doeth the Law of sinne [illegible] is, the corruption wherein wee are borne) force vs to wickednesse: but the Spirite, that is, our minde, in that that it is regenerate, consenteth with the Lawe of God: but the flesh, that is, the whole naturall man, is bondslaue to the Lawe of sinne. Therefore to be short, wickednesse and death are not of the Lawe, but of sinne, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will, nor doe good, but will, and doe euill: But in them that are regenerate, it striueth against the Spirite or lawe of the minde, so that they cannot either liue so well as they woulde, or be so voide of sinne as they woulde. b The inner man, and the newe man are all one, and are answerable and set as contrary to the olde man: neither doeth this worde, Inner man, signifie mans minde and reason, and the olde man, the powers that are vnder them, as the Philosophers imagine, but by the outwarde man is meant whatsoeuer is either without or within a man, from toppe to toe, so long as that man is not borne anewe by the grace of God. c The Lawe of the minde in this place, is not to be vnderstoode of the minde as it is naturally, and as our minde is from our birth, but of the minde which is renewed by the Spirite of God. 14 It is a miserable thing to be yet in part subiect to sinne, which of it owne nature maketh vs guiltie of death: but we must crie to the Lorde, who will by death it selfe at length make vs conquerours, as wee are alreadie conquerours in Christ. d Wearied with miserable and continuall conflictes. e He recouereth himselfe, and sheweth that he resteth wholy in Christ. f This is the true perfection of them that are borne anewe, to confesse that they are imperfite.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Hee concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his Spirit, 3 howsoeuer they be as yet but dimed with sinnes: 9 for they liue through that Spirit, 14 whose testimonie 15 driueth away all feare, 28 and relieueth our present miseries.

NOw 1 then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Iesus, which 2 walke not after the a flesh, but after the Spirit.
2 3 For the b Lawe of the Spirit of c life, which is in d Christ Iesus, hath e freed me from the lawe of sinne and of death.
3 4For (that that was f impossible to ý Lawe, in as much as it was weake, because of ý g flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in ý similitude of h sinfull flesh, & for i sinne, k condemning sinne in the flesh, 4 That that l righteousnes of the Lawe might be fulfilled 5 in vs, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.
5 6 For they that are after the m flesh, sauour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.
6 7 For the wisedome of the flesh is death:
but the wisedome of the Spirit is life and peace, 7 8 Because the wisedome of the flesh is eni-mitie against God: 9 for it is not subiect to the Lawe of God, neither in deede can be.
8 10 So then they that are in the flesh, can not please God.
9 11Now ye are not in the flesh, but in ý Spirit, because ý spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not ý Spirit of Christ, ý same is not his.

1 A conclusion of al ý former disputation, frō vers. 16. of chap. 1. euen to this place: Seeing that we, being iustified by faith in Christ, do obtaine remission of sinnes and imputation of righteousnes, and are also sanctified, it followeth hereof, that they that are graued into Christ by faith, are out of all feare of condemnation. 2 The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of sanctificatiō which is begun in vs, doe not ingraft vs into Christ, but doe declare that we are graffed into him. a Follow not the flesh for their guide: for he is not said to liue after the flesh, that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes he step awry. 3 A preuenting of an obiection: Seeing that the vertue of the Spirit which is in vs, is so weake, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that haue that vertue? Because saith he, that vertue of the quickning Spirit which is so weake in vs, is most perfect & most mighty in Christ, & being imputed vnto vs which beleeue, causeth vs to be so accepted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption & death in vs. Therfore hitherto, Paul disputed of remission of sins, & imputation of fulfilling the Law, & also of sanctification which is begun in vs: but now he speaketh of ý perfit imputation of Christes manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences: For our sins are defaced by the blood of Christ, & the guiltines of our corruption is couered with the imputation of Christs obedience: and the corruption it selfe (which the Apostle calleth sinfull sin) is healed in vs by litle & litle, by the gift of sanctification, but yet lacketh besides that, an other remedie, to wit, ý perfect sanctification of Christs owne flesh, which also is to vs imputed. b The power and authoritie of the Spirit, against which, is set the tyranny of sin. c Which mortifieth the old man, & quickneth the new man. d To wit, absolutely & perfitely. e For Christes sanctification being imputed to vs, perfiteth our sanctification which is begun in vs. 4 He vseth no argument here, but expoundeth the mysterie of sanctification, which is imputed vnto vs: for because saith he, that ý vertue of the Law was not such (and that by reason of ý corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfite, and for that it rather kindled ý disease of sin, then did put it out & extinguish it, therefore God clothed his Sonne with flesh like vnto our sinfull flesh, wherein he vtterly abolished our corruption, that being accompted throughly pure and without fault in him apprehended and laid hold on him by faith, we might be found to haue fully that singular perfection which the Law requireth, & therefore that there might be no condemnation in vs. f Which is not proper to the Lawe, but commeth by our fault. g In man not borne anew, whose disease the Law could point out, but it could not heale it. h Of mans nature which was corrupt through sinne, vntill hee sanctified it. i To abolish sin in our flesh. k Shewed that sinne hath no right in vs. l The very substance of the Lawe of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the law requireth, that we may be found iust before God: for if with our iustification, there be ioyned that sanctification which is imputed to vs, wee are iust, according to that perfite forme which the Lord requireth. 5 He returneth to that which he said, that the sanctification which is begun in vs, is a sure testimonie of our ingraffing into Christ: which is a most plentifull fruite of a godly and honest life. 6 A reason, why to walke after the flesh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walke after the Spirite, agreeth and is meete for them: Because saith he, that they which are after the flesh, sauour the things of the flesh, but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit. m They that liue as the flesh leadeth them. 7 He prooueth the consequent: because that whatsoeuer the flesh sauoureth, that engendreth death: and whatsoeuer the Spirit sauoureth, that tendeth to ioy and life euerlasting. 8 A reason and proofe, why the wisedome of the flesh is death, because saith he, it is the enemie of God. 9 A reason why the wisedome of the flesh is enemie to God, because it neither wil, neither can be subiect to him. And by flesh hee meaneth a man not regenerate. 10 The conclusion: Therefore they that walke after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not graffed into Christ. 11 He commeth to the others, to wit, to them which walke after the Spirite, of whom wee haue to vnderstand contrary things to the former: and first of all, he defineth what it is to be in the Spirite, or to be sanctified: to wit, to haue the Spirite of God dwelling in vs. Then he declareth, that sanctification is so ioyned and knit to our graffing in Christ, that it can by no meanes be separated.

12 He confirmeth the faithful against the reliques of flesh and finne, granting that they are yet (as it appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, a lumpe) which is not yet purged from this earthly filthines, in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy successe of this combate, because that euen this litle sparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousnes, is the seede of life.

n The flesh or all that, which as yet sticketh fast in the dregs of finne, and death.

13 A confirmation of the former sentence: You haue the selfe same Spirit, which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shal doe the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being vtterly laid aside, & death ouercome, it shall clothe you with heauenly glory.

10 [12] And if Christ be in you, the n body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousnesse sake.
11 [13] But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Ie-sus from the dead, dwell in you, hee that raised vp Christ from the dead, shal also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that o dwelleth in you.
12 [14] Therefore brethren, wee are detters not to the flesh, to liue after the flesh: 13 [15] For if ye liue after the flesh, ye shall die:
but if yee mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue.
14 [16] For as many are ledde by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.
15 [17] For ye haue not receiued the p Spirit of bōdage, to q feare againe: but ye haue receiued the Spirit of r adoption, whereby we cry Abba, Father.
16 The same Spirit beareth witnesse with our spirit, that we are the children of God.
17 [18] If we be children, we are also f heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: [19] if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.
18 [20] For I t count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shalbe shewed vnto vs.
19 [21] For the feruent desire of the u creature
waiteth when the sonnes of God shalbe reueiled, 20 Because the creature is subiect to x vanitie, not of it y owne wil, but by reason z of him, which hath subdued it vnder a hope, 21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the b bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.
22 For we knowe, that euery creature groneth with vs also, and c trauaileth in paine together vnto this present.
23 [22] And not onely the creature, but we also which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen we doe sigh in our d selues, waiting for the adoption, euen ✠ e the redemption of our body.
24 [23] For we are saued by hope: but f hope that is seene, is not hope: for howe can a man hope for that which he seeth?
25 But if we hope for that we see not, we doe with patience abide for it.
26 [24] Likewise the Spirit also g helpeth our infirmities: for wee knowe not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh h request for vs with sighs, which cannot be expressed.
27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the i meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for ỹ Saints, k according to the will of God.
28 [25] Also wee knowe that l all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his m purpose.
29 For those which he knewe before, hee also predestinate to be made like to the image of his Sonne, that he might be the first borne among many brethren.
30 Moreouer whom he n predestinate, them also he called, & whom he called, them also he iusti-fied, & whom he iustified, them he also glorified.
31 [26] What shall we then say to these things?
If God be on our side, who can be against vs?
32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall he not with him
o giue vs all things also?
33 [27] Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is p God that iustifieth, 34 Who shall condemne? it is Christ which is dead, yea, or rather, which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs.
35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of q Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sworde?
36 As it is written, ✠ For thy sake are we killed all day long: we are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.
37 r Neuerthelesse, in all these things wee are more then cōquerours through him that loued vs.
38 For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, 39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shalbe able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

23 Sixtly, hope is necessarily ioyned with faith, seeing then that we beleeue those things, which we are not yet in possession of, and hope so stretch out the thing that is present, we must therefore hope and patiently waite for that which we beleeue shall come to passe.

o By the vertue and power of it, which shewed the same might first in our head, and dayly worketh in his members. 14 An exhortation to oppresse the flesh dayly more and more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (saith he) you are detters vnto God, for so much as you haue receiued so many benefits of him. 15 An other reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as striue and fight valiantly, shal haue euerlasting life. 16 A confirmation of this reason: for they be the childrē of God, which are gouerned by his Spirit, therfore shal they haue life euerlasting. 17 He declareth and expoundeth by the way, in these two verses, by what right this name, to be called the children of God, is giuen to the beleeuers: because saith he, they haue receiued the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himselfe, not (as before in the publishing of the Law) terrible and fearefull, but a most benigne and louing father in Christ, so that with great boldnes we call him Father, the holy Ghost sealing this adoption in our hearts by faith. p By the Spirit, is meant the holy Ghost, whom we are said to receiue, when he worketh in our minds. q Which feare is stirred vp in our minds, by the preaching of the Law. r Which sealeth our adoption in our mindes, & therefore openeth our mouthes. 18 A proofe of the consequent of the cōfirmation: because that he which is the sonne of God, doth enioy God with Christ. f Partakers of our fathers goods, & that freely, because we are children by adoption. 19 Now Paul teacheth by what way the sonnes of God do come to that felicitie, to wit, by the crosse, as Christ himselfe did: and therewithall openeth vnto them fountaines of comfort: as first, that we haue Christ a companion and fellow of our afflictions: secondly, that wee shalbe also his fellowes in that euerlasting glory. 20 Thirdly, that this glory which we looke for, doth a thousand parts surmount the misery of our affliction. t All being wel considered, I gather. 21 Fourthly, he plainly teacheth vs that we shal certainly be renued from that cōfusion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continuall, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the sinne of man, for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length be restored with the elect. u All the world. x Is subiect to a vanishing and flitting state. y Not by their naturall inclination. z That they should obey the Creators commandement, whome it pleased to shewe by their fickle state, how greatly he was displeased with man. a God would not make the worlde subiect to euerlasting curse for the sinne of man, but gaue it hope that it should be restored. b From the corruption which they are now subiect to they shalbe deliuered and changed into the blessed state of incorruption, which shalbe reueiled when the sonnes of God shalbe aduanced to glory. c By this word is meant not only breeding sorow, but also the fruite that followeth of it. 22 Fiftly, if the rest of the world looke for a restoring, groning as it were for it, and that not in vaine, let it not grieue vs also to sigh, yea, let vs be more certainly perswaded of our redemption to come, for as much as we haue the first fruites of the Spirit.

by chance or to our harme, but by Gods prouidence for our great pro[illegible] chose vs from the beginning, so hath hee predestinate vs to be made [illegible] image of his Sonne: and therefore will bring vs in his time, being call[illegible] fied, to glory, by the crosse. l Not onely afflictions, but whatsoeuer [illegible] calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from euerlasting appointed with [illegible] cording to his good will and pleasure. n Hee vseth the time past, for the time p[illegible] sent as the Hebrewes vse, who sometime set downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, to signifie the certaintie of it: and hee hath also a regard to Gods continuall working. 26 Ninthly, we haue no cause to feare that the Lord will not giue vs whatsoeuer is profitable for vs, seeing that hee hath not spared his owne Sonne to saue vs. o Giue vs freely. 27 A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of iustification. There are no accusers that we haue neede to be afraide of before God, seeing that God him selfe absolueth vs as iust: and therefore much lesse neede we to feare damnation, seeing that we rest vpon the death & resurrection, the almightie power and defence of Iesus Christ. Therefore what can there be so weightie in this life, or of so great force and power, that might feare vs, as though we might fall from the loue of God, wherewith he loueth vs in Christ? Surely nothing, seeing that it is in it selfe most constant and sure, and also in vs being confirmed by stedfast faith. p Who pronounceth vs not onely guiltlesse, but also perfitly iust in his Sonne. q Wherewith Christ loueth vs. ✠ Psal 44.22. r We are not onely not ouercome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerours in all of them.

CHAP. IX.

1 He answereth an obiection, that might be brought on the Iewes behalfe, 7 and telleth of two sorts of Abrahams children. 19 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to his

1 The third part of this Epistle, euē to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith: and first of all, because he purposed to speake much of the casting off of the Iewes, he vseth an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple othe, and by witnessing of his great desire towardes their saluation, his singular loue towards them, and therewithall granting vnto them all their prerogatiues.

10 The first obiection: If God doth loue or hate vpon no cōsideration of worthines or vnworthines, then is he vniust, because he may loue them which are vnworthie, and hate them that are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemie, and afterward answereth it seuerally, point by point. n Mans wit knoweth no other causes of loue or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon this obiection riseth.

[illegible] 2.17. ephe. 2.12. d The tables of the couenant, and this is spoken [illegible] e Of the iudiciall Lawe. f The ceremoniall Lawe. [illegible] to Abraham and to his posteritie. 2 A most manifest testi- [illegible] and diuinitie of Christ. ✠ Chap. 2. 28. 3 He entreth into [illegible] predestination, by a kinde of preuenting an obiection: Howe may it [illegible] cast off, but that therewithall we must also make the couenant which [illegible] with Abraham & his seede, frustrate & voyde? He answereth therfore, that [illegible] seede is true, although that Israel be cast off: for the election of the people of [illegible] so generall and common, that notwithstanding the same, God chuseth by his [illegible] counsell, such as it pleaseth him. So then this is the proposition and state of [illegible]: The grace of saluation is offered generally in such sort that notwith- [illegible], the efficacie thereof perteineth onely to the elect. h Israel in the first [illegible] taken for Iacob: and in the second, for the Israelites. ∵ Gen. 21. 12. Heb. 11. 18. [illegible] proofe is taken from the example of Abrahams owne house, wherein I- [illegible] was accompted the sonne and that by Gods ordinance: although that Is- [illegible] was borne of Abraham, and circumcised before Isaac. i Isaac shalbe thy [illegible] all sonne, and therefore heire of thy blessing. 5 A generall application [illegible] proofe or example. k Which are borne of Abraham by the course [illegible]. ※ Gala. 4. 28. l Which are borne by vertue of the promes. 6 A reason [illegible] application: Because that Isaac was borne by the vertue of the promes, and therefore he was not chosen, nay he was not at all, but by the free wil of God: whereby it foloweth that the promise is the fountaine of predestination, and not the flesh, from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be borne elect, and not that they be first borne, and then after elected, in respect of God who doeth predestinate. ※ Gene. 18. 10. 7 Another forcible proofe, taken from the example of Esau and Iacob, which were both borne of the same Isaac, which was the sonne of the promes, of one mother, and at one birth, and not at diuers as Ismael and Isaac were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off, onely Iacob was chosen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodnesse of Iacobs, might bee thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickednes of Esaus, of his casting away. * Genes. 25. 21. m Gods decree, which proceedeth of his meere good will, whereby it pleaseth him to chuse one, and refuse the other. 8 Paul sayth not, might be made, but being made might remaine. Therefore they are deceiued which make foreseene faith, the cause of election, and foreknowen infidelitie, the cause of reprobation. 9 He prooueth the casting away of Esau by that, that hee was made seruant to his brother: and prooueth the chusing of Iacob, by that, that hee was made Lord of his brother, although his brother was the first begotten. And least that any man might take this saying of God, and referre it to externall things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the seruitude of Esau was ioyned with the hatred of God, and the lordship of Iacob with the loue of God. ✠ Gene. 25. 23.

11 Hee answereth first touching them which are chosen to saluation: in chusing of whom, he denieth that God may seeme vniust, although he chuse and predestinate to saluation, them that are not yet borne, without any respect of worthines: because he bringeth not the chosen to the appointed ende, but by the meanes of his mercie, which is a cause next vnder predestination. Now mercy presupposeth miserie, and againe miserie presupposeth sinne or voluntarie corruption of mankinde, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreouer mercie is shewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iustification and sanctification, so that at length we come to glorification, as the Apostle will shewe afterwarde. Nowe all these things orderly following the purpose of God, doe cleerely proue that hee can by no meanes seeme vniust in louing and sauing his. ✠ Exod. 33. 19. o I will be mercifull and fauourable to whom I list to be fauourable. p I will haue compassion on whom soeuer I list to haue compassion. 12 The conclusion of the answere: Therefore God is not vniust in chusing & sauing of his free goodnes, such as it pleaseth him: as he also answered Moses, when he prayed for all the people. q By will, he meaneth the thought and endeuour of heart, & by running, good workes, to neither of which he giueth the prayse, but only to the mercy of God. 13 Nowe hee answereth concerning the reprobate, or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, and hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of vnworthines. And first of al he prooueth this to be true, by alleaging the testimonie of God himselfe touching Pharao, whom he stirred vp to this purpose, that he might be glorified in his hardning and iust punishing. r God so speaketh vnto Pharao in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God, so speaking to Pharao. ∵ Exo. 9. 16. f Brought thee into this world. 14 Secondly, he bringeth the end of Gods counsel, to shewe that there is no vnrighteousnes in him. Now this chiefest end is, not properly and simply the destruction of the wicked, but Gods glory which appeareth in their rightfull punishment. 15 A conclusion of the full answere to the first obiection: therefore seeing God doeth not saue them whom he freely chose according to his good will and pleasure, but by iustifying and sanctifying them by his grace, his counsell in sauing them cannot seeme vniust. And againe, there is no vniustice in the euerlasting counsell of God, touching the destruction of them whom he listeth to destroy, for that he hardeneth before he destroyeth: Therefore the third answere for the maintenance of Gods iustice in the euerlasting counsell of reprobation, consisteth in this word, Hardening: which notwithstanding he concealed in the former verse, because the historie of Pharao was wel knowen. But the force of the worde is great, for Hardening, which is set against Mercie, presupposeth the same things that mercy did, to wit, a voluntarie corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and againe, corruption presupposeth a perfit state of creation. Moreouer, this hardening also is voluntarie, for God so hardeneth being offended with corruption, that he vseth their owne wil whom he hardeneth, to the executing of that iudgment. Then folow the fruits of Hardening, to wit, vnbeliefe and sinne, which are the true and proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth he then appoint to destruction? because he will: why doeth he harden? because they are corrupt: why doth he condemne? because they are sinners. Where is then vnrighteousnes? Nay if he should destroy all after this same sort, to whom should he doe iniurie? t Whom it pleased him to appoint, to shew his fauour vpon. 16 Another obiection, but only for the reprobate, rising vpon the former answere. If God doe appoint to euerlasting destruction, such as he listeth, and if that cannot be hindered nor withstanded, that he hath once decreed, howe doth he iustly condemne them, which perish by his will? 17 The Apostle doeth not answere that it is not Gods will, or that God doeth not either reiect or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemie, but hee rather granteth his aduersarie both the antecedents, to wit, that it is Gods will, and that it must of necessitie so fall out, yet hee denieth that God is therefore to be thought an vniust reuenger of the wicked: for seeing it appeareth by manifest proofe that this is the will of God, and his doing, what impudencie is it for man, which is but dust and ashes, to dispute with God, and as it were to call him into iudgement? Nowe if any man say that the doubt is not so dissolued and answered, I answere that there is no surer demonstration in any matter, because it is grounded vpon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousnes. 18 An amplification of the former answere, taken from a comparison, whereby also it appeareth that Gods determinate counsell is set of Paul the highest of all causes: so that it dependeth not vpon any respect of second causes, but doeth rather frame and direct them. ∵ Esai. 45. 9. u This similitude agreeth very fitly in the first creation of mankinde.

19 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankinde not yet made (but in the Creators mind) to a lumpe of clay: whereof afterward God made and doeth dayly make, according as hee purposed from euerlasting, both such as should be elect, and such as should be reprobate, as also this worde, Making, declareth.
20 Whereas in the obiection propounded, mention is onely made of vessels to dishonour, yet he speaketh of the other also in this answere, for that he prooueth the Creator to be iust in either of them, as the rule of contraries doeth require. x To honest vses.
21 Seeing then, that in the name of dishonour, the ignominie of euerlasting death is signified, they speake with Paul, which say, that some are made of God to most iust destruction: and they that are offended with this kind of speach bewray their owne folly.

him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?
21 ◆ 19 Hath not the potter power of the clay to make of the same lumpe one 20 vessell to x honour, and another vnto 21 dishonour?
22 22 What and if God woulde, to shewe his wrath, and to make his power knowen, suffer with long patience the y vessels of wrath, prepared to 23 destruction?
23 And that hee might declare the z riches of his glory vpon the vessels of mercy, which he hath

26 And it shalbe in the place where it was said vnto them, ∵ Ye are not my people, that there they shalbe called, The children of the liuing God.
27 26 Also Esaias cryeth concerning Israel, ※ Though the nomber of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant
be saued.
28 For he will make his account, and gather it into a b short summe with righteousnes: for the Lord will make a short count in the earth.
29 ※ And as Esaias said before, Except the Lord of c hostes had left vs a d seede, wee had bene made as Sodom, and had bene like to Gomorrha.
30 27 What shall wee say then? That the Gentiles which folowed e not righteousnes, haue attained vnto righteousnes, euen the righteousnes which is of faith.
31 28 But Israel which followed the Lawe of righteousnesse, coulde not attaine vnto the Lawe of righteousnesse.
32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the f workes of the Lawe:
for they haue stumbled at the stumbling stone, 33 As it is written, ◆ Beholde, I lay in Sion a stumbling stone, and a rocke to make men fall:
and euery one that beleeueth in him, shall not be ashamed.

◆ Psal.118.22. Isai.8.14. and 28.16. 1.pet.2.6.

22 The seconde answere is this, that God, moreouer and besides that hee doeth iustly decree whatsoeuer hee doeth decree, vseth that moderation in executing of his decrees, as declareth his singular lenitie euen in the reprobate, in that, that hee suffereth them a long time, and permitteth them to enioy many and singular benefites, vntill at length hee iustly condemne them: and that to good ende and purpose, to wit, to shewe himselfe to bee an enemie and reuenger of wickednesse, that it may appeare what power hee is of by these seuere iudgements, and finally by comparison of contraries to set foorth in deede, howe great his mercy is towardes the elect. y By vessels, the Hebrewes vnderstande all kindes of instruments. 23 Therefore againe, wee may say with Paul that some men are made of God the Creator to destruction. z The vnmeasurable and marueilous greatnesse. 24 Hauing established the doctrine of the eternall predestination of God on both partes: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect, hee commeth nowe to shewe the vse of it, teaching vs that wee ought not to seeke the testimonie of it in the secret counsell of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest and set foorth in the Church, propounding vnto vs the example of the Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may bee better perceiued. a Hee sayeth not, that all and euery one of the Iewes are called, but some of the Iewes, and some of the Gentiles. 25 Our vocation or calling, is free and of grace, euen as our predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our owne vnworthinesse, or the vnworthinesse of our auncesters should cause vs to thinke that wee are not the elect and chosen of God, if wee be called of him, and so embrace through faith the saluation that is offered vs. ✝ Hose.2.23. 1.peter 2.10. ∵ Hose.1.10. 26 Contrarywise, Neither any outwarde generall calling, neither any worthinesse of our auncesters, is a sufficient witnes of election, vnlesse by faith and beleefe wee answere Gods calling: which thing came to passe in the Iewes, as the Lord had forewarned. ※ Isai 10.21. b God purposeth to bring the vnkinde and vnthankefull people to an extreme fewnesse. ※ Isai 1.9. c Armies, by which worde the chiefest power that is, is giuen to God. d Euen a very fewe. 27 The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to passe in the Gentiles. e So then the Gentiles had no workes to prepare and procure Gods mercie before hande: and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought not for, the mercie of God is to bee thanked for it: and in that the Iewes attained not to that which they sought after, they can thanke none for it but themselues, because they sought it not aright. 28 The pride of men is the cause that they contemne vocation, so that the cause of their damnation neede not to bee sought for any other where but in themselues. f Seeking to come by righteousnesse, they followed the Lawe of righteousnesse.

CHAP. X.

1 He handleth the effectes of election, 3 that some refuse, and some embrace 4 Christ, who is the ende of the Lawe. 15 Hee sheweth that Moses foretolde the calling of the Gentiles, 20 and Esaias the hardening of the Iewes.

BRethren, 1 mine heartes desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saued.
2 For I beare them record, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.
3 2 For they, a being ignorant of the righte-ousnes of God, and going about to b stablish their owne righteousnes, haue not submitted themselues to the righteousnes of God.
4 ✝ 3 For Christ is the c ende of the Lawe for righteousnes vnto d euery one that beleeueth.
5 4 For Moses thus describeth the righteousnes which is of the Lawe, ∵ That the man which doeth these things, shall liue thereby.
6 But the righteousnes which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, ※ e Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heauen? (that is to bring Christ from aboue)
7 Or, Who shall descend into the deepe? (that is to bring Christ againe from the dead) 8 5 But what saith it? ※ The f worde is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.
9 6 For if thou shalt g confesse with thy mouth the Lorde Iesus, and shalt beleeue in thine heart, that h God raised him vp from the dead, thou shalt be saued:
10 For with the heart man i beleeueth vnto righteousnes, and with the mouth man confesseth to saluation.

14 But howe shall they call on him, in whome they haue not beleeued? 9 and howe shall they beleeue in him, of whome they haue not heard? and how shall they heare without a preacher?
15 And howe shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, ✠ How beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!
16 [10] But they haue not [l] al obeyed the Gospel:
for Esaias saith, ✠ Lorde, who hath beleeued our 17 [11] Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the [m] word of God.

18 [12] But I demaund, Haue they not heard?
∴ No doubt their sounde went out through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the world.
19 [13] But I demaund, Did not Israel know God?
First Moses saith, ✠ I will prouoke you to enuie by a [n] nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.
20 ✠ And Esaias is [o] bolde, & saith, I was found of them that sought mee not, and haue bene made manifest to them that asked not after me.

ent, and gainesaying people.

And there- [illegible] Apostle teacheth, that that outwarde and vniuersall calling, which is set [illegible] of the worlde, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, [illegible] particular also which is by the worde of God, is of it selfe of small or no [illegible] it be apprehended or layde holde on by faith, by the gift of God: [illegible] vnlesse it is made vnprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, [illegible] no ignorance. ✠ Deut.32.21. n Hee calleth all prophane peo- [illegible] no nation, as they are not said to liue but to die, which are appointed for [illegible] condemnation. ✠ Isai.65.1. o Speaketh without feare. * Isai.65.2.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lest the casting off of the Iewes should be limitted according to the outward appearance, 4 he sheweth that Elias was in times past deceiued: 16 and that, seeing they haue an holy roote, 23 many of them likewise shalbe holy. 18. 24 Hee exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 33 and crieth out, that Gods iudgements are vnsearchable.

1 [illegible] the Apo[stle] [illegible] howe [illegible] to [illegible] o- [illegible] still [illegible] unded [illegible] therefore [illegible] teacheth vs [illegible] all the Iewes in particular, are not cast away, and therefore we ought not to pronounce rashly of priuate persons, whether they bee of the nomber of the elect or not. 2 The first proofe: I am a Iewe, and yet elected, therefore wee may and ought fully resolue vpon our election, as hath bene before sayde: but of an other mans wee cannot be so certainely resolued, and yet ours may cause vs to hope well of others. 3 The second proofe: Because that God is faithful in his league or couenant, although men bee vnfaithfull: So then seeing that God hath saide, that hee will be the God of his vnto a thousande generations, wee must take heede, that wee thinke not that the whole race and offspring is cast off, by reason of the vnbeleefe of a fewe, but rather that wee hope well of euery member of the Church, because of Gods league and couenant. a Which he loued and chose from euerlasting. 4 The thirde proofe, taken from the answere that was made to Elias: euen then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the worlde no elect, yet God knewe his elect and chosen, and of them also good store and nomber. Whereupon this also is concluded, that wee ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, seeing that the Church is oftentimes brought to that state, that euen the most watchfull and sharpe sighted pastours thinke it to be cleane extinct and put out. ✠ 1.King.19.10.

I Demaund then, [1] Hath God cast away his people? God forbid: for [2] I also am an Israelite, of the seede of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.
2 [3] God hath not cast away his people which he [a] knew before. [4] Knowe ye not what the Scripture saith of Elias, how hee communeth with God against Israel, saying, 3 ✠ Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life?
4 But what saith the answere of God to him?
✠ I haue [b] reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousande men, which haue not bowed the knee to [c] Baal.
5 Euen so then at this present time is there a remnant according to the [d] election of grace.
6 [5] And if it be of grace, it is [e] no more of works: or els were grace no more grace: but if it bee of workes, it is no more grace: or els were worke no more worke.
7 What then? Israel hath not obtained that hee sought: but the election hath obteined it, and the rest haue bene [f] hardened, 8 [6] According as it is written, ✠ God hath gi-uen them the spirite of [g] slumber: eyes that they [h] shoulde not see, and eares that they should not heare vnto this day.
9 And Dauid saith, ∴ [i] Let their table be made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling blocke, euen for a recompence vnto them.
10 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not,
and bowe downe their backe alwayes.
11 [7] I demaund then, Haue they stumbled, that they shoulde fall? God forbid: but through their fall, saluation commeth vnto the Gentiles, to prouoke them to follow them.
12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the [k] riches of the worlde, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, howe much more shall their [l] aboundance be?
13 [8] For in that I speake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, I [m] magnifie mine office,
14 To trie if by any meanes I might prouoke them of my flesh to followe them, and might saue some of them.
15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiuing be, [n] but life from the dead?
16 [9] For if the [o] first fruites bee holy, so is the whole lumpe: and if the roote [p] be holy, so are the branches.

✠ 1.King.19.18.
b Hee speaketh of remnants and reserued people which were chosen from euerlasting, and not of remnants that should be chosen afterward: for they are not chosen, because they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, because they were chosen and elect.
c Baal signifieth as much as Master or patrone, or one in whose power an other is, which name the idolaters at this day giue their idoles, naming them patrones and patronesses or Ladies.
d The election of grace is, not whereby men chose grace, but whereby God chose vs of his grace and goodnesse.
5 Although that all be not elect and chosen, yet let them that are elected remember that they are freely chosen: and let them that stubburnely refuse the grace and free mercie of God, impute it vnto themselues.
e This saying beateth downe flatte to the ground all the doctrine of all kindes and maner of workes, whereby our iustifiers of themselues doe teach, that workes are either wholy or partly the cause of our iustification. f Looke Marke 3.5. 6 And yet this hardnesse of heart commeth not but by Gods iust decree and iudgement, and yet without fault, when as hee so punisheth the vnthankefull by taking from them all sence and perceiuerance, and by doubling their darkenes, that the benefites of God which are offered vnto them, doe redound to their iust destruction. ✠ Isai.6.9. and 29.10. matth.13.14. iohn 12.40. acts.28.26. g A very dead sleepe which taketh away all sense. h That is, eyes vnfit to see. ∴ Psalme 69.23. i As vnhappy birdes are intised to death by that which is their sustenance, so did that onely thing turne to the Iewes destruction, out of which they sought life, to wit, the Law of God, for the preposterous zeale whereof, they refused the Gospell. 7 God appointed this casting off of the Iewes, that it might be an occasion to call the Gentiles: and againe might turne this calling of the Gentiles, to bee an occasion to restore the Iewes, to wit, that they being inflamed and prouoked by emulation of the Gentiles, might themselues at length embrace the Gospel. And hereby wee may learne, that the seueritie of God serueth as well to the setting foorth of his glory, as his mercie doeth, and also that God prepareth himselfe a way to mercie, by his seueritie: so that wee ought not rashly to despaire of any man, nor proudly triumph ouer other men, but rather prouoke them to an holy emulation, that God may bee glorified in them also. k By riches hee meaneth the knowledge of the Gospell to euerlasting life: and by the worlde, all nations dispersed throughout the whole worlde. l Of the Iewes, when the whole nation without exception shall come to Christ. 8 Hee witnesseth by his owne example that hee goeth before all other in this behalfe. m I make noble and famous. n It shall come to passe that when the Iewes come to the Gospell, the worlde shall as it were quicken againe, and rise vp from death to life. 9 The nation of the Iewes being considered in their stocke and roote, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches bee cut off. Therefore in iudging of our brethren, wee must not sticke in their vnworthinesse, to thinke that they are at once all cast off, but wee ought to consider the roote of the couenant, and rather goe backe to their Auncesters which were faithfull, that wee may knowe that the blessing of the couenant resteth in some of their posteritie, as wee also finde proofe hereof in our selues. o He alludeth to the first fruites of those loaues, by the offering whereof all the whole croppe of corne was sanctified, and they might vse the rest of the yeere following with good conscience. p Abraham.

10 There is no cause why the Gentiles which haue obteined mercie, should triumphe ouer the Iewes which contemne the grace of God, seeing they are graffed into the Iewes ancesters. But let them rather take heede, that that also be not found in them which is worthily condemned in the Iewes. And hereof also this generall doctrine may be gathered and taken, that wee ought to be studious of Gods glory euen in respect of our neighbours: so farre ought we to be from bragging and glorying, for that, that we are preferred before other by a singular grace.

q In place of those boughes which are broken off.

r It is against the common course of husbandrie, that the barren iuyce of the ympe is changed with the iuyce of the good tree.

s We may reioyce in the Lorde, but so that we despise not the Iewes, whome we ought rather to prouoke to that good striuing with vs.

17 ✠ [10] And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, wast graft in q for them, and made r partaker of the roote, and fatnesse of the Oliue tree: 18 s Boast not thy selfe against the branches:
and if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the roote, but the roote thee.
19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.
20 Well: through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: bee not hie minded, but t feare.
21 For if God spared not the u naturall branches, take heede, least he also spare not thee.
22 [11] Beholde therefore the x bountifulnesse, and seueritie of God: towarde them which haue fallen, seueritie: but toward thee, bountifulnesse, if thou continue in his y bountifulnesse: or els thou shalt also be cut off.
23 [12] And they also, if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shall be graffed in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.
24 For if thou wast cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by z nature, & wast graffed contrary to nature in a a right Oliue tree, howe much more shall they that are by nature, bee graffed in their owne Oliue tree?
25 [13] For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (least yee should be arrogant in your b selues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be c come in.
26 And so all Israel shalbe saued, as it is written, ✠ The deliuerer shall come out of Sion, and shall turne away the vngodlinesse from Iacob.
27 And this is my couenant to them, ∵ When I shall take away their sinnes.
28 [14] As concerning the d Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the e election, they are beloued for the fathers sakes.
29 [15] For the giftes and calling of God are without repentance.
30 [16] For euen as yee in times past haue not beleeued God, yet haue nowe obteined mercie through their vnbeliefe: 31 Euen so nowe haue they not beleeued by the mercie shewed vnto you, that they also may obtaine mercie.
32 For God hath shut vp f all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercie on all.
33 [17] O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisdome, and knowledge of God! howe vn-searchable are his g iudgements, and his h wayes past finding out!
34 ✠ [18] For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord? or who was his counsellour?
35 Or who hath giuen vnto him i first, and hee shalbe recompensed?
36 For of him, and through him, and for k him are all things: to him be glory for euer. Amen.

16 Another reason: Because that although that they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubbernesse of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entrie might as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Iewes being inflamed with emulation of that mercie which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselues also bee partakers of the same benefite, and so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saued onely by the free mercie and grace of God, which could not haue bene so manifest, if at the beginning, God had brought all together into the Church, or if hee had saued the nation of the Iewes without this interruption. f Both Iewes and Gentiles. 17 The Apostle cryeth out as astonished with this wonderfull wisedome of God, which hee teacheth vs ought to bee religiously reuerenced, and not curiously and profanely to be searched beyonde the compasse of that that God hath reueiled vnto vs. g The [illegible] hee holdeth in gouerning all thinges both generally and particularly. h [illegible] der of his counsels and doings. ✠ Iob 41.2. esai. 40,13. 1.corinth.2.16. 18 [illegible] brideleth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man: First, [illegible] God is aboue all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurde, and [illegible] lesse to measure him by our folly. Moreouer, because he is dettor [illegible] therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done vnto him. Thirdly, [illegible] things are made for his glory, and therefore wee must referre all things [illegible] much lesse may we contend and debate the matter with him. i The [illegible] throweth the doctrine of foreseene workes and merites. k To wit, [illegible] glory all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially [illegible] workes which he worketh in his elect.

CHAP. XII.

1 He exhorteth 2 to that worship which is acceptable to God:
9 to loue vnfained, 14 20 euen towards our enemies.

I Beseech [1] you therefore brethren, a by the mercies of God, that yee b giue vp your c bodies a d liuing sacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your e reasonable seruing of God.
2 [2] And fashion not your selues like vnto this worlde, but bee yee changed by the renewing of your f minde, that yee may ✠ prooue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.
3 [3] For I g say through the grace that is gi-uen vnto me, to euery one that is among you, that no man h presume to vnderstande aboue that which is meete to vnderstand, but that he vnderstande according to i sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the ∵ measure of k faith.

1 [illegible] seruice of God, and doe as it were sacrifice himselfe, trusting to the grace of God. a By this preface hee sheweth that Gods glory is the vtmost ende of all our doings. b In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but nowe the altar is euery where. c Your selues: in times past, other bodies then our owne, nowe our owne must bee offered. d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but nowe wee must offer such as haue the spirit of life in them. e Spirituall. 2 The seconde precept is this, That wee take not other mens opinions or maners for a rule of life, but that we wholy renouncing this world, set before vs as our marke, the will of God, as is manifested and opened vnto vs in his worde. f Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queene in a Castell, nor for mans free will, which the Popish schoolemen dreame on, if the minde must be renued. Looke Ephesians 1.18 and 2.3. and 4.17. and Colossians 1.21. ✠ Ephesians 5.17. 1.thess.4.3. 3 Thirdly, he admonisheth vs very earnestly, that euery man keepe himselfe within the bounds of his vocation, and that euery man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath giuen him. g I charge. h That hee please not himselfe too much, as they doe, which perswade themselues they knowe more then in deede they doe. i Wee shall be sober, if wee take not that vpon vs, which wee haue not, and if we bragge not of that wee haue. ∵ 1.Corin.12.11. ephesians 4.7. k By faith hee meaneth the knowledge of God in Christ, and the giftes which the holy Ghost powreth vpon the faithfull.

s See that thou stande in awe of God modestly and carefully. u Hee calleth them naturall, not because they had any holinesse of nature, but because they were borne of them whome the Lord set apart for himselfe, from other nations, by his league and couenant which he freely made with them. 11 Seeing the matter it selfe declareth that election commeth not by inheritance (although the fault bee in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetuall) wee must take good heede that that bee not founde in our selues, which wee thinke blame worthy in others, for the election is sure, but they that are truly elect and ingraffed, are not proude in themselues with contempt of other, but with due reuerence to God and loue towardes their neighbour, runne to the marke which is set before them. x The tender and louing heart. y In that state which God his bountifulnesse hath aduaunced thee vnto: and wee must marke here, that hee speaketh not of the election of euery priuate man which remaineth stedfast for euer, but of the election of the whole nation. 12 Many are nowe for a season cut off, that is, are without the roote, which in their time shall be graffed in: and againe there are a great sort, which after a sort, and touching the outwarde shewe seeme to bee ingraffed, which notwithstanding through their owne fault afterwarde are cut off, and cleane cast away: Which thing is especially to bee considered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Iewes. z Vnderstande nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so deriued from him to his posteritie. a Into the people of the Iewes, which God had sanctified of his meere grace: and hee speaketh of the whole nation, not of euery one part. 13 The blindenesse of the Iewes is neither so vniuersall that the Lorde hath no elect in that nation, neither shall it be continuall: for there shall bee a time wherein they also (as the Prophetes haue forewarned) shall effectually embrace that, which they doe nowe so stubbutnely for the most part reiect and refuse. b That yee be not proude within your selues. c Into the Church. ✠ Esai 59.20. ∵ Esai 27.9. 14 Againe, that he may ioyne the Iewes and Gentiles together as it were in one body, and especially may teache what duetie the Gentiles owe to the Iewes, hee beateth this into their heads, that the nation of the Iewes is not vtterly cast off without hope of recouerie. d Forasmuch as they receiue it not. e In that, that God respecteth not what they deserue, but what he promised to Abraham. 15 The reason or proofe: because the couenant made with that nation of life euerlasting, cannot be frustrate and vaine.

4 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is, because God hath not committed euery thing to be done of euery
man: and therfore,
hee doeth backe-
wardly, and not only vnprofitably,
but also to the great disprofite of others, wearieth
himselfe & others,
which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other
is, for that this diuersitie & inequa-
litie of vocations
and giftes, redoun-
deth to our com-
moditie: seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed,
that we should be

CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee willeth that wee submit our selues to Magistrates: 8 To loue our neighbours: 13 To liue vprightly, 14 and to put on Christ.

LEt ✠ [1] euery [a] soule be subiect vnto the higher [2] powers: [3] for there is no power but of God:
and the powers that be, are [b] ordeined of God.
2 Whosoeuer therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receiue to themselues condemnation.
3 [4] For Magistrates are not to be feared for good workes, but for euill. [5] Wilt thou then bee without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou haue prayse of the same.
4 For he is ÿ minister of God for thy wealth, [6] but if thou doe euill, feare: for he beareth not the sworde for nought: for hee is the minister of God to [c] take vengeance on him that doeth euill.
5 [7] Wherefore ye must be subiect, not because of wrath only, but [d] also for conscience sake.
6 [8] For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselues for the same thing.
7 ✠ Giue to all men therefore their duetie: tribute, to whome yee owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whome [e] feare: honour, to whom ye owe [f] honour.
8 [9] Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: [10] for hee that loueth another, hath fulfilled the [g] Lawe.
9 For this, ∵ Thou shalt not commit adulte-rie, Thou shalt not kil, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not beare false witnes, Thou shalt not couet:
and if there be any other commaundement, it is [h] briefly comprehended in this saying, euen in this,
✠ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.
10 Loue doeth not euil to his neighbour: therefore is loue the ✠ fulfilling of the Lawe.
11 [11] And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise frō sleepe: for now is our saluation neerer, then when we beleeued it.
12 The night is past, and the day is [i] at hande, let vs therefore cast away the workes [k] of darke-nesse, and let vs put on the armour of light, 13 So that wee walke honestly, as in the day:

✠ Titus 3.1. 1.peter 2.13.
1 Nowe he sheweth seuerally, what subiects owe to their magistrates, to wit, obedience: From which, hee sheweth that no man is free: and in such sort, that it is not onely due to the highest Magistrate himselfe, but also euen to the basest, which hath any office vnder him.
a Yea, though an Apostle, though an Euangelist, though a Prophet: Chrysostome. Therefore the tyrannie of the Pope ouer all kingdomes must downe to the ground.
2 A reason taken of the nature of the thing it selfe: For to what purpose are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferiours should be subiect vnto them?
3 An other argumēt of great force: Because God is authour of this order: so that such as are rebels, ought to know, that they make warre with God himselfe: wherefore they cannot but purchase to themselues great miserie and calamitie.
b Be distributed: for some are greater, some smaller.

CHAP XIIII.

1 Hee willeth that wee so deale with the weake in faith, 13 that through our fault they bee not offended. 10 And on the other side hee commaundeth them not rashly to iudge of the stronger: 19 That within the bounds of edification 20 and charitie, 22 Christian libertie may consist.

HIm [1] that is weake in the faith, [a] receiue vn-
to you, but not for [b] controuersies of dispu-tations.
2 [2] One [c] beleeueth that hee may eate of all things: and another, which is weake, eateth herbes.
3 [3] Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemne him that eateth: for [4] God hath receiued
him.
4 ✠ [5] Who art thou that condemnest another mans seruant? hee standeth or falleth to his owne master: yea, he shalbe established: for God is able to make him stand.
5 [6] This man esteemeth one day aboue another day, and another man counteth euery day alike: [7] let [d] euery man bee fully perswaded in his minde.
6 [8] Hee that [e] obserueth the day, obserueth it to the Lorde: and hee that obserueth not the day, obserueth it not to the [f] Lorde. Hee that [g] eateth, eateth to the Lorde: [9] for he giueth God thankes:

1 Now he sheweth how we ought to behaue our selues toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the vse of them, not of malice, or damnable superstition, but for lacke of knowledge of the benefite of Christ. And thus he teacheth that they are to be instructed gently and patiently, and so that we applie our selues to their ignorance in such matters, according to the rule of charitie.
a Doe not for a matter or thing that is indifferent, and such as you may doe or not doe, shunne his companie, but take him to you. b To make him by your doubtfull and vncertaine disputations goe away more in doubt then he came, or start backe with a troubled conscience. 2 He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meates, which some thought was necessarily to bee obserued as a thing prescribed by the Lawe (not knowing that it was taken away) whereas on the cōtrary side such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospel, knew wel that this scholemastership of the Lawe was abolished. c Knoweth by faith. 3 In such a matter, saith the Apostle, let neither them which know their libertie, proudly despise their weake brother, neither let the vnlearned crabbedly or frowardly condemne that, that they vnderstand not. 4 The first reason: Because that seeing both he that eateth, and he that eateth not, is notwithstanding the member of Christ, neither hee which eateth not, can iustly be contemned, neither he which eateth, be iustly condemned: Now the first proposition is declared in the sixth verse folowing. ✠ Iam.4.12. 5 An other reason which hangeth vpon the former: why the ruder and more vnlearned ought not to be condemned of the more skilfull, as men without hope of saluation: Because, saith the Apostle, he that is ignorant to day, may be indued to morow, with further knowledge, so that he also may stand sure: Therefore it belongeth to God, and not vnto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation. 6 An other example of the difference of dayes according to the Lawe. 7 Hee setteth against this contempt, and hastie or rash iudgements, a continuall desire to profit, that the strong may be certainly perswaded of their libertie, of what maner and sort it is, and howe they ought to vse it: and againe the weake may dayly profite, least either they abuse the gift of God, or these please themselues in their infirmitie. d That he may say in his conscience, that he knoweth and is perswaded by Iesus Christ, that nothing is vncleane of it selfe, and this perswasion must bee grounded vpon the worde of God.
8 A reason taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience doe, and omit: for seeing that the difference of dayes and meates was appointed by God, how could they which as yet vnderstood not the abrogating of the Law, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Sauiour, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commaunded of God? And on the contrary side, they that knew the benefite of Christ in this behalfe, did with good conscience neither obserue dayes nor meates. Therefore saith the Apostle verse 10, Let not the strong condemne the weake for these things, seeing that the weake brethren are brethren notwithstanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to these our times and ages, let him knowe that the Apostle speaketh of such things indifferent, as they which thought them not to be indifferent, had a ground in the Lawe, and were deceiued by simple ignorance, and not of malice, (for to such the Apostle yeelded not, no not for a moment) nor superstition, but of a religious feare of God. e Obserueth precisely. f God shall iudge whether hee doe well or no: And therefore you should rather striue about this, howe euery one of you may bee allowed of God, then to thinke vpon other mens doings. g Hee that maketh no difference of meates. 9 So the Apostle sheweth that hee speaketh of the faithfull, both strong and weake: But what if wee haue to doe with infidels? Then must wee here take heede of two things, as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that wee count not their superstition among things indifferent, as they did which sate downe to meate in Idols Temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offered to idols, in the butchers shambles, and to eate it at home or in a priuate banquet) we wound not the conscience of our weake brother.

and hee that eateth [h] not, eateth not to the Lorde, and giueth God thankes.
7 [10] For none of vs liueth to [i] himselfe, neither doeth any die to himselfe.
8 For whether wee liue, wee liue vnto the Lorde: or whether we die, we die vnto the Lorde:
whether wee liue therefore, or die, wee are the Lords.
9 For Christ therefore dyed and rose againe, and reuiued, that hee might be Lorde both of the dead and the quicke.
10 [11] But why doest thou condemne thy brother? or why doest thou despise thy brother? ✠ for we shall all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ.
11 For it is written, ✠ I [k] liue, saith the Lorde, and euery knee shall bowe to mee, and all tongues shall [l] confesse vnto God.
12 So then euery one of vs shall giue accounts of himselfe to God.
13 [12] Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but vse your iudgement rather in [m] this, that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother.
14 [13] I knowe, and am perswaded through the [n] Lorde Iesus, that there is nothing vncleane of it [o] selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing to be vncleane, to him it is vncleane.
15 But if thy brother be grieued for the meate, nowe walkest thou not charitably: ✠ [14] destroy not him with thy meate, for whome [15] Christ dyed.
16 [16] Cause not your commoditie to bee euill spoken of.
17 [17] For the kingdome of God, is not meate nor drinke, but righteousnes, and peace, and ioy in
the holy Ghost.
18 For whosoeuer in [p] these thinges serueth Christ, is acceptable vnto God, and is approoued of men.
19 [18] Let vs then followe those thinges which concerne peace, and wherewith one may edifie another.

h He that eateth not meates which he taketh to be vncleane by the Lawe.
10 We must not sticke, saith he, in the meate it selfe, but in the vse of the meate, so that he is iustly to be reprehended that liueth so, that he casteth not his eyes vpon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simply that we might eate this meate or that.
i Hath respect to himselfe onely, which the Hebrewes vtter after this sort, Doeth well to his owne soule.

13 The preuenting of an obiection: It is true that the scholemastership [of the] Lawe is taken away by the benefite of Christ, to such as knowe it, but yet [not]withstanding wee haue to consider in the vse of this libertie, what is expedient, that wee may haue regarde of our weake brother, seeing that our libertie is not lost thereby. n By the Spirit of the Lorde Iesus, or by the Lorde Iesus, who, I am sure, broke downe the wall at his comming. o By nature. ✠ 1.Corinth.8.11.
14 It is the part of a cruell minde to make more account of meate, then of our brothers saluation. Which thing they doe, that presume to eate with the offence of any brother, and so giue him occasion to goe backe from the Gospel. 15 An other argument: Wee must followe Christes example: who was so farre from destroying the weake with meate, that hee gaue his life for them. 16 Another argument: for that by this meanes the libertie of the Gospell is euill spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoeuer, and boldeneth vs to all thinges. 17 A generall reason, and the grounde of all the other arguments: The kingdome of heauen consisteth not in these outwarde thinges, but in the studie of righteousnesse and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghost. p Hee that liueth peaceably, and doeth righteously through the holy Ghost.
18 A generall conclusion: The vse of this libertie, yea and our whole life, ought to bee referred to the edifying of one another, in so much that wee esteeme that thing vnlawfull by reason of the offence of our brother, which is of it selfe pure and lawfull.

20 Destroye not the worke of God for meates sake: ✠ all things in deede are pure: but it is euil for the man which eateth with offence.
21 ✠ It is good neither to eate flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weake.
22 19 Hast thou q faith? haue it with thy selfe before God: blessed is hee that condemneth not himselfe in that thing which he r aloweth.
23 For he that s doubteth, is condemned if he eate, because he eateth not of faith: and whatsoeuer is not of faith, is sinne.

✠ Titus 1.15. ✠ 2 Cor. 8.13. 19 He giueth a double warning in these matters, one, which perteineth to the strong, that he which hath obteined a sure knowledge of this libertie, keepe that treasure to the ende he may vse it wisely and profitably, as hath bene sayde: the other which respecteth the weake, that they doe nothing rashly by other mens example with a wauering conscience, for that can not be done without sinne, whereof wee are not perswaded by the worde of God, that hee liketh and approueth it. q Hee shewed before, verse 14. what hee meaneth by faith, to wit, for a man to bee certaine and out of doubt in matters and things indifferent. r Embraceth. s Reasoneth with himselfe.

putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God, 16 That I shoulde bee the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministring the Gospell of God, that the m offering vp of the Gentiles might bee acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.
17 9 I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which pertaine to God.

15 Salute Philologus and Iulias, Nereas, and his sister, and Olympas, and all the Saintes which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an ✠ holy [e] kisse. The Churches of Christ salute you.

17 ¶ [2] Nowe I beseech you brethren, [f] marke them diligently which cause diuision and offences, contrary to the doctrine which yee haue learned, and ✠ auoide them.

18 For they that are such, serue not the Lorde Iesus Christ but their owne bellies, and with faire speach and flattering deceiue the heartes of the simple.

19 [3] For your obedience is come abroade among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I woulde haue you [h] wise vnto that which is good, and [i] simple concerning euill.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation, 12 hee reprehendeth the Corinthians sectes and diuisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humilitie: 20 For, ouer throwing all worldly wisedome, 23 25 he aduanceth onely the preaching of the crosse.

PAul 1 called to be an 2 Apostle of Iesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother 3 Sosthenes, 2 4 Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are ✠ 5 sanctified in a Christ Iesus, ✠ Saintes by b calling, ∴ with all that c call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in euery place, both their Lord, and ours:
3 6 Grace be with you, and peace from God
our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.
4 7 I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is giuen you in Iesus Christ,
5 That in all things yee are made rich in him,
8 in d all kinde of speach, and in all knowledge: 6 9 As the testimonie of Iesus Christ hath bene e confirmed in you:
7 So that yee are not destitute of any gift;
✱ 10 wayting for the f appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ.
8 ✠ 11 Who shall also confirme you vnto the ende, that ye may be g blamelesse, in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ.
9 * God is h faithfull, by whome ye are called vnto the felowship of his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord.
10 12 Nowe I beseeche you, brethren, by the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that 13 yee all speake one thing, and that there be no dissensions among you: but bee yee i knit together in one mind, and in one iudgement.
11 14 For it hath bene declared vnto me, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Cloe, that there are contentions among you.
12 Nowe k this I say, that euery one of you saith, I am Pauls, and I am ✠ Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christs.
13 15 Is Christ deuided? was 16 Paul crucified for you? either were yee 17 baptized into the name of Paul?
14 18 I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but ✠ Crispus, and Gaius, 15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine owne name.
16 I baptized also the houshold of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.
17 19 For CHRIST sent mee not to baptize, but to preache the Gospel, 20 not with ∴ l wisdome of wordes, lest the 21 crosse of Christ should be made of none effect.

1 The inscription of the Epistle, wherein he chiefly goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towardes him, yet notwithstanding so, that alwayes he letteth them to wit, that he is the seruant of God and not of men. 2 If he be an Apostle, then he must be heard, although he somewhat reprehend [illegible] [illegible] admonish it. ✠ Actes 15.9. 1.thessa.4.7. 5 A true definition of the [illegible] Catholique Church, which is one. a The father sanctifieth vs, that is [illegible] vs from the wicked, in giuing vs to his Sonne, that hee may bee in vs, [illegible] ✠ Rom.1.7.ephes.1.1.coloss.1.22.1.timo.1.9.titus 2.3. b Whome [illegible] gracious goodnesse and meere loue hath separated for himselfe: or whome [illegible] called to holinesse: the first of these two expositions, sheweth from whence [illegible] [illegible] commeth, and the seconde, sheweth to what ende it tendeth. ∴ 2.Tim. [illegible] He is saide properly to call on God, who cryeth vnto the Lorde when hee is [illegible] and craueth helpe at his handes: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for [illegible] of God: and therfore to call vpon Christes Name, is to acknowledge and [illegible] very God. 6 The foundation and the life of the Church, is Christ Iesus [illegible] the Father. 7 Going about to condemne many vices, hee beginneth [illegible] true commendation of their vertues, lest hee might seeme after to deal [illegible] chiding, being moued with malice or enuie: yet so, that he referreth all to [illegible] the authour of them, and that in Christ, that the Corinthians might be more [illegible] to prophane and abuse the holy giftes of God. 8 Hee toucheth that [illegible], which they most abused. d Seeing that whiles wee liue here, we knowe [illegible] in part, and prophecie in part, this worde (All) must bee restrained to the present state of the faithfull: but by Speache hee meaneth not a vaine kinde of babling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused. 9 He sheweth that the true vse of these giftes consisteth herein, that the mightie power of Christ might thereby be set foorth in them, that hereafter it might euidently appeare howe wickedly they abused them to glorie and ambition. e By these excellent giftes of the holy Ghost. ✱ Titus 2.11. philip.3.20. 10 Hee sayeth by the way, that there is no cause why they shoulde please themselues so much in those giftes which they had receiued, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them which are to be looked for. f He speaketh of the last comming of Christ. ✠ 1.Thessa.3.13. and 5.23. 11 He testifieth that hee hopeth well of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterwarde. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our saluation is onely the worke of God. g Hee calleth them blamelesse, not whom man neuer founde fault with, but with whome no man can iustly finde fault, that is to say, them which are in Christ Iesus, in whome there is no condemnation. See Luke 1.6. * 1.Thessa.5.24. h True and constant, who doeth not onely call vs, but giueth vs the gift of perseuerance also. 12 Hauing made an ende of the preface, hee commeth to the matter it selfe, beginning with a most graue obtestation, as though they shoulde heare Christ him selfe speaking and not Paul.

13 The first part of this Epistle, wherein his purpose is, to cal backe the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occasion of discord. So then this first part concerneth the taking away of schismes. Nowe a schisme is when men which otherwise agree and consent together in doctrine, doe yet separate themselues one from another. i Knit together, as a bodie that consisteth of all his partes fitly knit together. 14 Hee beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of an obiection: for that he vnderstoode by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissensions, because that some did hang on one doctour, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselues, that they neglected all doctours and teachers, calling themselues the disciples of Christ onely, shutting foorth their teachers. k The matter I would say to you, is this. ✠ Actes 18.24. 15 The first reason why schismes ought to be eschewed: because Christ seemeth by that meanes, to be deuided and torne in pieces, who cannot bee the head of two diuers and disagreeing bodies, being himselfe one. 16 Another reason: Because they cannot without great iniurie to God, so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they doe, which allowe whatsoeuer some man speaketh, euen for his persons sake: as these men allowed one selfe same Gospel being vttered of one man, and did lothe it being vttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Nowe Paul setteth downe his owne name, not onely to grieue no man, but also to shewe that he pleadeth not his owne cause. 17 The third reason taken of the forme and ende of Baptisme, wherein we make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man doe not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if hee hang vpon some certaine teachers and despise others, he forsaketh Christ: for if he holde Christ his onely master, he woulde heare him teaching by whomsoeuer. 18 He protesteth that hee speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through Gods prouidence, he is voide of all suspicion of chalenging disciples vnto himselfe, and taking them from others. Whereby we may vnderstand, that not the scollers onely, but the teachers also are here reprehended, which gathered them selues flockes apart. ✠ Actes 18.8. 19 The taking away of an obiection: that hee gaue not him selfe to baptize many amongst them: not for the contempt of Baptisme, but because he was chiefly occupied in deliuering the doctrine, and committed them that receiued his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had store. And so he declared sufficiently howe farre he was from all ambition: whereas on the other side, they whome hee reprehendeth, as though they gathered disciples vnto themselues and not vnto Christ, bragged most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized. 20 Nowe hee turneth himselfe to the doctours themselues, which pleased themselues in braue and ambitious eloquence, to the ende that they might drawe more disciples after them. Hee confesseth plainely that hee was vnlike vnto them, opposing grauely as it became an Apostle, his example against their peruerse iudgements. So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the obseruing of a godly simplicitie both in wordes and sentences in teaching of the Gospel. ∴ Chap.2.13. 2.pet.1.16. l With eloquence: which Paul casteth of from him not onely as not necessarie, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship: and yet had Paul his kinde of eloquence, but it was heauenly not of man, and voide of painted wordes. 21 The reason why he vsed not the pompe of wordes, and painted speach: because it was Gods will to bring the worlde to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might vnderstand, that this worke was done of God himselfe without the arte of man. Therefore as saluation is set forth vnto vs in the Gospel, by the crosse of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more farre from life, so God would haue the maner of the preaching of the crosse, most different from those meanes, with which men doe vse to draw and entise other, either to heare or beleeue: therefore it pleased him by a certaine kind of most wise follie, to triumph ouer the most foolish wisdome of the world, as he had said before by Esay, that he would. And hereby we may gather, that both those doctours which were puffed vp with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers, strayed farre away from the ende and marke of their vocation.

m The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kinde of preach which we vse.
✠ Rom.1.16.
n It is that wherein he declareth his marueilous power in sauing his elect, which woulde not so euidently appeare, if it hanged vpon any helpe of man, for so, man might attribute that to himselfe, which is proper onely to the crosse of Christ.

18 For that m preaching of the crosse is to them that perish, foolishnesse: but vnto vs, which are saued, it is the ✠ n power of God.
19 22 For it is written, ✠ I will destroy the wisedome of the wise, and will cast away the vnderstanding of the prudent.
20 Where is the wise? where is the o Scribe?
where is the p disputer of this worlde? hath not God made the wisedome of this worlde foolish-nesse?
21 23 For seeing the q worlde by wisedome knewe not God in the r wisedome of GOD, 24 it pleased God by the s foolishnesse of preaching to saue them that beleeue: 22 ∵ 25 Seeing also that the Iewes require a signe, and the Grecians seeke after wisdome.
23 But wee preach Christ crucified: vnto the Iewes, euen a stumbling blocke, and vnto the Grecians, foolishnesse: 24 But vnto them which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wisedome of God.
25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men, and the weakenesse of God is stronger then men.
26 26 For brethren, you see your t calling, howe that not many wise men u after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called.
27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the worlde to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weake things of the world, to confound the mightie things, 28 And vile things of the worlde and thinges which are despised, hath God chosen, and thinges which x are not, to bring to y nought things that are,
29 That no z flesh shoulde reioyce in his presence.
30 But ye are a of him in Christ Iesus, 27 who of God is made vnto vs wisedome and righteous-nesse, and sanctification, and redemption, 31 That, according as it is written, ✠ b Hee that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

z Flesh, is oft as we see, taken for the whole man: and he vseth this word Flesh, very fitly, to set the weake and miserable condition of man, & the maiestie of God, one against the other.

22 The Apostle prooueth, that this ought not onely not to seeme strange, seeing that it was foretolde so long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to punish the pride of the worlde in such sort, which so pleaseth it selfe in it owne wisedome: and therefore that that is vaine, yea a thing of nothing, and such as God reiecteth as vnprofitable, which they so carefully laboured for, and made so great accompt of. ✠ Esai.29.14. o Where art thou, O thou learned fellowe, and thou that spendest thy dayes in turning thy bookes? p Thou that spendest all thy time in seeking out the secrete things of this worlde, and in expounding all hard questions: and thus triumpheth he against all the men of this worlde, for there was not one of them that coulde so much as dreame vpon this secrete and hidden mysterie.
23 He sheweth that the pride of men was worthily punished of God, because they woulde not beholde God, as meete was they shoulde, in the most cleare glasse of the wisedome of the worlde, which is the workemanship of the worlde. q By the worlde hee meaneth all men which are not borne a newe, but remaine as they were, when they were first borne. r In the workemanship of this worlde, which hath the marueilous wisedome of God ingraued in it, so that euery man may beholde it.
24 The goodnesse of God is wonderfull, for while hee goeth about to punish the pride of the worlde, hee is very prouident and carefull for the saluation of it, and teacheth men to become fooles, that they may be wise to God. s So hee calleth the preaching of the Gospell as the enemies supposed it: but in the meane season hee taunteth them very sharpely, who had rather charge God with follie, then acknowledge their owne, and craue pardon for it. ∵ Matth.12.38. 25 A declaration of that which he saide: that the preaching of the Gospell, is foolish. It is foolish saith hee, to them whom God hath not indued with newe light, that is to say, to all men, being considered in themselues: for the Iewes require miracles, and the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehende by their witte and wisedome: and therefore they doe not onely not beleeue the Gospell, but also they mocke at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great vertue and wisedome of God, but such as those onely which are called doe perceiue: God shewing most plainely, that euen then when madde men thinke him most foolish, he is farre wiser then they are: and that he surmounteth all their might and power, when hee vseth most vile and abiect things, as it hath appeared in the fruite of the preaching of the Gospell. 26 A confirmation taken of those thinges which came to passe at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the basest and common people, in so much that the philosophers of Greece were driuen to shame when they sawe that they coulde doe nothing with their wisedome and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom notwithstanding they called Idiots and vnlearned. And herewithall doeth hee beate downe their pride: for God did not preferre them before those noble and wise men because they shoulde be proude, but that they might be constrained euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lorde, by whose mercie, although they were the most abiects of all, they had obteined in Christ, both this wisedome, and all things necessarie to saluation. t What way the Lorde hath taken in calling you. u After that kinde of wisedome which men make accompt of, as though there were none els: who because they are carnall, knowe not spirituall wisedome. x Which in mans iudgement are almost nothing. y To shewe that they are vaine and vnprofitable, and nothing worth, see Romanes 3.31.
a Whom hee cast downe before, nowe hee lifteth vp, yea, higher then all men: yet so, that hee sheweth them that all their worthinesse is without themselues, that is, standeth in Christ, and that of God. 27 He teacheth that especially and aboue all things, the Gospell ought not to be contemned, seeing it conteineth the chiefest things that are to be desired, to witte, true wisedome, the true way to obteine righteousnesse, the true way to liue honestly and godly, the true deliuerance from all miseries and calamities. ✠ Iere.9.24. 2.Cor.10.17. b Let him yet [illegible] to God and giue him thankes: and so by this place is mans free will beaten downe, which the Papistes so dreame of.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee setteth downe a platforme of his preaching, 4 which was base in respect of mans wisedome, 7. 13 but noble in respect of the spirituall power and efficacie, 14 and so concludeth that flesh and blood cannot rightly iudge thereof.

AND 1 I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with ✠ excellencie of wordes, or of wisedome, shewing vnto you the a testimonie
of God.
2 For I b esteemed not to knowe any thing
among you, saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified.
3 ∵ And I was among you in c weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.
4 Neither stoode my worde, and my preaching in the ✠ entising speach of mans wisedome, 2 but in plaine d euidence of the Spirite and of power,
5 3 That your faith should not be in the wise-dome of men, but in the power of God.
6 4 And wee speake wisedome among them that are e perfect: not the wisedome of this world, neither of the f princes of this world, which come to nought.
7 5 But wee speake the wisedome of God in a g mysterie, euen the hid wisdome, 6 which God had determined before the world, vnto our glory.
8 7 Which none of the princes of this worlde hath knowen: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the h Lord of glory.

1 He returneth to the 17. verse of the former chapter, that is to say, to his owne example: confessing that hee vsed amongst them [illegible]

[illegible] excellencie of wordes, and therefore ioyneth with it feare and trembling [illegible] the companions of true modestie, not such feare and trembling as [illegible] but such as are contrary to vanitie and pride. ✠ Chapter 1.17. [illegible]
2 He turneth that nowe to the commendation of his ministerie, which [illegible] graunted to his aduersaries: for his vertue and power which [illegible] enough, was so much the more excellent, because it had no [illegible] ned with it. d By plaine euidence hee meaneth such a proofe, [illegible] taine and necessarie reasons. 3 And hee telleth the Corinthians, [illegible] for their great profite, because they might thereby knowe manifestly [illegible] Gospell was from heauen. Therefore hee priuily rebuketh them, [illegible] in seeking vaine ostentation, they willingly depriued themselues [illegible] test helpe of their faith. 4 Another argument taken of the [illegible] thing, that is, of the Gospell, which is true wisedome, but knowen to them onely which are desirous of perfection: and is vnsauerie to them which otherwise excell in the worlde, but yet vainely and fraillie. e Those are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection alreadie, but such as tende to it, as Philippians 3.15. so that perfect, is set against weake. f They that are wiser, richer, or mightier, then other men are. 5 Hee sheweth the cause why this wisedome cannot bee perceiued of those excellent worldly wittes: to witte, because in deede it is so deepe, that they cannot attaine vnto it. g Which men coulde not so much as dreame of. 6 Hee taketh away an obiection: If it bee so harde, when and howe is it knowen? God sayeth he, determined with himselfe from the beginning, that which his purpose was to bring foorth at this time out of his secretes, for the saluation of men. 7 Hee taketh away another obiection: why then, howe commeth it to passe, that this wisedome was so reiected of men of highest authoritie, that they crucified Christ himselfe? Paul answereth: because they knewe not Christ such as hee was. h That mightie God, full of true maiestie and glory: Nowe this place hath in it a most euident proofe of the Diuinitie of Christ, and of his ioyning of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhoode alone, is vouched of the Godhead ioyned with the manhoode: which kinde of speach, is called of the olde fathers, a making common of things belonging to some one, with other to whom they doe not belong.

9 But

8 An other obiection: But howe could it be that those wittie men couldnot perceiue this wisdome? Paul answereth: Because we preach those things which passe all mans vnderstanding.
✠ Esa.64.4.
i Man cannot so much as thinke of them, much lesse conceiue them with his senses.
9 A question: If it surmount the capacitie of men, how can it be vnderstood of any man, or how can you declare and preach it? by a peculiar lightning by Gods Spirite, wherewith whosoeuer is inspired, he can enter euen [illegible] the very se[illegible] of God.
[illegible]

9 8 But as it is written, ✠ The things which eye hath not seene, neither eare hath heard, neither came into i mans heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that loue him.
10 9 But God hath reueiled them vnto vs by his Spirit: for the spirit k searcheth all things, yea, the deepe things of God.
11 10 For what man knoweth the things of a man, saue the l spirite of a man, which is in him?
euen so the things of God knoweth no man, but the spirit of God.
12 Nowe we haue receiued not the m spirit of the worlde, but the Spirit, which is of God, 11 that we might n knowe the things that are giuen to vs
of God.
13 12 Which things also wee speake, not in the ✠ wordes which mans wisedome teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth, o comparing spirituall things with spirituall things.
14 13 But the p naturall man perceiueth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foo-lishnesse vnto him: neither can he knowe them, because they are q spiritually discerned.
15 14 But he that is spirituall, r discerneth all things: yet 15 he himselfe is iudged of s no man.
16 ∵ 16 For who hath knowen the minde of the Lorde, that hee might t instruct him? But wee haue the u minde of Christ.

[illegible] peareth into it. 10 He setteth that foorth by a similitude, which he [illegible] inspiration of the Spirite. As the force of mans wit searcheth out things [illegible] to man, so doeth our minde by that power of the holy Ghost, vnderstand [illegible] things. l The minde of man which is indued with the ablenesse to vnder-[illegible] m The Spirite which wee haue receiued, doeth not teache vs things [illegible] lifteth vs vp to God: and this place teacheth vs against the Papistes, [illegible] whence it commeth, and what force it is of. 11 That which hee [illegible] he restraineth nowe to those things which God hath opened vnto [illegible] in Christ: lest that any man shoulde separate the Spirite from the [illegible] worde and Christ: or should thinke that those fantasticall men are [illegible] Spirit of God, which wandring besides the worde, thrust vpon vs [illegible] imaginations for the secretes of God. n This worde (knowe) is taken [illegible] sense, for true knowledge, which the Spirite of God worketh in vs. [illegible] he returneth to his purpose, and concludeth the argument which he be-[illegible] is thus: the wordes must be applied to the matter, and the matter [illegible] with wordes which are meete and conuenient for it: nowe this [illegible] spirituall and not of man, and therefore it must be deliuered by a spi-[illegible] of teaching, and not by entising wordes of mans eloquence, that the [illegible] wonderfull maiestie of the holy Ghost may therein appeare. ✠ Chap. [illegible] 1.16. o Applying the wordes vnto the matter, to wit, that as we teache [illegible] so must our kinde of teaching be spirituall. 13 Againe hee preuen-[illegible] or stumbling blocke: Howe commeth it to passe that so fewe alowe [illegible]? This is not to be marueiled at, saith the Apostle, seeing that men in [illegible] powers (as they termed them) are not indued with that facultie where-[illegible] things are discerned (which facultie commeth another way) and there-[illegible] spirituall wisedome as follie: and it is as if he should say, It is no [illegible] blind men cannot iudge of colours, seeing that they lacke the light of [illegible] therefore light is to them as darkenes. p The man that hath no fur-[illegible] of vnderstanding, then that which he brought with him, euen from his mothers [illegible] defineth it, Jude 19. q By the vertue of the holy Ghost. 14 He am-[illegible] the matter by contraries. r Vnderstandeth and discerneth. 15 The wis-[illegible] of the flesh, saith Paul, determineth nothing certainely, no not in it owne af-[illegible], much lesse can it discerne strange, that is, spirituall things. But the Spirite of God wherewith spiritual men are indued, can be deceiued by no meanes, and there-[illegible] be reprooued of no man. s Of no man: for when the Prophets are iudged of the Prophets, it is the Spirite that iudgeth, and not the man. ∵ Esai 40.13, romanes 11.34.
16 A reason of the former saying: for hee is called spirituall, which hath learned that by the vertue of the Spirite, which Christ hath taught vs. Nowe if that which wee haue learned of that Master, could be reprooued of any man, he must needes be wiser then God: whereupon it followeth, that they are not onely foolish, but also wicked, which thinke that they can deuise some thing that is either more perfect, or that they can teache the wisedome of God a better way then they knewe or taught, which vndoubtedly were indued with Gods Spirite. t Lay his head to his, and teache him what hee shoulde doe. u Wee are indued with the Spirite of Christ, who [illegible] vnto vs those secretes, which by all other meanes are vnsearcheable, and also [illegible] whatsoeuer.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee yeeldeth a reason why hee preached small matters vnto them: 4 Hee sheweth howe they ought to esteeme of ministers: 6 The ministers office, 10 A true forme of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawne away to prophane things, 18 through the proud wisedome of the flesh.

1 Hauing declared the worthinesse of heauenly wisdom, and of the Gospel, & hauing generally condemned the blindnes of mans minde, nowe at length he applieth it particularly to the Corinthians, calling them carnall, that is, such in whom as yet the flesh preuaileth against the Spirite. And he bringeth a double testimonie of it: first, for that he had proued them to be such, in so much that he dealt with them no otherwise then with ignorant men, and such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godlinesse, and secondly, because they shewed in deede by these dissensions, which sprang vp by reason of the ignorance of the vertue of the Spirit, and heauenly wisdome, that they had profited very litle or nothing.

AND 1 I could not speake vnto you, brethren, as vnto spirituall men, but as vnto a carnall, euen as vnto babes in Christ.
2 I gaue you milke to drinke, and not b meat:
for ye were not yet c able to beare it, neither yet nowe are ye able.
3 For ye are yet carnall: for whereas there is among you enuying, and strife, and diuisions, are ye not carnall, and walke as d men?
4 For when one sayeth, I am Pauls, and another, I am Apollos, are ye not carnall?
5 2 Who is Paul then? and who is Apollos, but the ministers by whom yee beleeued, and as the Lord gaue to euery man?
6 3 I haue planted, Apollos watred, but God gaue the increase.
7 So then, neither is hee that planteth any thing, neither he that watreth, but God that giueth the increase.
8 And he that planteth, and he that watreth, are one, ✠ and euery man shall receiue his wages,
according to his labour.
9 For wee together are Gods e labourers: yee are Gods husbandrie, and Gods building.
10 According to the grace of God giuen to me, as a skilfull master builder, I haue laide the foundation, & another buildeth thereon: 4 but let euery man take heede howe he buildeth vpon it.
11 5 For other foundation can no man laie, then that which is laied, which is Iesus Christ.
12 6 And if any man builde on this founda-

a He calleth them carnall, which are as yet ignorant, and therefore to expresse it the better, he termeth them babes. b Substantiall meate, or strong meate. c To be fed by me with substantiall meate: therefore as the Corinthians grewe vp in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching, first with milke, then with strong meate, which difference was onely but in the maner of teaching. d By the square and compasse of mans wit and iudgement. 2 After that he hath sufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers, and their foolish esteemers, now he sheweth how the true ministers are to be esteemed, that wee attribute not vnto them, more or lesse then we ought to doe. Therefore he teacheth vs, that they are they by whom wee are brought to faith and saluation, but yet as the ministers of God, & such as do nothing of themselues, but God so working by them as it pleaseth him to furnish them with his giftes. Therefore we haue not to marke or consider what minister it is that speaketh, but what is spoken: and wee must depende onely vpon him which speaketh by his seruaunts. 3 Hee beautifieth the former sentence, with two similitudes: first comparing the companie of the faithfull, to a fielde which God maketh fruitfull, when it is sowed and watred through the labour of his seruaunts: next, by comparing it to an house, which in deede the Lorde buildeth, but by the handes of his workemen, some of whom, he vseth in laying the foundation, others in building of it vp. Nowe, both these similitudes tende to this purpose, to shewe that all things are wholy accomplished by Gods onely authoritie and might, so that wee must onely haue an eye to him. Moreouer, although that God vseth some in the better part of the woorke, wee must not therefore contemne other, in respect of them, and much lesse may we deuide or set them apart, (as these factious men did) seeing that all of them labour in Gods businesse, and in such sort, that they serue to finish one selfe same worke, although by a diuers maner of woorking, in so much that they neede one anothers helpe. ✠ Psal. 62.12. galat.6.5. e Seruing vnder him: Nowe they which serue vnder an other, doe nothing of their owne strength, but as it is giuen them by grace, which grace maketh them fit to that seruice. Looke chap.15.10. & 2.cor.3.6. and all the increase that commeth by their labour, doeth so proceede from God, that no part of the praise of it may be giuen to the vnder seruaunts. 4 Nowe hee speaketh to the teachers themselues, which succeeded him in the Church of Corinth, and in their person, to all that were after or shalbe Pastours of Congregations, seeing that they succeede into the labour of the Apostles, which were planters and chiefe builders. Therefore hee warneth them first, that they perswade not themselues that they may builde after their owne fantasie, that is, that they may propounde and set foorth any thing in the Church, either in matter, or in kinde of teaching, different from the Apostles which were the chiefe builders. 5 Moreouer, he sheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Iesus, from which they may not turne away one iote in the building vp of this building. 6 Thirdly hee sheweth, that they must take heede that the vpper part of the building be answerable to the foundation, that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoeuer perteineth to the edifying of the flocke, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in matter as in forme: which doctrine is compared to golde, siluer, and precious stones: of which matter, Esaias also and Iohn in the Reuelation builde the heauenly citie. And to these are opposite, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vaine questions or decrees: and besides to be short, all that kinde of teaching which serueth to ostentation. For false doctrines, whereof he speaketh not here, are not saide properly to be built vpon this foundation, vnlesse peraduenture in shewe onely.

tion,

7 He testifieth, as in deed the trueth is, that all are not good builders, no not some of them which stand vpon this one and onely foundation: but howsoeuer this worke of euill builders, saith he, stand for a season, yet shall it not alwayes deceiue, because that the light of the trueth appearing at length as day shal dissolue this darkenes, and shewe what it is. And as that stuffe is tryed by the fire, whether it be good or not, so wil God in his time by the touch of his Spirit and worde trie all buildings, and so shal it come to passe, that such as be found pure and sound, shall still continue so, to the praise of the workeman: but they that are otherwise, shall be consumed and vanish away, and so shall the workeman be frustrate of the hope of his labour, which pleased himselfe in a thing of nought. 8 Hee taketh not away hope of saluation from the vnskilfull and foolish builders, which hold fast the foundation, of which sort were those Rhetoricians rather then pastours of Corinth: but hee addeth an exception, that they must notwithstanding suffer this tryall of their worke, and also abide the losse of their vaine labours. ✠Chap.6.19. 2.cor.6.16. 9 Continuing still in the metaphore of a building, hee teacheth vs that this ambition is not only vaine, but also sacrilegious: For he saith that the Church is as it were the temple of God, which God hath as it were consecrated vnto himselfe by his Spirite. Then turning himselfe to these ambitious men, hee sheweth that they prophane the temple of God, because those vaine artes wherein they please themselues so much, are as hee teacheth, so many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, and the puritie of the Church. Which wickednesse shall not be suffered vnpunished. f Defileth it and maketh it vncleane, being holy: and surely they doe defile it, by Paul his iudgement, which by fleshly eloquence defile the puritie of the Gospel. 10 He concludeth by the contrary, that they professe pure wisdome in the Church of God which refuse and cast away all those vanities of men: and if they bee mocked of the worlde, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisdome of God, and as hee will haue them to bee wise. ✠Iob.5.13. g Be they neuer so craftie, yet the Lord will take them when he shall discouer their trecherie. ∴Psal.44.11. 11 He returneth to the proposition of the 2. verse, first warning the hearers, that henceforwarde they esteeme not as Lordes, those whom God hath appointed to bee ministers and not Lordes of their saluation: which thing they doe, that depende vpon men, and not vpon God that speaketh by them. h Please himselfe. i Helpes, appointed for your benefite. 12 He passeth from the persons, to the things themselues, that his argument may be more forcible: yea hee ascendeth from Christ to the Father, to shewe that wee rest our selues no not in Christ himselfe, in that that hee is man, but because hee carieth vs vp euen to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of himselfe euery where, that hee was sent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himselfe.

tion, golde, siluer, precious stones, timber, haye, or stubble,

13 7 Euery mans worke shalbe made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shalbe reueiled by the fire: and the fire shall trie euery mans worke of what sort it is.

14 If any mans worke, that hee hath built vpon, abide, he shall receiue wages.

15 If any mans worke burne, hee shall lose, but 8 he shalbe saued himselfe: neuerthelesse yet as it were by the fire.

16 ✠ 9 Knowe ye not that yee are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man [f] destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 10 Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man among you seeme to be wise in this world, let him be a foole, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisdome of this worlde is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, ✠ He [g] catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

20 ∴ And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughtes of the wise be vaine.

21 11 Therefore let no man [h] reioyce in men: for all things are [i] yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the 12 world, or life, or death: whether they bee things present, or things to come, euen all are yours, 23 And ye Christes, and Christ Gods.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, 7 hee sheweth that humilitie ought rather to bee an honour then a shame vnto him. 9 He bringeth in proofe, whereby it may euidently appeare, 10 that he neither had care of glorie, 11 nor of his bellie. 17 He commendeth Timothie.

1 He concludeth the duetie of the hearers towardes their ministers: that they esteeme them not as Lordes, and yet notwithstanding that they giue eare vnto them, as to them that are sent from Christ, sent I say to this end and purpose, that they may receiue as it were at their hands, the treasure of saluation which is drawen out of the secrets of God. a Euery man. 2 Last of all, hee warneth the ministers, that they also behaue themselues not as Lordes, but as faithfull seruants, because they must render an accompt of their stewardship vnto God.

Let 1 [a] a man so thinke of vs, as of the ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God:

2 2 And as for the rest, it is required of the disposers, that euery man be found faithfull.

3 3 As touching me, I passe very litle to bee iudged of you, 4 or of mans' [b] iudgement: no, 5 I iudge not mine owne selfe.

4 For I knowe nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but hee that iudgeth me, is the [c] Lord.

5 6 Therefore ✠ iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lorde come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shall euery man haue [d] praise of God.

6 7 Nowe these things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto mine owne selfe and Apollos, for your sakes, that yee might learne [e] by vs, that no man presume aboue that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause.

7 8 For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not receiued? if thou hast receiued it, why reioycest thou, as though [f] thou haddest not receiued it?

8 9 Nowe ye are full: nowe ye are made rich: ye reigne as kings without vs, and would to God ye did reigne, that we also might reigne with you.

9 For I thinke that God hath set forth vs the last Apostles, as men appointed to death: for wee are made a [g] gasing stocke vnto the worlde, and to the Angels, and to men.

10 We are fooles for Christes sake, and ye are wise in Christ: we are weake, and ye are strong: ye are honourable, and we are despised.

11 Vnto this houre wee both hunger, & thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place, 12 ✠ And labour, working with our owne handes: we are reuiled, and yet we blesse: we are persecuted, and suffer it.

13 ∴ We are euill spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the [h] filth of the world, the offskowring of all things, vnto this time.

14 10 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued children I admonish you.

15 For though ye haue tenne thousand instru-

3 Because in reprehending others, he set himselfe for an example, he vseth a preoccupation or preuenting of an obiection, and vsing the grauitie of an Apostle, he sheweth that he careth not for the contrary iudgements that they haue of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person, because he did not set foorth himselfe as they did. And he bringeth good reasons why he was nothing moued with the iudgements which they had of him.

my selfe: for I knowe that I am not vnblameable, all this notwith[illegible] lesse therefore shoulde I please my selfe as you doe. c I permit [illegible] Lordes iudgement. 6 A thirde reason proceeding of a conclusi[illegible] out of the former reasons. It is Gods office to esteeme euery ma[illegible] his value, because hee knoweth the secretes of the heart, which [illegible] part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement perteineth not to y[illegible] 7.1. d One coulde not be praised aboue the rest, but the other [illegible] and he mentioneth praise rather then dispraise, for that the beginning [illegible] this that they gaue more to some men, then meete was. 7 Hauing [illegible] iudgement, hee setteth foorth himselfe againe as a singular example of [illegible] one which concealing in this Epistle those factious teachers names, do[illegible] to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place, and tooke vpon [illegible] as it were their shame: so farre was he from preferring him selfe to any. e By our example, which chose rather to take other mens faultes vpon vs, then to carpe any by name. 8 Hee sheweth a good meanes to bridle pride: first if thou consider howe rightly thou exemptest thy selfe out of the nomber of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou haue something more then other men haue, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifulnesse. And what wise man is hee that will bragge of an others goodnesse, and that against God? f There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthie of commendation: but all that wee haue, wee haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and halfe Pelagians will not confesse. 9 Hee descendeth to a most graue mocke, to cause those ambitious men to blush euen against their willes. g Hee that will take aright viewe howe like Paul and the Pope are, who kingly boasteth that hee is his successour, let him compare the delicates of the Popish court, with Saint Pauls state as wee see is here. ✠Actes 20.34. 1.thessa.2.9. 2.thessa.3.8. ∴Matth.5.44. luke 23.34. actes 7.60. h Such as by sweeping is gathered together. 10 Moderating the sharpenesse of his mocke, hee putteth them in minde to remember of whome they were begotten in Christ, and that they shoulde not doubt to followe him for an example, although hee seeme vile according to the outward shewe in respect of others, yet mightie by the efficacie of Gods Spirit, as they had had tryall of in themselues.

i What way and rule I followe euery where in teaching the Churches. 11 Last of all he descendeth also to Apostolike threatnings, but yet chiding them as a father, least by their disorder he be constrained to come to punish some amongst them. ✚ Actes 19.21. Iames 4.15. k By wordes hee meaneth their painted and coloured kind of eloquence, against which he setteth the vertue of the Spirit. 12 A passing ouer to an other part of this Epistle, wherein hee reprehendeth most sharpely a very haynous offence, shewing the vse of ecclesiasticall correction. l Meekely affected towardes you.

ctours in Christ, yet haue ye not many fathers: for in Christ Iesus I haue begotten you through the Gospel.

16 Wherefore, I pray you bee ye folowers of me.

17 For this cause haue I sent vnto you Timo-theus, which is my beloued sonne, and faithfull in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my i wayes in Christ as I teache euery where in euery Church.

18 11 Some are puffed vp as though I woulde not come vnto you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, ✚ if the Lorde will, and will knowe, not the k wordes of them which are puffed vp, but the power.

20 For the kingdome of God is not in worde, but in power.

21 12 What will ye? shall I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in the l spirite of meekenesse?

CHAP. V.

1 That they haue winked at him who committed incest with his mother in Lawe, 2. 6 hee sheweth shoulde cause them rather to bee ashamed, then to reioyce: 10 Such kinde of wickednesse is to bee punished with excommunication, 12 lest other be infected with it.

IT 1 is heard certainely that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should haue his fathers wife.

2 2 And ye are puffed vp and haue not rather sorowed, that he which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 3 For I verely as absent in bodie, but present in a spirit, haue determined already as though I were present, that hee that hath thus done this thing,

4 When yee are gathered together, and my spirit, in the b Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, 4 by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ,

5 5 Bee c deliuered vnto Satan, for the 6 destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saued in the day of the Lord Iesus,

6 7 Your reioycing d is not good: knowe yee not that a litle leauen, leaueneth ẏ whole lumpe?

7 8 Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that ye may be a newe e lumpe, as yee are vnleauened:
for Christ our f Passeouer is sacrificed for vs.

8 Therefore let vs keepe the g feast, not with olde leauen, neither in the leauen of maliciousnes and wickednesse: but with the vnleauened bread of synceritie and trueth.

9 9 I wrote vnto you in an Epistle, that yee should not companie together with fornicatours,

10 And not h altogether with the fornicatours of this world, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must goe out of the world.

11 But nowe I haue written vnto you, that ye companie not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicatour, or couetous, or an idolater, or a rayler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eate not.

12 10 For what haue I to doe, to iudge them also which are without? doe yee not judge them that are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without.
Put away therefore from among your selues that wicked man.

[illegible] ... in heauen, wherein Christ himselfe sitteth as Iudge. 5 The excommunicate is deliuered to the power of Satan, in that, that hee is cast out of the house of God. c What it is to bee deliuered to Satan, the Lorde himselfe declareth when hee sayeth, Let him bee vnto thee as an Heathen and Publicane, Matth. 18.17. that is to say, to be disfranchised and put out of the right and libertie of the citie of Christ, which is the Church, without which Satan is lord and master. 6 The ende of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that hee should vtterly perish, but that hee may be saued, to wit, that by this meanes his flesh may be tamed, that hee may learne to liue to the Spirit. 7 An other ende of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therefore it must of necessitie be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other. d Is naught, and not grounded vpon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickednesse founde amongst you. 8 By alluding to the ceremonie of the Passeouer, hee exhorteth them to cast out that vncleane person from amongst them. In times past, saith he, it was not lawfull for them which did celebrate the Passeouer, to eate leauened bread: Insomuch that hee was holden as vncleane and vnworthy to eate the Passeouer, whosoeuer had but tasted of leauen. Now all our whole life must be as it were the feast of vnleauened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is slaine, must cast out both of themselues, and also out of their houses and Congregations all impuritie. e By lumpe hee meaneth the whole body of the Church, euery member whereof must bee vnleauened bread, that is, be renewed in spirite, by plucking away the olde corruption. f The Lambe of our Passeouer. g Let vs leade our whole life, as it were a continuall feast, honestly, and vprightly.

9 Nowe he speaketh more generally: and that which he spake before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it perteineth to others, which are knowen to bee wicked, and such as through their naughtie life are a slaunder to the Church, which ought also by lawfull order be cast out of the communitie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meate, eyther he meaneth those feastes of loue whereat the Supper of the Lorde was receiued, or else their common vsage and maner of life which is rightly to be taken, lest any man shoulde thinke, that eyther matrimonie were broken by excommunication, or such dueties hindered and cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subiectes to their rulers, seruants to their masters, and neighbour to neighbour to winne one an other vnto God. h If you shoulde vtterly absteine from such mens companie, you should goe out of the world: therefore I speake of them which are in the very bosome of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whome you must labour by all meanes possible, to bring them to Christ. 10 Such as are false brethren, ought to bee cast out of the Congregation: as for them which are without they must be left to the iudgement of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee inueigheth against their contentions in lawe matters, 6 wherewith they vexed one another vnder iudges that were infidels, to the reproch of the Gospel, 9 and then sharpely threatneth fornicatours.

DAre 1 a any of you, hauing businesse against an other, be iudged b vnder the vniust, 2 and not vnder the Saintes?

2 3 Doe ye not knowe, that the Saintes shall iudge the worlde? If the worlde then shalbe iudged by you, are yee vnworthie to iudge the smallest matters?

3 Knowe ye not that we shall iudge the Angels? howe much more, things that perteine to this life?

4 4 If then yee haue c iudgements of things perteining to this life, set vp them which are d least esteemed in the Church.

5 5 I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no not one, that can iudge betweene his brethren?

6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that vnder the infidels.

7 6 Nowe therefore there is altogether

1 The third question is of ciuill iudgements. Whether it be lawfull for one faithfull to drawe another faithful before the iudgement seate of an infidell? He answereth that it is not lawfull, for offence sake, for it is not euill of it selfe. a As if he said, Are you become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospell a laughing stocke to prophane men? b Before the vniust. 2 He addeth that hee doeth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to lawe with another if neede so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. 3 He gathereth by a comparison that the faithfull cannot seeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie doue to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe will make the Saints iudges of the worlde and of the deuils, with his sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge these light and small causes which may be by equitie, and good conscience determined. 4 The conclusion, wherein he prescribeth a remedy for this mischiefe: to wit, if they ende their priuate affaires betwixt themselues by chosen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, saith he, is sufficient. Therefore he condemneth not iudgement seates, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the Magistrate: for he speaketh not of iudgements, which are practised betweene the faithfull and the infidels, neither of publike iudgements, but of controuersies which may bee ended by priuate arbiters. c Courts and places of iudgement. d Euen the most abiect among you. 5 Hee applieth the generall proposition to a particular, alwayes calling them backe to this, to take away from them that false opinion of their own excellencie, from whence all these mischiefes sprang. 6 Nowe hee goeth further also, and although by granting them priuate arbiters out of the congregation of the faithfull, hee doe not simplie condemne, but rather establish priuate iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet he sheweth that if they were such as they ought to bee, and as it were to bee wished, they shoulde not neede to vse that remedie neither.

e infirmitie

e infirmitie in you,in that ye goe to lawe one with another? 7 ✣ why rather suffer ye not wrong? why rather susteine ye not harme?
8 ✣ Nay, ye your selues doe wrong, and doe harme,and that to your brethren.
9 Knowe ye not that the vnrighteous shal not inherite the kingdome of God? 8 Be not deceiued:
neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers,
nor wantons,nor buggerers, 10 Nor theeues,nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shal inherite the kingdome of God.
11 And such were ∵ some of you: but ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are iustified in the f Name of the Lord Iesus,and by the Spirite of our God.
12 ¶ ✕ 9 g All things are lawfull vnto me, but all things are not profitable. I may doe all things, but I will not be brought vnder the h power of
any thing.
13 10 Meates are ordeined for the bellie,and the bellie for the meates: but God shall destroy both it,and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord,and the Lord for the body.
14 And God hath also raised vp the Lord, and ✱ shall raise vs vp by his power.
15 11 Knowe ye not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ,and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.
16 12 Doe ye not knowe, that hee which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? * for i two,sayeth he,shalbe one flesh.
17 But he that is ioyned vnto the Lorde is one spirite.

e A weakenesse of minde which is seldom be in them, that suffer themselues to be ouercome of their lustes, and it is a fault that swarueth greatly from temperancie and moderation: so that he nippeth them which coulde not put vp an iniurie done vnto them.

7 This perteineth chiefly to ȳ other part of the reprehension, to wit, that they went to lawe euen vnder infidels, whereas they should rather haue suffered any losse, then to haue giuen that offence. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather depart from our right,then trie the vttermost of the lawe hastily,and vpon an affection to reuenge an iniurie.But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he saith that they must repent, vnlesse they will be shut out of the inheritance of God.

✣ Mat.5.39. luke 6.29. rom.12.19. ✣ 1.Thess.4.6. 8 Nowe he prepareth himselfe to passe ouer to the fourth treatise of this Epistle, which concerneth matters indifferent: debating this matter first, howe men may well vse women or not: which question hath three branches, fornication, marrimonie, and a single life. As for fornication, he vtterly condemneth it. And marriage hee commaundeth to some, as a good and necessarie remedie for them, to other hee leaueth it free: And other some hee dissuadeth from it, not as vnlawfull, but as discommodious, and that not without exception. As for singlenes of life (vnder which also I comprehend virginitie) he inioyneth it to no man; yet he persuadeth men vnto it,but not for it selfe,but for another respect, neither all men, nor without exception. And being about to speake against fornication,he beginneth with a generall reprehension of those vices,wherewith that riche and riotous citie most abounded: warning and teaching them earnestly, that repentance is vnseparably ioyned with forgiuenesse of sinnes, and sanctification with iustification. ∵ Tit.3.3. f In Iesus. ✕ Chap.10.23. 9 Secondly,he sheweth that the Corinthians doe simply offend in matters indifferent: First, because they abused them: next, because they vsed indifferent things, without any discretion, seeing the vse of them ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and that he doeth not vse them aright, which immoderately abuseth them, and so becommeth a slaue vnto them. g Whatsoeuer: but this generall worde must bee restrained to things that are indifferent. h He is in subiection to things that are indifferent, whatsoeuer he be that thinketh he may not be without them, which is a flattering kinde of slauerie vnder a colour of libertie, which seaseth vpon such men. 10 Secondarily, because they counted many things for indifferent, which were of themselues vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbred amongst mere naturall and lawfull desires, as well as meate and drinke: Therefore the Apostle sheweth, that they are vtterly vnlike: for meates saith he, were made for the necessarie vse of mans life which is not perpetuall.For both meates,and all this maner of nourishing,are quickly abolished. But we must not so thinke of the vncleannes of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrary side is ordeined to purenes, as appeareth by this,that it is consecrated to Christ, euen as Christ also is giuen vs of his father,to quicken our bodies with that vertue, wherewith hee also rose againe. ✱ Rom.6.5. 11 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it. 12 A proofe of the same argument: A harlot and Christ are cleane contrary, so are the flesh and the Spirite: therefore he that is one with an harlot, (which is done by carnall copulation of their bodies) cannot be one with Christ, which vnitie is pure and spirituall. * Genesis 2.24. matth.19.5. marke 10.8 ephesians 5.31. i Moses doeth not speake these wordes of fornication, but of marriage: but seeing that fornication is the corrupting of marriage, and both of them is a carnall and fleshly copulation, wee cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimonie. Againe, Moses hath not this worde (Two) but it is very well expressed both here and in Matthewe 19.5. because he speaketh onely but of man and wife: whereupon the opinion of them that teach it to be lawfull to haue many wiues, is beaten downe: for he that companieth with many, is sundred as it were into many parties.

18 13 Flee fornication: euery sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that commit-teth fornication,sinneth against his owne body.
19 14 Knowe ye not, that ✣ your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and 15 ye are not your owne.
20 ✣ For ye are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirite: for they are Gods.

CHAP. VII.

1 Entreating here of marriage, 4 which is a remedie against fornication, 10 and may not be broken, 18. 20 he willeth euery man to liue contented with his lotte. 25 He sheweth what the ende of virginitie should be, 35 and who ought to marrie.

NOwe 1 concerning the things a whereof yee wrote vnto me, It were b good for a man not to touche a woman.
2 Neuertheles, to auoide fornication, let eue-ry man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.
3 ∵ 2 Let the husband giue vnto the wife c due beneuolence, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.
4 3 The wife hath not the power of her owne body,but the husband: & likewise also the husband hath not ȳ power of his owne body,but the wife.
5 Defraud not one another, 4 except it be with consent for a time, that ye may d giue your selues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.
6 5 But I speake this by permision, not by commandement.
7 For I e would that all men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.
8 6 Therefore I say vnto the f vnmaried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.
9 But if they cannot abstaine,let them marrie:
for it is better to marrie then to g burne.
10 ✕ 7 And vnto the maried,I cōmand,not I,but the Lord, Let not ȳ wife depart from her husband.
11 But and if she depart, let her remaine vnma-ried, or be reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.
12 8 But to ȳ remnant I speake, & not ȳ Lord, If any brother haue a wife, ȳ beleeueth not, if she be content to dwel ẘ him, let him not forsake her.
13 And the woman which hath an husbande that beleeueth not, if he be content to dwell with her,let her not forsake him.

13 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed,because it defileth the body with a peculiar kind of filthines. 14 The third argument: Because a fornicatour is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God. ✣ Chap.3.17. 2.corinth.6.16. 15 The fourth argument: Because wee are not our owne men, to giue our selues to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the ende that both in body and soule, wee should serue to his glorie. ✣ Chap.7.23. 1.pet.1.18.

1 Hee teacheth concerning marriage,that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is necessarie for the auoiding of fornication, that [illegible]

[illegible] 3 The [illegible] neth [illegible] they are [illegible] others po[illegible] touching the [illegible] so that they may not defraude one another. 4 He addeth an exception, vnlesse the one absteine from the other by mutuall consent, that they may the better giue themselues to prayer,wherein notwithstanding, he warneth them to consider what is expedient,least by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they be stirred vp to incontinencie. d Doe nothing else. 5 Fifthly,he teacheth,that marriage is not simplie necessarie for all men, but for them which haue not the gift of continencie,and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God. e I wish. 6 Sixtly, he giueth the selfe same admonition touching the second marriage, to witte,that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as haue the gift of continencie: otherwise they ought to marrie againe,that their conscience may be at peace. f This whole place is flatte against them which condemne seconde marriages. g So to burne with lust, that either she will yeeldeth to the temptation, or els wee cannot call vpon God with a quiet conscience. ✕ Matth.5.32. and 19.9. marke 10.11,12. luke 16.18. 7 Seuenthly,he forbiddeth contentions and publishing of diuorces (for he speaketh not here of the fault of whoredome, which was then death euen by the lawe of the Romanes also) whereby he affirmeth that the bond of mariage is not dissolued,and that from Christ his mouth. 8 Eightly, he affirmeth, that those mariages which are already contracted betweene a faithfull, and an vnfaithfull or infidell, are firme: so that the faithfull may not forsake the vnfaithfull.

14 9 For the vnbeleeuing husband is h sanctified to the i wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is sanctified to the k husbande, els were your children vncleane: but nowe are they l holy.
15 10 But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subiection in m such things: 11 but God hath called vs in peace.
16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?
17 12 But as God hath distributed to euery man, as the Lorde hath n called euery one, so let him walke: and so ordaine I, in all Churches.
18 13 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not o gather his vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not be circumcised.
19 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.
20 ✠ Let euery man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.
21 Art thou called being a seruant? p care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, vse it rather.
22 For he that is called in the q Lord, being a seruant, is the Lords freeman: likewise also he that is called being free, is Christes seruant.
23 ✠ 14 Ye are bought with a price: be not the seruants of men.
24 15 Brethren, let euery man, wherein he was called, therein abide with r God.
25 16 Nowe concerning virgines, I haue no commaundement of the Lorde: but I giue mine s aduise, as t one that hath obteined mercie of the Lord to be faithfull.
26 I suppose then u this to be good for the x present necessitie: I meane that it is good for a man so to be.
27 Art thou bounde vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.
28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not:
and if a virgine marrie, shee sinneth not: neuer-thelesse, such shall haue trouble in the y flesh: but I z spare you.
29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is a short, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none: 30 And they that b weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that bye, as though they possessed not:
31 And they that vse this c worlde, as though they vsed it not: for the d fashion of this worlde goeth away.
32 And I woulde haue you without care. The vnmaried careth for the things of the Lorde, howe
he may please the Lord.
33 But hee that is maried, e careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife.
34 There is difference also betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmaried woman careth for the things of the Lorde, that she may be holy, both in body and in f spirite: but she that is maried, careth for the things of the worlde, howe she may please her husband.
35 And this I speake for your owne g commo-ditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye followe that, which is honest, and that ye may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.
36 17 But if any man thinke that it is vncome-ly for his virgine, if she passe the flowre of her age, and neede so require, let him doe what he will, he
h sinneth not: let them be maried.
37 Neuerthelesse, he that standeth firme in his i heart, that he hath no k neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that hee will keepe his virgine, hee doeth well.
38 So then hee that giueth her to mariage, doeth well, but he that giueth her not to mariage, doeth l better.
39 18 The wife is bound by the m Lawe, as long as her husband ✠ liueth: but if her husband be dead, she is at libertie to marie with whom she wil, onely in the n Lord.
40 But shee is more blessed, if shee so abide in my iudgement: ✠ and I thinke that I haue also the Spirite of God.

9 He answereth an obiection: But the faithfull is defiled by the societie of the vnfaithfull. The Apostle denieth that, and prooueth that the faithfull man with good conscience [illegible] vse the vessell [illegible] vnfaithfull wife, by this, that their children which are borne of them, are accompted holy (that is, contained within the promise) for it is saide to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seede. h The godlinesse of the wife is of more force, to cause their coupling toge-[illegible] to be accomp-[illegible] then the [illegible] of the [illegible] to pro-[illegible] [illegible] that make Baptisme the very cause of saluation. For the children [illegible] holy, by vertue of the couenant, euen before Baptisme, and baptisme [illegible] of that holinesse. 10 He answereth to a question: what if the [illegible] the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, saieth he, because he is [illegible] vnfaithfull. m When any such thing falleth out. 11 Least any [illegible] of this libertie shoulde giue occasion to the vnfaithfull to de-[illegible] to vnderstand, that marriage contracted with an infidell, ought to be kept, that if it be possible the infidell may be wonne to the faith. [illegible] occasion by that which he saide of the bondage and libertie of matri-[illegible] goeth to a generall doctrine concerning the outward state and con-[illegible] life, as Circumcision and vncircumcision, seruitude and libertie: war-[illegible] generally to liue with a contented minde in the Lorde, what state [illegible] euer hee be in, because, that those outwarde thinges, as to be cir-[illegible] vncircumcised, to be bonde or free, are not of the substance (as they [illegible] the kingdome of heauen. n Hath bounde him to a certaine kinde of [illegible] notwithstanding hee giueth vs to vnderstande, that in these examples [illegible] of like sort: because that circumcision is not simplie of it selfe to be de-[illegible] such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore herein onely they are [illegible] the kingdome of God consisteth not in them, and therefore these are no [illegible] to obey God. o Hee is saide to gather his vncircumcision, who by the [illegible] *of a Chirurgian, recouereth an vpper skinne: which is done by drawing the skinne with an instrument, to make it to couer the nutte, Celsus in his 7. booke and 25. And againe hee praiseth virginitie, but of it selfe, and not in all. h He doeth well: for so he expoundeth it verse 38. i Resolued with himselfe. k That the weakenesse of his daughter inforceth him not, or any other matter, but that he may safely keepe her a virgine still. l Prouideth more commodiously for his children, and that not simplie, but by reason of such conditions as are before mencioned. 18 That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh now of a widowe, to witte, that she may marie againe, so that shee doe it in the feare of God: and yet he dissembleth not, but saigth, that if she remaine still a widowe, she shall be voide of many cares. m By the Lawe of mariage. ✠ Rom.7.1. n Religiously, and in the feare of God. ✠ 1.Thess.4.3.

CHAP. VIII.

1 From this place vnto the ende of the tenth Chapter, he willeth them not to be at the Gentiles prophane bankets. 18 He restraineth the abuse of Christian libertie, 11 and sheweth that knowledge must be tempered with charitie.

1 He entreth to entreate of an other kind of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idoles, or the vse of flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all hee remoueth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in vsing things offered to idoles without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meates was for vnskilfull men, but as for them, they knewe well ynough the benefite of Christ, which causeth all these things to be cleane to them that are cleane. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must not simplie rest in this knowledge. The reason is, that vnlesse our knowledge be tempered with charitie, it doeth not onely not auaile, but also doeth much hurt, because it is the mystresse of pride: nay it doeth not so much as deserue the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the loue of God, and therefore from the loue of our neighbour.

AND [1] as touching things sacrificed vnto idols, wee knowe that wee [a] all haue knowledge: knowledge [b] puffeth vp, but loue [c] edifieth.

2 Nowe, if any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, hee knoweth nothing yet as hee ought to knowe.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him.

4 [2] Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto [d] idoles, we knowe that an idole is [e] nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

5 For though there bee that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords)

6 Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is that Father, [f] of whome are all things, and we [g] in him: and ✠ [h] one Lorde Iesus Christ, [i] by whome are all things, and we by him.

7 [3] But euery man hath not that knowledge: for [4] many hauing [k] conscience of the idole, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 [5] But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God, for neither if we eate, haue we the more: neither if we eate not, haue we the lesse.

9 But take heede lest by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

10 [6] For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weake, be boldened to eate those things which are sacrificed to idoles?

11 [7] And through thy knowledge shall the ✠ weake brother perish, for whome Christ died.

12 [8] Nowe when yee sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, ye sinne against Christ.

13 ✠ [9] Wherefore if meate offende my brother, I wil eate no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offende my brother.

a This generall worde is to bee abbridged as appeareth, verse 7. for there is a kinde of vaunt in it, as wee may perceiue by the next verse. b Ministreth occasion of vanitie and pride: because it is voyde of charitie. c Instructeth our neighbour. 2 The application of that answere to thinges offered to idoles: I graunt, sayeth hee, that an idole is in deede a vaine imagination, and that there is but one God and Lorde, and therefore that meate can not be made either holy or prophane by the idole: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect vse those meates as any other. d This worde (Idole) in this place is taken for an image which is made to represent some godhead, that worship might be giuen vnto it: whereupon came the worde (Idolatrie) that is to say, Image seruice. e Is a vaine dreame. f When the Father is distinguished from the Sonne, hee is named the beginning of all thinges. g We haue our being in him. ✠ Iohn 13.13. chapter 12.3. h But as the father is called Lorde, so is the Sonne, God: therefore this worde (One) doeth not respect the persons, but the natures. i This worde (By) doeth not signifie the instrumentall cause, but the efficient: For the Father and the Sonne worke together, which is not so to bee taken, that wee make two causes, seeing they haue both but one nature, though they be distinct persons. 3 The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which doe not knowe that which you knowe. Nowe the iudgements of outwarde thinges depende not onely vpon your conscience, but vpon the conscience of them that beholde you, and therefore your actions must be applied not onely to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your brethren. 4 An applying of the reason: There are many which cannot eate of thinges offered to idoles, but with a wauering conscience, because they thinke them to bee vncleane: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to doe that which inwardly they thinke displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thou hast bene the occasion of this mischiefe. k By conscience of the idole, hee meaneth the secret iudgement that they had within themselues, whereby they thought all thinges vncleane, that were offered to idoles, and therefore they could not vse them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it bee good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be euill, it maketh them euill. 5 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then, shall we therefore be depriued of our libertie? Nay saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianitie although you absteine for your brethrens sake, as also if you receiue the meate, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meates: but to vse our libertie with offence of our brethren, is an abuse of libertie, the true vse whereof is cleane contrarie, to wit, so to vse it, as in vsing of it wee haue consideration of our weake brethren. 6 An other plainer explication of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting downe at the table in the idoles temple, which thing the Corinthians did euill accompt of among thinges indifferent, because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offence doe cease, as it shall be declared in his place.

7 An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched mā, saith he, pleasing thy selfe with thy knowledge which in deede is none (for if thou hadst true knowledge, thou wouldest not sit downe to meate in an idoles temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother hardening his weake conscience by this example to doe euill, for whose saluation Christ himselfe hath died? ✠ Rom.14.15. 8 An other amplification: Such offending of our weake brethren, redoundeth vnto Christ, and therefore let not these men thinke that they haue to doe onely with their brethren. ✠ Rom.14.21. 9 The conclusion, which Paul conceiueth in his owne person, that hee might not seeme to exact that of other, which hee will not be first subiect vnto himselfe. I had rather (sayth hee) absteine for euer from all kinde of flesh, then giue occasion of sinne to any of my brethren, much lesse woulde I refuse in any certaine place or time for my brothers sake not to eate flesh offered to idoles.

CHAP. IX.

1 Hee declareth, that from the libertie which the Lord gaue him, 15 hee willingly absteined, 18. 22 lest in things indifferent he should offend any. 24 Hee sheweth that our life is like vnto a race.

AM [1] I not an Apostle? am I not free? [2] haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not my worke [a] in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet doutlesse I am vnto you: for ye are the [b] seale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 [3] My defence to them that [c] examine mee, is this,

4 [4] Haue we not power to [d] eat and to drinke?

5 Or haue we not power to lead about a wife being a [e] sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I only and Barnabas, haue not we power [f] not to worke?

7 [5] Who [g] goeth a warfare any time at his owne coste? who planteth a vineyarde, and eateth not of the fruite thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 [6] Say I these things [h] according to man? saith not the Lawe the same also?

9 For it is written in the Lawe of Moses, ✠ Thou shalt not mussell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for [i] oxen?

10 Either sayth hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, & that he that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

1 Before he proceedeth [illegible] ther [illegible]

[illegible] he was appointed of Christ himselfe, and the authoritie of his function [illegible] ently confirmed to him amongst them by their conuersion. And all these [illegible] setteth before their eyes, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the [illegible] wise that might be, debase themselues for the weakes sake, whereas the Apostle himselfe did all that hee could to winne them to God when they were vtterly reprobate and without God. a By the Lorde. b As a seale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the authour of my Apostleship. 3 Hee addeth this by the way, as if he would say, So farre it is off, that you may doubt of my Apostleship, that I vse to refute them which call it into controuersie, by opposing those things which the Lorde hath done by me amongst you. c Which like Iudges examine me and my doings. 4 Now touching the matter it selfe, he sayth. Seeing that I am free, and truely an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, eate of all things offered to idoles, but) be maintained by my labours, yea and keepe my wife also, as the residue of the Apostles lawfully doe, as by name, Iohn and Iames, the Lords cosins, and Peter himselfe? d Upon the expense of the Church? e One that is a Christian and a true beleeuer? f Not to liue by the worke of our handes? 5 That hee may not seeme to burden the Apostles, hee sheweth that it is iust that they doe, by an argument of comparison, seeing that souldiers liue by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruites of their labours, and shepheards by that that commeth of their flockes. g Useth to goe a warfare? 6 Secondly hee bringeth foorth the authoritie of Gods institution by an argument of comparison. h Haue I no better ground then the common custome of men? ✠ Deu.25.4. 1.tim.5.18. i Was it Gods proper drift to prouide for oxen, when he made this Lawe? for otherwise there is not the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it.

✠ Rom.15.27.
7 An assumption of the arguments with an amplification, for neither in so doing do we require a rewarde meete for our deserts.
8 An other argument of great force: other are nourished amongst you, therefore it was lawfull for me, yea rather for me then any other; and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any discommoditie, then the Gospel of Christ should be hindered.
k The word signifieth a right and interest, whereby he giueth vs to vnderstand that the ministers of the worde [illegible] of right and [illegible] be found of [illegible]

11 ✠ 7 If wee haue sowen vnto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if wee reape your carnall things?
12 8 If others with you bee partakers of this k power, are not we rather? neuerthelesse, we haue not vsed this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.
13 9 Doe ye not knowe, that they which minister about the ✠ holy things, eate of the l things of the Temple? and they which waite at the altar, are m partakers with the altar?
14 So also hath the Lorde ordeined, that they which preach ẏ Gospel, should liue n of the Gospel.
15 But I haue vsed none of these things: 10 neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my reioycing vaine.
16 For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessitie is layd vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Gospel.
17 For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I doe it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me.
18 What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ o free, that I abuse not mine authoritie in ẏ Gospel.
19 For though I bee free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I may winne the moe.
20 ∵ And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe, that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the p Lawe, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Lawe:
21 To them that are without Lawe, as though I were without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Lawe:
22 To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to q all men, that I might by all meanes saue some.
23 And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof with r you.
24 11 Knowe ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiueth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine.
25 And euery man that proueth masteries, s abstaineth frō all things: and they doe it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but we for an vncorruptible.
26 I therefore so runne, not as vncertainely: so fight I, not as one that beateth the ayre.
27 But I beate downe my t body, & bring it into subiection, lest by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my selfe should be u reproued.

[illegible] re. 10 Hee taketh away occasion of suspition by the way, that it [illegible] be thought that hee wrote this as though hee chalenged his wages that [illegible] payed him. Nay sayth he, I had rather die, then not continue in this purpose [illegible] preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach the Gospel, seeing that the [illegible] hath inioyned me this office: but vnlesse I doe it willingly, and for the loue of God, nothing is to be allowed that I doe. If I had rather that the Gospel should be euill spoken of, then that I should not require my wages, then woulde it appeare that I tooke these paines not so much for the Gospels sake, as for my gaines and aduantages. But I say, this were not to vse, but abuse my right and libertie. Therefore not onely in this thing, but also in all other (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might winne them to Christ, and might together with them be wonne to Christ. o By taking nothing of them to whome I preach it. ∵ Acts 16.3. galat.2.3. p The worde (Lawe) in this place, must be restrained to the ceremoniall Lawe. q In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conscience: as if he sayd, I changed my selfe into all fashions, that by all meanes I might saue some. r That both I and they to whome I preach the Gospel may receiue fruite by the Gospel. 11 He bringeth in an other cause of this mischiefe, to wit, that they were giuen to gluttonie, for there were solemne bankets of sacrifices, and the riot of the Priestes was alwayes too much celebrated and kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to riotousnesse, especially when they pretended the libertie of the Gospel, to bee restrained from these bankets: but contrariwise, the Apostle calleth them by a pleasant similitude, and also by his owne example, to sobrietie and mortification of the flesh, shewing that they can not bee fit to runne or wrestle (as then the games of Isthmies were) which pamper vp their bodies: and therefore affirming that they can haue no reward, vnlesse they take an other course and trade of life. s Useth a most exquisite diet. t The olde man which striueth against the Spirit. u This worde (Reproued) is not set as contrary to the worde (Elect) but as contrary to the worde (Approoued) when we see one by experience not to be such an one as he ought to be.

CHAP. X.

1 If God spared not the Iewes, neither will hee spare those who are of like condition, 3. 4 touching the outwarde signes of his grace. 14 That it is absurd, that such shoulde bee partakers of the table of the deuils, who are partakers of the Lordes Supper. 24 To haue consideration of our neighbour in things indifferent.

Moreouer, 1 brethren, I would not that yee shoulde bee ignorant, that all our a fathers were vnder ✠ that cloude, and all passed through that ✠ sea,
2 2 And were all b baptized vnto c Moses, in that cloude, and in that sea,
3 ∵ And did all eat the d same spiritual e meat, 4 ✠ And did all drinke the same spirituall drinke (for they dranke of the spirituall Rocke that f folowed them: and the Rocke was g Christ) 5 But with many of them God was not pleased: for they were ✠ ouerthrowen in the wildernes.
6 3 Nowe these things are our h ensamples, to the intent that we should not lust after euil things
* as they also lusted.
7 Neither be yee idolaters as were some of them, as it is written, ✠ The people sate downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to play.
8 Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and fell in one ✠ day three and twentie thousand.
9 Neither let vs tempt i Christ, as some of them also tempted him, and ∵ were destroyed of serpents.
10 Neither murmure ye, as some of them ✠ also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.
11 Nowe all these things came vnto them for ensamples, and were written to admonish vs, vpon whome the k endes of the world are come.
12 4 Wherefore, let him that thinketh he stan-deth, take heede least he fall.
13 There hath no tentation taken you, but such as appertaine to l man: and God is faithfull,

1 He setteth out that which he sayd, laying before them an example of the horrible iudgement of God against them which had in effect the selfe same pledges of the same adoption and saluation that we haue: and yet notwithstanding when they gaue themselues to idoles feastes, perished in the wildernes, being horribly and manifoldly punished. Nowe, moreouer and besides that these things are fitly spoke against them which frequented idoles feastes, the same also seeme to be alledged to this ende and purpose, because many men are thus minded, that those things are not of such great weight, that God will be angrie with them if they vse them, so that they frequent Christian assemblies and be baptized, and receiue the Communion, and confesse Christ. a Paul speaketh thus in respect of the couenant, and not in respect of the persons, sauing in generall. ✠ Exod.13.21. nomb.9.18. ✠ Exodus 14.22. 2 In effect the Sacraments of the olde fathers were all one with ours, for they respected Christ onely who offered him selfe vnto them in diuers shadowes. b All of them were baptized with the outwarde signe, but not in deede, wherewith God cannot bee charged, but they themselues. c Moses being their guide. ∵ Exodus 16.15. d The same that we doe. e Manna, which was a spirituall meate to the beleeuers, which in fayth laye holde vpon Christ who is the true meate. ✠ Exod.17.6. nomb.20.10. and 21.16. f Of the riuer and running Rocke, which folowed the people. g Did sacramentally signifie Christ, so that together with the signe, there was the thing signified, and the trueth it selfe: for God doeth not offer a bare signe, but the thing signified by the signe, together with it, which is to be receiued with faith. ✠ Nomb.26.65. 3 An amplifying of the example against them which are caried away with their lustes beyond the bounds which God hath measured out. For this is the beginning of all euill, as of idolatrie (which hath gluttonie a companion vnto it) fornication, rebelling against Christ, murmuring, and such like, which God punished most sharply in that olde people, to the ende that we which succeede them, and haue a more full declaration of the will of God, might by that meanes take better heede. h Some reade figures: which signified our sacraments: for circumcision was to the Iewes a seale of righteousnesse, and to vs a liuely patterne of Baptisme, and so in the other Sacraments. * Nomb.11.4. and 26.64. Psalme 106.14. ✠ Exod.32.6. ✠ Nomb.25.9. i To tempt Christ, is to prouoke him to a combate as it were, which those men doe, whose abuse the knowledge that he hath giuen them, and make it to serue for a cloke for their lustes and wickednes. ∵ Nom.21.6. psal.106.14. ✠ Nom.14.37. iudg.8.24. k This our age is called the ende, for it is the shutting vp of all ages. 4 In conclusion, he descendeth to the Corinthians themselues, warning them that they please not themselues, but rather that they preuent the subtilties of Satan. Yet he vseth an insinuation, & comforteth them, that he may not seeme to make them altogether like to those wicked idolaters & contemners of Christ, which perished in the wildernes. l Which commeth of weakenes.

m He that would haue you tempted for your profites sake, will giue you an issue to escape out of the tentation.

5 Nowe returning to those idoles feastes, that hee may not seeme to dally at all, first he promiseth that he will vse no other reasons, then such as they knew very well themselues. And he vseth an induction borowed of the agreement that is in the things themselues. The holy bankets of the Christians are pledges, first of all, of the communitie that they haue with Christ, and next, one with another. The Israelites also doe ratifie in their sacrifices, their mutuall coniunction in one selfe same religion: therefore so doe the idolaters also ioyne themselues with their idoles or deuils rather (for idoles are nothing) in those solemne bankets, whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of deuils, and therefore you must eschew it: For you cannot be partakers of the Lord and of idoles together, much lesse may such bankets be accompted for things indifferent. Wil ye then striue with God? and if you doe, thinke you that you shall get the vpper hande?

which wil not suffer you to be tempted aboue that you bee able, but will euen m giue the issue with the tentation, that ye may be able to beare it.
14 Wherefore my beloued, flee from idolatrie.
15 5 I speake as vnto them which haue vnderstanding: iudge ye what I say.
16 The cup of n blessing which we blesse, is it not the o communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we breake, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?
17 For wee that are many, are one bread and one body, because wee all are partakers of one bread.
18 Beholde Israel, which is after the p flesh: are not they which eate of the sacrifices q partakers of the altar?
19 What say I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is sacrificed to idoles, is
any thing?
20 Nay, but that these things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to deuils, and not vnto God: and I would not that ye should haue r fellowship with the deuils.
21 Ye cannot drinke the cup of the Lorde, and the s cup of the deuils. Ye can not be partakers of the Lords table, and of the table of the deuils.
22 Doe we prouoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger then he?
23 ✝ 6 t All things are lawfull for mee, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not.
24 Let no man seeke his owne, but euery man anothers wealth.
25 7 Whatsoeuer is solde in the u shambles, eate ye, and aske no question for conscience sake.
26 ✝ For the earth is the Lordes, and x all that therein is.
27 If any of them which beleeue not, call you to a feast, and if ye wil goe, whatsoeuer is set before you, eate, asking no question for conscience sake.
28 But if any man say vnto you, This is sacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, because of him that shewed it, and for the conscience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is) 29 And the conscience, I say, not thine, but of that other: 8 for why should my libertie bee condemned of another mans conscience?
30 For if I through Gods 9 benefite bee partaker, why am I euill spoken of, for that wherefore I giue thankes?
31 ✝ 9 Whether therefore yee eate, or drinke, or whatsoeuer ye doe, doe all to the glory of God.
32 Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God: 33 Euen as I please all men in al things, not seeking mine owne profite, but the profite of many,
that they might be saued.

9 If I may through Gods benefite eate this meate, or that meate, why should I through my fault, cause that benefite of God to turne to my blame?

✝ Coloss. 3.17.

9 The conclusion. We must order our liues in such sort, that we looke not our selues, but Gods glorie, and so the saluation of as many as wee may: wherein the Apostle sticketh not to propound himselfe to the Corinthians (euen his owne flocke) as an example, but so that hee calleth them backe to Christ, vnto whome he himselfe hath regard.

CHAP. XI.

1 Hee blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy assemblies, 4 men doe pray hauing their heads couered, 6 and women bare headed, and because their meetings tended to euill, 21 who mingled prophane bankets with the holy Supper of the Lorde, 23 which hee requireth to bee celebrated according to Christes institution.

BE ✝ yee followers of mee, euen as I am of Christ.
2 1 Now brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.
3 2 But I will that ye knowe, that Christ is the ∵ head of euery man: and the man is the womans head: and God is a Christs head.
4 3 Euery b man praying or prophecying hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.
5 4 But euery woman that prayeth or prophecieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head: 5 for it is euen one very thing, as though she were shauen.
6 Therefore if the woman be not couered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be couered.
7 6 For a man ought not to couer his head: for as much as hee is the ⌘ image and glory of God:
but the woman is the glory of the man.
8 7 For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.
9 ⁂ 8 For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake.
10 9 Therefore ought the woman to haue
c power on her head, because of the 10 Angels.

✝ 2.Thess. 3.9.

1 The fifth treatise of this epistle concerning the right order of publike assemblies ... [illegible]

n Of thankesgiuing: whereupon, that holy banket was called Eucharist, that is, a thankesgiuing. o A most effectuall pledge and note of our knitting together with Christ, and ingraffing to him. p That is, as yet obserue their ceremonies. q Are consenting and guiltie, both of that worship and sacrifice. r Haue any thing to doe with the deuils, or enter into that societie which is begunne on the deuils name. s The heathen and prophane people were wont to shut vp and make an ende of their feasts which they kept to the honour of their gods, in offering meate offerings and drinke offerings to them, with bankets and feastings. ✝ Chapter 6.12. 6 Comming to another kinde of things offered to idoles, he repeateth that generall rule, that in the vse of thinges indifferent wee ought to haue consideration not of our selues onely, but of our neighbours, and therefore there are many thinges which of themselues are lawfull, which may bee euill done of vs, because of offence to our neighbour. t Looke afore, Chapter 6.13. 7 An applying of the rule to the present matter: Whatsoeuer is solde in the shambles, you may indifferently buy it as it were at the Lordes hande, and eate it either at home with the faithfull, or being called home to the vnfaithfull, to wit, in a priuate banket: but yet with this exception, vnlesse any man be present, which is weake, whose conscience may be offended by setting meates offered to idoles before them: for then you ought to haue consideration of their weakenes. u The flesh that was sacrificed, was vsed to bee solde in the shambles, and the price returned to the Priestes. ✝ Psalme 24.1. x All those things whereof it is full. 8 A reason: for we must take heede that our libertie bee not euill spoken of, and that the benefite of God which wee ought to vse with thankesgiuing bee not changed into impietie, and that through our fault, if wee chuse rather to offend the conscience of the weake, then to yeelde a litle of our libertie in a matter of no importance, and so giue occasion to the weake to iudge in such sort of vs, and of Christian libertie. And the Apostle taketh these things vpon his owne person, that the Corinthians may haue so much the lesse occasion to oppose any thing against him.

... Christ our mediatour, for the ende and marke not onely of doctrine, but [illegible] ecclesiasticall comelines. Then applying it to the question propoed [illegible] comely apparell both of men and women in publike assemblies, hee [illegible] the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, [illegible] man is so subiect to Christ, that the glory of God ought to appeare in him [illegible] preeminence of the sexe. ∵ Ephe. 5.23. a In that, that Christ is our media[illegible] 3 Hereof hee gathereth, that if men doe either pray or preach in publike assemblies hauing their heads couered (which was then a signe of subiection) they did as it were spoyle themselues of their dignitie, against Gods ordinance. b It appeareth that this was a politike Lawe seruing onely for the circumstances of the time that Paul liued in, by this reason, because in these our dayes for a man to speake bareheaded in an assemblie is a signe of subiection. 4 And in like sort he concludeth, that women which shewe themselues in publike and ecclesiasticall assemblies without the signe and token of their subiection, that is to say, vncouered, shame themselues. 5 The [illegible] argument taken from the common sense of man, for so much as nature teacheth women, that it is dishonest for them to come abroad bare headed, seeing that shee hath giuen them thicke and long haire, which they doe so diligently trimme and decke, that they can in no wise abide to haue it shauen. 6 The taking away of an obiection: Haue not men also haire giuen them? I graunt, saith the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this ende and purpose, that the glory of God should appeare in his rule and authoritie: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honour her husband. ⌘ Genes. 1.26. and 5.1. and 9.6. coloss. 3.10. 7 He prooueth the inequalitie of the woman, by that, that the man is the matter whereof woman was first made. ⁂ Genes. 2.22. 8 Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the womans sake. 9 The conclusion: Women must be couered, to shewe by this externall signe, their subiection. c A couering which is a token of subiection. 10 What this meaneth, I doe not yet vnderstand.

11 A digression which the Apostle vseth, least that which he spake of the superioritie of men, and lower degree of women in consideration of the policie of the Church, should be so taken as though there were no measure of this inequalitie. Therefore he teacheth that men haue in such sort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women also: and woman was so made of man, that men also are borne by the meanes of women, and this ought to put them in minde to obserue the degree of euery sexe, in such sort, that mutual coniunction may be cherished. [illegible]

11 [11]Neuerthelesse, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, so is the man also by the woman: but all thinges are of God.

13 [12]Iudge in your selues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncouered?

14 Doeth not nature it selfe teache you, that if a man haue long haire, it is a shame vnto him?

15 But if a woman haue long haire, it is a praise vnto her: for her haire is giuen her for a [e]couering.

16 [13]But if any man lust to be contentious, we haue no such custome, neither the Churches of God.

17 ¶ [14]Now in this that I declare, I praise you not, that yee come together, not with profite, but with hurt.

18 [15]For first of all, when yee come together in the Church, I heare that there are dissentions among you: and I beleeue it to be true in some part.

19 [16]For there must bee heresies euen among you, that they which are [f]approoued among you, might be knowen.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is [g]not to eate the Lords Supper.

21 For euery man when they shoulde eate, taketh his owne supper [h]afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 [17]Haue ye not houses to eate and to drinke in? despise ye the Church of God, and shame them that haue not? what shal I say to you? shal I praise you in this? I praise you not.

23 [18]For I haue receiued of the Lorde that which I also haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, That the Lord Iesus in the night when he was betrayed, tooke bread:

24 ✠ And when he had giuen thanks, he brake it, and sayde, Take, eate: this is my body, which is [i]broken for you: this doe yee in remembrance of mee.

25 After the same maner also he tooke the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the Newe Testament in my blood: this do as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as yee shall eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe, ye shewe the Lordes death till hee come.

27 [19]Wherefore, whosoeuer shall eate this bread, and drinke the cuppe of the Lord [k]vnworthily, shall be guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord.

28 ✠ [20]Let [l]euery man therefore examine himselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For hee that eateth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh his owne damnation, because he [m]discerneth not the Lords body.

30 [21]For this cause many are weake, and sicke among you, and many sleepe.

31 For if we would [n]iudge our selues, we should not be iudged.

32 But when we are iudged, wee are chastened of the Lord, because we should not be condemned with the world.

33 [22]Wherefore, my brethren, when yee come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 [23]And if any man be hungry, let him eate at home, that ye come not together vnto condemnation. [24]Other things wil I set in order when I come.

19 Whosoeuer contemne the holy Sacraments, that is, vse them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread and wine, but of the thing it selfe, that is, of Christ, and shalbe grieuously punished for it.
k Otherwise then meete is such mysteries should be handled.
✠ 2.Cor.13.5.
20 The examination of a mans selfe, is of necessitie required in the Supper, and therefore they ought not to be admitted vnto it, which can not examine themselues: as children, furious and madde men, also such as either haue no knowledge of Christ, or not sufficient, although they professe Christian religion: and others such like. l This place beateth downe the faith of credite, or vnwrapped faith, which the Papists maintaine. m Hee is sayde to discerne the Lordes body, that hath consideration of the worthines of it, and therefore commeth to eate of this meate with great reuerence. 21 The prophaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his mysteries, is sharpely punished of him, and therefore such a mischiefe ought diligently to bee preuented by iudging and correcting of a mans selfe. n Trie and examine our selues, by faith and repentance, separating our selues from the wicked. 22 The Supper of the Lorde is a common action of the whole Church, and therefore there is no place for priuate suppers. 23 The Supper of the Lord was instituted not to feede the belly, but to feede the soule with the communion of Christ, and therefore it ought to be separate from common bankets. 24 Such things as pertaine to order, as place, time, forme of prayers, and other such like, the Apostle tooke order for in Congregations, according to the consideration of times, places, and persons.

[illegible] Apostles commaundements, yet they foully neglected them in a matter of great importance. 15 To celebrate the Lordes Supper aright, it is requisite that there bee not onely consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it bee not prophaned. 16 Although that schismes and heresies proceede from the deuill, and are euill, yet they come not by chaunce, nor without cause, and they turne to the profite of the elect. f Whome experience hath taught to bee of sounde religion and godlinesse. g This is an vsuall kinde of speach, whereby the Apostle denieth that flatly, which many did not well. h Eateth his meate and tarieth not till other come. 17 The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the loue feastes, for their abuse, although they had bene a long time, and with commendation vsed in Churches, and were appointed and instituted by the Apostles. 18 Wee must take a true forme of keeping the Lords Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are these, touching the Pastours, to shewe foorth the Lordes death, by preaching his worde: to blesse the bread and the wine by calling vpon the Name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliuer the bread broken to be eaten, and the cuppe receiued to be dronke with thankesgiuing. And touching the flocke, that euery man examine himselfe, that is to say, to prooue both his knowledge, and also faith, and repentance: to shewe foorth the Lordes death, that is, in true faith to yeelde vnto his worde and institution: and last of all, to take the bread at the Ministers hande, and to eate it and to drinke the wine, and giue God thankes: This was Pauls and the Apostles maner of ministring. ✠ Matth.26.26. marke 14.22. luke 22.19. i This word (Broken) setteth out vnto vs Christ his maner of death, for although his legges were not broken, as the theeues legges were, yet was his body very sore tormented, and torne, and bruysed.

CHAP. XII.

1 To drawe away the Corinthians from contention and pride, hee sheweth that spirituall giftes are therefore diuersly bestowed, 7 that, the same being ioyntly to eche other imployed, 12 wee may growe vp together into one body of Christ in such equall proportion and measure, 20 as the members of mans body doe.

NOwe [1]concerning spirituall giftes, brethren, I would not haue you [a]ignorant.

2 [2]Yee knowe that yee were [b]Gentiles, and were caried away vnto the dumme Idoles, as yee were led.

3 [3]Wherefore, I declare vnto you, that no man ✠ speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Iesus ∴ [c]execrable: also no man can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

4 [4]Nowe there are diuersities of gifts, but the [d]same Spirit.

5 And there are diuersities of administrations, but the same Lord.

6 And there are diuersities of [e]operations, but

1 Now he entreth into the third part of this treatise, touching the right vse of spirituall giftes, wherein he beginneth the Corinthians plainly to vnderstand, that they abused them: for they that excelled, bragged ambiciously of them, and so robbed God of the praise of his giftes and hauing no consideration of their brethren, abused them to a vaine ostentation, and so robbed the Church of the vse of those giftes. On the other side, the inferiour sort enuied the better, and went about to make a departure, so that all that body was as it were scattred and rent in pieces. So then hee going about to remedie these abuses, willeth them first to consider diligently, that they haue not these giftes of themselues, but from the free grace and liberalitie of God, to whose glory they ought to bestowe them all. a Ignorant to what purpose these giftes are giuen you. 2 Hee prooueth the same by comparing their former state with that wherein they were at this time indued with those excellent gifts. b As touching Gods seruice and the couenant, meere strangers. 3 The conclusion: Knowe you therefore, that you cannot so much as mooue your lippes to honour Christ withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghost. ✠ Marke 9.39. ∴ Iohn 13.13. chap.8.6. philip.2.11. c Doeth curse him, or by any meanes whatsoeuer diminish his glory. 4 In the second place, hee layeth another foundation, to wit, that these giftes are diuers, as the functions also are diuers, and their offices diuers, but that one selfe same Spirit, Lorde and God is the giuer of all these gifts, and that to one ende, to wit, for the profite of all. d The Spirit is plainly distinguished from the giftes. e So Paul calleth that inward force which commeth from the holy Ghost, and maketh men fit to wonderfull things.

f The holy Ghost openeth and sheweth himselfe freely in giuing of these giftes.
g To the vse and benefite of the Church.
5 He declareth this manifolde diuersitie, and reckoneth vp the chiefest giftes, beating that into their heads, which he said before, to wit, that al these things proceeded from one selfe same Spirit.
h Wisedome is a most excellent gift, very requisite, not onely for them which teache, but also for them that exhort and comfort, which thing is proper to the Pastours office: as the worde of knowledge agreeth to the Doctours.
i By operation he meaneth those great workings of Gods mightie power, which passe and excell amongst his miracles, as the deliuerie of his people Israel by the hand of Moses: that which he did by Elias against the Priests of Baal, in sending downe fire from heauen to consume his sacrifice: and that which hee did by Peter, in the matter of Ananias and Saphira.

God is the same which worketh all in all.
7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is f giuen to euery man, to g profite withall.
8 5 For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of h wisdome: and to an other the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:
9 And to another is giuen faith by the same Spirit: and to another the giftes of healing, by the same Spirit:
10 And to another the i operations of great workes: and to another, k prophecie: and to another, the l discerning of spirits: and to another, diuersities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.
11 ✠ And all these things worketh one and the selfe same Spirit, distributing to euery man seuerally 6 as he will.
12 7 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: 8 euen so is m Christ.
13 For by one Spirit are we all baptized into n one body, whether we be Iewes, or Grecians, whether we be bonde, or free, and haue bene all made to o drinke into one Spirit.
14 9 For the body also is not one member, but many.
15 10 If the foote would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?
16 And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?
17 11 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?
18 But nowe hath God disposed the members euery one of them in the body at his owne pleasure.
19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?
20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

k Foretelling of things to come. l Whereby false prophetes are knowen from true, wherein Peter passed Philippe in discouering Simon Magus, Actes 8.20. ✠ Rom. 12.3. ephes. 4.7. 6 Hee addeth moreouer some thing else, to wit, that although that these giftes are vnequall, yet they are most wisely deuided, because the will of the Spirite of God is the rule of this destribution. 7 Hee setteth foorth his former saying by a similitude taken from the body: This sayth he, is manifestly seene in the body, whose members are diuers, but yet so knitte together, that they make but one body. 8 The applying of the similitude. So must wee also thinke, sayeth hee, of the mysticall body of Christ: for all wee that beleeue, whether wee be Iewes or Gentiles, are by one selfe same Baptisme, ioyned together with our head, that by that meanes, there may be framed one body compact of many members: and wee haue drunke one selfe same spirite, that is to say, a spirituall feeling, perceiuerance and motion common to vs all, out of one cuppe. m Christ ioyned together with his Church. n To become one body with Christ. o By one quickening drinke of the Lordes blood, wee are made partakers of his owne Spirite. 9 Hee amplifieth that which followed of the similitude: as if hee shoulde say, The vnitie of the body is not onely not let by this diuersitie of members, but also it could not be a body, if it did not consist of many, and those diuers members. 10 Nowe hee buildeth his doctrine vpon the foundations which hee hath layde: and first of all hee continueth in his purposed similitude, and afterwarde hee goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all he speaketh vnto them which would haue separated themselues from those whome they enuied, because they had not such excellent giftes as they: nowe this is, saith he, as if the foote shoulde say, it were not of the body, because it is not the hande: or the eare, because it is not the eye. Therefore all partes ought rather to defend the vnitie of the body, being coupled together to serue one the other. 11 Againe speaking to them, he sheweth them that if that should come to passe which they desire, to wit, that all shouldbe equal one to another, there would folow a destruction of the whole body, yea and of themselues: for it could not be a body, vnlesse it were made of many members knit together, and diuers one from the other. And that no man might finde fault with this diuision as vnequall, hee addeth that God himselfe hath coupled all these together. Therefore all must remaine coupled together, that the body may remaine in safetie.

21 12 And the eye cannot say vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no neede of you.
22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seeme to be p more feeble, are necessarie.
23 And vpon those members of the body, which wee thinke most vnhonest, put wee more q honestie on: and our vncomely parts haue more comelinesse on.
24 For our comely partes neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together, and hath giuen the more honour to that part which lacked, 25 Lest there should be any diuision in the body: but that the members should haue the same r care one for another.
26 13 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.
27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members for your s part.
28 ✠ And God hath ordained some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the giftes of healing, t helpers, u gouer-nours, diuersitie of tongues.
29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?
30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interprete?
31 14 But desire you the best giftes, and I will yet shewe you a more excellent way.

12 Now on the other side, he preacheth vnto them which were induced with more excellent giftes, willing them not to despise the inferiours as vnprofitable, and as though they [illegible] God, sayeth hee, hath in such sort tempered this inequalitie, that the more excellent and beautifull members can in no wise lacke the more abiect and such as wee are ashamed of, and that they shoulde haue more care to see vnto them and to couer them: that by this meanes the necessitie which is on both parts, might [illegible] the whole body [illegible] in peace [illegible]

tie both in commodities and discommodities. p Of the smallest [illegible] ces, and therefore smally accounted of, of the rest. q Wee more [illegible] them. r Shoulde bestowe their operations and offices to the profite and [illegible] of the whole body. 13 Nowe hee applyeth this same doctrine to [illegible] ans without any allegorie, warning them that seeing there are diuers [illegible] diuers giftes, it is their duetie, not to offende one against an other [illegible] or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in [illegible] one with an other, euery one of them bestowe to the profite of all, [illegible] hath receiued according as his ministerie doeth require. s For [illegible] where soeuer they are dispersed through the whole worlde, are diuers [illegible] body. ✠ Ephesians 4.11. t The offices of Deacons. u Hee [illegible] order of Elders, which were the maintainers of the Churches discipline. [illegible] cheth them that are ambitious and enuious, a certaine holy ambition [illegible] to wit, if they giue themselues to the best giftes, and such as are most [illegible] the Church, and so if they contende to excell one another in loue, [illegible] passeth all other giftes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee sheweth that there are no giftes so excellent, which in Gods sight are not corrupt, if Charitie be away: 4 and therefore he digresseth vnto the commendation of it.

THough 1 I speake with the tongues of men and a Angels, and haue not loue, I am as sounding brasse, or a b tinkling cymbal.
2 And though I had the gift of prophecie, and knewe all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all c faith, so that I could remooue ✠ mountaines and had not loue, I were nothing.
3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I be burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth me nothing.

1 He [illegible] first of Charitie [illegible] the excellencie whereof he [illegible] sheweth by this, that without it, all other giftes are as nothing before God, which thing hee prooueth partly by an induction, & partly also by an argument taken of the ende, wherefore those giftes are giuen. For, to what purpose are those giftes, but to Gods glorie, and the profite of the Church, as is before prooued? so that those giftes without Charitie, haue no right vse. a A very earnest kinde of amplifying a matter, as if hee sayde, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did not vse them to the benefite of my neighbour, it were nothing else but a vaine and prattling kinde of babbling. b That giueth a rude and no certaine sounde. c By faith, hee meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not that faith which iustifieth, which can not be voyde of Charitie besides other things. ✠ Matth. 17.20.

2 He describeth the force and nature of charitie, partly by a comparison of contraries, and partly by the effectes of it selfe: whereby the Corinthians may vnderstād, both how profitable it is in the Church, and how necessarie: and also how farre they are from it, and therefore how vainely and without cause they are proude.

d Word for word, deferreth wrath.

e It is not contumelious.

f Reioyceth at righteousnes in the righteous. For the Hebrewes meane by trueth, righteousnes

3 Againe he commendeth the excellencie of charitie in that, that it shall neuer be [illegible]ed in the [illegible], where-

4 2 Loue d suffereth long: it is bountifull: loue enuieth not: loue doeth not boast it selfe: it is not puffed vp:
5 It doeth e no vncomely thing: it seeketh not her owne things: it is not prouoked to anger:
it thinketh no euill:
6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but f reioyceth
in the trueth:
7 It suffreth all things: it beleeueth all things:
it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.
8 3 Loue doeth neuer fall away, though that prophecyings be abolished, or the tongues cease, or g knowledge vanish away.
9 4 For we know in h part, and we prophecie in part.
10 But when that which is perfect, is come,
then that which is in part, shalbe abolished.
11 5 When I was a childe, I spake as a childe,
I vnderstoode as a childe, I thought as a childe:
but when I became a man, I put away childish
things.
12 6 For i nowe we see through a glasse darkely: but then shall wee see face to face. Nowe I know in part: but then shall I knowe euen as I am knowen,
13 7 And nowe abideth faith, hope and loue, euen these three: but the chiefest of these is loue.

[illegible] other giftes which are necessarie for the building vp of the Church, so long [illegible] here, shall haue no place in the worlde to come. g The way to get [illegible] by prophecying. 4 The reason: Because wee are nowe in that state, [illegible] haue neede to learne dayly, and therefore wee haue neede of those [illegible] to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, and also of them that [illegible]. But to what purpose serue they then, when wee haue obtained and [illegible] full knowledge of God, which serue nowe but for them which are im[illegible] goe by degrees to perfection? h Wee learne imperfectly. 5 Hee [illegible] that, that hee sayde, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to [illegible] childehoode, wherein wee stagger and stammer rather then speake, [illegible] vnderstande but childish thinges, and therefore haue neede of such [illegible] forme and frame our tongue and minde: but when we become men, [illegible] should we desire that stammering, those childish toyes, and such [illegible] whereby our childehoode is framed by litle and litle? 6 The ap[illegible] similitude of our childehoode to this present life, wherein wee darke[illegible] heauenly thinges, according to the small measure of light which is gi[illegible] the vnderstanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and mini[illegible] Church: of our mans age and strength, to that heauenly and eternal life, [illegible] wee beholde God himselfe present, and are lightened with his full [illegible] light, to what purpose should wee desire the voyce of man, and those [illegible] which are most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saintes bee [illegible] with God, and betweene themselues with most feruent loue, and there[illegible] shall not be abolished but perfected, although it shall not be shewed [illegible] interteined by such maner of dueties as peculiarly and onely belong to [illegible] of this life. i All this must be vnderstoode by comparison. 7 The [illegible] As if the Apostle shoulde say, Such therefore shall be our condition [illegible] nowe wee haue three things, and they remaine sure if we be Christes, as [illegible] which, true religion cannot consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie. And [illegible] these, charitie is the chiefest, because it ceaseth not in the life to come as [illegible], but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend [illegible] which are promised & are to come, when we haue presently gotten them, [illegible] what purpose should we haue faith and hope? but yet there at length shall wee [illegible]ly and perfectly loue both God, and one another.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Hee commendeth the gift of prophecying: 7 and by a similitude taken of musicall instruments, 12 hee teacheth the true vse of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 hee taketh away the abuse: 34 and forbiddeth women to speake in the Congregation.

1 Hee inferreth now of that that he spake before:

FOlowe 1 after loue, and couet spirituall giftes, and rather that ye may a prophecie.
2 2 For he that speaketh a strange b tongue, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the c spirit he speaketh secret things.
3 But he that prophecieth, speaketh vnto men to d edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.
4 He that speaketh strange language, edifieth himselfe: but hee that prophecieth, edifieth the e Church.
5 I would that ye all spake strange languages, but rather that ye prophecied: for greater is hee that prophecieth, then hee that speaketh diuers tongues, except hee expounde it, that the Church may receiue edification.
6 And nowe, brethren, if I come vnto you speaking diuers tongues, what shall I profite you, except I speake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecying, or by doctrine?
7 3 Moreouer things without life which giue a sounde, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a distinction in the soundes, howe shall it be knowen what is piped or harped?
8 And also if the trumpet giue an vncertaine sound, who shall prepare himselfe to battell?
9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except yee vtter wordes that haue f signification, howe shall it be vnderstand what is spoken? for ye shal speake in the ayre.
10 4 There are so many kindes of voyces (as it commeth to passe) in the world, and none of them is dumme.
11 Except I know then the power of ẏ voyce, I shall be vnto him that speaketh a barbarian, and he that g speaketh, shalbe a barbarian vnto me.
12 5 Euen so, forasmuch as yee couet spirituall giftes, seeke that yee may excell vnto the edifying of the Church.
13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue, h pray, that he may interprete.
14 6 For i if I pray in a strange tōgue, my k spirit prayeth: but mine vnderstanding is l without fruite.
15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I wil pray with the m vnderstanding also: I wil sing with the spirite, but I will sing with the vnderstanding also.
16 7 Else, when thou blessest with the n spirit, howe shall he that o occupieth the roome of the vnlearned, say p Amen, at thy giuing of thankes,

2 He reprehendeth their peruerse iudgement touching the gift of tongues. For why was it giuen? to wit, to the intent that the mysteries of God might be the better knowen to a greater sort. Thereby it is euident that prophecie, whereunto the gift of tongues ought to serue, is better then this: and therefore the Corinthians did iudge amisse, in that they made more accompt of the gift of tongues, then of prophecying: because forsooth the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon folowed another abuse of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians vsed tōgues in the congregation, without an interpreter. Which thing although it might be done to some profite of him that spake them, yet he corrupted the right vse of that gift, because there came thereby no profite to the hearers, and common assemblies were instituted and appointed not for any priuate mans commoditie, but for the profite of the whole companie.

b A strange language which no man can vnderstande without an interpreter.

Therefore seeing charitie is the chiefest of all, before all thinges set it before you as chiefe and principall: and so esteeme those things as most excellent, which profite the greater part of men: (as prophecie, that is to say, the gift of teaching and applying the doctrine: which was contemned in respect of other giftes, although it be the chiefest and most necessary for the Church) and not those which for a shewe seeme to be marueilous, as the giftes of tongues, when a man was suddenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet of it selfe was not greatly to any vse, vnlesse there were an interpreter. a What prophecie is, he sheweth in the thirde verse.

c By that inspiration which he hath receiued of the Spirite, which notwithstanding he abuseth, when he speaketh mysteries which none of the companie can vnderstande. d Which may further men in the studie of godlines. e The companie. 3 He setteth forth that which he sayd, by a similitude which he boroweth and taketh from instruments of musicke; which although they speake not perfitly, yet they are distinguished by their sounds, that they may be the better vsed. f That doe fitly vtter the matter it selfe. 4 He prooueth that interpretation is necessarily to be ioyned with the gift of tongues, by the manifolde varietie of languages, insomuch that if one speake to another without an interpreter, it is as if hee spake not. g As the Papists in all their sermons, and they that ambitiously powre out some Hebrewe or Greeke wordes in the Pulpit before the vnlearned people, thereby to get them a name of vaine learning. 5 The conclusion: if they will excell in those spiritual gifts, as it is meete, they must seeke the profit of the Church, and therefore they must not vse the gift of tongues, vnlesse there bee an interpreter to expounde the strange and vnknowen tongue, whether it bee himselfe that speaketh, or another interpreter. h Pray for the gift of interpretation. 6 A reason: Because it is not sufficient for vs to speake so in the congregation, that wee our selues doe worship God in spirit, that is, according to the gift which we haue receiued, but wee must also be vnderstoode of the company, lest that be vnprofitable to other, which wee haue spoken. i If I pray, when the Church is assembled together, in a strange tongue. k The gift and inspiration which the spirit giueth mee, doeth his part, but onely to my selfe. l No fruite commeth to the Church by my prayers. m So that I may be vnderstoode of other, and may instruct other. 7 An other reason: Seeing that the whole congregation must agree to him that speaketh, and also witnes this agreement, how shal they giue their assent or agreement, which know not what is spoken? n Onely, without all consideration of the hearers. o He that sitteth as a priuate man. p So then one vttered the prayers, and all the companie answered Amen.

but in vnderstanding be of a ripe age.
21 In the [r] Law it is written, ✠ By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speake vnto this people: yet so shall they not heare me, saith the Lord.
22 [10] Wherfore strange tongues are for a signe, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophecying serueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue.
23 [11] If therefore when the whole Church is come together in one, & al speake strange tongues, there come in they that are [f] vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, wil they not say, that ye are out of your wits?
24 But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all, 25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so hee will fall downe on his face and worship God, and say plainely that God is in you in deede.
26 [12] What is to be done then, brethren? when yee come together, according as euery one of you hath a Psalme, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath reuelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done vnto edifying.
27 [13] If any man speake a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interprete.
28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.
29 [14] Let the Prophetes speake two, or three,
and let the other iudge.
30 And if any thing be reueiled to another that sitteth by, let the first holde his peace.
31 For yee may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may haue comfort.
32 And the [t] spirits of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets.
33 For God is not the authour of confusion, but of peace, as we see in al the Churches of the Saints.
34 [15] ∵ Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but they ought to bee subiect, as also ✠ the Lawe saith.

8 He propoundeth himselfe for an example, both that they may be ashamed of their foolish ambition, and also that he may eschew all suspicion of enuie.
q A very fewe wordes.
9 Nowe he reproueth them freely for their childish folly, which see not how this gift of tongues which was giuen to the profite of the Church, is turned by their ambition into an instrument of cursing, seeing that this same also is conteined amongst the punishments wherewith God punished the stubburnes of his people, that he dispersed them amongst strangers whose language they vnderstood not.
✠ Matth.18.3.
r By the Lawe he vnderstandeth all the whole Scripture.
10 The conclusion: Therefore the gift of tongues serueth to punish the vnfaithfull and vnbeleeuers, vnlesse it be referred to prophecie (that is to say, to the interpretation of Scripture) and that that which is spoken, be by that meanes vnderstood of the hearers.
11 An other argument: The gift of tongues without prophecie is not onely vnprofitable to the faithfull, but also doeth very much hurt as well to them, as to the vnfaithfull which should be wonne in the publike assemblies. For by this meanes it commeth to passe, that the faithfull seeme to other to bee madde, much lesse can the vnfaithfull be instructed thereby. f Looke Acts.4.13. 12 The conclusion: The edifying of the congregation is a rule and square of the right vse of all spirituall giftes. 13 The maner howe to vse the gift of tongues. It may bee lawfull for one or two, or at the most for three, to vse the gift of tongues, one after another in an assemblie, so that there be some to expound the same: but if there bee none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speake to himselfe alone. 14 The maner of prophecying: Let two or three propound, and let the other iudge of that that is propounded, whether it bee agreeable to the worde of God or no: If in this examination the Lorde giue any man ought to speake, let them giue him leaue to speake. Let euery man bee admitted to prophecie, seuerally and in his order, so farre foorth as it is requisite for the edifying of the Church: Let them be content to be subiect eche to others iudgement.
15 Women are commaunded to be silent in publique assemblies, and they are commaunded to aske of their husbands at home. ∵ 1.Tim.2.12. ✠ Gene.3.16.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the Church.
36 [16] Came the worde of God out from you?
either came it vnto you onely?
37 If any man thinke himselfe to be a Prophet, or [u] spiritual, let him acknowledge, that the things, that I write vnto you, are the commaundements of
the Lord.
38 [17] And if any man be ignorant, let him bee ignorant.
39 [18] Wherefore, brethren, couet to prophecie, and forbid not to speake languages.
40 Let all thinges bee done honestly, and by order.

16 A generall conclusion of the treatise of the right vse of spirituall giftes in assemblies: with a sharpe reprehension, least the Corinthians might alone seeme to themselues to be wise.
u Skilfull in knowing and iudging spirituall things.

17 The Church ought not to care for such as be stubburnely ignorant, and wil not abide to be taught, but to goe forwarde notwithstanding, in those thinges which are right. 18 Prophecie ought simplie to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Gospell that Paul preached: 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul sawe Christ. 9 Hee had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward he was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose againe, and wee all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemie, death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 32 At Ephesus Paul fought with beastes. 35 Howe the dead are raised. 45 The first Adam. The last Adam. 47 The first and second man. 51 We shall all be changed, wee shall not all sleepe. 55 Deaths sting. 57 Victorie. 58 Constancie and stedfastnes.

Moreouer [1] ✠ brethren, I declare vnto you the Gospell, which I preached vnto you, which yee haue also receiued, and wherein yee [a] continue,
2 And whereby yee are saued, if yee keepe in memorie, after what maner I preached it vnto you, [b] except ye haue beleeued in vaine.
3 For first of all, I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued, howe that Christ died for our sinnes, according to the ✠ Scriptures, 4 And that hee was buried, and that hee arose
the third day, according to the ∵ Scriptures, 5 ✠ And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the [c] twelue.
6 After that, hee was seene of moe then fiue hundreth brethren at [d] once: whereof many re-maine vnto this present, and some also are asleepe.
7 After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles.
8 ✠ [2] And last of all he was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time.
9 * For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meete to bee called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.
10 ✠ But by the grace of God, I am that I am:
and his grace which is in me, was not in vaine: but I laboured more aboundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.
11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so haue ye beleeued.
12 ¶ [3] Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen

1 The [illegible] tise of [illegible] concer[illegible] surre[illegible] vseth [illegible] [illegible] Scriptures and by the witnes of the Apostles, and of more then fiue hundreth brethren, and last of all by his owne.
a In the profession whereof you continue yet. b Which is very absurde, and cannot be, but that they that beleeue, must reape the fruite of faith. ✠ Isai.53.5. 1.peter 2.24. ∵ Ionas 2.1. ✠ Iohn 20.19. c Of those twelue picked and chosen Apostles, which were commonly called twelue, though Iudas was put out of the number. d Not at seuerall times, but together and at one instant. ✠ Acts.9.5. 2 Hee maintaineth by the way, the authoritie of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credite among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might be of force & waight amongst them. In the meane season hee compareth himselfe in such sort after a certaine diuine arte with certaine other, that hee maketh himselfe inferiour to them all. * Ephes.3.8. ✠ Ephes.3.7. 3 The first argument to prooue that there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen againe, therefore the dead shall rise againe.

[illegible] the dead,how say some among you,that there is no resurrection of the dead?
13 4 For if there be no resurrection of the dead,
then is Christ not risen: 14 5 And if Christ be not risen,then is our preaching vaine,and your faith is also vaine.
15 And wee are founde also false witnesses of God: for we haue testified of God, that hee hath raised vp Christ: whom he hath not raised vp, if so be the dead be not raised.
16 6 For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised.
17 And if Christ bee not raysed, your faith is vaine: 7 ye are e yet in your sinnes.
18 8 And so they which are a sleepe in Christ, are perished.
19 9 If in this life onely we haue hope in Christ,
we are of all men the most miserable.
20 10 But nowe is Christ risen from the dead, 11 and was made the ✠ f first fruites of them that slept.
21 12 For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.
22 For as in Adam all die,euen so in Christ shal all be g made aliue, 23 13 But euery man in his ✠ owne order: the first fruites is Christ, afterwarde, they that are of Christ,at his comming shall rise againe.
24 14 Then shalbe the h ende,when he hath de-liuered vp the kingdome to God,euen the Father, when he hath put downe i all rule, and all autho-ritie and power.
25 For hee must reigne ∵ till hee hath put all his enemies k vnder his feete.
26 The l last enemie that shall bee destroyed, is death.
27 ✠ For hee hath put downe all things vnder his feete.(And when he saith that all things are subdued to him,it is manifest that he is excepted,which did put downe all things vnder him.) 28 And when all thinges shalbe subdued vnto him, m then shall the Sonne also himselfe bee subiect vnto him,that did subdue al things vnder him, that n God may be all in all.
29 15 Els what shall they doe which are baptized o for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?
30 16 Why are wee also in ieopardie euery
houre?
31 By your p reioycing which I haue in Christ
Iesus our Lord,I die dayly.
32 17 If I haue fought with beastes at Ephesus q after the maner of men, what aduantageth it me, if the dead bee not raised vp? ✠ 18 let vs r eate and drinke: for to morowe we shall die.
33 19 Be not deceiued: euill speakings corrupt good maners.
34 Awake to liue righteously, and sinne not:
for some haue not the knowledge of God,I speake this to your shame.
35 20 But some man will say, Howe are the dead raised vp? and with what body come they foorth?
36 21 O foole, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.
37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shalbe, but bare corne as it falleth,of wheat,or of some other.
38 22 But God giueth it a body at his pleasure,

4 The seconde by an absurditie. If there be no resurrection of the dead,then is not Christ risen againe.
5 The proofe of that absurditie,by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen againe,the preaching of the Gospel is in vaine, and the credite that you gaue vnto it,is vaine,and we are lyars.
6 He repeateth the same argument taken of an absurditie,purposing to shew how faith is in vaine,if the resurrection of Christ be taken away.
7 First, seeing [illegible] is the pu[illegible] of sinne, [illegible] should we [illegible] our [illegible] they [illegible] if [illegible] not [illegible] in [illegible] which

k Christ is considered here, as he appeared in the forme of a seruant, in which respect hee ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was giuen him of his Father.
l The shutting vp of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shalbe put vnder his feete,then must it needes be that death also shalbe subdued vnder him.
✠ Psalm.8.6. hebr.2.8.
m Not because the Sonne was not subiect to his Father before,but because his body,that is to say, the Church which is here in distresse, and not yet wholy partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the Saints which lee in the graues,shall not be glorified vntill the resurrection: but Christ as hee is God, hath vs subiect to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest,he is subiect to his Father together with vs. August. booke 1 chapter 8. of the Trinitie.

[illegible] sed, nor haue obtained remission of their sinnes. 8 Secondly, vnlesse [illegible] certaine that Christ rose againe, all they which died in Christ are pe[rished] [illegible] what profite commeth of faith? 9 The thirde argument which [illegible] from an absurditie: for vnlesse there bee an other life, wherein such as [illegible] in Christ shalbe blessed, they were the most miserable of all crea[tures] [illegible] this life they are the most miserable. 10 A conclusion of the for[mer] [illegible]: Therefore Christ is risen againe. 11 Hee putteth the last conclu[sion] [illegible] proposition of the argument that followeth. Christ is risen againe: [illegible] wee the faithfull (for of them hee speaketh) rise againe. Then fol[loweth] [illegible] reason of this consequent: for Christ is set foorth vnto vs,to be con[sidered] [illegible] as a priuate man apart and by himselfe, but as the first fruites: And he [illegible] which was knowen to all men, to wit, that the whole heape is sancti[fied] [illegible] fruites. ✠ Coloss. 1. 18. reuelat. 1. 5. f Hee alludeth to the first [illegible] the offring whereof sanctified the rest of the fruites. 12 An other [illegible] of the same consequent: for Christ is to bee considered as opposite to [illegible] from one man Adam sinne came ouer all, so from one man Christ, life [illegible] all: that is to [illegible] all the faithfull, as they die, because by nature [illegible] of Adam, [illegible] because in Christ they are made the children of God [illegible] are quickened and restored to life by him. g Shall rise by the ver[tue] [illegible] 13 Hee doeth two thinges together: for hee sheweth that the re[surrection] [illegible] in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstan[ding] [illegible] passeth them, both in time (for hee was the first that rose againe from [the dead]) and also in honour, because that from him and in him is all our life and [illegible]. Then by this occasion hee passeth to the next argument. ✠ 1.Thessaloni[ans] 4.13. 14 The fourth argument, wherewith also hee confirmeth the other, [illegible] a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reigne. And this is the ma[ner] of his reigne, that the Father will bee shewed to bee King in his Sonne who was made man, to whome all thinges are made subiect (the promiser onely except) to the ende that the Father may afterwardes triumph in his Sonne the conque[r]our. And hee maketh two partes of this reigne and dominion of the Sonne, wherein the Fathers glory consisteth: to wit, the ouercomming of his enemies (whereof some must bee depriued of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, bee they neuer so proude and mightie, and other must bee vtterly abolished, as death) and a plaine and full deliuerie of the godly from all enemies, that by this meanes God may fully set foorth the body of the Church cleauing fast vnto their head Christ, his kingdome and glory, as a King in his subiects. Moreouer, hee putteth the first degree of this kingdome in the resurrection of the Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full coniunction of the members with the head, which shall bee in the latter day. Nowe all these tende to this purpose, to shewe that vnlesse the dead doe rise againe, neither the Father can be King aboue all, neither Christ be Lorde of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death be ouercome, nor the glory of God be full in his Sonne, nor his Sonnes in his members. h The shutting vp and finishing of all things. i All his enemies which shall bee spoyled of all the power they haue. ∵ Psalme 110. 1. actes 2.34. hebr. 1.13. and 10.13.

n By this hie kinde of speache, is set foorth an incomprehensible glory which floweth from God, and shall fill all of vs, as we are ioyned together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reserue his preeminence. 15 The fifth argument taken of the ende of Baptisme, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead: that is to say, that they may haue a remedie against death, because that baptisme is a token of regeneration. o They that are baptized,to this ende and purpose, that death may be put out in them, or to rise againe from the dead, whereof baptisme is a seale. 16 The sixt argument: Vnlesse there bee a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so dayly cast themselues into danger of so many deaths? p As though hee sayde, I die dayly, as all the miseries I suffer can well witnes, which I may truely boast of that I haue suffered amongst you. 17 The taking away of an obiection: But thou Paul didst ambitiously as commonly men are wont to doe, when thou didst fight with beastes at Ephesus: that is very like saith Paul, for what could that aduantage mee, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for? q Not vpon any godly motion,nor casting mine eyes vpon God, but caried away with vaine glory, or a certaine headines. ✠ Isai.22.13. 18 The seuenth argument, which dependeth vpon the last: If there bee no resurrection of the dead, why doe wee giue our selues to any thing els, saue to eating and drinking? r These are speaches that Epicures vse. 19 The conclusion with a sharpe exhortation, that they take heede of the naughtie company of certaine: from whence hee sheweth that this mischiefe sprang: warning them to bee wise with sobrietie vnto righteousnesse. 20 Nowe that hee hath prooued the resurrection, hee discouereth their doltishnes, in that they skoffingly demaunded, howe it could bee that the dead could rise againe, and if they did rise againe, they asked mockingly, what maner of bodies they should haue. Therefore hee sendeth these fellowes which seemed to themselues to bee marueilous wise and wittie, to bee instructed of poore rude husbandmen. 21 Thou mightest haue learned either of these, sayeth Paul, by dayly experience: for seedes are sowen, and rot, and yet notwithstanding so farre it is off that they perish, that contrarywise they growe vp farre more beautifull: and whereas they are sowen naked and dry, they spring vp greene from death by the vertue of God: and doeth it seeme incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that indeed with a farre more excellent qualitie? 22 Wee see a diuersitie both in one and the selfe same thing which hath nowe one forme and then another, and yet keepeth it owne kinde: as it is euident in a graine which is sowen bare, but springeth vp farre after another sort: and also in diuers kindes of one selfe same sort, as amongst beasts: and also among things of diuers sortes, as the heauenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which also differ very much one from another. Therefore there is no cause why wee should reiect either the resurrection of the bodies, or the changing of them into a better state, as a thing impossible, or strange.

when to euery seede his owne body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beastes, and another of fishes, and another of birdes.

40 There are also heauenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glorie of the heauenly is one, and the glorie of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glorie of the sunne, and another glorie of the moone, and another glorie of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glorie.

42 [23] So also is the resurrection of the dead. The bodie is [f] sowen in corruption, and is raysed in incorruption.

43 It is sowen in [t] dishonour, and is raysed in glory: it is sowen in weakenesse, and is raysed in [u] power.

44 [24] It is sowen a naturall body, and is raysed a spirituall body: there is a naturall body, and there is a spirituall body.

45 [25] As it is also written, The [x] first man ✠ Adam was made a liuing soule: and the last Adam was made a [y] quickening Spirit.

46 [26] Howbeit that was not first which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and afterward that which is spirituall.

47 The first man is of the earth, [z] earthly: the second man is the Lord from [a] heauen.

48 [27] As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heauenly, such are they also that are heauenly.

49 And as wee haue borne the [b] image of the earthly, so shall wee beare the image of the heauenly.

50 [28] This say I, brethren, that [c] flesh & blood cannot inherite the kingdome of God, neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 [29] Behold, I shew you a [d] secret thing, We shall not all sleepe, but we shall all be changed, 52 In [e] a moment, in the twinckling of an eye at the last ✠ trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shalbe raysed vp incorruptible, and we shalbe changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortall must put on immortalitie.

23 He maketh three maner of qualities of the bodies being raysed: Incorruption, to wit, because they shalbe found, and altogether of a nature that can not be corrupt: Glorie, because they shalbe adorned with beautie and honour: Power, because they shall continue euerlasting without meate, drinke, and all other helpes, without which this fraile life cannot keepe it selfe from corruption.
f Is buried, and euen is hid as seede in the ground.
t Voide of honour, void of glorie and beautie.
u Freed from the former weaknesse, whereas it is subiect to such alteration and change, that it cannot maintaine it selfe without meate and drinke and such other like helpes.
24 He sheweth perfitely in one word, this change of the qualitie of the body by the resurrection, when he sayeth: that of a naturall body, it shall become a spirituall body: which two qualities being cleane different the one from the other, hee straightway expoundeth, and setteth foorth diligently.
25 That is called a naturall body, which is quickened and maintained by a liuing soule onely: such as Adam was, of whome all wee are borne naturally: and that is saide to be a spirituall, which together with the soule is quickened with a farre more excellent vertue: to wit, with the Spirit of God, which descendeth from Christ the second Adam, into vs. x Adam is called the first man, because he is the roote as it were from whence we spring, and Christ is the latter man: because he is the beginning of all them that are spirituall, and in him we are all comprehended. ✠ Gen.2.7. y Christ is called a Spirit, by reason of that most excellent nature, that is to say, God who dwelleth in him bodily, as Adam is called a liuing soule, by reason of the soule which is the best part in him. 26 Secondly he willeth the order of this double state or qualitie to be obserued, that the naturall was first, Adam being created of the clay of the earth: and the spirituall followed and came vpon it, to wit, when as the Lorde being sent from heauen, indued our flesh which was prepared & made fit for him, with the fulnes of the Godhead. z Walking in durt, and wholly giuen to an earthly nature. a The Lord is saide to come downe from heauen by that kind of speach, whereby that which is proper to one is vouched of an other. 27 He applieth both the earthly naturalnesse of Adam (if I may so say) to our bodies, so long as they are naturally conuersant on earth, to wit, in this life, and in the graue: and also the Spiritualitie of Christ to the same our bodies, after that they are risen againe: and hee saith, that that goeth before, and this shall follow. b Not a vaine and false image, but such an one as had the trueth with it in deede. 28 The conclusion: We cannot be partakers of the glory of God, vnlesse we put off all that grosse and filthie nature of our bodies subiect to corruption, that the same body may be adorned with incorruptible glory. c Flesh and blood are taken here for a liuing body, which cannot attaine to incorruption, vnlesse it put off corruption. 29 Hee goeth further declaring that it shall come to passe that they which shalbe founde aliue in the latter day, shall not descend into that corruption of the graue, but shalbe renued with a sudden change, which change is very requisite; and that the certaine enioying of the benefite and victorie of Christ, is deferred vnto that latter time. d A thing that hath bin hid, and neuer knowen hitherto, & therefore worthy that you giue good eare vnto it. e He sheweth vs that the time shalbe very short. ✠ Mat.24.31. 1.thes.4.16.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortall hath put on immortalitie, then shalbe brought to passe the saying that is written, ✠ Death is swallowed vp into victorie.

55 O death where is thy sting? O graue where is thy victorie?

56 The sting of death is sinne: and ÿ strength of sinne is the Lawe.

57 ✠ But thankes be vnto God, which hath giuen vs victorie through our Lord Iesus Christ.

58 [30] Therefore my beloued brethren, be yee stedfast, vnmoueable, abounding alwayes in the worke of the Lorde, forasmuch as yee knowe that your labour is not in vaine in the [f] Lord.

✠ 1.Iohn.5.5.
30 An exhortation taken of the profite that ensueth, that seeing they vnderstand, that the glory of the other life is laid vp for faithfull workemen, they continue and stand fast in the trueth of the doctrine of the resurrection of the dead.
f Through the Lordes helpe and goodnesse working in vs.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Hee exhorteth them to helpe the poore brethren of Hierusalem: 10 Then hee commendeth Timothie: 13 and so with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.

Concerning [1] the gathering for the Saintes, as I haue ordeined in the Churches of Galatia, so doe ye also.

2 Euery [a] first day of the weeke, let euery one of you put aside by himselfe, and lay vp as God hath [b] prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoeuer ye shall alowe by [c] letters, them will I send to bring your liberalitie vnto Hierusalem.

4 [2] And if it bee meete that I goe also, they shall goe with me.

5 Nowe I will come vnto you, after I haue gone through Macedonia (for I will passe through Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that yee may bring me on my way, whithersoeuer I goe.

7 For I will not see you nowe in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lorde permit.

8 And I will tary at Ephesus vntill Pentecost.

9 For a great doore and [d] effectuall is opened vnto me: and there are many aduersaries.

10 ¶ Nowe if Timotheus come, see that he be [e] without feare with you: for he worketh the work of the Lord, euen as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore despise him: but conuey him foorth [f] in peace, that he may come vnto me: for I looke for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him, to come vnto you with the brethren: but his minde was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall haue conuenient time.

PAVL 1 an Apostle of IESVS Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus with all the Saints, which are in all Achaia:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God
our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.
3 ✠ 2 a Blessed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of b mercies, and the God of all comfort,
4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, 3 that we may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith we our selues are comforted of God.
5 For as the c sufferings of Christ abounde in vs, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.
6 4 And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and saluation, which is d wrought in the induring of the same sufferings, which wee also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation.
7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as we know that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.
8 5 For brethren, we woulde not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, howe wee were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that wee altogether e doubted euen of life.
9 Yea, wee receiued the sentence of death in f our selues, because wee shoulde not trust in our selues, but in God, which rayseth the dead.
10 Who deliuered vs from so g great a death, and doeth deliuer vs: in whome wee trust, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs, 11 ✠ 6 So that yee labour together in prayer for vs, 7 that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thankes may bee giuen by many persons for vs.
12 8 For our reioycing is this, the testimonie of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly h purenesse, and not in fleshly wisedome, but by the i grace of God wee haue had our conuersation in the worlde, and most of all to you wardes.
13 For wee write k none other thinges vnto you, then that ye read or els that ye acknowledge, and I trust ye shall acknowledge vnto the l ende.
14 Euen as yee haue acknowledged vs partly,
that we are your m reioycing, euen as yee are ours,
in the n day of our Lord Iesus.
15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that ye might haue had a o double grace,
16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia, vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.
17 9 When I therefore was thus minded, did I vse lightnesse? or minde I those thinges which I minde, according to the p flesh, that with me should be, q Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?
18 10 Yea, God is r faithfull, that our worde towarde you was not Yea, and Nay.
19 11 For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by me, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, s was not Yea, and Nay:
but in t him it was Yea.
20 12 For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in u him Amen, vnto the glorie of God through x vs.

g From these great dangers.

✠ Rom.15.30.

6 That he may not seeme to boast himselfe, he attributeth all to God, and therewith also confesseth that he attributeth much to the prayers of the faithfull.

7 The ende of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious vnto vs.

8 Secondly hee putteth away an other slaunder, to wit, that he was a light man, and such a one as was not lightly to be credited, seeing that he promised to come vnto them, and came not. And first he speaketh of the simplicitie of his minde, and sinceritie, which they knew both by his voyce when he was present, & they ought to acknowledge it also in his letters, being absent: and moreouer he protesteth that he wil neuer be otherwise.

h With clearenes, and holy and true plainenesse of mind, b Most mercifull. 3 The Lorde doeth comfort vs to this ende and purpose, that wee may so much the more surely comfort others. c The miseries which wee suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffereth in vs. 4 He denieth that either his afflictions wherewith hee was often afflicted, or the consolations which hee receiued of God, may iustly bee despised, seeing that the Corinthians both might and ought take great occasion to bee confirmed by either of them. d Although saluation bee giuen vs freely, yet because there is a way appoynted vs whereby wee must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and vpright life, which wee must runne, therefore wee are saide to worke our saluation, Philipians 2.12. And because it is God onely that of his free good will worketh all thinges in vs, therefore is hee saide to worke the saluation in vs by those selfe same things by which wee must passe to euerlasting life, after that wee haue once ouercome all incombrances. 5 Hee witnesseth that he is not onely not ashamed of his afflictions, but that hee desireth also to haue all men knowe the greatnesse of them and also his deliuerie from them, although it be not yet perfite. e I knowe not at all what to doe, neither did I see by mans helpe which way to saue my life. f I was resolued within my selfe to die.

as God himselfe can witnesse. i Trusting to that very wisedome, which God of his free goodnesse hath giuen me from heauen. k Hee saith, hee writeth barely and simplie: for hee that writeth in coloured sort, is rightly saide to write otherwise then wee reade: and this he saith the Corinthians shall knowe and like of very well. l Perfitely. m Pauls reioycing in the Lorde was, that he had wonne the Corinthians: and they themselues reioyced that such an Apostle was their instructour, and taught them so purely and syncerely. n When he shall sit as iudge. o Another benefite. 9 He putteth away their slander and false report by denying it, and first of all in that that diuers went about to perswade the Corinthians, that in the preaching of the Gospel, Paul agreed not to himselfe: for this was the matter and the case. p As men doe, which will rashly promise any thing, and change their purpose at euery turning of an hand. q That I should say and vnsay a thing? 10 He calleth God to witnesse and for iudge, of his constancie in preaching and teaching one selfe same Gospel. r True, and of whose faithfulnesse it were horrible wickednes to doubt. 11 He ioyneth also with himselfe, his fellowes as witnesses with whome he fully consented in teaching one selfe same thing, to wit, one selfe same Christ. s Was not diuers and wauering. t That is, in God. 12 Last of all he declareth the summe of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of saluation are sure and ratified in Christ. u Christ is set foorth to exhibite and fulfill them all most assuredly, and without all doubt. x Through our ministerie.

21 13 And it is God which stablisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath anoynted vs.
22 Who hath also sealed vs, and hath giuen
the y earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.
23 14 Nowe, I call God for a recorde vnto my z soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.
24 15 Not that wee haue dominion ouer your faith, but we are helpers of your a ioy: for by faith ye stand.

13 He attributeth the praise of this constancie, onely to the grace of GOD through the holy Ghost, and therewithall concludeth, that they cannot doubt of his faith and his fellowes, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselues doe knowe all this to be true. y An earnest, is whatsoeuer is giuen to confirme a promise. 14 Nowe comming to the matter, he sweareth, that he did not onely, not lightly alter his purpose of comming to them, but rather that he came not vnto them for this cause, that he might not be constrained to deale more sharpely with them being present, then he would. z Against my selfe, and to the danger of mine owne life. 15 He remooueth all suspicion of arrogancie, declaring that he speaketh not as a Lorde vnto them, but as a seruaunt, appointed of God to comfort them. a Hee setteth the ioy and peace of conscience, which God is authour of, against tyrannous feare, and therewithall sheweth the ende of the Gospell.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee excuseth his not comming vnto them, 2 and priuilie reprehendeth them: 4 Hee sheweth that such is his affection towardes them, 5 that hee neuer reioyceth but when they are merie. 6 Perceiuing the adulterer (whom he commaunded to bee deliuered vp to Satan) to repent, he requesteth that they forgiue him. 12 Hee mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

BVt I determined thus in my selfe, that I would not come againe to you in a heauinesse.
2 For if I make you sorie, who is he then that should make me glad, but the same which is made sorie by me?
3 And I wrote this same thing vnto you, lest when I came, I should take heauinesse of them, of whom I ought to reioyce: this b confidence haue
I in you all, that my ioye is the ioye of you all.
4 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart
I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that yee shoulde be made sorie, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue, specially vnto you.
5 1 And if any hath caused sorowe, the same hath not made c me sorie, but d partly (lest I should more e charge him) you all.
6 It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many.
7 So that nowe contrariwise yee ought rather to f forgiue him, and comfort him, lest the same shoulde bee swallowed vp with ouermuch heauinesse.
8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you woulde
g confirme your loue towards him.
9 For this cause also did I write, that I might knowe the proofe of you, whether ye woulde be obedient in all things.
10 To whom yee forgiue any thing, I forgiue also: for verely if I forgaue any thing, to whom I forgaue it, for your sakes forgaue I it in the h sight of Christ,
11 Lest Satan should circumuent vs: for we are not ignorant of his i enterprises.
12 ¶ 2 Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christes Gospell, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord,

a Causing griefe amongst you, which he shoulde haue done, if he had come to them before they had repented them.
b For I trusted that you woulde take that out of the way foorthwith, which you knewe I was discontented with, considering how you are perswaded that my ioye is your ioye.
1 He passeth to another part of this Epistle: which notwithstanding is put amongst the first, whereunto he returneth afterward: and he handleth the releasing and vnloosing of the incestuous person, because he seemed to haue giuen sufficient testimonie of his repentance: shewing the true vse of excommunication, to witte, that it proceede not of hatred, but of loue, and so ende, lest if wee keepe no measure, we serue Satan the deuil.
c As if he saide, All that sorowe is so cleane wiped away, as though he had neuer felt it. d As for me (sayeth Paul) I haue no more to doe with him e Lest I should ouercharge him, who is burdened ynough of himselfe, which I would be glad were taken from him. f That whereas before you punished him sharpely, you woulde nowe forgiue him. g That at my intreatie, you woulde declare by the consent of the whole Church, that you take him againe for a brother. h Truely and from the heart. i Of his mischeeuous counsell and deuilish will. 2 Hee returneth to the confirmation of his Apostleship, and bringeth foorth the testimonies, both of his labour, and also of Gods blessing.

13 I had no rest in my spirite, because I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leaue of them, and went away into Macedonia.
14 Nowe thankes be vnto God, which alwayes maketh vs to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the k sauour of his knowledge by vs in eue-ry place.
15 3 For wee are vnto God the sweete sauour of Christ, in them that are saued, and in them which perish.
16 To the one we are the sauour of death, vnto death, and to the other the sauour of life, vnto life:
4 and who is sufficient for these things?
17 ✣ For wee are not as many, which make l marchandise of the worde of God: but as of sinceritie, but as of God in the sight of God speake we in Christ.

k He alludeth to the oynting of the Priests, and the incense of the sacrifices.
3 He denieth that ought should be taken away from the dignitie of his Apostleship, because they sawe euidently that it was not receiued with like successe in euery place, nay rather very many reiected and detested him, seeing that he preacheth Christ, not onely as a Sauiour of them that beleeue, but also as a iudge of them that contemne him. 4 Againe, he putteth away all suspicion of arrogancie, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whom he serueth sincerely, and without all dishonest affection: whereof hee maketh them witnesses, euen to the 6. verse of the next chapter. ✣ Chap. 4.2. l We doe not handle it craftily and couetously, or lesse sincerely then wee ought: and he vseth a metaphore which is taken from huck-sters, which vse to play the false harlots with whatsoeuer commeth into their handes.

CHAP. III.

1 He desireth no other commendation, 3 then their continuing in the faith. 6 Hee is a minister not of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8 Hee sheweth the difference of the Lawe and the Gospel, 13 that the brightnesse of the Lawe doeth rather dimme the sight then lighten it: 18 But the Gospel doeth make manifest Gods countenance vnto vs.

DOe wee begin to praise our selues againe? or neede wee as some other, epistles of recommendation vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you?
2 Ye are our epistle, written in our heartes, which is vnderstand, and read of all men, 3 In that ye are a manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, b ministred by vs, and written, not with yncke, but with the Spirite of the c liuing God, 1 not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.
4 And such d trust haue wee through Christ
to God:
5 Not that wee are sufficient of our selues, to thinke any thing, as of our selues: but our e suffi-ciencie is of God, 6 2 Who also hath made vs able ministers of the Newe testament, not of the f letter, but of the Spirite: for the letter killeth, but the Spirite giueth life.
7 If then the ministration of death written with letters g and ingrauen in stones, was h glorious, so that the children of Israel coulde not beholde the face of Moses, for the glorie of his

1 He alludeth [illegible] the way, to the comparison of the outward ministerie of the priesthood of Leui, with the ministerie of the Gospel, and the Apostolicall ministerie, which he handleth afterward more fully. d This boldnesse we shewe, and thus gloriously may we boast of the worthinesse and fruite of our ministerie. e In that we are fitte and meete to make other men partakers of so great a grace. 2 He amplifieth his ministerie and his fellowes: that is to say, the ministerie of the Gospel, comparing it with the ministerie of the Lawe, which he considereth in the person of Moses, by whom the Lawe was giuen: against whom he setteth Christ the Authour of the Gospel. Nowe this comparison is taken from the very substance of the ministerie. The Lawe is as it were a writing, of it selfe dead, and without efficacie: but the Gospel, or newe Couenant, is as it were the verie vertue of God it selfe, in renewing, iustifying, and sauing of men. The law propoundeth death, accusing al men of vnrighteousnesse: The Gospel offereth and giueth righteousnesse and life. The gouernance of the Lawe serued for a time to the promise: The Gospel remaineth to the end of the worlde. Therefore what is the glorie of that in comparison of the maiestie of this? f Not of the Lawe, but of the Gospell. g Imprinted and ingrauen: so that by this place we may plainely perceiue, that the Apostle speaketh not of the ceremonies of the Law, but much of the tenne commandements. h This word, Glorie, betokeneth a brightnesse, and a maiestie which was bodily in Moses, but spiritually in Christ.

countenance

i Whereby God offereth, yea and giueth the Spirite, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirite, working life.
k To wit, of Christ, which being imputed to vs as our owne, we are not onely not condemned, but also wee are crowned as righteous.
l The Lawe, yea, and the ten commandements themselues, together with Moses, is abolished, if we consider the ministerie of Moses apart by it selfe.
3 Hee sheweth wherein standeth this glorie of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that that it setteth forth plainely and [illegible] the Lawe [illegible] darkely, [illegible] them [illegible] to be [illegible] Christ, [illegible] so [illegible] it had [illegible] them.

countenance (which glorie is done away.) 8 Howe shall not the i ministration of the Spirite be more glorious?
9 For if the ministerie of condemnation was glorious, much more doeth the ministration of k righteousnesse exceede in glorie.
10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glorie.
11 For if that which should be l abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth, be glorious.
12 3 Seeing then that we haue such trust, wee vse great boldnesse of speach.
13 ✠ 4 And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke vnto the m ende of that which should be abolished.
14 Therefore their mindes are hardened: for vntill this day remaineth the same couering vntaken away in the reading of the olde Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.
15 But euen vnto this day, when Moses is read, the vaile is laid ouer their hearts.
16 Neuertheles when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shalbe taken away.
17 Nowe the n Lorde is the ✠ Spirite, and where the Spirite of the Lord is, there is libertie.
18 5 But we all behold as in a mirrour the glorie of the Lorde with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

[illegible] ✠ [illegible] 4 [illegible] expoundeth by the way the allegorie of Moses his couering, which was a [illegible] the darkenesse and weakenesse that is in men, which were rather dulled [illegible] shining of the Lawe, then lightened: which couering was taken away [illegible] comming of Christ, who lighteneth the heartes, and turneth them to the [illegible] wee may be brought from the slauerie of this blindnesse, and set in the [illegible] the light, by the vertue of Christes spirite. m Into the verie bottome [illegible] ministerie. n Christ is that Spirite, which taketh away that couering, [illegible] our heartes, whereunto also the Lawe it selfe called vs, though in vaine, [illegible] speaketh to dead men, vntill this Spirite quickeneth vs. ✠ Iohn 4.24. [illegible] afterwardes in the allegorie of the couering, he compareth the Gospel to [illegible] although it be most bright and sparkeling, yet doeth it not onely [illegible] their eyes, which looke in it, as the law doeth, but also transformeth them [illegible] so that they also be partakers of the glory and shining of it, to ligh[illegible] as Christ said vnto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he him[selfe is] the onely light. Wee are also commaunded in another place, to shine as [illegible] the worlde, because we are partakers of Gods Spirite. But Paul spea[keth] [illegible] properly, of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that [illegible], and that that commeth after, and that, setting them his owne ex[ample] [illegible] his fellowes.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee sheweth that hee hath so laboured in preaching the Gospel, 4 that such are euen blinded of Satan, who doe not perceiue the brightnesse thereof, 7 that the same is caried in earthen vessels, 10 who are subiect to many miseries, 16 and therefore he exhorteth them by his owne example to be couragious, 17 and contemne this present life.

1 Now he plainely witnesseth that both he & his fellowes (through the mercie of God) do their vocation and duety vprightly & sincerely, neglecting all dangers.
a Though we are broken in pieces

Therefore, 1 seeing that wee haue this ministerie, as we haue receiued mercie, we a faint not:
2 But haue cast from vs the b clokes of shame, and walke not in craftinesse, neither handle we the worde of God c deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth wee approue our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God.
3 2 If our Gospell bee then hid, it is hid to with miseries and calamities, yet we yeelde not. b Subtiltie, and all kinde of deceite, which men hunt after, as it were dennes and lurking holes, to couer their shamelesse dealings withall. c This is it that in the former Chapter he called, making marchandise of the worde of God. 2 An obiection: Many heare the Gospel, and yet are no more lightened thereby, then by the preaching of the Lawe. He answereth, The fault is in the men themselues, whose eyes Satan plucketh out, who ruleth in this world. And yet notwithstanding doeth he and his fellowes set forth the most cleare light of the Gospell to be seene and beholden, seeing that Christ whom onely they preach, is he in whom onely God will be knowen, and as it were seene.

4 In whom the God of this worlde hath blinded the mindes, that is, of the infidels, that the d light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the e image of God, should not shine vnto them.
5 3 For wee preach not our selues, but Christ Iesus the Lorde, and our selues your seruaunts for f Iesus sake.
6 For God ✠ g that commanded the light to shine out of darkenesse, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to giue the h light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Iesus Christ.
7 4 But wee haue this treasure in earthen vessels, 5 that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of vs.
8 Wee are afflicted on euery side, yet are we not in distresse: wee are in doubt, but yet we despaire not.
9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.
10 6 Euery where we beare about in our body the i dying of the Lorde Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also be made manifest in our bodies.
11 For we which k liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might be made manifest in our l mortall flesh.
12 7 So then death worketh in vs, & life in you.
13 8 And because we haue the same m spirite of faith, according as it is written, ✠ I beleeued, and therefore haue I spoken, we also beleeue, and therefore speake, 14 Knowing that hee which hath raised vp the Lord Iesus, shall raise vs vp also by Iesus, and shall set vs with you.
15 9 For all things are for your sakes, n that that most plenteous grace by the thankesgiuing of many, may redound to the praise of God.
16 Therefore we faint not, 10 but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is o renewed daily.
17 For our p light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth vnto vs a farre most excellent and an eternall waight of q glory:
18 While wee looke not on the things which are seene, but on the things which are not seene: for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seene, are eternall.

d The light of plaine & lightsome preaching, which telleth foorth the glory of Christ.
e In whom the Father setteth foorth himselfe to be seene and beholden.
3 He remooueth according to his accustomed maner, al suspicion of ambition, aduowshing that he teacheth faithfully, but as a seruant, & witnessing that all this light which he and his felowes giue to other, proceedeth from the Lorde.

✠ Gene. 1.3.
g Which made onely with his worde.
h That being lightened of God, we shoulde in like sort giue that light to others.
4 He taketh away a stumbling blocke, by which was darkened amongest some the bright shining of the ministerie of the Gospell, to witte, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men. Paul answereth, that he and his fellowes, are as it were, earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure.
5 He bringeth marueilous reasons, why the Lord doeth so afflict his chiefest seruants, to the end that he,

that all men may perceiue that they stand not by any mans vertue, but by the singular vertue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but neuer perish. 6 An amplification of the former sentence, wherein hee compareth his afflictions to a dayly death, and the vertue of the Spirite of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death. i So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithfull, but especially the ministers are in. k Which liue that life, to witte, by the Spirit of Christ, amongest so many and so great miseries. l Subiect to that miserable condition. 7 A very cunning conclusion: as if he would say, Therefore to be short, wee die, that you may liue by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Churches sake, and they ceased not to confirme all the faithfull with the examples of their patience. 8 He declareth the former sentence, shewing that he and his fellowes die in a sort, to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselues doe first beleeue that, which they propound to other to beleeue, to witte, that they also shall be saued together with them, in Christ. m The same faith, by the inspiration of the same Spirite. ✠ Psalme 116.10. 9 He sheweth howe this constancie is preserued in them, to witte, because they respect Gods glorie and the saluation of the Churches committed vnto them. n When it shall please God to deliuer me, and restore me to you, that exceeding benefite which shall be powred vpon me, shall in like sort redounde to the glory of God, by the thankesgiuing of many. 10 He addeth as it were a triumphant song, howe that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he profiteth dayly: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be susteined in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternall glory. o Gathereth newe strength, that the inwarde man be not ouercome with the miseries which come freshly one vpon the necke of another, being maintained and vpholden with the strength of the inwarde man. p Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of them selues, but because they passe away quickely, when as in deede our whole life is of no great long continuance. q Which remaineth for euer firme and stable, and can neuer be shaken.

CHAP.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee continueth in the same argument, 6 touching the certaine hope of saluation 8 through faith, 12 not to prayse himselfe, 14 seing hee hath God and his Church before his eyes, 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newnes of life in Christ.

For [1] we knowe that if our earthly house of this tabernacle be destroyed, wee haue a building giuen of God, that is, an house not made with handes, but eternall in the heauens.

2 For therefore we sighe, desiring to be [a] clothed with our house, which is from [b] heauen.

3 [2] Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found ✠ naked.

4 For in deede we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened, because wee would not be vnclothed, but would bee clothed vpon, that mor-talitie might be swalowed vp of life.

5 And he that hath [c] created vs for this thing, is God, who also hath giuen vnto vs the earnest of the Spirit.

6 [3] Therefore we are alway [d] bolde, though we knowe that whiles wee are at home in the bodie, we are absent from the Lord,

7 (For we walke by [e] faith, and not by sight.)

8 Neuerthelesse, we are [f] bolde, and loue rather to remoue out of the body, and to dwell with
the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we [g] couet, that both dwelling at home, and remouing from home, wee may be acceptable to him.

10 ✠ [4] For wee must all [h] appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man may receiue the things which are done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill.

11 [5] Knowing therefore that [i] terrour of the Lord, we perswade men, and we are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that wee are made manifest in your consciences.

12 [6] For wee prayse not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that yee may haue to answere against them, which reioyce in the [k] face, and not in the heart.

13 [7] For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether we be in our right minde, we are it vnto you.

14 [8] For that loue of Christ [l] constraineth vs,

15 Because wee thus iudge, that if [m] one bee dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which liue, shoulde not henceforth [n] liue vnto themselues, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 [9] Wherefore, henceforth know wee no man after the flesh, [10] yea though wee had knowen Christ after the flesh, yet nowe henceforth knowe we him no more.

17 [11] Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him
be a [o] newe creature. ✠ Old things are passed away:
beholde, all things are become newe.

18 [12] And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sinnes vnto them, and hath [p] committed to vs the word of reconciliation.

20 Nowe then are we ambassadours for Christ:
as though God did beseeche you through vs, wee pray you in Christes steade, that yee be reconciled
to God.

21 For hee hath made him to be [q] sinne for vs, which [r] knewe no sinne, that wee should be made the [s] righteousnesse of God in him.

1 Taking occasion by the former comparison, hee compareth this miserable body as it is in this life, to a fraile and brickle tabernacle, against which he setteth the heauenly tabernacle, so terming that sure and euerlasting condition of this same body glorified in heauen, in so much saith he, that we are not onely not addicted to this tabernacle, but also doe with sobbes and sighes desire rather that tabernacle. And so this place also concerning the glorie to come, is put within the treatise of the dignitie of the ministerie, as the other was, whereof we spake in the beginning of the second chapter. a He calleth the glorie of immortalitie, which we shalbe as it were clothed with, a garment. b Heauenly, not that the substance of it is heauenly, but for the glorie of it. 2 An exposition of the former saying: Wee doe not without cause, desire to be clad with the heauenly house, that is, with that euerlasting and immortall glorie, as with a garment: for when wee depart hence, wee shall not remaine naked, hauing once cast off the couering of this body, but wee shall take our bodies againe, which shall put on as it were an other garment besides: and therefore we sighe not for the wearinesse of this life, but for the desire of a better life: Neither is this desire in vaine, for wee are made to that life, the pledge whereof we haue, euen the Spirit of adoption. ✠ Reuel. 16.15. c Hee meaneth that first creation, to giue vs to vnderstand, that our bodies were made to this end, that they shoulde be clothed with heauenly immortalitie. 3 Hee inferreth vpon that sentence which went next before, thus, Therefore, seeing that we knowe by the Spirit, that we are strangers so long as wee are here, we patiently suffer this tariance (for wee are nowe so with God, that wee beholde him but by faith, and are therefore nowe absent from him) but so, that we aspire and haue a longing alwayes to him: therefore also we behaue our selues so, that wee may be acceptable to him, both while we liue here, and when we goe from hence to him. d Hee calleth them (bold) which are alwayes resolued with a quiet and setled minde to suffer what dangers so euer, nothing doubting but their ende shalbe happie. e Faith, of those things which we hope for, and not hauing God presently in our viewe. f And yet wee are in such sort bolde, and doe so passe on our pilgrimage with a valiant and quiet minde, that yet notwithstanding wee had rather depart hence to the Lorde. g And seeing it is so, we striue to liue so, that both in this our pilgrimage here we may please him, and that at length wee may bee receiued home to him. ✠ Rom 14.10. 4 That no man might think it to pertaine to all, which he spake of that heauenly glorie, he addeth, that euery one shall first render an accompt of his pilgrimage, after that he is departed from hence. h Wee must all appeare personally, and enquirie shall be made of vs, that all may see, howe we haue liued. 5 Nowe hee passeth ouer, and taking occasion of the former sentence, returneth to the former chap. verse 16. confirming his owne synceritie and his felowes. i That terrible iudgement. 6 He remoueth all suspition of pride, by a newe reason, because it is behoueable, not for his part but for theirs, that his Apostleship be counted syncere against the vaine ostentation of a fewe others. k In outwarde disguisinges, and that coloured shewe of mans wisedome and eloquence, and not in true godlinesse, which is sealed in the heart.

7 The meaning is, Euen when I am mad (as some men thinke of me) whilest I seeme as a foole to boast my selfe, I doe it for your profite, no lesse then when I preache the Gospel simplie vnto you. 8 He goeth forwarde in putting away all suspicion of desire of estimation and boastinge: for the loue of Christ, saith he, compelleth vs hereunto, that seeing he died for vs all, which were dead when as we liued to our selues, (that is, while we were yet giuen to these earthly affections) wee in like sort should consecrate our whole life [illegible] we haue [illegible] of him, to [illegible] wit) being [illegible] ed with [illegible] Ghost, [illegible] and purpo[illegible] we should [illegible] tare vpon [illegible] but that which is heauenly. l Possesseth vs wholy. m Hee speaketh [illegible] sanctification, whereby it commeth to passe that Christ liueth in vs. n [illegible] Rom. chap. 6. and 7. 9 Hee sheweth what it is, not to liue to our selues [illegible] Christ, to wit, to knowe no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to [illegible] conuersant amongst men as not to care for those worldly and carnall [illegible] they doe which respect a mans stocke, his countrey, forme, glorie, riches, [illegible] like, wherein men commonly dote and weary themselues. 10 An [illegible] tion: This is, saith hee, so true, that wee doe not nowe thinke carnally [illegible] himselfe, who hath nowe left the worlde, and therefore must bee co[illegible] vs, spiritually. 11 An exhortation for euery man which is renued [illegible] rite of Christ, to meditate heauenly things, and not earthly. o As [illegible] anewe of God, for though a man bee not newely created when God giueth [illegible] spirite of regeneration, but onely his qualities are changed, yet notwithstan[illegible] sed the holy Ghost to speake so, to teache vs, that wee must attribute all [illegible] glorie of God: not that wee are stockes and blockes, but because God [illegible] both the will to will well, and the power to doe well. ✠ Esa. 43.19. [illegible] 12 Hee commendeth the excellencie of the ministerie of the Gos[illegible] the authoritie of God himselfe, who is the authour of that ministerie [illegible] by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it announceth atonement [illegible] by free forgiuenesse of our sinnes, and iustification offered vnto vs in C[illegible] that so louingly and liberally, that God himselfe doeth after a sort pray [illegible] the mouth of his ministers to haue consideration of themselues, and not [illegible] spise so great a benefite. And when hee so sayeth, hee playnely reprehendeth [illegible] which falsely chalenged to themselues the name of pastours. p Used [illegible] and trauaile. q A sinner, not in himselfe, but by imputation of the guilt of [illegible] sinnes to him. r Who was cleane voide of sinne. s Righteous before God, [illegible] that with righteousnesse which is not essentiall to vs, but being essentiall in Christ, [illegible] imputeth it to vs through faith.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee exhorteth them to leade their liues as it becommeth Christians, 5 neither to bee dismayed in tribulations, 9 nor puffed vp with glorie: 14 to auoyde all vncleanenesse, 16 considering that they are the temples of the liuing God.

So [1] wee therefore as workers together beseech you, that yee receiue not the grace of God in vaine.

2 [2] For hee sayth, ✠ I haue heard thee in a time [a] accepted, and in the day of saluation haue I

1 Men doe not onely neede the ministerie of the Gospel, before they haue receiued grace, that they may be partakers of it, but also after they haue receiued grace, that they may continue in it. 2 In that that grace is offered, it is of the grace of God, who hath appointed times & seasons to all things, that we may take occasion when it is offered. ✠ Esai. 49.8. a Which I of my free mercie and loue towardes thee liked of and appointed, at which time God powred out that his marueilous loue vpon vs.

succoured thee: beholde nowe the accepted time, beholde nowe the day of saluation.
3 ³ Wee giue no occasion of offence in any thing, that our ministerie shoulde not bee reprehended.
4 But in all things we ᵇ approue our selues as ✠ the ministers of God, ⁴ in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, 5 In stripes, in prisons, in ᶜ tumults, in labours,
6 ⁵ By watchings, by fastings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindnesse, by the holy Ghost, by loue vnfained, 7 By the ᵈ worde of trueth, by the ᵉ power of God, by the ᶠ armour of righteousnesse on the right hand, and on the left, 8 By honour, and dishonour, by euill report,
and good report, as deceiuers, and yet true: 9 As vnknowen, and yet knowen: as dying, and beholde, wee liue: as chastened, and yet not killed:
10 As sorowing, and yet alway reioycing: as poore, and yet make many riche: as hauing nothing, and yet possessing all things.
11 ⁶ O Corinthians, our mouth is ᵍ open vnto you: our heart is made large.
12 Ye are not ʰ kept strait in vs, but ye are kept strait in your owne ⁱ bowels.
13 Nowe for the same recompence, I speake as to my children, Be you also inlarged.
14 ⁷ Be not vnequally yoked with the infidels:
for ∵ what felowship hath righteousnesse with vnrighteousnesse? and what communion hath light with darkenesse?
15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what ᵏ part hath the beleeuer with the infidell?
16 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? ∵ for yee are the Temple of the ˡ liuing God: as God hath said, ✠ I will ᵐ dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they shalbe my people.
17 ✠ Wherefore come out from among them, and separate your selues, saith the Lord, and touch none vncleane thing, and I wil receiue you.
18 * And I will be a Father vnto you, and yee shalbe my sonnes and daughters, saith the Lorde almightie.

3 He sheweth the Corinthians a patterne of a true minister, in his owne example and Timotheus and Syluanus, to the ende, that (as he purposed from the beginning) he might procure authoritie to himselfe and his like. b Declare and shewe in deede. ✠ 1.Cor.4.1. 4 He first of all reckoneth vp those things, which are neither alwaies in the ministers, nor without exception, vnlesse it be according to the affection of the mind, patience onely except, which also is one of the vertues [illegible] ought to [illegible] in a [illegible] minister. [illegible] he [illegible] vp such [illegible] as are ne[illegible] and ought [illegible] be in [illegible] where[illegible] good [illegible] and [illegible] ouercome. [illegible] the manner of the Hebrewes, he calleth those tender affections which rest in [illegible] bowels. 7 Nowe hee rebuketh them boldely, for that they became fe[illegible] infidels in outwarde Idolatrie, as though it were a thing indifferent. [illegible] the fourth part of this Epistle, the conclusion whereof is, that such as [illegible] hath vouchsafed the name of his children, must keepe themselues pure [illegible] in minde but also in body, that they may wholy be holy vnto the Lorde. ✠ Eccles.13.18. k What can there be betweene them? ∵ 1.Cor.3.16. and 6.19. l Hee setteth the liuing God against Idols. ✠ Leuit.26.11. m God dwelleth with vs because Christ is become God with vs. ✠ Isai.52.11. * Iere.31.1.

CHAP. VII.

1 Lest by ouermuch [illegible] hee shoulde dismay their tender mindes, 2 he prooueth that all that he said, 4 proceeded of the great good will he bare vnto them: 8 and therefore they should not be offended, that he made them sorie, 10 and brought them to repentance not to be repented of.

Seing then we haue these promises, dearely be-loued, let vs clense our selues from all filthines of the ᵃ flesh and spirit, and finish our sanctification in the feare of God.

a Both of body and soule, that by this meanes the sanctification may be perfit consisting in both the partes thereof.

2 ¹ ᵇ Receiue vs: we haue done wrong to no man: wee haue corrupted no man: wee haue defrauded no man.
3 I speake it not to your ᶜ condemnation: for I haue said before, that yee are in our hearts, to die and liue together.
4 I vse great boldnesse of speach toward you:
I reioyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.
5 For when wee were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but wee were troubled on e-uery side, fightings without, and terrours within.
6 But God, that comforteth the ᵈ abiect, comforted vs at the ᵉ comming of Titus: 7 And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith hee was comforted of you, when he told vs your great desire, your mourning, your feruent minde to me warde, so that I reioyced much more.
8 ² For though I made you sorie with a letter,
I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the same epistle made you sorie, though it were but for a season.
9 I nowe reioyce, not that ye were sorie, but that yee sorowed to ᶠ repentance: for ye sorowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurt by vs.
10 For ᵍ godly sorowe causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorowe causeth death.
11 For beholde, this thing that yee haue bene godly sory, what great care it hath wrought in you:
yea, what clearing of your selues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, howe great desire:
yea, what a zeale: yea, what reuenge: in all things ye haue shewed your selues, that ye are pure in this matter.
12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did not it for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the ʰ sight of God might appeare vnto you.
13 Therefore we were comforted, because yee were comforted: but rather wee reioyced much more for the ioye of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.
14 For if that I haue boasted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene ashamed: but as I haue spoken vnto you all things in trueth, euen so our boasting vnto Titus was true.
15 And his inwarde affection is more aboundant toward you, when he remembreth the obedience of you all, and howe with feare and trembling ye receiued him.
16 I reioyce therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

1 He returneth againe from that admonition, to his owne person, opposing the testimonies both of his faithfulnes and also of his continuall good will towardes them. b Let me haue some place amongst you, that I may teach you. c To condemne you of vnkindnesse or trecherie. d Whose hearts are cast downe, and are very sore spent. e With those things which Titus tolde me of you at his comming, to wit, howe fruitfully you reade ouer my letters, moreouer and besides that I am exceedingly refreshed with his presence. 2 An obiection: But thou hast handled vs roughly: The Apostle answereth that hee vsed not this roughnes without griefe. And hee addeth moreouer, that he is also glad nowe, that hee drawe them to that sorowe, although it was against his will, since it was so profitable vnto them: for there is a sorowe not onely prayse worthy, but also necessarie, to wit, whereby repentance groweth by certaine degrees, for the which repentance he prayseth them highly. And this is the fifth part of this Epistle. f In so much that that sorow did you much good towarde the amending of your lewdnesse and sinnes. g Godly sorowe is when we are not terrified with the feare of punishment, but because we feele wee haue offended God our most mercifull Father: Contrarie to this there is one other sorowe, that onely feareth punishment, as when a man is vexed for the losse of some worldly goods: the fruite of the first, is repentance, the fruite of the second is desperation, vnlesse the Lorde helpe speedily. h It was not coloured nor counterfet, but such as I dare stand to before God.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He exhorteth them, by the example of the Macedonians, 9 and also euen of Christ himselfe, 14 to bee liberall towardes the Saintes: 16 For which purpose, he sheweth that Titus, 18 and an other brother came vnto them.

WE ¹ doe you also to wit, brethren, of the ᵃ grace of God bestowed vpon the Chur-

1 The sixt part of this Epistle conteining diuers exhortations to stirre vp the Corinthians to liberalitie, wherewith the pouertie of the Church of Hierusalem might be holpen in time conuenient. And first of all he setteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia which otherwise were brought by great miserie to extreme pouertie, to the ende that they should follow them. a The benefit that God bestowed vpon the Churches.

chES of Macedonia,

2 Because in [b] great triall of affliction their ioy abounded, and their most extreme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberalitie.

3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power, they were [c] willing,

4 And prayed vs with great instance that wee would receiue the [d] grace, and felowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints.

5 [a] And this they did, not as wee looked for: but gaue their owne selues, first to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God,

6 That wee shoulde exhort Titus, that as hee had begun, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in euery thing, in faith and worde, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your loue towards vs, euen so see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 [3] This say I not by commaundement, but because of the [e] diligence of others: therefore prooue I the [f] naturalnesse of your loue.

9 [4] For ye knowe the grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that he being rich, for your sakes became poore, that ye through his pouertie might be made rich.

10 [5] And I shewe my minde herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to doe onely, but also to [g] will, a yeere agoe.

11 Nowe therefore performe to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, euen so ye may performe it of that which ye haue.

12 [6] For if there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 [7] Neither is it that other men should be eased and you grieued: But vpon [h] like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke:

14 That also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitie:

15 As it is written, ✠ He that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and he that gathered litle, had not the lesse.

16 [8] And thankes be vnto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.

17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so carefull that of his owne accord he went vnto you.

18 And we haue sent also with him the brother, whose praise is [i] in the Gospel throughout all the Churches.

19 (And not so onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellowe in our iourney, concerning this [k] grace that is ministred by vs vnto the glory of the same Lorde, and declaration of your prompt minde)

20 Auoiding this, that no man shoulde blame vs in this [l] abundance that is ministred by vs, 21 ✠ Prouiding for honest things, not onely before the Lord, but also before men.

22 And wee haue sent with them our brother, whom wee haue oft times prooued to be diligent in many things, but nowe much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I haue in you.

23 Whether any doe inquire of Titus, he is my fellowe and helper to you ward: or of our [m] brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the [n] glory of Christ.

24 Wherefore shewe toward them, and before the [o] Churches the proofe of your loue, and of the reioycing that we haue of you.

b For those manifolde afflictions wherewith the Lord tried them, did not onely not quaile their ioyfull readinesse, but also made it much more excellent and famous.

c Of their owne accorde they were liberall.

d He calleth that, Grace, that other men would haue called a burden.

And this verse is to be expounded by the sixt verse.

2 He amplifieth the forwardnes of the Macedonians, in this, that they also desired Paul to stirre vp the Corinthians to accomplish the giuing of almes, by sending againe of Titus vnto them.

3 Thirdly, he warneth them that they deceiue not their expectation which they haue conceiued of them.

e At the request of the Macedonians.

f Then appeareth the naturalnesse of our loue, when as in deede, and that frankely and freely, we helpe our brethren, euen for Christ his sake.

4 The fourth argument taken from the example of Christ.

5 He taketh good heede that hee seeme not to wrest it out of them by constraint, for vnlesse it be voluntarie, God doeth not accept it.

g Not onely to doe, but also to doe willingly: for he noteth out a readie willingnes, without any inforcement by any other men, much lesse came it of ambition and vaine glory.

6 Against such as vse to excuse themselues, because they are not rich, as though it were onely proper to rich men to helpe the poore.

7 Christian liberalitie is mutuall, that proportion may be obserued. b That like as nowe in your abundance you helpe others, which are poore, with some part of your goods, so should others in like sort bestowe some of theirs vpon you. ✠ Exod. 16, 18.
8 He commendeth Titus and his two companions for many causes, both that their credite might not be suspected, as though he had sent them slily to spoile the Churches, and also that they might bee so much the readier to contribute. i In the preaching of the Gospell. k These almes which are bestowed for the reliefe of the Church of Hierusalem. l In this plentifull liberalitie of the Churches, which is committed to our trust. ✠ Rom. 12, 17.

m Titus his two companions.

n By whom the glory of Christ is set foorth.

o All Churches shalbe witnesses of this your godly dealing, in whose presence you are, for so much as you see the messengers whom they haue chosen by all their consents, and sent them vnto you.

CHAP. IX.

1 Why, albeit he thinke well of their readie willes, 5 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 hee yeeldeth a reason: 6 Hee compareth almes to seede sowing, 10 which God doeth repaie with great gaines.

FOr [1] as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you.

2 For I knowe your readinesse of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Nowe haue I sent the brethren, lest our reioycing ouer you shoulde bee in vaine in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue said) be readie:

4 Lest if they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, we (that we may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my [a] constant boasting.

5 Wherefore, I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of [b] niggardlinesse.

6 [2] This yet remember, that he which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and he that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally.

7 As euery man [c] wisheth in his heart, so let him giue, not ✠ [d] grudgingly, or of [e] necessitie: ✠ for God loueth a cheerefull giuer.

8 And God is able to make [f] all grace to abound toward you, that ye alwayes hauing all sufficiencie in all things, may abound in [g] euery good worke,

9 (✠ As it is written, He hath sparsed abroade and hath giuen to the poore: his beneuolence remaineth for [h] euer.

10 Also hee that findeth seede to the sower, will minister likewise bread for foode, and multiplie your seede, and increase the [i] fruites of your beneuolence,)

11 That on all partes ye may be made rich vnto all liberalitie, which causeth through vs thankes giuing vnto God.

12 [3] For the ministration of this seruice not onely supplieth the necessities of the Saintes, but also abundantly causeth many to giue thankes to God, 15 [m] Thankes therefore be vnto God for his vnspeakeable gift.

m Lest by this great commendation and praise, the Corinthians should be puffed vp, he shutteth vp this exhortation, with this exclamation.

CHAP. X.

1 Hee sheweth with what confidence, 4 with what weapons, 6 and with what reuenge he is armed against the cauillations of the wicked, 7 and that, when hee is present, his deedes haue no lesse power, 11 then his wordes haue force, when he is absent.

Nowe [1] I Paul my selfe beseeche you by the meekenes, and [a] gentlenes of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bolde toward you being absent:

2 And this I require you, that I neede not to be bolde when I am present, with that same confidence, wherewith I thinke to be bolde against some, which esteeme vs as though wee walked [b] according to the flesh.

3 [2] Neuerthelesse, though wee walke in the flesh, yet we doe not warre after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warrefare are not [c] carnall, but mightie through [d] God, to cast downe holdes)

5 Casting downe the imaginations, and euery high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, [3] and bringing into captiuitie euery thought to the obedience of Christ,

6 And hauing ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 [4] Looke ye on things after the [e] appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that he is Christes, let him consider this againe of [f] himselfe, that as he is Christes, euen so are we Christes.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lorde hath giuen vs for edification, and not for your destruction, I should haue no shame.

9 This I say, that I may not seeme as it were to feare you with letters.

10 For the letters, sayeth [g] he, are sore and strong, but his bodily presence is weake, and his speach is of no value.

11 Let such one thinke this, that such as wee are in worde by letters, when we are absent, such will we be also in deede, when we are present.

12 [5] For we [h] dare not make our selues of the nomber, or to compare our selues to them, which praise themselues: but they vnderstand not that they measure themselues with [i] themselues, and [k] compare themselues with themselues.

13 But we will not reioyce of things, which are not within our [l] measure, ✠ but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed vnto vs a measure to attaine euen vnto you.

14 For we stretche not our selues beyond our measure, as though we had not attained vnto you: for euen to you also haue wee come in preaching the Gospel of Christ,

15 Not boasting of things which are [m] without our measure: that is, of other mens labours: and we hope, when your faith shall increase, to be magnified by you according to our line abundantly,

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyonde you: not to reioyce in [n] another mans line, that is, in the thinges that are prepared alreadie.

17 ✠ [6] But let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lord.

18 [7] For he that praiseth himselfe, is not alowed, but he whom the Lord praiseth.

1 He returneth to the defence of his Apostleshippe, but so that hee vseth his authoritie therein: for hee warneth them earnestly and grauely, vsing also terrible threatnings to shewe themselues such as are apt to be instructed. And he refelleth certaine proude men which made no better accompt of him, [illegible] of a bragging Thraso, in [illegible] hee vsed to [illegible] sharpe against them when he [illegible] absent, because they sawe [illegible] great maiestie [illegible] after the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] notwithstanding [illegible] in his [illegible], he had [illegible] in them [illegible] first of [illegible] confesseth [illegible] was gentle [illegible] moderate, [illegible] the extreme [illegible] of Christ: [illegible] they continue [illegible] to despise [illegible] gentleness [illegible] protest [illegible] them [illegible] will shew [illegible] howe [illegible] they are deceiued, which make that accompt of the office of an Apostle, that [illegible] of worldly offices, that is, according to the outward appearance. a That [illegible] which is inclined to mercie, rather then to rigour of iustice. b As though I [illegible] other aide and helpe then that which outwardly I seeme to haue: and therefore [illegible] setteth his flesh, that is, his weake condition and state, against his spirituall and Apostolique dignitie. 2 Secondly hee witnesseth, that although he be like vnto other men, yet he commeth furnished with that strength, which no holdes of man can match, whether they resist by craft and deceite, or by force and might, because he warfareth with diuine weapons. c Are not such as men get them authoritie withall one of another, and doe great actes. d Stand vpon that infinite power of God. 3 An amplification of this spirituall vertue, which in such sort conquereth the enemies be they neuer so craftie, and mightie, that it bringeth some of them by repentance vnto Christ, and iustly reuengeth others, that are stubburnely obstinate, separating them from the other which suffer themselues to be ruled. 4 Hee beateth into their heades that same matter, with great waight of wordes and sentences. e Doe ye iudge of thinges according to the outwarde shewe? f Not being tolde of it by vs. g Hee noteth out some one that was the seedes man of this speache. 5 Being constrained to refell the foolish bragges of certaine ambitious men, hee witnesseth, that they are able to bring nothing, but that they falsely persuade themselues of themselues: and as for himselfe, although he bragge of excellent things, yet he will not passe the boundes which God hath measured him out, according whereunto he came euen vnto them in preaching the Gospell of Christ, and trusteth that he shall goe further, when they haue so profited that he shall not neede to tarie any longer amongst them to instruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that hee neuer succeeded other men in their labours. h This is spoken after a taunting sort.

i Vpon a vaine persuasion that they haue of themselues, they take vpon them they care not what. k They contemne all other, and measure all their doings onely by themselues. l Of those things which God hath not measured to me. ✠ Ephes.4.7. m As though God had deuided the whole worlde among the Apostles, to be husbanded. n In countreis which other men haue prepared and husbanded with the preaching of the Gospell. ✠ Iere.9.24. 1.cor.1.31. 7 He somewhat mitigateth that which hee spake of himselfe, and therewith also prepareth the Corinthians to heare other things, witnessing that he seeketh nothing els but to approue himselfe to God, whose glory he onely seeketh.

CHAP. XI.

1 He testifieth, that for the great loue sake hee beareth to the Corinthians, hee is compelled 5 to vtter his owne prayses 9 And that hee bestowed his labour on them without any reward, 13 that the false apostles shoulde not surpasse him in any thing, 22 whom he farre excelled in those things which are praise worthie in deede.

Would [1] to God, ye coulde suffer a litle my foolishnesse, and in deede, ye suffer me.

2 For I am ielous ouer you, with [a] godly ielousie: for I haue prepared you for one husband, to [b] present you as a pure virgine to Christ:

3 But I feare least as the ✠ serpent beguiled Eue through his subtiltie, so your mindes shoulde be [c] corrupt from the simplicitie that is in [d] Christ.

4 [2] For if he that commeth, preacheth [e] another Iesus whom wee haue not preached: or if ye receiue another spirite whom ye haue not receiued: either another Gospel, which ye haue not receiued, ye might well haue suffered him.

5 Verely I suppose that I was not inferiour to the very chiefe Apostles.

6 [3] And though I be [f] rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you wee haue beene made manifest to the vttermost, in all things.

7 [4] Haue I committed an offence, because I abased my selfe, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Churches, and tooke wages of them to doe you seruice.

9 And when I was present with you, and had neede, ✠ I was not slouthfull to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking vnto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia,

1 He graunteth that after a sort he playeth the foole in this vaunting of things, but he addeth that he doeth it against his will for their profite, because he seeth them deceiued by certaine vaine and craftie men, through the craft and subtiltie of Satan. a He speaketh as a wooer, but yet as one that seeketh them not for himselfe, but for God. b To marie you together. ✠ Gene.3.4. c This place is to be marked against them, which lothe that plaine and pure simplicitie of the Scriptures, in comparison of the colours and paintings of mans eloquence. d Which is meete for them that are in Christ. 2 He sheweth that they deceiue themselues, if they looke to receiue of any other man, either a more excellent Gospell, or more excellent giftes of the holy Ghost. e A more perfect doctrine of Iesus Christ. 3 Hee refuteth the slanders of those Thrasoes. I graunt, sayth he, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, whereof you haue had good proofe, and that euery maner of way. f Paul lacked not that kinde of eloquence which is meete for a man, and fitte for the Gospel, but hee willingly wanted that painted kinde of speache, which too many nowe a dayes hunt after and followe. 4 An other slaunder, to wit, that he was a raskall, and liued by the labour of his owne handes. But herein sayth the Apostle, what can you lay against me, but that I was content to take any paines for your sakes, and when I lacked, to trauaile for my liuing with mine owne handes in part, and partly also when pouertie constrained me, I chose rather otherwise to seeke my sustenance, then to be any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel vnto you? ✠ Chap.12.13.

supplied,

supplied, and in all things I kept 5 and will keepe
my selfe, that I should not be grieuous to you.
10 The g trueth of Christ is in me, that this re-ioycing shal not be h shut vp against me in the regions of Achaia.
11 Wherefore? because I loue you not? God knoweth.
12 But what I doe, that will I doe: that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they might be found like vnto vs in that wherein they i reioyce.
13 6 For such false apostles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themselues into the Apostles
of Christ.
14 And no marueile: for Satan him selfe is transformed into an Angel of k light.
15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transforme themselues, as though they were the ministers of righteousnes, whose end shall be according to their workes.
16 7 I say againe, Let no man thinke that I am foolish, or els take mee euen as a foole, that I also may boast my selfe a litle.
17 That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord:
but as it were foolishly, in this my great boasting.
18 Seeing that many reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also.
19 For ye suffer fooles gladly, because that ye are wise.
20 8 For ye suffer, euen if a man bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face.

in perils among false brethren, 27 In wearinesse and r painefulnesse, in watching often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often,
in colde and in nakednesse.
28 9 Beside the things which are outwarde, I am combred dayly, and haue the care of all the Churches.
29 Who is weake, and I am not weake? who is offended, I burne not?
30 10 If I must needes reioyce, I will reioyce of mine infirmities.

ple vnder King Aretas, layde watch in the citie of 5 An amplification: So farre is hee from being ashamed of this Acte, that hee hath also resolued with himselfe to doe no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may alwayes bee truely sayd, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disdaineth the Corinthians, but that these Thrasoes may neuer finde the occasion which they haue already sought for, and he in the meane season, may set some thing before them to folow, that at length they may truely say, that they are like to Paul. g This is a forme of an othe, as if hee said, Let me not be thought to haue any trueth in me. h Shalbe alwayes open to me. i Pauls aduersaries sought all occasions they could, to be equall to him. And therefore seeing they had rather eate vp the Corinthians, then preach to them for nothing, they sought another occasion, to wit, to make Paul to take some thing: which thing if hee had done, then hoped they by that meanes to be equall to him: for they made such a shew of zeale and knowledge, and set it forth with such a glosing kinde of eloquence, that some of them euen despised Paul: but he sheweth that all this is nothing but colours and painting. 6 Nowe at length he painteth out these felowes in their colours, forewarning, that it wil come to passe, that they will at length betray themselues, what countenance soeuer they make to zeale that they haue of Gods glory. k By light is ment the heauenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers. 7 He goeth forwarde boldly, and vsing a vehement Ironie or kinde of taunting, desireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he cōtend as a foole before them being wise, with those ioly felowes touching those externall things, to wit, touching his flocke, his ancesters, & valiant actes. 8 Before he commeth to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who perswading themselues to be very wise men, did not marke in the meane season, that those false apostles abused their simplicitie for aduantage. l As if hee said, In respect of that reproch which they doe vnto you (I speake it) which surely is as euill, as if they did beate you. m Paul is called weake, in that he seemeth to the Corinthians a vile and abiect man, a beggerly artificer, a most wretched and miserable idiot, whereas notwithstanding, therein Gods mightie power was made manifest. ✠ Phil.3.5. n Paul being honourable in deede, defendeth his ministerie openly, not for his owne sake, but because hee sawe his doctrine come into hazarde. o In danger of present death. p He alludeth to that that is written, Deu.25.3. and moreouer this place sheweth vs, that Paul suffred many things which Luke passed ouer. q Of the Romane Magistrates. ✠ Act.16.23. ∵ Act.14.19. ⌘ Act.27.14. r Painefulnes is a troublesome sicknesse, as when a man is wearie and would rest, he is constrained to fall to newe labour.

9 He addeth this in conclusion further, that the Corinthians might be ashamed to despise him, vpon whose care, almost all Churches depended, as it was plainely seene by experience. 10 Hee turneth that against the aduersaries, which they obiected against him: as if he should say: They alleadge my calamities, to take away my authoritie from me: but if I would boast my selfe, I would take no better argument: and God himselfe is my witnes that I deuise and forge nothing. ✠ Acts 9.24.

CHAP. XII.

1 He doeth euen vnwillingly make rehearsall 3 of the heauenly visions, 4 that were reuelled vnto him: 6 for which though he might in deede glory, yet hee will not, 10 being priuie of his owne infirmities: 11 but they driue him to this kinde of folly, 20 in that they giue eare to certaine vaineglorious persons, who drawe them from Christ.

IT 1 is not expedient for me no doubt to reioyce:
for I will come to visions and reuelations of the Lorde.
2 I knowe a man a in Christ aboue fourteene yeeres agone, (whether he were in the body, I can not tell, or out of the body, I can not tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the b thirde heauen.
3 And I knowe such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I can not tell: God knoweth)
4 How that he was taken vp into c Paradise, and heard words which d cannot be spoken, which are not e possible for man to vtter.
5 2 Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe will I not reioyce, except it bee of mine infirmities.
6 For though I woulde reioyce, I should not be a foole, for I will say the trueth: but I refraine, lest any man should thinke of me aboue that hee seeth in me, or that he heareth of me.
7 3 And lest I should be exalted out of measure through the aboundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto me f a pricke in the flesh, the messenger of g Satan to buffet mee, because I shoulde not be exalted out of measure.

children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.
15 And I will most gladly bestowe, and will be bestowed for your soules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued.
16 6 But bee it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile.
17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent
vnto you?
18 I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfe same spirit? walked we
not in the same steppes?
19 7 Againe, thinke yee that wee excuse our selues vnto you? we speake before God in n Christ.
But we doe all things, dearely beloued, for your edifying.
20 8 For I feare least when I come, I shall not finde you such as I would: and that I shalbe found vnto you such as yee would not, and least there be abase me among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which haue sinned already, and haue not repented of the vncleannesse, and fornication, and wantonnesse which they haue committed.

4 He concludeth, that hee will onely set his miseries against the vaine bragges of the false apostles, and therewith also excuseth himselfe, for that by their importunitie, hee was constrained to speake so much of these things as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subuerted, his doctrine must needes fall.
i That I might feele the vertue of Christ more and more: For the weaker that our tabernacles are, the more doeth Christes vertue appeare in them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Comming the thirde time, 2 hee denounceth the sharper vengeance towardes them, 5 who haue a perfect triall of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 10 At length he prayeth for their repentance, 11 And wisheth them prosperitie.

LO this is the thirde time that I come vnto you.
✠ In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery worde stand.
2 I tolde you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene present the seconde time, so write I nowe being absent to them which heretofore haue sinned and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare, 3 1 Seeing that ye seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in mee, which towarde you is not weake, but is a mightie in you.
4 For though hee was crucified concerning b his infirmitie, yet liueth hee through the power of God, And we no doubt are weake in him, but we shall liue with him, through the power of God toward you.
5 ✠ 2 Proue your selues whether ye are in the faith: examine your selues: knowe yee not your owne selues, howe that Iesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?
6 3 But I trust that ye shall knowe that wee are not reprobates.
7 Nowe I pray vnto God that yee doe none euill, not that we should seeme approued, but that ye should doe that which is honest: though we be as c reprobates.
8 For wee can not doe any thing against the trueth, but for the trueth.
9 For we are glad when we are weake, and that ye are strong: this also we wish for, euen your d perfection.
10 Therefore write I these things being absent, least when I am present, I should vse sharpenesse, according to the power which the Lorde hath giuen mee, to edification, and not to destruction.
11 4 Finally brethren, fare ye well: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shalbe with you.
12 5 Greete one another with an ✠ holy kisse.
All the Saints salute you.
13 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

✠ Deut. 19.15. matth. 18.16. iohn 8.17. hebr. 10.28.
1 A most sharpe reprehension, for that, while they despise the Apostles admonitions, they tempt Christes owne patience: and also while they contemne him as wretched and miserable, they lay nothing herein against him, which is not common to him with Christ.
a And will bee most mightie to be reuenged of you, when neede shalbe.
b As touching that base forme of a seruant which he tooke vpon him when he abased himselfe.
✠ 1.Cor. 11.28.
2 He confirmeth that which hee spake of the vertue of God appearing in his ministerie, and hee gathereth by the mutuall relation betweene the peoples faith, and the ministers preaching, that they must either reuerence his Apostleship, vpon whose doctrine their faith is grounded, or they must condemne themselues of infidelitie, and must confesse themselues not to be of Christes body. 3 Hee mitigateth that sharpenesse, trusting that they wil shewe themselues towards their faithfull Apostle, apt and willing to be taught: adding this moreouer, that hee passeth not for his owne fame and estimation, so that he may serue to their saluation, which is the onely marke that hee shooteth at. c In mens iudgement. d That all things may be in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which haue bene shaken and out of place. 4 A briefe exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the partes of a Christian mans life. 5 He saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well vnto them. ✠ 1.Cor. 16.20.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 Straight after the salutation, 6 He reprehendeth the Galatians for reuolting 9 from his Gospel, 15 which hee receiued from God, 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

PAVL [1] an Apostle (not [a] of men, neither by [b] man, ✠ but by [c] Iesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead)
2 And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia:
3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ, 4 [2] Which gaue himselfe for our sinnes, that he might deliuer vs ✠ from this present euill [d] worlde according to the will of God euen our Father,
5 To whom be glory for euer and euer, Amen.
6 [3] I marueile that ye are so soone [e] remooued away vnto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,
7 [4] Which is not another Gospel, saue that there bee some which trouble you, and intend to [f] peruert the Gospel of Christ.
8 But though that we, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwise, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him be [g] accursed.
9 As we said before, so say I now againe, If any man preach vnto you otherwise, then that ye haue receiued, let him be accursed.
10 [5] For nowe preache I [h] mans doctrine, or Gods? or go I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ.
11 ✠ [6] Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.
12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the [i] reuelation of Iesus Christ.
13 [7] For yee haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Iewish religion, how that ✠ I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it, 14 And profited in the Iewish religion aboue many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the [k] traditions of my fathers.
15 But when it pleased God (which had [l] separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace)
16 To reueile his Sonne [m] in me, that I should preach him ✠ among the Gentiles, immediatly [8] I communicated not with [n] flesh and blood:
17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before mee, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus.
18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and abode with him fifteene dayes.
19 And none other of the Apostles sawe I, saue Iames the Lords brother.
20 Nowe the thinges which I write vnto you, beholde, I witnes [o] before God, that I lie not.
21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was vnknowen by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ.
22 But they had heard onely some say, Hee which persecuted vs in time past, nowe preacheth the [p] faith which before he destroyed.
23 And they glorified God for me.

1 A salutation comprehending in few words, the summe of the Apostles doctrine, and also besides, straightway frō the beginning, shewing the grauitie meete for the authoritie of an Apostle, which hee had to maintaine against the false apostles.
a He sheweth who is the authour of the ministerie generally: for herein the whole ministerie agreeth, that whether they be Apostles, or Shepheards, or Doctours, they are appointed of God.
b He toucheth the instrumental cause: for this is a peculiar prerogatiue to the Apostles, to be called immediatly from Christ.
c Christ no doubt is man, but hee is God also, and head of the Church, and in this respect to be exempted out of the number of men.
2 The summe of the true Gospell is this, that Christ by his onely offering saueth vs being chosen out from the worlde, by the free decree of God the Father. ✠ Luke 1.74. d Out of that most corrupt state which is without Christ. 3 The first part of the Epistle, wherein hee witnesseth that hee is an Apostle, nothing inferiour to those chiefe disciples of Christ, and wholy agreeing with them, whose names the false apostles did abuse. And he beginneth with chiding, reprooving them of lightnesse, for that they gaue eare so easily vnto them which peruerted them and drew them away to a newe Gospel. e He vseth the passiue voyce, to cast the fault vpon the false apostles, and he vseth the time that now is, to giue them to vnderstand, that it was not already done, but in doing. 4 Hee warneth them in time to remember that there are not many Gospels, and therefore whatsoeuer these false apostles pretende which had the law, Moses, and the Fathers, in their mouthes, yet they are in deede so many corruptions of the true Gospel, insomuch that hee himselfe, yea, and the very Angels themselues (and therefore much more these false apostles) ought to be holden accursed, if they goe about to change the least iote that may be in the Gospel that hee deliuered to them before. f For there is nothing more contrary to faith or free iustification, then iustification by the Lawe, or by our deseruing. g Looke Rom.9.3. 5 A confirmation taken both from the nature of the doctrine it selfe, and also from that maner which hee vsed in teaching: for neither sayeth hee, did I teach those thinges which pleased men as these men doe which put part of saluation in externall thinges, and workes of the Lawe, neither went I about to procure any mans fauour. And therefore the matter it selfe sheweth that that doctrine which I deliuered vnto you, is heauenly. h Hee toucheth the false apostles, who had nothing but men in their mouthes, and hee, though hee woulde derogate nothing from the Apostles, preacheth God and not men. ✠ 1.Corinth.15.1. 6 A second argument to prooue that his doctrine is heauenly, because hee had it from heauen, from Iesus Christ himselfe, without any mans helpe, wherein hee excelleth them whome Christ taught here on earth after the maner of men. i This place is to be vnderstoode of an extraordinarie reuelation, for otherwise the Sonne alone reueiled his Gospel by his Spirit, although by the ministerie of men, which Paul shutteth out here. 7 He prooueth that he was extraordinarily taught of Christ himselfe, by the historie of his former life, which the Galatians themselues knew wel ynough: for saith he, it is wel knowen in what schoole I was brought vp, euen from a childe, to wit, amongst the deadly enemies of the Gospel. And that no man may cauil and say that I was a scholer of the Pharises in name onely and not in deede, no man is ignorant, how that I excelled in Pharisisme, and was suddenly made of a Pharise, an Apostle of the Gentiles, so that I had no space to be instructed of men, called of Christ in the way, but afterwards was instructed of the Apo[illegible] whose names (as I said before) the false apostles abused to destroy his A[illegible] though hee deliuered another Gospel then the true Apostles did, and [illegible] were not of their number, which are to bee credited without excep[illegible] Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach [illegible] Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Hierusalem [illegible] teene dayes, where hee sawe onely Peter and Iames, and afterwards [illegible] teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the C[illegible] Iewes, which knew him onely by name, so farre off was it, that he was [illegible] of men. n With any man in the worlde. o This is a kind of othe. p [illegible] of faith.

k He calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because he was not only a Pharise himselfe, but also had a Pharise to his father.
l He speaketh of Gods euerlasting predestination, whereby hee appointed him to be an Apostle, whereof he maketh three degrees, the euerlasting counsell of God, his appointing from his mothers wombe, and his calling: here is no mention at all [illegible] see, of workes [illegible] seene.
m To me, [illegible] is a kind [illegible] which the [illegible] vse, [illegible] is giuen [illegible] des [illegible] gift [illegible] God.
✠ Ephes. [illegible]
8 Because [illegible] be obiected [illegible] in decde [illegible]

CHAP. II.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospell, 3 hee declareth by the example of Titus being vncircumcised, 11 and also by his admonishing the same against Peters dissimulation. 17 And so hee passeth to the handling of our free iustification by Christ, &c.

THen [1] fourteene yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.
2 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, least by any meanes I should runne, or had runne [a] in vaine:
3 But neither yet Titus which was with mee, though hee were a Grecian, was compelled to bee circumcised,
4 To wit, for the [b] false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in priuily to spie out our libertie, which wee haue in Christ Iesus, that they

1 Now he [illegible] eth how [illegible] eth with [illegible] stles, w[illegible] he gra[illegible] be confe[illegible] ching his Go[illegible] which he taught among the Gentiles, fourteene yeeres after his conuersion, and they alowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his felow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented themselues therein, which traiterously layde waite against him, but in vaine, neither did they adde the least iote that might be to the doctrine which he had preached, but contrarywise they gaue to him and Barnabas the right handes of fellowship, and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lord to the Gentiles.
a Vnfruitfully, for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubted not of it, but because there were certaine reports cast abroade of him, that hee was of an other opinion then the rest of the Apostles were, which thing might haue hindered the course of the Gospell, therefore he laboured to remedie this fare. b Which by deceite, and counterfaite holinesse crept in amongst the faithfull.

5 To whome we gaue not place by [e] subiecti-on for an houre, that the [d] trueth of the Gospell might continue with [e] you.
6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoeuer they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: ✠ God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me aboue that I had.
7 But contrarywise, when they sawe that the Gospell ouer the [f] vncircumcision was committed vnto mee, as the Gospel ouer the circumcision was vnto Peter:
8 (For he that was mightie by Peter in the Apostleship ouer the circumcision, was also mightie by me toward the Gentiles) 9 And when Iames, and Cephas, and Iohn, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto me, which are [g] counted to be pillars, they gaue to me and to Barnabas the right [h] hands of fellowship, that wee should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumcision,
10 Warning onely that wee should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.
11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antiochia,
I withstood him to his [i] face: for he was to be condemned.
12 [2] For before that certaine came from Iames, hee ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himselfe, fearing them which were of the Circumcision.
13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, in so much that Barnabas was [k] ledde away with them by that their hypocrisie.
14 But when I saw, that they went not the [l] right way to the [m] trueth of the Gospel, I said vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Iew, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why [n] constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?
15 [3] We which are Iewes [o] by nature, and not
[p] sinners of the Gentiles, 16 Knowe that a man is not iustified by the works of the Law, but by the faith [q] of Iesus Christ, euen we, I say, haue beleeued in Iesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christ, & not by the workes of the Lawe, because that by the workes of the Lawe, [r] no flesh shalbe iustified.
17 ✠ [4] If then while [s] we seeke to be made righteous by Christ, we our selues are founde sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sinne? God forbid.
18 For if I builde againe the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.
19 For I through the Lawe am dead to the [t] Lawe, that I might liue vnto God.
20 I am crucified with Christ, but I liue, yet not [u] I any more, but Christ liueth in mee: and in that that I now liue in the [x] flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued me, and giuen himselfe for me.
21 [5] I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousnes be by the Lawe, then Christ died without a [y] cause.

e By submitting our selues to them, and betraying our owne libertie. d The true and sincere doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from being corrupt with any of these mens false doctrines. e Under the Galatians name, he vnderstandeth all nations. ✠ Deuter.10.17. 2.chron.19.7.iob 34.19 act.10.34.rom.2.11 ephes.6.9.col.3.25.1.pet.1.17. f Among the Gentiles, as Peter had to preach it among the Iewes. g Whom alone and only, these men count for pillars of the Church, and whose name they abuse to [illegible] you. h They gaue vs [illegible] hand in token [illegible] of the Gospel [illegible] all men. [illegible]

[illegible] with a right foote, which hee setteth against halting and dissembling [illegible] m He calleth the trueth of the Gospel, both the doctrine it selfe, and [illegible] of the doctrine, which we cal the practise. n He saith they were constrained, [illegible] the Iewes by Peters example. 3 The second part of this epistle, the state [illegible] that we are iustified by faith in Christ Iesus without the works of the Law. [illegible] thing he propoundeth in such sort, that first of all hee meeteth with an obie- [illegible] (for I also saith he am a Iew, that no man may say against me, that I am an enemie [illegible] Law) and afterward, he confirmeth it by the expresse witnes of Dauid. o Al- though we be Iewes, yet we preach iustification by faith, because we know vndoubtedly, that no man can be iustified by the Lawe. p So the Iewes called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from Gods couenant. q In Iesus Christ. r No man, and in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemencie, wherby is meant that the nature of man is vtterly corrupt. ✠ Rom.3.19. 4 Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their obiection, which abhorred this doctrine of free iustificatiō by faith, because say they, men are by this meanes withdrawen from the study of good works. And in this sort is the obiection: If sinners should be iustified through Christ by faith w/out the Law, Christ should approue sinners, & should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministery. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sinne in the beleeuers: For so, saith he, do men flee vnto Christ through the terror and feare of the Lawe, that being quit from the curse of the Lawe and iustified, they may be saued by him, that together therewithall, he beginneth in them by litle & litle, that strength and power of his which destroyeth sinne: to the ende that this olde man being abolished by the vertue of Christ crucified, Christ may liue in them and they may consecrate themselues to God. Therefore if any man giue himselfe to sinne after he hath receiued the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel, but himselfe, for that he destroyeth the worke of God in himselfe. s Hee goeth from iustification to sanctification, which is another benefite we receiue by Christ, if we lay holde on him by faith.

t The Lawe that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth vs to Christ, and he onely causeth vs to die to the Law indeede, because that by making vs righteous, hee taketh away from vs the terrour of conscience, and by sanctifying vs, causeth through the mortifying of lust in vs, that it cannot take such occasion to sinne by the restraint which the Lawe maketh, as it did before, Rom.7.10,11. u The same that I was before. x In this mortall body. 5 The second argument taken of an absurditie: If men may be iustified by the Lawe, then was it not necessarie for Christ to die. y For there was no cause why he should doe so.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee rebuketh them, for suffering themselues to bee drawen from the grace of free iustification in Christ, most liuely set out vnto them. 6 Hee bringeth in Abrahams example, to declaring the effect, 11 and causes of the giuing of the Lawe.

O [1] Foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the trueth, to whom Iesus Christ before was described in your [a] sight, and among you crucified?
2 This onely would I learne of you, Receiued yee the [b] Spirit by the workes of the Lawe, or by the hearing of [c] faith preached?
3 [2] Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the [d] flesh?
4 [3] Haue ye suffered so many things in vaine?
if so be it be euen in vaine.
5 [4] Hee therefore that ministreth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth hee it through the workes of the Lawe, or by the hearing of faith preached?
6 [5] Yea rather as [e] Abraham beleeued God,
and it was ✠ imputed to him for righteousnes.
7 [6] Knowe ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.
8 [7] For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospell vnto Abraham, saying, ✠ [8] In thee shall all the Gentiles be [f] blessed.
9 [9] So then they which be of faith, are blessed [g] with faithfull Abraham.

1 The third reason or argument taken of those gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith they were indued from heauen after they had heard and beleeued the Gospel by Pauls ministerie: which seeing they were so euident to all mens eyes, that they were as it were liuely images, wherein they might beholde the trueth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no lesse then if they had beheld with their eyes Christ himselfe crucified, in whose onely death they ought to haue their trust, he marueileth howe it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles. a Christ was layde before you so notably and so plainely, that you had his liuely image as it were represented before your eyes, as if hee had bene crucified before you. b Those spirituall graces and giftes, which were a seale as it were to the Galatians that the Gospell which was preached to them was true. c Of the doctrine of faith. 2 The fourth argument mixed with the former, and it is double. If the Lawe be to be ioyned with faith, this were not to goe forward, but backward, seeing that those spirituall giftes which were bestowed vpon you, are more excellent then any that could proceede from your selues. And moreouer, it should folow, that the Law is better then Christ, because it should perfit and bring to end that, which Christ began only. d By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spirituall working of the Gospel. 3 An exhortation by maner of vpbrayding, that they do not in vaine suffer so many conflicts. 4 Hee repeateth the thirde argument which was taken of the effects, because hee had interlaced certaine other arguments by the way. 5 The fift argument which is of great force, and hath three groundes: The first, That Abraham was iustified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousnesse according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doeth most plainly witnes. e Looke Rom.4. ✠ Gene.15.6. rom.4.3. iames 2.23. 6 The second, that the sonnes of Abraham must be esteemed and accompted of by faith. 7 The thirde, that all people that beleeue, are without exception comprehended in the promise of the blessing. ✠ Gene.12.3. actes 3.25 8 A proofe of the first and second grounds, out of the wordes of Moses. f Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith. 9 The conclusion of the fifth argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say, all the Gentiles that beleeue) blessed, that is to say, freely iustified. g With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to giue vs to vnderstand that the blessing commeth not from Abraham, but from him, by whome Abraham and all his posteritie is blessed.

20 The first argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of cōtraries, thus, They are accursed which are of the workes of the Lawe, that is to say, which value their righteousnes by the performāce of the Law. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, that is they which haue righteousnes by faith.
21 A proofe of the former sentence or proposition, and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is he that fulfilleth not the whole Lawe.
✠ Deut. 27.26.
22 The seconde proposition with the conclusion: But no man fulfilleth the Law, Therefore no man is iustified by the Law, or els, All are accursed which seeke righteousnes by the works of the Law, And there is annexed also this maner of proofe of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousnes and life are attributed to faith, Therefore no man fulfilleth the Lawe.

10 [20] For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: [21] for it is written, ✠ Cursed is euery man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to doe them.
11 [22] And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: ✠ for the iust shall liue by faith.
12 [13] And the Lawe is not of faith: but ∵ the man that shall doe those things, shall liue in them.
13 [14] Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the Lawe, made a curse for vs, ([15] for it is written, ✠ [h] Cursed is euery one that hangeth on tree) 14 [16] That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that wee might receiue the promes of the Spirite through faith.
15 [17] Brethren, I speake as [i] men doe: ✠ though it be but a mans couenant, when it is [k] confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto.
16 Nowe to Abraham and his seede were the promises made. He saith not, And to the seedes, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seede, as of one, [18] which is [l] Christ.
17 [19] And this I say, that the couenant that was confirmed afore of God [m] in respect of Christ, the [20] Lawe which was foure hundreth and thir-
tie yeeres after, can not disanull, that it shoulde make the promise of none effect.
18 [21] For if the [n] inheritance be of the Lawe, it is no more by the promise, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promise.
19 [22] Wherefore then serueth the Law? It was added because of the [o] transgressions, [p] till the seed came, vnto the which the promise was made: [23] and it was [q] ordeined by [r] Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.
20 Nowe a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: [24] but God is one.
21 [25] Is the Lawe then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had bene a Lawe giuen which coulde haue giuen life, surely righte-ousnes should haue bene by the Lawe.
22 [26] But the [s] Scripture hath ✠ concluded [t] all vnder sinne, that the [u] promes by the faith of Ie-sus Christ should be giuen to them that beleeue.
23 [26] But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Lawe, as vnder a garison, and shut vp vnto [x] that faith, which should afterward be reueiled.
24 Wherefore the Lawe was our scholemaster to bring vs to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.
25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a scholemaster.
26 [27] For ye are all the sonnes of God by faith, in Christ Iesus.
27 [28] For all ye that are [y] baptized into Christ, haue [z] put on Christ.
28 There is neither Iewe nor Grecian: there is neither bonde nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all [a] one in Christ Iesus.
29 And if ye be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seede, and heires by promes.

22 An obiection which riseth of the former answere: If the inheritance be not by the Law (at the least in part) then why was the Lawe giuen, after that the promes was made? Therefore saith the Apostle, to reprooue men of sinne, and to teach them to looke vnto Christ, in whom at length that promes of sauing all people together, should be fulfilled, and not that the Lawe was giuen to iustifie men.
o That men might vnderstand, by discouering of their sinnes, that they are saued by the [illegible] grace of God [illegible] be reconciled to [illegible] braham, [illegible] in Christ.
p Vntil [illegible] tion [illegible] ken [illegible] full [illegible] frame [illegible] ples, [illegible] and G[illegible] this [illegible] may not vnderstande, Christ alone by himselfe, but coupled and ioyned [illegible] his body.

✠ Hab. 2.4. rom. 1.17. hebr. 10.38. 13 Here is a reason shewed of the former consequence: Because the Lawe promiseth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it be kept, it iustifieth and giueth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousnes and life to faith, taketh it from the Law, seeing that faith iustifieth by imputation, and the Lawe by the performing of the worke. ∵ Leuit. 18.5. 14 A preuenting of an obiection: Howe then can they be blessed, whome the Lawe pronounceth to be accursed? Because Christ susteined the curse which the Law laid vpon vs, that we might be quit from it. 15 A proofe of the answere by the testimonie of Moses. ✠ Deut. 21.23. h Christ was accursed for vs, because he bare the curse that was due to vs, to make vs partakers of his righteousnes. 16 A conclusion of all that was said before in the handling of the fifth and sixth reasons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Iewes themselues, of whose number the Apostle counteth himselfe to be, cannot obteine that promised grace of the Gospel, which he calleth the Spirit, but onely by faith. And the Apostle doeth seuerally apply the conclusion, both to the one and the other, preparing himselfe a way to the next argument wherby he declareth, that that one only seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwise be ioyned & grow vp together, but by faith in Christ. 17 He putteth forth two general rules before the next argumēt, which is the seuenth in order: The one is, that it is not lawfull to breake couenants and contracts which are iustly made & according to Law, amongst men, neither may any thing be added vnto them: The other is, that God did so make a couenant with Abraham, that he would gather together his children which consist both of Iewes and Gentiles in one body (as appeareth by that which hath bene said before.) For he did not say, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seedes, (which thing notwithstanding should haue bene said, if he had many and diuers seedes, as the Gentiles apart, and the Iewes apart,) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seede, as of one. i I will vse an example which is common amongst you, that you may bee ashamed you giue not so much to Gods couenants, as you doe to mans. ✠ Heb 9.17. k Autenticall, as we call it. 18 He putteth forth the summe of the seuenth argument, to wit, that both the Iewes and the Gentiles, grow together into one body of the seede of Abraham, in Christ onely, so that all are one Christ, as it is afterward declared, vers. 28. l Paul speaketh not of Christs person, but of two peoples, which grew together in one, in Christ. 19 The eight argument taken of comparison, thus: If a mans couenant (being autenticall) be firme and strong, much more Gods couenant. Therefore the Law was not giuen to abrogate the promes made to Abraham, which had respect to Christ, that is to say, the end whereof did hang of Christ. m Which tended to Christ. 20 An enlarging of that argument, thus Moreouer and besides that the promes is of it selfe firme and strong, it was also confirmed with the prescription of long time, to wit, of 430. yeeres, so that it could in no wise be broken. 21 An obiection: We grant that the promes was not abrogated by the couenant of the Law, and therefore we ioyne the Lawe with the promes. Nay, saith the Apostle, these two can not stand together, to wit, that the inheritance should both be giuen by the Law and also by promes, for the promes is free: whereby it foloweth, that the Lawe was not giuen to iustifie, for by that meanes the promise should be broken. n By this worde (inheritance) is meant the right of the seede, which is, that God shoulde be our God, that is to say, that by vertue of the couenant that was made with faithfull Abraham, we that be faithfull, might by that meanes be blessed of God as well as he.

23 A confirmation of the former answere taken from [illegible] forme of giuing the Lawe: for it was giuen by Angels, striking a great [illegible] all, and by Moses a Mediatour comming betweene. Nowe [illegible] neede no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the least, [illegible] ance one with another. Therefore the Lawe it selfe and the Media[illegible] nesses of the wrath of God, and not that God woulde by this [illegible] men to himselfe, and abolish the promise, or adde the Lawe vnto [illegible] q Commaunded and giuen, or proclaimed. r By the seruice [illegible] 24 A taking away of an obiection, least any man might say, [illegible] consent of the parties which haue made a couenant, something [illegible] couenant, or the former couenants are broken. This, sayeth the [illegible] meth to passe in God, who is alwayes one, and the selfe same [illegible] selfe. 25 The conclusion vttered by a maner of asking a question [illegible] same that was vttered before, verse 17. but proceeding of another [illegible] the argument is newe, and is this: God is alwayes like vnto himselfe [illegible] the Lawe was not giuen to abolish the promises. But it shoulde [illegible] it gaue life, for by that meanes it shoulde iustifie, and therefore [illegible] lish that iustification which was promised to Abraham and to his [illegible] Nay it was rather giuen to bring to light the guiltinesse of all [illegible] that all beleeuers fleeing to Christ promised, might bee freely [illegible] s By this worde, Scripture, hee meaneth the Lawe. ✠ Rom. 3.9. [illegible] and whatsoeuer commeth from man. u In euery one of these wordes [illegible] an argument against the merites of workes: for all these wordes, promise, [illegible] might be giuen, to beleeuers, are against merites, and not one of them can stand [illegible] deseruing workes. 26 Nowe there followeth an other handling of the second part of this Epistle: the state whereof is this; Although the Lawe (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods house according to the Lawe) doe not iustifie, is it therefore to be abolished, seeing that Abraham him selfe was circumcised, and his posteritie helde still the vse of Moses Lawe? Paul affirmeth that it ought to bee abolished, because it was instituted for that ende and purpose, that it should be as it were a scholemaster and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promise appeared in deede, that is to say, Christ, and the Gospell manifestly published with great efficacie of the Spirite. x The cause why wee were kept vnder the Lawe, is set downe here. 27 Because age changeth not the condition of seruants, hee addeth that wee are free by condition, and therefore, seeing wee are out of our childehoode, wee haue no more neede of a keeper and Scholemaster. 28 Vsing a generall particle, least the Iewes at the least should not thinke themselues bound with the bande of the Lawe, hee pronounceth that Baptisme is common to all beleeuers, because it is a pledge of our deliuerie in Christ, as well to the Iewes as to the Grecians, that by this meanes all may be truely one in Christ, that is to say, that promised seede to Abraham, and inheritours of euerlasting life. y Hee setteth Baptisme, secretly against circumcision, which the false apostles so much bragged of. z The Church must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and be couered with him that it may be throughly holy, and without blame. a You are all as one: and so is this great knot and coniunction signified.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Being deliuered from the bondage of the Law, 4 by Christes comming, who is the ende thereof, 9 it is very absurde to slide backe to beggerly ceremonies: 13 Hee calleth them againe therefore to the puritie of the doctrine of the Gospell, 21 confirming his discourse with a fine allegorie.

THen [1] I say, that the heire as long as hee is a childe, differeth nothing frō a seruant, though he be Lord of all,
2 But is vnder tutours and gouernours, [a] vntil
the time appointed of the Father.
3 Euen so, we when wee were children, were in bondage vnder the [b] rudiments of the world.
4 [2] But when the [c] fulnesse of time was come, God sent forth his Sonne made of a [d] woman, and made vnder the Lawe, 5 That he might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that we ✠ might receiue the [e] adoption of the sonnes.
6 [3] And because ye are sonnes, God hath [f] sent foorth the [g] Spirit of his Sonne into your heartes, which crieth, Abba, Father.
7 Wherefore, thou art no more a [h] seruant, but a sonne: now if thou be a sōne, thou art also the [i] heire of God through Christ.
8 [4] But euen then, when ye knewe not God, yee did seruice vnto them, which by nature are not gods:
9 But now seeing ye knowe God, yea, rather are knowen of God, howe turne yee againe vnto impotent and [k] beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye wil be in bondage [l] againe?
10 Ye obserue dayes, and moneths, and times and yeeres.
11 I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine.
12 [5] Be ye as I (for I am euen as you) brethren,
I beseech you: ye haue not hurt me at all.
13 And ye know, how through [m] infirmitie of the flesh, I preached ÿ Gospel vnto you at the first.
14 And the [n] trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye receiued me as an Angel of God, yea, as [o] Christ Iesus.
15 [p] What was then your felicitie? for I beare you recorde, that if it had bene possible, ye would haue plucked out your owne eyes, and haue giuen them vnto me.
16 Am I therefore become your enemie, because I tell you the trueth?
17 They are ielous ouer you [q] amisse: yea, they woulde exclude you, [r] that yee should altogether loue them.
18 But it is a good thing to loue [s] earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you, 19 My litle children, of whome I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Christ be formed in you.
20 And I would I were with you nowe, that I might [t] change my voyce: for I am in doubt of you.
21 [6] Tell me, ye that [u] will be vnder the Lawe, doe ye not heare the Lawe?
22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, ✠ one by a seruant, and ✠ one by a free woman.
23 But he which was of the seruant, was borne after the [x] flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was borne by ÿ promes.
24 By the which things another thing is ment:
for [z] these mothers are the [a] two testaments, the one which is Agar of mount [b] Sina, which gendreth vnto bondage.
25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in Arabia, and it [c] answereth to Hierusalem which nowe is) and [d] she is in bondage with her children.
26 But Hierusalem, which is [e] aboue, is free:
which is the mother of vs all.
27 [7] For it is written, ∵ Reioyce thou barren that bearest no children: breake forth, & cry, thou that trauailest not: for the [f] desolate hath many moe children, then she which hath an husband.
28 ✠ Therefore, brethren, wee are after the [g] maner of Isaac, children of the [h] promes.
29 But as then hee that was borne after the [i] flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the [k] Spirit, euen so it is nowe.

1 He declareth that by another double similitude, which he said before concerning the keeper and scholemaster: For hee saith, that the Law, (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods house according to the Law) was as it were a tutour or ouerseer appointed for a time, vntill such time as that protection and ouerseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our owne libertie, and should [illegible] childrē, and [illegible] seruants. [illegible]

[illegible] rudiments, and afterwarde powred out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the [illegible] spel. 2 He vttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that [illegible] was ended at his time, that curious men may leaue to aske, why that [illegible] ship lasted so long. And moreouer, that we are not sonnes by nature, [illegible] and that in that Sonne of God, who therefore tooke vpon him our [illegible] we might be made his brethren. c The time is sayde to be full, when all [illegible] past and ended, and therefore Christ could not haue come either sooner [illegible] d Hee calleth Mary a woman, in respect of the sexe, and not as the worde [illegible] contrary sense to a virgine, for she remained a virgine still. ✠ Rom.8 15. [illegible] on of the sonnes of God, is from euerlasting, but is reueiled and shewed in [illegible] pointed for it. 3 Hee sheweth that we are in such sort free and set at li[illegible] in the meane season we must be gouerned by the Spirit of Christ, which [illegible] in our hearts, may teach vs the true seruice of the Father. But this is not to [illegible], but rather to enioy true libertie, as it becommeth sonnes and heires. f By that that foloweth he gathereth that that went before: for if we haue his Spirit, we are his sonnes, and if we are his sonnes, then are we free. g The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father and of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reason why hee is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, because the holy Ghost sealeth vp our adoption in Christ, and maketh vs a full assurance of it. h The word, seruant, is not taken here for one that liueth in sinne, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremonies of the Law, which is proper to the Iewes. i Partaker of this blessings. 4 He applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in comparison of them, the Iewes might haue pretented some excuse as men that were borne and brought vp in that seruice of the Law. But seeing the Galatians were taken & called out of idolatrie to Christian libertie: what pretence might they haue to go backe to those impotent & beggerly rudiments? k They are called impotent and beggerly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselues without Christ, and againe, for that by that meanes they gaue good testimonie that they were beggers in Christ, when as notwithstanding, for men to fall backe from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing els, but to cast away riches, and to folow beggerie. l By going backward. 5 He mitigateth and qualifieth those things wherein he might haue seemed to haue spoken somewhat sharply, very artificiously and diuinely, declaring his good will towards them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either be vtterly desperate when they reade these things, or acknowledge their owne lightnes with teares, & desire pardon. m Many afflictions. n Those dayly troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you.

o For my ministeries sake. p What a talke was there abroade in the worlde amongst men, howe happie you were? q For they are ielous ouer you for their owne commoditie. r That they may conuey all your loue from me, to themselues. s Hee setteth his owne true & good loue which was earnestly bent towards them, against the naughtie vicious loue of the false apostles. t Vse other words among you. 6 Because the false apostles alwayes vrged this, that vnlesse the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profit them nothing at all, and this dissension of them which beleeued of the circumcision, against them which beleeued of the vncircumcision, was full of offence: the Apostle, after diuers arguments whereby he hath refuted their errour, bringeth foorth an allegorie, wherein hee sayeth the holy Ghost did shadow out vnto vs, all these mysteries: to wit, that it should come to passe, that two sorts of sonnes should haue Abraham, a father common to them both, but not with like successe: for as Abraham begate Ismael, by the common course of nature, of Agar his bond maide & a stranger, and begate Isaac of Sara a free woman by the vertue of the promise and by grace onely, and the first was not onely not heire, but also persecuted the heire: So there are two couenants, and as it were two sonnes borne to Abraham of those two couenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promes, according to which couenant Abrahams children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes, which seeke righteousnes by that couenant, that is, by the Lawe: but they are not heires, nay they shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Hierusalem, or in Sion, (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promes, to wit, beleeuers, by the vertue of the holy Ghost, which children (as Abraham) doe rest themselues in the free promes, and they only by the right of children shalbe partakers of the fathers inheritance, and those seruants shall be shut out. a That desire so greatly. ✠ Gen.16.15. ✠ Gen.21.1. x As all men are, and by the common course of nature. y By vertue of the promes, which Abraham layde holde on for himselfe and his true seede, for otherwise Abraham and Sara were past begetting and bearing children. z These doe represent and shadow forth. a They are called two couenants, one of the olde Testament, and another of the Newe: which were not two in deede, but in respect of the times, and the diuersitie of the gouernement. b Hee maketh mention of Sina, because that couenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadowe. c Looke howe the case standeth betwixt Agar and her children, euen so standeth it betweene Ierusalem and hers. d That is, Sina. e Which is excellent, and of great accompt. 7 He sheweth that in this allegorie, hee hath followed the steppes of Esay, who foretolde that the Church shoulde bee made and consist of the children of barren Sara, that is to say, of them which onely spiritually should be made Abrahams children by fayth, rather then of fruitfull Agar, euen then foreshewing the casting off of the Iewes, and calling of the Gentiles. ∵ Esai.54.1. f Shee that is destroyed and wasted. ✠ Rom.9.9. g After the manner of Isaac, who is the first begotten of the heauenly Hierusalem, as Ismael is of the slauish Synagogue. h That seede, vnto which the promise belongeth. i By the common course of nature. k By the vertue of Gods promes and after a spirituall maner.

✠ Gen.21.10.
8 The conclusion of the former allegorie, that we by no meanes procure and call backe againe the slauerie of the Lawe, seeing that the children of the bondmayd shall not be heires.

30 But what saith the Scripture? ✠ Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not bee heire with the sonne of the free woman.
31 [8] Then brethren, we are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing declared that wee came of the free woman, hee sheweth the price of that freedome, 13 and howe wee shoulde vse the same, 16 that wee may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

1 An other obtestation wherein he plainely witnesseth that iustification of workes, and iustification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Law, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And hee taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the seruice of the Lawe, and was chiefly vrged of the false Apostles.
✠ Actes 15.1.
a Circumcision is in other places called the seale of righteousnes, but here we must haue consideration of the circumstance of the time, for now had Baptisme come in the place of circumcision. And moreouer Paul reasoneth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their saluation.

STand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and bee not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.
2 [1] ✠ Beholde, I Paul say vnto you, that if ye bee [a] circumcised, Christ shall profite you nothing.
3 For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that hee is bound to keepe the whole Lawe.
4 Yee are ∵ [b] abolished from Christ: whosoeuer are [c] iustified by the Lawe, yee are fallen from grace.
5 [2] For wee through the [d] Spirit waite for the hope of righteousnes through faith.
6 [3] For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaileth any thing, neither [4] vncircumcision, [5] but [e] faith which worketh by loue.
7 [6] Ye did runne well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth?
8 [7] It is not the perswasion of [f] him that calleth you.
9 ✠ [8] A little leauen doeth leauen the whole lumpe.
10 [9] I haue trust in you through the Lord, that ye will bee none otherwise minded: but hee that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation, whosoeuer he be.
11 [10] And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slaunder of the crosse abolished.
12 [11] Would to God they were euen cut off, which doe g disquiet you.
13 For brethren, yee haue bene called vnto libertie: [12] onely vse not your libertie as an occasion vnto the flesh, but by loue serue one another.
14 [13] For [b] all the Law is fulfilled in one word, which is this, ✠ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.
15 [14] If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heede least ye be consumed one of another.
16 [15] Then I say, ✠ Walke in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lustes of the flesh.
17 For the [i] flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary one to another, so that yee can not doe the same things that ye would.
18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Lawe.
19 [16] Moreouer the workes of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleannes, wantonnes,
20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies, 21 Enuie, murthers, drunkennesse, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue tolde you before, that they which doe such thinges, shall not inherite the kingdome of God.
22 But the [k] fruite of the Spirite is loue, ioye, peace, long suffering, gentlenes, goodnes, faith, 23 Meekenes, temperancie: [17] against such there is no lawe.
24 For they that are Christs, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lustes.
25 If we [l] liue in the Spirit, let vs also walke in the Spirit.
26 [18] Let vs not bee desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

12 The third part of this Epistle, shewing that the right vse of Christian libertie consisteth in this, that being deliuered and set at libertie from the slauerie of sinne and the flesh, and being obedient to the Spirit, we shoulde serue vnto one an others saluation through loue.
13 He propoundeth the loue of our neighbour, as a marke whereunto all Christians ought to referre all their actions, and thereunto he citeth the testimonie of the Law.
b This particle (All) must be restrained to the second table.

1 Nowe hee entreateth particularly of charitie towards such as offende, 6 towards the Ministers of the worde, 10 and those that are of the houshold of faith: 12 Not like vnto such who haue a counterfaite zeale of the Lawe, 13 glorying in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

one with the [d] spirit of meekenes, [2] considering thy selfe, least thou also be tempted.

1 Hee condemneth importunate rigour, because that brotherly reprehensions ought to be moderated and tempered by the spirit of meekenes. a Through the malice of the flesh and the deuill. b Which are vpholden by the vertue of Gods Spirit. c Labour to fill vp that that is wanting in him. d This is a kinde of speach which the Hebrewes vse, giuing to vnderstande thereby, that all good giftes come from God. 2 Hee toucheth the sore: for they commonly are most seuere iudges, which longest their owne infirmities.

5 Hee sheweth that this is the end of reprehensions, to raise vp our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppresse him. Therefore euery one must seeke to haue commendation of his owne life by approuing of himselfe, and not by reprehending others.

e Christ, in plaine and flat wordes, calleth the commandement of charitie, his commandement.

✠ 1.Cor.3.8.

4 A reason, wherefore men ought to haue the greatest eye vpon themselues, because that euery man shalbe iudged before God according to his owne [illegible] not by [illegible] him[illegible] other men.

2 3 Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfill the e Lawe of Christ.
3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, hee deceiueth himselfe in his imagination.
4 But let euery man prooue his owne worke:
and then shall he haue reioycing in himselfe onely
and not in another.
5 ✠ 4 For euery man shall beare his owne burden.
6 5 Let him that is taught in the worde, make him that hath taught him, partaker of f all his ✠ goods.
7 6 Bee not deceiued: God is not mocked:
for whatsoeuer a man soweth, that shall hee also reape.
8 For hee that soweth to his g flesh, shall
of the flesh reape corruption: but hee that soweth to the spirite, shall of the spirite reape life euerlasting.
9 ∵ 7 Let vs not therefore bee weary of well doing: for in due season wee shall reape, if wee faint not.
10 8 While we haue therefore time, let vs doe good vnto all men, but specially vnto them, which are of the housholde of faith.

11 ¶ 9 Ye see how large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hand.
12 As many as desire to make a h faire shewe in i the flesh, they constraine you to be circumcised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the k crosse of Christ.
13 For they themselues which are circumcised keepe not the lawe, but desire to haue you circumcised, that they might reioyce in l your flesh.
14 10 But God forbid that I should m reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the world.
15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision auaileth any thing, nor vncircumcision, but a newe creature.
16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shalbe vpon them, and mercie, and vpon the n Israel of God.
17 11 From henceforth let no man put mee to busines: for I beare in my body the o markes of the p Lord Iesus.
18 12 Brethren, the grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with your q spirit, Amen.

9 The fourth and last part of the Epistle, wherein he returneth to his principall end and purpose: to wit, that the Galatians should not suffer themselues to be led out of the way by the false apostles: and he painteth out those false apostles in their colours, reprouing them of ambition, as men that do not that which they do, for any affection & zeale they haue to the Law, but onely for this purpose, that they may purchase themselues fauour amongst their owne sort, by the circumcision of the Galatians.

h He setteth a faire shewe against the trueth. i In keeping of ceremonies. k For the preaching of him that was crucified. l That they haue entangled you in Iudaisme, and yet bee harpeth on the forme of circumcision. 10 He sticketh not to compare himselfe with them, shewing that on the contrary part he reioyceth in those afflictions which he suffereth for Christes sake, and as he is despised of the world, so doeth hee in like sort esteeme the world as nought: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite. m When Paul vseth this word in good sense or part, it signifieth to rest a mans self wholy in a thing, and to content himselfe therewith. n Vpon the true Israel, whose praise is of God and not of men, Rom.2.19. 11 Continuing still in the same metaphore, he opposeth his miseries and the markes of those stripes which hee bare for Christes sake, against the skar of the outward Circumcision, as a true marke of his Apostleship. o Markes which are burnt into a mans flesh, as they vsed in olde time, to marke their seruants that had runne away from them. p For it importeth much, whose markes we beare: for the cause maketh the Martyr, and not the punishment. 12 Taking his farewel of them, he wisheth them grace, & the Spirit against the deceits of the false apostles, which laboured to beat those outward things into their braines. q With your minds and hearts.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE EPHESIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 hee entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption, 7.13 from whence mans saluation floweth, as from the true and naturall fountaine: and because so high a mysterie can not be vnderstood, 16 he prayeth that the full 20 knowledge of Christ may by God be reueiled vnto the Ephesians.

PAVL 1 an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST by the will of God, to the ✠ Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to the a faithful in Christ Iesus:
2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.
3 ✠ 2 Blessed be God, 3 and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, 4 which hath blessed vs with b all spirituall blessing in c heauenly things in 5 Christ, 4 6 As he hath chosen vs in d him, before the foundation of the world, 7 that we e should f be holy, and without blame g before him in loue.
5 8 Who hath predestinate vs, to bee adopted through Iesus Christ h in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will,
6 9 To the i prayse of the glory of his grace, 10 wherewith hee hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued,

his blood, euen the forgiuenes of sinnes, accord To be adopted in him.

7 He [illegible]ndeth the [illegible] [illegible]ich hee [illegible] double, to

2 The first part of the Epistle, wherein hee handleth all the partes of our saluation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and vsing diuers exhortacions, and beginning after his maner with thankesgiuing. 3 The efficient cause of our saluation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the father of our Lorde Iesus Christ. 4 The next finall cause, and in respect of vs, is our saluation, all thinges being bestowed vpon vs which are necessarie to our saluation, which kinde of blessing is heauenly and proper to the elect. b With all kinde of gratious and bountifull goodnesse which is heauenly in deede and from God onely. c Which God our Father gaue vs from his high throne from aboue: or because the Saintes haue those giftes bestowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heauen. 5 The matter of our saluation is Christ, in whome onely wee are indued with spirituall blessing and vnto saluation.

wit, sanctification, and iustification, whereof hee will speak[illegible] [illegible]. And hereby also two thinges are to be noted, to wit, that holines of [illegible] bee separate from the grace of election: and againe, what purenesse [illegible] vs, is the gift of God who hath freely of his mercie chosen vs. e The[illegible] not chuse vs, because wee were, or otherwise should haue bene holy, but to the [illegible] should be holy. f Being clothed with Christes righteousnes. g Truely [illegible]cerely. 8 Another plainer exposition of the efficient cause, and also [illegible] election, where by God is said to haue chosen vs in Christ, to wit, because it plea[illegible] to appoint vs out when wee were not yet borne, whome he would make [illegible] his children by Iesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to [illegible]ught, but in the free mercy of God, neither is faith which God foresaw, the [illegible] of predestination, but the effect. d God respecteth nothing, either that present [illegible] is to come, but himselfe onely. 9 The vttermost and chiefest finall cause is [illegible] of God the Father, who saueth vs freely in his Sonne. i That as his bount[illegible] goodnes deserueth all praise, so also it should be set forth and published. 10 An e[illegible] [illegible]all cause more neere, is our iustification, while that hee freely accounteth vs [illegible] in his Sonne. 11 An expounding of the materiall cause, howe wee are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is hee onely, whose sacrifice by the mercie of God is imputed vnto vs, for forgiuenesse of sinnes.

13 Nowe hee commeth at length to the formall cause, that is to say, to vocation of preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternall counsell of our free reconciliation and saluation in Christ. And putting in place of the Gospel all wisedome and vnderstanding, he sheweth howe excellent it is.

k By which gracious goodnesse and bountifulnesse.

l In perfite and sound wisedome.

m For vnlesse the Lord had opened vnto vs that mysterie, we could neuer haue so much as dreamed of it our selues.

13 Not onely the election, but also the vocation proceedeth of meere grace.

14 The Father exhibited and gaue Christ, who is the head of all the elect vnto the worlde, at that time which was conuenient, according as he most wisely disposed all times from euerlasting. And Christ is he,

ding to his rich grace:
8 12 k Whereby he hath bene aboundant toward vs in l all wisedome and vnderstanding, 9 And hath opened vnto vs the m mysterie of his will 13 according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in him,
10 14 That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, he might n gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, and which are in earth, euen in Christ:
11 15 In whom also wee are chosen when wee were predestinate according to the purpose of him, which worketh o all things after the counsell of his owne will,
12 That wee, which p first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glorie:
13 16 In whome also ye haue trusted, after that ye heard the q worde of trueth, euen the Gospel of your saluation, wherein also after that ye beleeued, yee were r sealed with the holy s Spirite of promes, 14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the t redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the prayse of his glory.
15 17 Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lord Iesus, and loue toward all the Saints, 16 I cease not to giue thankes for you, making mention of you in my prayers,
17 18 That the God of our Lord Iesus Christ, that Father of u glory, might giue vnto you the Spirit of wisedome, and reuelation through the x acknowledging of him, 18 That the eyes of your vnderstanding may be lightened, that yee may knowe what the y hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints, 19 19 And what is the exceeding greatnesse of his power toward vs, which beleeue, ✠ according to the working of his mightie power, in whome all the elect from the beginning of the worlde, (otherwise wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heauen, when he came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being founde vpon the earth were gathered together of him, and the rest are dayly gathered together. n The faithfull are saide to bee gathered together in Christ, because they are ioyned together with him through faith, and become as it were one man. 15 Hee applieth seuerally the benefite of vocation to the beleeuing Iewes, going backe to the very fountaine, that euen they also may not attribute their saluation, neither to them selues, nor to their stocke, nor to any other thing, but to the onely grace and mercie of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called. o All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, wee are not stockes, for hee giueth vs grace both to will and to be able to doe those things that are good, Philippi 2.13. p Hee speaketh of the Iewes. 16 Nowe he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equall to the Iewes, because that notwithstanding they came last, yet being called by the same Gospel, they embraced it by faith, and were sealed vp with the same Spirit, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it selfe bee seene, that in them also the glory of God might shine foorth, and be manifested. q That worde which is trueth in deede, because it commeth from God. r This is a borowed kinde of speache taken of a seale, which being put to any thing, maketh a difference betweene those things that are autenticall, and others that are not. s With that Spirit, which bringeth not the Lawe, but the promise of free adoption. t Full and perfect. 17 Hee returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before, the first is, that all good thinges come to vs from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may bee praysed of vs. The seconde is, that all those things (which he bringeth to two heades, to wit, faith and charitie) are encreased in vs by certaine degrees, so that we must desire encrease of his grace, from whome wee haue the beginning, and of whome wee hope for the ende. 18 The causes of faith, are God the Father lightning our mindes with his holy Spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened vnto vs in the Gospel, to the obteyning of euerlasting life, and the setting foorth of Gods glorie. u Full of maiestie. x For it is not enough for vs to haue knowen God once, but wee must knowe him euery day more and more. y What blessings they are which hee calleth you to hope for whome hee calleth to Christ. 19 The excellencie of faith is declared by the effects, because the mightie power of God is set forth and shewed therein. ✠ Chap.3.7. col 2.12.

20 20 Which he wrought in Christ, when hee raised him from the dead, and set him at his z right hand in the heauenly places, 21 Farre aboue all principalitie, and power, and might, and domination, and euery a Name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come,
22 21 And hath made all things subiect vnder his feete, and hath giuen him ouer all things to be the b head to the Church, 23 Which is his body, euen the c fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

20 The Apostle willeth to beholde in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith, that most excellent power and glorie of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers, although it be as yet very darke in vs, by reason of the ignominie of the crosse and the weakenesse of the flesh. z To bee set on Gods right hande, is to be partaker of the souerainetie which he hath ouer all creatures. a Euery thing whatsoeuer it be, or aboue all things be they of neuer such power or excellencie. 21 That wee shoulde not thinke that that excellent glorie of Christ is a thing wherewith wee haue nought to doe, hee witnesseth, that hee was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be ioyned to this head which otherwise should bee a maymed thing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessitie (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and susteined by the onely vertue of Christ, so farre off is it, that he needeth the fulnesse thereof) but of the infinite good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioyne vs to his Sonne. b Insomuch that there is nothing but is subiect to him. c For the loue of Christ is so great towardes the Church, that though hee doe fully satisfie all with all things, yet he esteemeth himselfe but a maymed and vnperfect head, vnlesse hee haue the Church ioyned to him as his body.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out the grace of Christ, hee vseth a comparison, calling them to minde, 3 that they were altogether castawayes and alianties, 8 that they are saued by grace, 13 and brought neere, 18 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospell.

And 1 ✠ you hath he quickened, that were a dead
in 2 trespasses and sinnes, 2 3 Wherein, in times past ye walked, 4 according to the course of this worlde, and b after the prince that ruleth in the aire, euen the spirit, that nowe 5 worketh in the c children of disobedience, 3 6 Among whome we also had our conuersation in time past in the lustes of our d flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the minde, and 7 were by nature the e children of wrath, as well as f others.
4 8 But God which is rich in mercie, through his great loue wherewith he loued vs, 5 Euen when we we were dead by sinnes, hath quickened vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saued,
6 And hath raysed vs vp g together, and made vs sit together in the heauenly places in Christ Iesus, [illegible] them dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortalitie of them [illegible] ned, is no life, so this knitting together of body and soule is properly [illegible] them which are not ruled by the Spirit of God. 2 Hee sheweth the [illegible] to wit, sinnes. 3 He proueth by the effects that all were spiritually [illegible] proueth this euill to be vniuersall, in so much as all are slaues of Sa[illegible] the pleasure of the prince. 5 Men are therefore slaues to Satan, be[illegible] willingly rebellious against God. c They are called the children of dis[illegible] which are giuen to disobedience. 6 After that hee hath seuerally condem[illegible] Gentiles, he confesseth that the Iewes amongst whome he nombreth him selfe, [illegible] not a whit better. d By the name of flesh in the first place, hee meaneth the whole man, which he deuideth into two partes: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers terme without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonable [illegible] he leaueth nothing in man halfe dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the sonne of wrath. 7 The conclusion: All men are borne subiect to the wrath and curse of God. e Men are saide to be the children of wrath passiuely, that [illegible] say, guiltie of euerlasting death by the iudgement of God, who is angrie with them. f Prophane people which knew not God. 8 Nowe hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellencie, to wit, that by the [illegible] of Christ we are deliuered from that death, and made partakers of eternall life, to the ende that at length wee may reigne with him. And by diuers and sundry meanes he beateth this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefit is the free mercie of God: and Christ himselfe is the materiall cause: and faith is the instrument, which also is the free gift of God: and the end is Gods glory. g To wit, as he addeth afterwards, in Christ, for as yet this is not fulfilled in vs, but onely in our head, by whose spirit we haue begun to die to sinne, and liue to God, vntill that worke be fully brought to an end: but yet the hope is certaine, for wee are as sure of that we looke for, as we are of that we haue receiued already.

7 That hee might shewe in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnesse toward vs in Christ Iesus.
8 For by h grace are yee saued through faith, and that not of your selues: it is the gift of God, 9 9 Not of workes, least any man should boast
himselfe.
10 For wee are i his workemanship created in Christ Iesus vnto good workes, which God hath ordeined, that we should walke in them.
11 10 Wherefore remember that yee being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and k called vncir-cumcision of them, which are l called circumcision in the flesh, made with handes, 12 That ye were, I say, at that time m without Christ, and were n aliens from the common wealth of Israel, and were ✠ strangers from the couenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.
13 11 But nowe in Christ Iesus, ye which once were farre off, are made neere by the blood of Christ.
14 12 For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall,
15 ✠ In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Lawe of commaundements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one newe man in himselfe, so making peace, 16 And that hee might reconcile both vnto God in o one body by his crosse, and p slay hatred thereby,
17 13 And came, and preached peace to you which were afarre off, & to them that were neere.
18 For q through him wee both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirit.
19 14 Nowe therefore yee are no more strangers and forreiners: but citizens with the Saintes, and of the houshold of God, 20 15 And are built vpon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Iesus Christ himselfe being the r chiefe corner stone, 21 In whome all the building f coupled together, groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord.
22 In whome ye also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

h So then, Grace, that is to say, the gift of God, and faith, doe stand one with another, to which two these are contrary, To be saued by our selues, or by our workes. Therefore what meane they which would ioyne together things of so contrary nature?
9 He taketh away expressely and namely from our workes the praise of iustification, seeing that the good workes them selues are the effectes of grace in vs.
i He speaketh here of Grace, and not of nature: therefore by [illegible] workes ne- [illegible] looke [illegible] are, they [illegible]
[illegible]

[illegible] the marke of circumcision, the marke of the couenant. m He beginneth [illegible], who was the ende of all the promises. n You had no right or title, to [illegible] wealth of Israel. ✠ Rom. 9.4.* 11 Christ is the onely bonde of the [illegible] Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God. 12 As by the ceremo- [illegible] appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were deuided from the Gen- [illegible] Christ, hauing broken downe the partition wall, ioyneth them both [illegible] both in himselfe, and betwixt themselues, and to God. Whereby it folo- [illegible] whosoeuer establisheth the ceremonies of the Lawe, maketh the grace [illegible] voide and of none effect. ✠ Col. 2.14. o He alludeth to the sacrifices of the Lawe, which represented that true and only Sacrifice. p For he destroyed death by death, and fastened it as it were to the Crosse. 13 The preaching of the Gospel, is an effectuall instrument of this grace, common as well to the Iewes as to the Gentiles. q Christ is the gate as it were, by whome wee come to the Father, and the holy-Ghost is as it were our lodes man who leadeth vs. 14 The conclusion: The Gentiles are taken into the selowship of saluation. And hee describeth the excellencie of the Church, calling it the citie and house of God. 15 The Lord committed the doctrine of saluation, first to the Prophets, and then to the Apostles, the ende whereof, and matter as it were and substance, is Christ. Therefore that is in deede the true and Catholique Church, which is builded vpon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spirituall temple consecrated to God. r That is, the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were the heads of the buildings. f So that God is the workman not onely of the foundation but also of the whole building.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee declareth that therefore hee suffered many thinges of the Iewes, 3 because hee preached the mysterie touching the saluation of the Gentiles, 8 at Gods commaundement. 13 After hee desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions: 14 And for this cause hee prayeth vnto God, 18 that they may vnderstand the great loue of Christ.

For 1 this cause, I Paul am the a prisoner of Ie-sus Christ for you Gentiles, 2 If yee haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is giuen me to you warde, 3 That is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this mysterie vnto mee (as I wrote aboue in fewe wordes,
4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may knowe mine vnderstanding in the mysterie of Christ) 5 Which in b other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is nowe reueiled vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit, 6 That the Gentiles should be inheriters also,
and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel, 7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God giuen vnto mee through the effectuall working of his power.
8 Euen vnto me the least of all Saints is this grace giuen, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnsearchable riches of Christ, 9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the felowship of the mysterie is, which from the beginning of the world hath bene hid in God, who hath created all things by Iesus Christ, 10 2 To the intent, that nowe vnto principalities and powers in heauenly places, might be knowen by the Church the c manifolde wisedome of God,
11 According to the d eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Iesus our Lord.
12 By whome we haue boldenes and entrance with confidence, by faith in him.
13 Wherefore I desire that ye faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory.
14 3 For this cause I bowe my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, 15 (Of whome is named the whole e familie in heauen and in earth) 16 That he might graunt you according to the f riches of his glorie, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the g inner man, 17 That Christ may dwell in your heartes by faith:
18 That yee, being rooted and grounded in h loue, may be able to comprehend with al Saints, i what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:
19 And to knowe the k loue of Christ, which l passeth knowledge, that yee may bee filled with all m fulnesse of God.
20 4 Vnto him therefore that is able to do exceeding aboundantly aboue all that we aske or thinke, according to the power ỳ worketh in vs, 21 Be prayse in the Church by Christ Iesus, throughout all generations for euer, Amen.

1 He maintayneth his Apostleship against the offence of the crosse, whereon also he taketh an argument to confirme himselfe, affirming that he was not onely appointed an Apostle by the mercie of God, but was also particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on euery side to saluation: because God had so determined it from the beginning, although he deferred a great while the manifestation of that his counsell.
a These wordes, the prisoner of Iesus Christ, are taken passiuely, that is to say, I Paul am cast into prison for mainteining the glory of Christ.
b He meaneth not that none knewe the calling of the Gentiles before, but because very fewe knewe of it, and they that did knowe it, as the Prophets, had it reueiled vnto them very darkely, and vnder figures.
2 The vnlooked for calling of the Gentiles, was as it were a glasse to the heauenly Angels, wherein they might behold the maruellous wisedome of God.
c God neuer had but one way onely, to saue men by: but it had diuers fashions and formes.
d Which was before all beginnings.
3 He teacheth by his owne example, that the efficacie of the doctrine dependeth vpon the grace of God, and therefore wee ought to ioyne prayers with the preaching and hearing of the woorde: which are needefull not onely to them which are yonglings in religion, but euen to the oldest also, that they growing vp more and more by faith in Christ, being confirmed with all spirituall giftes, may be grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable loue, wherewith God the Father hath loued vs in Christ, seeing that the whole familie, whereof part is alreadie receiued into heauen, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth vpon that adoption of the heauenly Father, in his onely Sonne. e All that whole people, which hath but one housholde Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Christ. f According to the greatnesse of his mercie. g Looke Rom. 7.22. h Wherewith God loueth vs, which is the roote of our election. i Howe perfite that worke of Christ is in euery part. k Which God hath shewed vs in Christ. l Which passeth all the capacitie of mans wit, to comprehende it fully in his minde: for otherwise who so hath the Spirit of God, perceiueth so much (according to the measure that God hath giuen him) as is sufficient to saluation. m So that we haue aboundantly in vs, whatsoeuer things are requisite to make vs perfite with God. 4 Hee breaketh foorth into a thankesgiuing, whereby the Ephesians also may bee confirmed to hope for any thing of God.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

These three last chapters conteine precepts of maners. 1 Hee exhorteth them to mutuall loue. 7 Sundry giftes are therefore bestowed of God, 16 that the Church may be built vp. 18 He calleth them from the vanitie of the infidels, 25 from lying, 29 and from filthie talke.

1 An other part of the Epistle, conteining precepts of Christian life, the summe whereof is this, that euery man behaue himselfe as it is meete for so excellent grace of God.
a By this is meant the generall calling of the faithfull, which is this, to be holy as our God is holy.
2 Secondly, he commendeth meekenesse of mind, which is shewed foorth by bearing one with another.
b Looke Mat. 18.25.
3 Thirdly he requireth perfite agreement, but yet such as is knit with the band of the holy Ghost.
4 An argument of great waight, for an earnest interteining of brotherly loue and charitie one with another, because we are made one body as it were of one God and Father, by one Spirit, worshipping one Lorde with one faith, & consecrated to him with one Baptisme, and hope for one selfe

I Therefore, [1] being prisoner in the Lorde, pray you that yee walke worthie of the [a] vocation whereunto ye are called,
2 [2] With all humblenesse of minde, and meekenesse, with [b] long suffering, supporting one an other through loue,
3 [3] Endeuouring to keepe the vnitie of the Spirit in the bond of peace.
4 [4] There is one body, and one Spirit, euen as ye are called in one hope of your vocation.
5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptisme, 6 One God and Father of all, which is [c] aboue all, and [d] through all, and [e] in you all.
7 [5] But vnto euery one of vs is giuen grace, according to the measure of the [f] gift of Christ.
8 Wherefore he saith, Whē he ascended vp on hie, he led [g] captiuity captiue, & gaue gifts vnto mē.
9 (Nowe, in that he ascended, what is it but that he had also descended first into the [h] lowest partes of the earth?
10 He that descended, is euen the same that ascended, farre aboue all heauens, that hee might [i] fill [k] all things)
11 [6] He therefore gaue some to be [l] Apostles, and some [m] Prophets, and some [n] Euangelists, and some [o] Pastours, and Teachers, 12 [7] For the repairing of the Saintes, for the worke of the ministerie, and for the edification of the [p] body of Christ, 13 [8] Till we all meete together (in the [q] vnitie of faith and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfite man, and vnto the measure of the [r] age of the fulnesse of Christ, 14 [9] That wee henceforth be no more children, [10] wauering and caried about with euery winde of doctrine, by the [s] deceite of men, and same glory, whereunto we are called. Therefore whosoeuer breaketh charitie, breaketh all these things asunder. c Who only hath the chiefe authoritie ouer the Church. d Who onely powreth foorth his prouidence, through all the members of the Church. e Who onely is ioyned together with vs in Christ. 5 Hee teacheth vs, that wee in deede are all one body, and that all good giftes proceede from Christ onely, who reigneth in heauen hauing mightily conquered all his enemies (from whence he heapeth all giftes vpon his Church:) but yet notwithstanding these giftes are diuersly and sundrie wayes deuided according to his will and pleasure, and therefore euery man ought to be content with that measure that God hath giuen him, and to bestow it to the common profite of the whole body. f Which Christ hath giuen. g A multitude of captiues. h Downe to the earth, which is the lowest part of the world. i Fill with his giftes. k The Church. 6 First of all he reckeneth vp the Ecclesiasticall functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a season, as Apostles, Prophets, Euangelistes, and partly ordinary and perpetuall, as Pastours and Doctours. l The Apostles were those twelue, vnto whom Paul was afterwarde added, whose office was to plant Churches throughout all the world. m The Prophets office was one of the chiefest, which were men of a marueilous wisedome, and some of them coulde foretell things to come. n These the Apostles vsed as fellowes in the execution of their office, being not able to answere all places themselues. o Pastours are they which gouerne the Church, and Teachers are they which gouerne the schooles. 7 He sheweth the ende of Ecclesiasticall functions, to witte, that by the ministerie of men all the Saintes may so growe vp together, that they may make one mysticall body of Christ. p The Church. 8 The vse of this ministerie is perpetuall so long as wee are in this worlde, that is, vntill that time that hauing put off the flesh, and throughly and perfitely agreeing betwixt our selues, we shall be ioyned with Christ our head. Which thing is done by that knowledge of the Sonne of God increasing in vs, and hee himselfe by litle and litle growing vp in vs vntill wee come to be a perfite man, which shall be in the worlde to come, when God shall be all in all. q In that most neere coniunction which is knitte and fastened together by faith. r Christ is saide to growe vp to full age, not in himselfe, but in vs. 9 Betwixt our childhood (that is to say, a very weake state, while as wee doe yet altogether wauer) and our perfite age, which we shal haue at length in another world, there is a meane, to wit, our youth, and steadie going forward to perfection. 10 Hee compareth them which rest not themselues vpon the worde of God, to litle boates which are tossed hither and thither with the doctrines of men as it were with contrary windes, and therewithall forewarneth them that it commeth to passe not only by the lightnesse of mans braine, but also by the craftinesse of certaine, which make as it were an arte of it. s With those vncertaine chances which tosse men to and fro.

[t] with craftines, wherby they lay in wait to deceiue.
15 [11] But let vs folowe the trueth in loue, and in all things, grow vp into him, which is the head, that is, Christ.
16 By whom all the body being coupled and knit together by euery ioynt, for ÿ furniture thereof (according to the [u] effectuall power, which is in the measure of euery part) receiueth [x] increase of the body, vnto the edifying of it selfe in ÿ loue.
17 [12] This I say therefore and testifie in the Lorde, that yee henceforth walke not as ✠ other Gentiles walke, in [z] vanitie of their mind, 18 Hauing their vnderstanding darkened, and being strangers from the [a] life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardnesse of their heart:
19 Which being [b] past feeling, haue giuen themselues vnto wantonnesse, to worke all vn-cleannesse, euen with [c] greedinesse.
20 [13] But ye haue not so learned Christ, 21 If so be ye haue heard him, and haue beene taught by him, [d] as the trueth is in Iesus, 22 ✠ That is, that ye cast off, concerning the conuersation in time past, [e] that olde man, which is corrupt through the deceiueable lustes, 23 And be renewed in the [f] spirit of your mind, 24 And put on the new man, which [g] after God is created vnto [h] righteousnes, and [i] true holinesse, 25 [14] Wherefore cast off lying, and speake eue-ry man trueth vnto his neighbour: for wee are members one of another.
26 [15] Be [k] angrie, but sinne not: let not the sunne goe downe [l] vpon your wrath, 27 Neither giue place to the deuill.
28 [16] Let him that stole, steale no more: but let him rather labour, and worke with his handes the thing which is [m] good, that hee may haue to giue vnto him that needeth.
29 [17] Let no [n] corrupt cōmunicatiō proceed out of your mouths: but ÿ which is good, to the vse of edifying, ÿ it may minister [o] grace vnto the hearers.
30 [18] And grieue not the holy Spirit of God,

t By the deceite of those mē which are very well practised, in deceiuing of other.
11 By earnest affection of ÿ trueth & loue, we growe vp into Christ: for he (being effectuall by ÿ ministerie of his word, which as the vitall spirit doth so quicken the whole body, that it nourisheth al the limmes thereof according to the measure and proportion of ech one) quickeneth and cherisheth his Church, which cōsisteth of diuers fūctions, as of diuers members, & preserueth ÿ proportion of euery one. And therof it foloweth ÿ neither this body cā liue without Christ, neither any man [illegible] spiritually, [illegible] separated [illegible]

[illegible] betweene the children of God, and them which are not regenerate: [illegible] all the powers of the mind are corrupted, and their mind is giuen to [illegible] senses are darkened with most grosse mistines, and their affections [illegible] by litle and litle to wickednes, that at length they run headlong into [illegible] being vtterly destitute of all iudgement. ✠ Rom. 1.21. z If the [illegible] soule be corrupt, what is man but corruption onely? a Whereby God [illegible] b Voide of all iudgement. c They striue to passe one another, as th[illegible] some game to bee gotten by it. 13 Here foloweth the contrary [illegible] which are regenerat by ÿ true & liuely knowledge of Christ, which [illegible] ciples of their doings far different, to wit, holy & honest desires, [illegible] changed by the vertue of the holy Ghost, from whence proceed al[illegible] iust & holy life in deede. d As they haue learned, which acknowledge [illegible] and in good earnest. ✠ Col. 3.8. e Your selues. f Where there ought to [illegible] greatest force of reason, there is the greatest corruption of all which wasteth [illegible] g After the image of God. h The effect and end of the new creation. i N[illegible] nor counterfet. 14 He cōmendeth seuerally certaine peculiar Christian vertues, [illegible] first of all he requireth trueth, (that is to say, sincere maners) condemning all dece[illegible] and dissembling, because we are borne one for another. 15 He teacheth vs to bridle our anger in such sort, that although it be hote, yet that it breake not out, and that it be straightwaies quenched before we sleepe: lest Satan taking occasiō to giue vs euil counsel through ÿ wicked counseller, destroy vs. k If it so fall out, that you be angry, yet sin not: that is, bridle your anger, & do not wickedly put that in execution, which you haue wickedly conceiued. l Let not the night come vpon you in your anger, that is, make an atonement quickly for all matters. 16 He descendeth frō the heart, to the handes, condemning theft: and because ÿ men which giue themselues to this wickednes, vse to pretend pouerty, he sheweth that labour is a good remedy against pouertie, which God blesseth in such sort, ÿ they which labour haue alwayes some ouerplus to helpe other, so farre is it frō this, ÿ they are constrained to steale other mens goods. m By labouring in things that are holy, and profitable to his neighbour. 17 He bridleth the tongue also, teaching vs so to temper our talke, that our hearers mindes be not only not destroyed, but also instructed. n Word for word, rotten. o By grace, he meaneth that, whereby men may profit to the going on forward in godlines and loue. 18 A generall precept against all excesse of affections which dwell in that part of ÿ mind, which they call, Angry, and he setteth against them the contrary meanes. And vseth a most vehement preface, how we ought to take heede that we grieue not the holy Spirite of God through our immoderatenes and intemperancie, who dwelleth in vs to this end, to moderate all our affections.

by

by whom ye are sealed vnto ỳ day of redemption.
31 Let all bitternesse, and anger, and wrath, crying, and euill speaking be put away from you,
with all maliciousnesse.
32 Be ye courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiuing one another, 19 euen as God for Christes sake, freely forgaue you.

19 An argument taken from the example of Christ, most graue and vehement, both for pardoning of those iniuries which haue bene done vnto vs by our greatest enemies, and much more for hauing consideration of the miserable, and vsing moderation and gentle behauiour towardes all men.

CHAP. V.

2 Lest, in those vices which hee reprehended, they shoulde set light by his admonitions, 5 hee terrifieth them by denouncing seuere iudgement, 8 and stirreth them forwarde: 15 Then hee descendeth from generall lessons of maners, 21 to the particular dueties of wiues 25 and husbands.

BE yee therefore followers of God, as deare
children,
2 ✠ And walke in loue, euen as Christ hath loued vs, and hath giuen himselfe for vs, to be an offering and a sacrifice of a sweete smelling sauour
to God.
3 ✠ 1 But fornication, and all vncleannesse, or couetousnesse, let it not be once named among you, as it becommeth Saintes, 4 Neither filthinesse, neither foolish talking, neither a iesting, which are things not comely, but rather giuing of thankes.
5 2 For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither vncleane person, nor couetous person, which is an b idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Christ, and of God.
6 ∵ Let no man deceiue you with vaine words:
for, for such things commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of disobedience.
7 3 Be not therefore companions with them.
8 For ye were once darkenesse, but are nowe
c light in the Lord: walke as children of light, 9 (For the fruite of the d Spirit is in all goodnesse, and righteousnesse, and trueth) 10 Approuing that which is pleasing to the Lord.
11 And haue no fellowship with the vnfruitful works of darknes, but euen e reproue them rather.
12 For it is shame euen to speake of the things which are done of them in secret.
13 But all things when they are reproued of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest.
14 Wherefore f hee sayeth, Awake thou that sleepest, and stand vp from the g dead, and Christ shall giue thee light.
15 4 Take heede therefore that yee walke circumspectly, not as fooles, but as ✠ wise, 16 h Redeeming the season: for ỳ i daies are euil.
17 ✠ Wherefore, be ye not vnwise, but vnder-stand what the will of the Lord is.
18 5 And be not drunke with wine, wherein is k excesse: but be fulfilled with the Spirit, 19 Speaking vnto your selues in psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing, and making melodie to the Lord in your l hearts, 20 Giuing thankes alwayes for all things vnto
God euen the Father, in the Name of our Lorde
Iesus Christ,
21 6 Submitting your selues one to another in the feare of God.
22 ¶ ✠ 7 Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, 8 as vnto the Lord.
23 ✠ 9 For the husband is the wiues head, euen as Christ is the head of the Church, 10 and the same is the sauiour of his body.
24 11 Therefore as the Church is in subiection to Christ, euen so let the wiues be to their husbands in euery thing.
25 ¶ ∵ 12 Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Christ loued the Church, and gaue himselfe for it, 26 13 That he might m sanctifie it, and clense
it by the washing of water through the n worde, 27 That hee might make it vnto him selfe a glorious Church, o not hauing spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it shoulde be holy and without blame.
28 14 So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth
himselfe.
29 For no man euer yet hated his p owne flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lord doeth the Church.
30 For wee are members of his body, q of his flesh, and of his bones.
31 ✠ For this cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and shall r cleaue to his wife, and they twaine shalbe one flesh.
32 15 This is a great secrete, but I speake concerning Christ, and concerning the Church.
33 16 Therefore euery one of you, doe ye so: let euery one loue his wife, euen as himselfe, and let the wife see that she feare her husband.

✠ Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 1.iohn 3.23. ✠ Chap. 4.29. coloss. 3.5. 1.thess. 2.17.

1 Now he commeth to another kinde of affections, which is in that part of the minde, which men call [illegible] because we are not so readie to any thing, as to followe euill examples, therefore the Apostle warneth the godly to remember alwayes, that the other are but as it were darkenesse, and that they themselues are as it were light. And therefore the other commit all vilanies (as men are wont in the darke) but they ought not onely not to followe their examples, but also (as the propertie of the light is) reproue their darkenesse, and to walke so (hauing Christ that true light going before them) as it becommeth wise men. c The faithfull are called light, both because they haue the true light in them which lighteneth them, and also because they giue light to other, in so much, that their honest conuersation reprooueth the life of wicked men. d By whose force wee are made light in the Lorde. e Make them open to all the worlde, by your good life. f The Scripture, or God in the Scripture. g Hee speaketh of the death of sinne. 4 The worse and more corrupt that the maners of this worlde are, the more watchfull ought wee to be against all occasions, and respect nothing but the will of God. ✠ Coloss. 4.5. h This is a metaphore taken from the marchants: who preferre the least profite that may be, before all their pleasures. i The times are troublesome and sharpe. ✠ Roman. 12.2. 2.thessal. 4.3. 5 Hee setteth the sober and holy assemblies of the faithfull, against the dissolute bankets of the vnfaithfull, in which the prayses of the onely Lord must sing, both in prosperitie or aduersitie.

k All kinde of riot, ioyned with all maner of filthinesse and shamefulnesse. l With an earnest affection of the heart, and not with the tongue onely. 6 A short repetition of the ende whereunto all things ought to be referred, to serue one another for Gods sake. ✠ Coloss. 3.18. titus 2.5. 1.pet. 3.1. 7 Nowe he descendeth to a familie, diuiding orderly al the partes of a familie. And he sayeth that the duetie of wiues consisteth herein, to be obedient to their husbandes. 8 The first argument, for they cannot be disobedient to their husbands, but they must resist God also, who is the authour of this subiection. ✠ 1.Cor. 11.3. 9 A declaration of the former saying: Because God hath made the man head of the woman in matrimonie, as Christ is the head of the Church. 10 An other argument: Because the good estate of the wife dependeth of the man, so that this submission is not onely iust, but also very profitable: as also the saluation of the Church is of Christ, although farre otherwise. 11 The conclusion of the wiues duetie towardes their husbands. ∵ Coloss. 3.19. 12 The husbandes duetie towardes their wiues, is to loue them as themselues, of which loue, the loue of Christ towarde his Church is a liuely paterne. 13 Because many men pretend the infirmities of their wiues to excuse their owne hardnesse and crueltie, the Apostle willeth vs to marke what maner of Church Christ gate, when hee ioyned it to himselfe, and howe hee doeth not onely not lothe all her filth and vncleannesse, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleannesse, vntill hee haue wholy purged it. m Make it holy. n Through the promise of free iustification and sanctification in Christ, receiued by faith. o The Church as it is considered in it selfe, shall not be without wrinckle, before it come to the marke it shooteth at: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it be considered in Christ, it is cleane and without wrinckle. 14 Another argument: Euery man loueth himselfe, euen of nature: therefore hee striueth against nature that loueth not his wife: hee prooueth the consequent, first by the mysticall knitting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who sayeth, that man and wife are as one, that is, not to be diuided. p His owne body. q He alludeth to the making of the woman, which signifieth our coupling together with Christ, which is wrought by faith, but is sealed by the Sacrament of the Supper. ✠ Gene. 2.24. matth. 19.5. marke 10.7. 1.corinth. 6.16. r Looke Matth. 19.5. 15 That no man might dreame of naturall coniunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbandes and the wiues is) he sheweth that it is secrete, to witte, spirituall and such as farre differeth from the common capacitie of man: as which consisteth by the vertue of the Spirite, and not of the flesh, by faith, and by no natural band. 16 The conclusion both of the husbandes duetie towarde his wife, and of the wiues towarde her husband.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee sheweth the dueties of children, 5 seruauntes, 9 and masters: 10 Then he speaketh of the fierce battell that the faithfull haue, 13 and what weapons wee must vse in the same: 21 In the ende he commendeth Tychicus.

Children,

1 He commeth to another part of a familie, and sheweth that the duetie of the children toward their parents, consisteth in obedience vnto them.
✠ Colos.3.20.
2 The first argument: because God hath so appointed: whereupon it foloweth also that children are so farre forth bound to obey their parents, as they may not swarue from the true worship of God.
a For the Lord is authour of all fatherhood, and therefore we must yeelde such obedience as he will haue vs.
3 The second argument: because this obedience is most iust.
✠ Exod.20.12. deut.5.16.

dren to wrath: but bring them vp in instruction and c information of the Lord.
5 7 ✠ Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters, 8 according to the flesh, with d feare and trembling in singlenesse of your hearts as vnto Christ,
6 Not with seruice to the eye as men pleasers, but as the seruants of Christ, 9 doing the will of God from the heart,
7 With good will, seruing the e Lord, and not
men.
8 10 And knowe yee that whatsoeuer good thing any man doeth, that same shall he receiue of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

them, putting away threatning: and knowe that euen your master also is in heauen, neither is there f respect of person with him.
10 ¶ 12 Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

eccles.3.9. matth.15.4. mark.7.10. 4 A proofe of the first argument. 5 The third argument taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: Because the Lorde vouchsafed this commaundement amongst all the rest, of a speciall blessing. b With a speciall promise: for otherwise the second commaundement hath a promise of mercie to a thousand generations, but that promise is generall. 6 It is the duetie of fathers to vse their fatherly authoritie moderately and to Gods glory. c Such informations and precepts as being taken out of Gods booke, are holy and acceptable to him. 7 Nowe he descendeth to the third part of a familie, to wit, to the duetie both of the masters, and of the seruants. And hee sheweth that the duetie of seruants consisteth in an heartie loue and reuerence to their masters. ✠ Colos.3.22. titus 2.9. 1.pet.2.18. 8 He mitigateth the sharpenesse of seruice, in that they are spiritually free notwithstanding the same, and yet that spirituall freedome taketh not away corporall seruice: in so much that they cannot bee Christs, vnlesse they serue their masters willingly and faithfully, so farre foorth as they may with safe conscience. d With carefull reuerence: for slauish feare is not allowable, much lesse in Christian seruants. 9 To cut off occasion of all pretences, hee teacheth vs that it is Gods will that some are either borne or made seruants, and therefore they must respect Gods will although their seruice be neuer so hard. e Being moued with a reuerence to Godward, as though ye serued God himselfe. 10 Although they serue vnkinde and cruel masters, yet the obedience of seruants is no lesse acceptable to God, then the obedience of them that are free. 11 It is the duetie of masters to vse the authoritie that they haue ouer their seruants, modestly and holily, seeing that they in an other respect haue a common master which is in heauen, who will iudge both the bond and the free. ✠ Deut.10.17. 2.chron.19.7. iob.34.19. actes 10.34. rom.2.11. gal.2.6. colos.3.25. 1.pet.1.17. f Either of freedome or bondage. 12 He concludeth the other part of this Epistle, with a graue exhortation, that all be ready and fight constantly, trusting to spirituall weapons, vntill their enemies be cleane put to flight. of all things, purpose, that ye might knowe mine affaires, and that he might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace be with the brethren, and loue with faith from God the Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.
24 Grace be with all them which loue our Lorde Iesus Christ, to their m immortalitie, Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL
TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 Hauing testified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 he entreateth of himselfe, and his bondes: 22 And pricketh them forward by his owne example, 27 and exhorteth them to vnitie 28 and patience.

1 The marke whereat he shooteth in this epistle, is to confirme the Philippians by all meanes possible, not onely not to faint, but also to go forward. And

PAul 1 and Timotheus the seruants of IESVS CHRIST, to all the Saintes in Christ Iesus which are at Philippi, with the a Bishops, and Deacons:
2 Grace be with you, and peace
from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.
3 I thanke my God, hauing you in perfect memorie,
4 (Alwayes in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladnesse)
5 Because of the b felowship which ye haue in the Gospel, from the c first day vnto nowe.
6 And I am perswaded of this same thing, that he that hath begun this good worke in you, will performe it vntill the d day of Iesus Christ, 7 As it becommeth me so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance that both in my e bands, and in my defence, & confirmation of the Gospell you all were partakers of my f grace.
8 2 For

first of all he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to goe forwardes: which thing he saith he hopeth fully they will doe, and that by the testimonie of their liuely charitie, but in the meane season he referreth all things to the grace of God. a By the Bishops are meant both the Pastours, which haue the dispensation of the word, and the Elders that gouerne: and by Deacons, are meant those that were stewards of the treasurie of the Church, and had to looke vnto the poore.

b Because that you also are made partakers of the Gospel.
c Euer since I knew you.
d The Spirit of God will not forsake you vnto the very latter end, vntill your mortall bodies shall appeare before the iudgement of Christ to be glorified.
e A true proofe of a true knitting together with Christ.
f He calleth his bandes, grace, as though he had receiued some singular benefite.

8 [a] For God is my recorde, howe I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ.
9 [3] And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,
10 That ye may allowe those things which are best, that yee may bee pure, and without offence vntill the day of Christ, 11 Filled with the [g] fruites of righteousnesse, which are by Iesus Christ vnto the glorie & praise
of God.
12 ¶ [4] I would ye vnderstood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospell, 13 So that my bandes [h] in Christ are famous throughout all the [i] iudgement hall, and in all other places,
14 In so much that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldened through my bandes, and dare more frankely speake the [k] word.
15 Some preache Christ euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will.
16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not [l] purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bandes.
17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospell.
18 [5] What then? yet Christ is preached all maner wayes, whether it be vnder a [m] pretence, or syncerely: and I therein ioy: yea and will ioye.
19 For I knowe that this shall turne to my saluation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Iesus Christ, 20 [6] As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shalbe ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so nowe Christ shalbe magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.
21 For Christ is to me both in life, & in death aduantage.
22 [7] And whether to liue in the [n] flesh were profitable for me, and what to chuse I knowe not.
23 For I am distressed betweene both, desiring to be loosed and to be with Christ, which is best of all.
24 Neuerthelesse, to abide in the flesh, is more needefull for you.
25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith, 26 That ye may more aboundantly reioyce in IESUS CHRIST for me, by my comming to you againe.
27 [8] Onely let your conuersation be, as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or els be absent, I may heare of your matters that ye [o] continue in one Spirit, and in one mind, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

a He declareth his good will towards them, therewithall shewing by what meanes chiefly they may be confirmed, to wit, by continuall prayer.
3 He sheweth what thing we ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all, that we may increase in the true knowledge of God (so that we may be able to discerne things that differ one from another) and also in charitie, that euen to the ende we may giue our selues to good workes in deede, to the glory of God by Iesus Christ.
g Righteousnesse is the tree, and good workes the fruites, ... the Pa- ... be de- ... they ... workes are ... of righ-
4 ... teth ... that ... by ... diuers ... occasion to ... his Apo- ... whom ... that ... blessed ... that ... be ... and ... of the ... this oc- ... greatly ... although ... the af- ... all men, ...
... The Gospel is ... the worde, ... forth the ... of it.
l Not with a pure minde: for other- wise their doctrine was pure.
5 He sheweth by setting foorth his owne example, that the ende of our afflictions is true ioye, and that through the vertue of the Spirit of Christ, which hee giueth to them that aske it. m Vnder a goodly colour and shewe: for they made Christ a cloke for their ambition and enuie. 6 We must continue euen to the end, with great confidence, hauing nothing before our eyes but Christes glory onely, whether wee liue or die. 7 An example of a true shepheard, who maketh more accompt howe hee may profite his sheepe, then he doeth of any commoditie of his owne whatsoeuer. n To liue in this mortall bodie. 8 Hauing set downe those things before, in maner of a preface, hee descendeth nowe to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with these common bandes, they continue through the strength of faith to beare all aduersitie in such sort, that they admit nothing vnworthie the profession of the Gospel. o The worde signifieth to stande fast, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stande fast and striue not a foote.

28 [9] And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God.
29 [10] For vnto you it is giuen for Christ, that not onely ye should beleeue in him, but also suffer for his sake,
30 [11] Hauing the same fight, which ye sawe in me, and nowe heare to be in me.

9 We ought not to be discouraged but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine & practise against vs: seeing that they are certaine witnesses from God himselfe both of our saluation, and of the destruction of the wicked. 10 He proueth that his saying, that persecution is a token of our saluation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth vpon his owne, as hee doeth the gift of faith. 11 Nowe he sheweth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them about all things 3 to humilitie, 6 and that by the example of Christ. 19 Hee promiseth to sende Timotheus shortly vnto them, 26 and excuseth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

If [1] there be therefore any consolation in [a] Christ, if any comfort of loue, if any felowship of the Spirit, if any [b] compassion and mercie, 2 Fulfill my ioye, that ye be like minded, hauing the [c] same loue, being of one accorde, and of one iudgement,
3 That nothing be done through contention or vaine glory, but that in meekenesse of minde euery man esteeme other better then himselfe.
4 Looke not euery man on his owne things, but euery man also on the things of other men.
5 [2] Let the same minde be in you that was euen in Christ Iesus,
6 Who being in þe [d] forme of God, [e] thought it no robberie to be [f] equall with God: 7 But he made himself of [g] no reputation, & tooke on him þe [h] forme of a seruant, & was made like vnto men, and was founde in shape as a man.
8 He humbled himselfe, and became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the Crosse.
9 [3] Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and giuen him a [i] Name aboue euery name, 10 That at the Name of Iesus shoulde [k] euery knee bowe, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth, 11 And that [l] euery tongue shoulde confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lorde, vnto the glory of God the Father.
12 [4] Wherefore my beloued, as yee haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence only, but now much more in mine absence, so [m] make an end of your own saluation with feare & trembling.
13 [5] For it is God which worketh in you, both [n] the will and the deede, euen of his good pleasure.
14 [6] Do all things without [♣] murmuring and reasonings,

1 A most earnest request to remoue all those things, whereby that great and speciall consent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it commeth to passe that they separate themselues one from an other.
a Any Christian comfort.
b If any feeling of inward loue.
c Like loue.
2 He setteth before them a most perfite example of all modestie and sweete conuersation, Christ Iesus, whom we ought to followe with al our might: who abased himselfe so farre for our sakes, although he be aboue all, that hee tooke vpon him the forme of a seruant, to wit, our flesh, willingly, subiect to all infirmities, euen to the death of the crosse. d Such as God him selfe is, and therefore God, for there is none in all parts like to God but God himselfe.

e Christ that glorious and euerlasting God knewe that hee might rightfully and lawfully not appeare in the base flesh of man, but remaine with Maiestie meete for God: yet hee chose rather to debase himselfe. f If the Sonne bee equall to the Father, then is there of necessitie an equalitie, which Arrius that Heretike denieth: and if the Sonne bee compared with the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which Sabellius that heretike denieth. g Hee brought himselfe from all things, as it were to nothing. h By taking our manhoode vpon him. 3 Hee sheweth the most glorious euent of Christes submission, to teache vs that modestie is the true way to true praise and glory. i Dignitie and renoume, and the matter with it. k All creatures shall at length bee subiect to Christ. l Euery nation. 4 The conclusion: Wee must goe on to saluation with humilitie and submission by the way of our vocation. m He is saide to make an ende of his saluation, which runneth in the race of righteousnesse. 5 A most sure and grounded argument against pride, for that wee haue nothing in vs prayse worthie, but it commeth of the free gift of God, and is without vs, for wee haue no abilitie or power, so much as to will well, (much lesse to doe well) but onely of the free mercie of God. n Why then, wee are not stockes, but yet we doe not will well of nature, but onely because God hath made of our naughtie will a good will. 6 Hee describeth modestie by the contrarie effectes of pride, teaching vs, that it is farre both from all malicious and close or inwarde hatred, and also from open contentions and brawlings. ♣ 1.Peter.4.9.

7 To be short, he requireth a life without fault, and pure, that being lightened with the worde of God, they may shine in the darkenesse of this world.
✝ Mat. 5.14.
o The Gospel is called the worde of life, because of the effects which it worketh.
8 Againe he pricketh them forward, setting before them his true Apostolike care that he had of them: comforting them moreouer, to the ende they should not be sory for the greatnesse of his afflictions, no not although he should die to make perfite their oblation with his blood, as it were with a drinke offering.
p As if he said, I brought you Philippians to Christ, my desire is that you present your selues a liuely sacrifice to him, & then shall it not grieue me to be offered vp as a drinke offering, to accomplish this your spirituall offering.
9 Moreouer, he confirmeth their mindes both by sending backe Epaphroditus vnto them, whose fidelitie towardes them, and great paines in helping him, he commendeth: and also promising to send Timothie shortly vnto them, by whose presence they shall receiue great commoditie, and hoping also to come himselfe shortly vnto them, if God will. ✝ Actes 16.1.
q May bee confirmed in my ioye of minde. ∵ 1.Corinth. 10.24. r The most part.
ſ Hee calleth it here the worke of Christ, to visite Christ, being poore and in bandes in the person of Paul.

15 7 That ye may be blamelesse, and pure, and the sonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughtie and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as ✝ lights in the world, 16 Holding forth the o worde of life, 8 that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine.
17 Yea, and though I be offered vp vpon the p sacrifice, and seruice of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all.
18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and reioyce with me.
19 9 And I trust in the Lord Iesus, to send ✝ Timotheus shortly vnto you, that I also may be of q good comfort, when I knowe your state.
20 For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.
21 ∵ For r all seeke their owne, and not that which is Iesus Christes.
22 But ye knowe the proofe of him, that as a sonne with the father, he hath serued with me in the Gospel.
23 Him therefore I hope to send assoone as I knowe howe it will goe with me.
24 And trust in the Lorde, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.
25 But I supposed it necessarie to sende my brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companion in labour, and fellowe souldier, euen your messenger, and he that ministred vnto me such things as I wanted.
26 For hee longed after all you, and was full of heauinesse, because yee had heard that hee had beene sicke.
27 And no doubt he was sicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercie on him, and not on him onely, but on me also, least I should haue sorowe vpon sorowe.
28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when ye should see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might be the lesse sorowfull.
29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such:
30 Because that for the ſ worke of Christ hee was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that seruice which was lacking on your part toward me.

CHAP. III.

2 He refuteth the vaine boastings of the false Apostles, 7 and setteth Christ against them. 10 Hee setteth out the force and nature of faith, 15 that laying all things aside, they may be partakers of the Crosse of Christ, 18 the enemies whereof he noteth out.

1 A conclusion of those things which haue bene before saide, to wit, that they goe forward cheerefully in the Lord.

MOreouer, 1 my brethren, reioyce in the Lord.
2 It grieueth me not to write the a same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.
2 Beware of dogges: beware of euill workers:
beware of the b concision.

2 A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heede and beware of false apostles, which ioyne circumcision with Christ, (that is to say, iustification by workes, with free iustification by faith) and beate into mens heads the ceremonies which are abolished, for true exercises of godlinesse and charitie. And hee calleth them dogges as prophane barkers, and euill workemen, because they neglected true workes, and did not teache the true vse of them. To be short, hee calleth them Concision, because in vrging Circumcision, they cut off them selues and others from the Church. a Which you haue oftentimes heard of me. b Hee alludeth to circumcision, of the name whereof whiles they boasted, they cutte asunder the Church.

3 He sheweth that we ought to vse true circumcision, to wit, the circumcision of the heart, that cutting off all wicked affections by the vertue of Christ, we may serue God in puritie of life.
c In outwarde things, which pertaine nothing to the soule.
4 He doubteth not to preferre himselfe euen according to the flesh, before those peruerse hote vrgers of the Lawe, that all men may knowe that he doeth with good iudgement of minde, lightly esteeme all those outward things, for somuch as he lacketh nothing [illegible] which hath Christ, nay, [illegible]

3 3 For wee are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirite, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and haue no confidence c in the flesh: 4 4 Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I, 5 Circumcised the eight day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Beniamin, ✝ an Ebrewe of the Ebrewes, ✝ by the Lawe a Pharise.
6 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church:
touching the righteousnesse which is in the Lawe,
I was vnrebukeable.
7 But the things that were d vantage vnto me,
the same I counted losse for Christes sake.
8 Yea, doubtlesse I thinke e all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lorde, for whom I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to be dongue, that I might f winne Christ, 9 And might be found in g him, that is, h not hauing mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Lawe, but that which is through the faith of Christ, euen the righteousnesse which is of God
through faith,
10 5 That I may i know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the 6 fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death, 11 If by any meanes I might attaine vnto the k resurrection of the dead: 12 Not as though I had alreadie attained to it, either were alreadie perfect: but I folowe, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am l comprehended of Christ Iesus.
13 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endeuour my selfe vnto that which is before, 14 And followe hard toward the marke, for the prise of the hie calling of God in Christ Iesus.
15 7 Let vs therefore as many as be m perfect, be thus minded: and if ye be otherwise minded,
God shall reueile euen the same vnto you.
16 Neuerthelesse, in that whereunto wee are come, let vs proceede by one rule, that wee may minde one thing.
17 Brethren, be followers of me, and looke on them, which walke so, as yee haue vs for an ensample.
18 8 ∵ For many walke, of whom I haue tolde you often, and nowe tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the Crosse of Christ:

[illegible] ✝ [illegible] d [illegible] e He [illegible] f [illegible] g In Christ [illegible] h That [illegible] Christ [illegible] to him. 5 This is the ende of righteousnesse by faith touching [illegible] vertue of his resurrection wee may scape from death. i That I may [illegible] deede and haue a triall of him. 6 The way to that eternall saluation is to fo[llow] Christ his steppes, by afflictions and persecutions, vntill we come to Christ him[selfe] who is our marke whereat wee shoote, and receiue that rewarde whereunto God calleth vs in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godlinesse against those vaine ceremonies of the Lawe, wherein the false apostles put the summe of godlinesse. k To life euerlasting, which followeth the resurrection of the Saints. l For wee runne not but so farre foorth as we are laide holde on of Christ, that is, as God giueth vs strength, and sheweth vs the way. 7 The conclusion of this exhortation standing vpon three members: The one is, that such as haue profited in the truth of this doctrine, should continue in it. The second is, that if there be any which are yet ignorant and vnderstand not these things & doubt of the abolishing of the Law, they should cause no trouble, and should be gently borne withall, vntill they also be instructed of the Lord. The third is, that they esteeme the false apostles, by their fruites: wherein hee doubteth not to set foorth himselfe for an example. m Hee said before that he was not perfect, so that in this place he calleth them perfect, which haue somewhat profited in the knowledge of Christ and the Gospel, whom he setteth against the rude and ignorant, as hee expoundeth himselfe in the next verse following. 8 He painteth out the false apostles in their colours, not vpon malice or ambition, but with sorowe and teares, to wit, because that being enemies of the Gospel (for that it is ioyned with affliction) they regarde nothing else, but the commodities of this life: that is to say, that flowing in peace, quietnesse, and all worldly pleasures, they may liue in great estimation amongst men: whose miserable ende he forewarneth them of. ∵ Rom. 16.17.

19 Whose a ende is damnation, whose God is their bellie, and whose o glorie is to their shame, which mind earthly things.
20 9 But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we looke for the ✠ Sauiour, euen the Lord Iesus Christ,
21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able euen to subdue all things vnto himselfe.

n Rewarde. o Which they haue after at their handes. 9 He setteth against these fellowes, true pastours which neglect earthly things, and aspire to heauen onely, where they knowe, that euen in their bodies they shall be clothed with that eternall glorie, by the vertue of God. ✠ 1. Corinth. 1. 7. titus 2. 13.

CHAP. IIII.

1 From particular exhortations, 4 he commeth to generall. 10 He saieth that hee tooke such ioy in their readinesse to liberalitie, 12 that he will patiently beare the want.

Therefore, 1 my brethren, beloued and longed for, my ioy and my a crowne, so continue in the b Lord, ye beloued.
2 2 I pray Euodias, and beseeche Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord, 3 Yea, and I beseeche thee, faithfull yokefel-low, helpe those women, which laboured with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellowe labourers, whose names are in the ✠ c booke of life.
4 3 Reioyce in the d Lorde alway, againe I say, reioyce.
5 4 Let your e patient minde be knowen vnto all men. 5 The Lord is at hand.
6 6 Be nothing carefull, but in all things let your requestes be shewed vnto God in prayer, and supplication with f giuing of thankes.
7 And the g peace of God which passeth all vnderstanding, shall preserue your h heartes and mindes in Christes Iesus.
8 7 Furthermore, brethren, whatsoeuer things are true, whatsoeuer things i are honest, whatsoe-uer things are iust, whatsoeuer thinges are pure, whatsoeuer things are worthie loue, whatsoeuer things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praise, thinke on these things, 9 Which ye haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and seene in me: those things doe, and the God of peace shalbe with you.
10 8 Nowe I reioyce also in the Lorde greatly, that nowe at the last your care for me springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were carefull, but ye lacked opportunitie.
11 I speake not because of k want: for I haue learned in whatsoeuer state I am, therewith to be content.
12 And I can be l abased, and I can abounde:
euery where in all things I am m instructed, both to be full, and to be hungrie, and to abound, and to haue want.
13 I am able to do all things through the helpe of Christ, which strengtheneth me.
14 Notwithstanding ye haue well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.
15 9 And ye Philippians knowe also that in the n beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concerning the matter of giuing and receiuing, but ye onely.
16 For euen when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once, and afterward againe for my necessitie.
17 10 Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.
18 Now I haue receiued all, and haue plentie:
I was euen filled, after that I had receiued of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an o odour that smelleth sweete, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.
19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glorie in Iesus Christ.
20 Vnto God euen our Father be praise for euermore, Amen.
21 Salute all the Saintes in Christ Iesus. The brethren, which are with me, greete you.
22 All the Saintes salute you, and most of all they which are of p Cesars houshold.
23 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

¶ Written to the Philippians from Rome, and sent by Epaphroditus.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL

TO THE COLOSSIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 he praiseth them the more to make them attentiue vnto him. 7 He reporteth the testimonie of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. 13 He magnifieth Gods grace towards them, 20 and sheweth that all the partes of our saluation consist in Christ alone.

Paul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the a will of God, and Timotheus our brother,
2 To them which are at b Colosse, Saints and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.
3 1 We giue thankes to God euen the c Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, alway praying for you: 4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Ie-sus, and of your loue toward all Saintes, 5 For the d hopes sake, which is laide vp for you in heauen, whereof ye haue heard before by the word of trueth, which is the Gospel, 6 Which is come vnto you, euē as it is vnto all the world, & is fruitfull, as it is also amōg you, from ẏ day that ye heard & truely knew ẏ grace of God, 7 As ye also learned of Epaphras our deare fellowe seruaunt, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ.

a By the free bountifulnesse of God. b Colosse is situated in Phrygia, not far from Hierapolis & Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia.

1 He commendeth the doctrine that was deliuered the by Epaphras, and their readinesse in receiuing it. c Wee can not otherwise consider of God to our saluation, but as he is Christes Father, in whom we are adopted. d For the glory that is hoped for.

8 ✝2 Who hath also declared vnto vs your loue in the e Spirit.
9 For this cause wee also, since the day wee heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of f his will in all wisdome, and spirituall vnderstanding, 10 That ye might walke worthy of the Lord, & please him in all things, being fruitfull in all good workes, and increasing in the knowledge of God, 11 3 Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, and long suffering with g ioyfulnesse, 12 4 Giuing thankes vnto the 5 Father, which hath made vs meete to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saintes in h light, 13 Who hath deliuered vs from the power of darkenesse, and hath translated vs into the kingdome ✠ of his deare Sonne, 14 6 In whome we haue redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiuenesse of sinnes, 15 7 Who is the ✠ image of the inuisible God,
i the first begotten of euery creature.
16 ∵ For by him were all things created, which are in heauen, and which are in earth, things visible and inuisible: whether they be k Thrones or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him, 17 And hee is before all things, and in him all things consist.
18 8 And hee is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, ✠ and the l first begotten of the dead, that in all things hee might haue the preeminence.
19 ✠ For it pleased the Father, that in him should m all fulnesse dwell, 20 9 And through peace made by that blood of that his crosse, to reconcile to himselfe through him, through him, I say, n all things, both which are in earth, and which are in heauen.
21 10 And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your mindes were set in euill workes, hath o he nowe also reconciled, 22 In that body of his p flesh through death, to make you holy, and vnblameable and without fault in his sight, 23 11 If ye continue, grounded and stablished in the faith, & be not moued away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye haue heard, and which hath bene preached to q euery creature which is vnder heauen, 12 whereof I Paul am a minister.
24 Now reioyce I in my sufferings for r you, and fulfill the f rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his bodies sake, which is the Church, 25 13 Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is giuen mee vnto you-ward, to fulfill the worde of God, 26 ✠ Which is the mysterie hid since the world began, and from all ages, but nowe is made manifest to his t Saints, 27 To whome God u woulde make knowen what is the riches of his glorious mysterie among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory,
28 14 Whome we preache, admonishing euery man, & teaching euery man in x all wisdome, that we may present euery man perfect in Christ Iesus, 29 Whereunto I also labour & striue, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

2 Hee declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they must not still remaine at one stay, but go on further both in the knowledge of the Gospel, and also in the true vse of it. e Your spirituall loue, or your loue which commeth from the Spirit. f Gods will. 3 The gift of continuance is not of vs, but it proceedeth from the vertue of God, which he doeth freely giue vs. g It must not be vnwilling, and as it were drawen out of vs by force, but proceede from a merie and ioyfull minde. 4 Hauing ended the preface, he goeth to the matter it selfe, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it be but short) of whole Christianitie, which is fitly diuided into three treatises: for first of all he expoundeth the true doctrine according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 21. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with diuers exhortations to the 6. verse of the seconde Chapter. And last of all in the thirde place, euen to the thirde Chapter, hee refuteth the corruptions of true doctrine. 5 The efficient cause of our saluation is the onely mercie of God the Father, who maketh vs meete to be partakers of eternall life, deliuering vs from the darkenesse wherein wee were borne, and bringing vs to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Sonne. h In that glorious and heauenly kingdome. ✠ Matth.3.17. and 17.5. 2.Peter 1.17. 6 The matter it selfe of our saluation, is Christ the Sonne of God, who hath obteined remission of sinnes for vs, by the offering vp of himselfe. 7 A liuely description of the person of Christ, whereby we vnderstand that in him only, God sheweth himselfe to be seene: who was begotten of the Father before any thing was made, that is, from euerlasting, by whome also all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whome also they doe consist, and whose glory they serue. ✠ Hebr.1.3. i Begotten before any thing was made: and therefore the euerlasting Sonne of the euerlasting Father. ∵ Iohn 1.3. k Hee setteth foorth the Angels with glorious names, that by the comparison of most excellent spirits, wee may vnderstand how farre passing the excellencie of Christ is, in whome onely wee haue to content our selues, and let goe all Angels. 8 Hauing gloriously declared the excellent dignitie of the person of Christ, hee describeth his office and function, to wit, that hee is that same to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to say, the Prince and gouernour of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who rising first from death, is the Authour of eternall life, so that he is aboue all, in whome onely there is most plentifull aboundance of all good things, which is powred out vpon the Church. ✠ Reuela.1.5. 1.cor.15.20. l Who so rose againe that hee shall die no more, and who raiseth other from death to life by his power. ✠ Iohn 1.14. chap.2.9. m Most plentifull aboundance of all things perteining to God. 9 Nowe hee teacheth howe Christ executed that office which his Father inioyned him, to wit, by suffering the death of the crosse (which was ioyned with the curse of God) according to his decree, that by this sacrifice he might reconcile to his Father all men, as well them which beleeued in him to come, and were already vnder this hope gathered into heauen, as them which should vpon the earth beleeue in him afterwarde. And thus is iustification described of the Apostle, which is one and the chiefest part of the benefite of Christ. n The whole Church. 10 Sanctification is another worke of God in vs by Christ, in that that hee restoreth vs (which hated God extremely, and were wholly and willingly giuen to sinne) to his gracious fauour in such sort, that hee therewithall purifieth vs with his holy Spirit, & consecrateth vs to righteousnesse.

o The sonne. p In that fleshly body, to giue vs to vnderstand that his body was not a fantasticall body, but a true body. 11 The seconde treatise of this part of the Epistle, wherein he exhorteth the Collossians not to suffer themselues by any meanes to be moued from this doctrine, shewing and declaring ẏ there is no where any other true Gospel. q To all men: whereby we learne that the Gospel was not shut vp within the corners of Iudea alone. 12 He purchaseth authoritie to this doctrine by his [illegible] postleship, [illegible] heth a most [illegible] proofe the[illegible] his afflictions which he [illegible] for Christ his Name, to instruct the Churches with these examples of [illegible] r For your profite and commoditie. f The afflictions of the Church are [illegible] Christs afflictions, by reason of that felowship and knitting together that the [illegible] head haue the one with the other, not that there is any more neede to haue [illegible] redeemed, but that Christ sheweth his power in the dayly weakenesse of his [illegible] the comfort of the whole body. 13 Hee bringeth another proofe of his [illegible] ship, to wit, that God is the Authour of it, by whom also he was appoi[illegible] arly Apostle of the Gentiles, to the ende that by this meanes, that [illegible] fulfilled by him, which the Prophetes foretolde of the calling of [illegible] ✠ Rom.16.25. ephes.3.9. 2.tim.1.10. titus 1.2. 1.peter 1.20. t Whom [illegible] to sanctifie vnto himselfe in Christ: moreouer hee sayth that the mysterie [illegible] demption was hidden since the worlde began, except it were reuealed [illegible] also were taught it extraordinarily. u Thus Paul brideleth the [illegible] 14 Hee protesteth that hee doeth faithfully execute his Apostleship [illegible] place, bringing men vnto Christ onely, through the Lordes p[illegible] his labours. x Perfect and sound wisdome, which is perfect in it selfe [illegible] the ende make them perfect that followe it.

CHAP. II.

4 Hee condemneth, as vaine, whatsoeuer is without Christ, 11 intreating specially of circumcision, 16 of abstinence from meates, 18 and of worshipping of Angels. 20 That wee are deliuered from the traditions of the Law through Christ.

meate and drinke, or in respect of an holy day,or of the newe moone, or of the Sabbath dayes; 17 Which are but a shadowe of things to come: but the z body is in Christ.
18 16 Let no man at his pleasure beare rule ouer you by a humblenesse of minde, and worshipping of Angels, 17 aduauncing himselfe in those things which hee neuer sawe, 18 b rashly puft vp with his fleshly minde,

f wisdome, in g voluntarie religion and humble-nesse of minde, and in h not sparing the body, which are things of no valewe, sith they perteine to
to the i filling of the flesh.

4 He bringeth all corruptions to three kindes. The first is that, which resteth of vaine and curious speculations, and yet beareth a shew of a certaine subtil wisdome.
i This is a worde of warre, and it is as much as to driue or carie away a spoile or bootie.
5 The seconde, which is manifestly superstitious and vaine, & standeth only vpon custome and fained inspirations.
6 The third kinde was of them which ioyned the rudiments of the world, (that is to say, the ceremonies of the Lawe) with the [illegible]
[illegible] principles and [illegible] wherewith [illegible] as it were [illegible]
[illegible] generall conclusion of all corruptions is this, [illegible] must [illegible] a false [illegible] which addeth any thing to [illegible]

8 A reason: Because only Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth [illegible] aboue all things, so that whosoeuer hath him, may require nothing more. [illegible] wordes, is shewed a distinction of the natures. m This worde (Dwelleth) [illegible] vs the ioyning together of those natures, so that of God and Man, is [illegible] n These wordes set downe most perfect Godhead to be in Christ. o The [illegible] together of God and man, is substantiall and essentiall. 9 Nowe hee dealeth [illegible] against the thirde kinde, that is to say, against them which vrged the [illegible]: and first of all, hee denieth that wee haue neede of the Circumcision [illegible] flesh, seeing that without it we are circumcised within, by the vertue of [illegible] ✠ Rom.2.29. p These many wordes are vsed to shewe what the olde man [illegible] Paul in other places calleth the body of sinne. 10 The taking away of an [illegible] We neede not so much as the externall signe which our fathers had, seeing [illegible] our baptisme is a most effectuall pledge and witnes, of that inwarde restoring and renuing. ✠ Rom.6.4. ephes.1.19. q Looke Rom.6.4. r So then all [illegible] of the matter commeth not from the very deede done, that is to say, it is not [illegible] of vs into the water by a Minister that maketh vs to be buried with Christ, [illegible] say, that euen for the very actes sake, we become verily Christians, but it [illegible] from the vertue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ. 11 One ende of Baptisme is the death and buriall of the old man, and [illegible] the mightie power of God onely, whose vertue wee lay holde on by fayth, [illegible] death and resurrection of Christ. s Through faith which commeth from [illegible] ✠ Ephes.2.1. 12 An other ende of Baptisme is, that wee which were dead [illegible] sinne, might obteine free remission of sinnes and eternall life, through fayth in [illegible] Christ who died for vs. 13 A new argument which lyeth in these fewe wordes, [illegible] it is thus: Vncircumcision was no hinderance to you, why you being iustified [illegible] Christ should not obteine life, therefore you neede not circumcision to the atteinement of saluation. 14 Hee speaketh nowe more generally against the whole seruice of the Lawe, and sheweth by two reasons that it is abolished: First, to what purpose should he that hath obteined remission of all his sinnes in Christ, require those helpes of the Lawe? Secondly, because, that if a man doe rightly consider those rites, hee shall finde that they were so many testimonies of our guiltinesse, whereby we manifestly witnessed as it were by our owne handwritings, that wee deserued damnation. Therefore did Christ put out that handwriting by his comming, and fastening it to the crosse, triumphed ouer all our enemies, were they neuer so mightie. Therefore to what end and purpose should we now vse those ceremonies, as though we were still guiltie of sinne, and subiect to the tyrannie of our enemies? ✠ Ephes.2.15. t Abolishing the rites and ceremonies. u Satan and his angels. x As a conquerour maketh a shew of those captiues, and put them to shame. y The crosse was as a chariot of triumph. No conquerour could haue triumphed so gloriously in his chariot as Christ did vpon the crosse. 15 The conclusion: wherein also he nameth certaine kindes, as the difference of dayes, and meates, and [illegible] by a newe argument that wee are not bound vnto them: to wit, because [illegible] things were shadowes of Christ to come, but we possesse him nowe exhibited vnto vs. z The body as a thing of substance and pith, he setteth against shadowes.

16 He disputeth against the first kinde of corruptions, and setteth downe the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kinde of false religion hee confuteth, first, this way: because that they which bring in such a worship, attribute that vnto themselues which is proper onely to God, to wit, authoritie to binde mens consciences with religiō, although they seeme to bring in these things by humblenesse of minde.

a By foolish humblenesse of minde: for otherwise humblenesse is a vertue For these Angel worshippers, blamed such of pride as would goe straight to God, & vse no other vndermeanes besides Christ. 17 Secondly, because they rashly thrust vpon them for oracles, those things which they neither sawe nor heard, but deuised of themselues. 18 Thirdly, because these thinges haue no other grounde whereupon they are built, but onely the opinion of men, which please themselues without all measure in their owne deuices. b Without reason. 19 The fourth argument, which is of great waight, because they spoyle Christ of his dignitie, who onely is sufficient both to nourish and also to increase his whole body. c Christ. d With the increasing which commeth from God. 20 Nowe last of all hee fighteth against the second kinde of corruptions, that is to say, against mere superstitions, inuented of men, which partly deceiue the simplicitie of some with their craftinesse, and partly with very foolish supestitions and to bee laughed at: as when godlinesse, remission of sinnes, or any such like vertue, is put in some certaine kinde of meate and such like thinges, which the inuentours of such rites themselues vnderstande not, because in deede it is not. And hee vseth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who established a newe couenant with his blood, you be deliuered from those externall rites wherewith it pleased the Lorde to prepare the worlde, as it were by certaine rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would yee be burdened with traditions I wote not what, as though yee were citizens of this worlde, that is to say, as though yee depended vpon this life, and earthly things? Now this is the cause why before verse 8. he folowed another order then hee doeth in the confutation: because he sheweth there by what degrees false religions came into the worlde, to wit, beginning first by curious speculations of the wise, after which in processe of time succeeded grosse superstition, against which mischieues the Lord set at length that seruice of the Law, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation, hee beganne with the abolishing of the Lawe seruice, that he might shewe by comparison, that those false seruices ought much more to bee taken away. e As though your felicitie stood in these earthly things, and the kingdom of God were not rather spirituall. 21 An imitation in the person of these superstitious men, rightly expressing their nature and vse of speach. 22 An other argument. The spiritual and inward kingdome of God cannot consist in these outward things: and such as perish w the vsing. 23 The third argument: Because God is not the authour of these traditions, & therefore they doe not binde the consciences. 24 The taking away of an obiection. These things haue a goodly shew, because men by this meanes, seeme to worship God with a good minde, & humble themselues, & neglect the body, which the most part of men curiously pamper vp and cherish: but yet notwithstanding the things themselues are of no value, for so much as they perteine not to things that are spirituall and euerlasting, but to the nourishment of the flesh. f Which seeme in deede to be some exquisite thing, & so wise deuices as though they came from heauen. g Hence sprang the workes of supererogation, as the Papists terme them, that is to say, needelesse workes, as though men performed more then is commaunded them: which was the beginning and the very ground, wheron Monks merits were brought in. h A liuely descriptiō of Monkery. i Seeing they stand in meate and drinke, wherein the kingdome of God doth not stand.

b So he calleth that shewe of religion, which he spake of in the former Chapter.
4 A reason taken of the efficient causes and others: you are dead as touching the flesh, that is, touching the olde nature which seeketh after all transitorie things, and on the otherside, you haue begun to liue according to the Spirit, therefore giue your selues to spirituall and heauenly, and not to carnall and earthly things.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee therefore beginneth with thankesgiuing, 4 to put them in minde that whatsoeuer was praise worthy in them, it came of Gods goodnesse: 8 and that they are ensamples vnto others.

PAVL, and Siluanus, and Timothe-us, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lorde Iesus Christ:
Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.
2 ¹ We giue God thankes alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers 3 ² Without ceasing, remembring your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God, euen our Father, 4 Knowing, beloued brethren, that yee are ᵃ elect of God.
5 ³ For our Gospel was not vnto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in ᵇ much assurance, as ye knowe after what maner we were among you for your sakes.
6 ⁴ And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lorde, and receiued the worde in much affliction, with ᶜ ioy of the holy Ghost, 7 So that yee were as ensamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.
8 For from you sounded out the worde of the Lorde, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith also which is toward God, spred abroad in all quarters, that wee neede not to speake any thing.
9 For ᵈ they themselues shewe of vs what maner of entring in wee had vnto you, ⁵ and howe ye turned to God from idoles, to serue the liuing and true God,
10 And to looke for his sonne from heauen, whome hee raised from the dead, euen Iesus which deliuereth vs from ᵉ that wrath to come.

1 An example of ... Christian ... where- ... heauen ... [illegible]

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth howe faithfully hee preached the Gospell vnto them, 5 seeking neither gaine, 6 nor praise of men: 10 and he proueth the same by their owne testimonie: 14 that they did couragiously beare persecutions of their countrey men: 17 that he desireth very much to see them.

FOr ¹ ye your selues knowe, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine, 2 ² But euen after that wee had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at ✠ Philippi, (as ye knowe) we were bolde in ᵃ our God, to speake vnto you the Gospell of God with much striuing.
3 ³ For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by ᵇ vncleannes, nor by guile.
4 ⁴ But as we were ᶜ allowed of God, that the Gospel should be committed vnto vs, so we speake, not as they that please men, but God, which ᵈ ap-prooueth our hearts.
5 Neither yet did we euer vse flattering words, as yee knowe, nor coloured couetousnes, God is recorde.
6 ⁵ Neither sought wee praise of men, neither of you, nor of others, when wee might haue bene ᵉ chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ.
7 But wee were ᶠ gentle among you, euen as a nource cherissheth her children.
8 ⁶ Thus being affectioned towarde you, our good wil was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospel of God onely, but also our owne soules, because ye were deare vnto vs.
9 ⁷ For yee remember, brethren, ✠ our labour and trauaile: for we laboured day and night, because wee would not be chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of God.
10 ⁸ Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and iustly, and vnblameably we behaued our selues among you that beleeue.
11 ⁹ As ye knowe howe that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought euery one of you (as a father his children) 12 ¹⁰ That ye ✠ woulde walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glorie.
13 ¹¹ For this cause also thanke we God without ceasing, that when yee receiued the worde of God, which ye heard of vs, ye receiued it not as the word of men, but as it is in deed the word of God, which also worketh in you that beleeue.

1 That which he touched before shortly concerning his Apostleship, he handleth nowe more at large, and to that ende and purpose which we spake of.

a Through God his gracious helpe.
3 To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart.
b By any wicked and naughtie kinde of dealing.
4 To approoue his conscience to God, being free from all flatterie and couetousnes. c Seeing there is this difference betweene the iudgements of God and the iudgements of men, that when men choose, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God findeth the reason of his counsell onely in himselfe, it followeth that seeing we are not able to thinke a good thought, that whomsoeuer he first chuseth to those holy callings, he maketh them able, and doeth not finde them able. And therefore in that wee are allowed of God, it hangeth vpon his mercie. d Which liketh and alloweth of them. 5 To submit himselfe euen to the basest, to winne them, and to eschewe all pride. e When I might lawfully haue liued vpon the expences of the Church. f We were not rough, but easie, and gentle as a nource, that is neither ambitious nor couetous, but taketh all paines as patiently as if shee were a mother. 6 To haue the flocke that is committed vnto him in more estimation then his owne life. 7 To depart with his owne right, rather then to bee chargeable to his sheepe. ✠ Actes 20.34. 1.corinth.4.12. 2.thessal.3.8. 8 To excell other in example of godly life. 9 To exhort and comfort with a fatherly minde and affection. 10 To exhort all men diligently and earnestly to leade a godly life. ✠ Ephes.4.1. philip.1.27. colossians 1.10. 11 Hauing approoued his ministerie, hee commendeth againe (to that ende and purpose that I spake of) the cheerefulnesse of the Thessalonians which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

14 [12] For brethren, ye are become folowers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in [g] Christ Iesus, because ye haue also suffered the same things of your owne [h] countrey men, euen as they haue
of the Iewes,
15 [13] Who both killed the Lord Iesus & their owne Prophets, & haue persecuted vs away, [14] and God they please not, and are contrary to [i] all men, 16 And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be saued, to [k] fulfill their sinnes alwayes: for the [l] wrath of God is come on them to the vtmost.
17 [15] Forasmuch, brethren, as we [m] were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, we enforced the more to see your face with great desire.
18 Therefore we would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at least once or twise) but Satan hindered vs.
19 For what is our hope or ioye, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you it in the presence of our Lord Iesus Christ at his comming?
20 Yes, ye are our glory and ioye.

12 He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they suffered of their owne people, because they were afflicted of their owne countrey men: which came as well (saith he) to the Churches of the Iewes, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.
g Which Christ hath gathered together.
h Euen of them which are of the same countrey, and the same towne that you are of.
13 He preuenteth an offence which might be taken, for that the Iewes especially aboue all other persecuted the Gospell. That is no newe thing, sayeth he, seeing they slewe Christ himselfe, and his Prophets, and haue banished mee also. 14 He foretelleth the vtter destruction of the Iewes, least any man should be mooued by their rebellion. i For the Iewes would neither enter into the kingdome of God themselues, nor suffer other to enter in. k Untill that wickednes of theirs which they haue by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be growen so great, that the measure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come forth to wrath. l The iudgement of God being angrie, which in deede appeared shortly after in the destruction of the citie of Hierusalem, whither many resorted euen out of diuers prouinces, when it was besieged. 15 He meeteth with an obiection, why hee came not to them straight wayes being in so great miserie. I desired oftentimes (saith he) & it lay not in me, but Satan hindred my endeuours, & therefore I sent Timothie my faithful companion vnto you, because you are most deare to me. m Were kept asunder from you, and as it were orphanes.

CHAP. III.

1 To shewe his affection towards them, he sendeth Timothie vnto them: 6 Hee is so mooued by the report of their prosperous state, 9 that he cannot giue sufficient thankes, 11 and therefore he breaketh out into prayer.

WHerefore since wee could no longer forbeare, wee thought it good to remaine at Athens alone,
2 ✠ And haue sent Timotheus our brother and minister of God, and our labour felowe in the Gospel of Christ, to stablish you, and to comfort you touching your faith, 3 That no man should be mooued with these afflictions: [1] for ye your selues knowe, that we are appointed thereunto.
4 For verily when we were with you, we tolde you before that we should suffer tribulations, euen as it came to passe, and ye knowe it.
5 Euen for this cause, when I could no longer forbeare, I sent him that I might knowe of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labour had bene in vaine.
6 [2] But now lately when Timotheus came frō you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, & that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring to see vs, as we also doe you, 7 Therefore, brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessitie through your faith.
8 For nowe are wee [a] aliue, if ye stand fast in the Lorde.
9 For what thankes can wee recompense to God againe for you for all the ioy wherewith wee reioyce for your sakes before our God, 10 Night and day, ✠ praying exceedingly that we might see your face, and might [b] accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?
11 Nowe God himselfe euen our Father, and our Lord Iesus Christ, guide our iourney vnto you, 12 [3] And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in loue one toward another, and towarde all men, euen as we doe toward you: 13 ✠ To make your hearts stable & vnblameable in holines before God euen our Father, at the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ with all his Saints.

✠ Actes 16.1.
1 The wil of God who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction, is a most sure remedie against all afflictions.
2 Because they haue hitherto gone so well forward, he exhorteth them againe to make an ende of the rest of the iourney, seeing that therein also they shall doe him their Apostle a great pleasure.
a For now you can not otherwise thinke me safe and in good case, vnlesse you goe forward in religion and faith.
✠ Rom.1.10. and 15.23.
b Paul was constrained through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leaue the building which he had scarce begonne: And for that cause he had left Silas and Timothie in Macedonia, and when Timothie came to Athens to him, he sent him backe againe straightway. So that he desireth to see the Thessalonians, that hee may throughly accomplish their faith and religion, that was as yet imperfect.

3 Another part of the Epistle, wherein he speaketh of the duties of a Christian life. And he sheweth that the perfection of a Christian life, consisteth in two things, to wit, in charitie toward all men, and inward puritie of the heart, the accomplishment whereof notwithstanding is deferred to the next comming of Christ, who will then perfite his worke by the same grace, wherewith he begonne it in vs. ✠ Chap.5.23. 1.cor.1.8.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He exhorteth them 3 to holines, 9 and brotherly loue. 13 He forbiddeth them to sorowe after the maner of infidels. 15 He setteth out the historie of our resurrection.

ANd [1] furthermore we beseeche you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Iesus, that ye [a] increase more and more, as yee haue receiued of vs, how ye ought to walke, and to please God.
2 For ye knowe what commaundements wee gaue you by the Lord Iesus.
3 ✠ [2] For this is the will of God euen your [b] sanctification, and that ye should abstaine from fornication,
4 [3] That euery one of you should know, how to possesse his vessell in holines and honour, 5 [4] And not in the lust of concupiscence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God: 6 [5] That no man oppresse or defraude his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all such things, as wee also haue tolde you before time, and testified.
7 ✠ For God hath not called vs vnto vncleannesse, but vnto holinesse.
8 Hee therefore that [c] despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit.
9 [6] But as touching brotherly loue, ye neede not that I write vnto you: ✠ for yee are taught of God to loue one another.
10 Yea, and that thing verily yee doe vnto all the brethren, which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beseech you, brethren, that ye increase more and more,
11 [7] And that ye studie to be quiet, & to meddle with your owne busines, [8] and to worke with your owne hands, as we commaunded you, 12 That yee may behaue your selues honestly towarde them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you.
13 ¶ [9] I would not, brethren, haue you ignorant [10] concerning them [11] which are a sleepe, that ye sorow not euen as other which haue no hope.
14 [12] For if we beleeue that Iesus is dead, and is risen, euen so them which sleepe in [d] Iesus, will God [e] bring with him.

c These commaundements which I gaue you. 6 Thirdly, hee requireth a ready minde to all maner of louing kindenesse, and exhorteth them to profite more and more in that vertue. ✠ Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 1.iohn 3.23. and 4.21. 7 Hee condemneth vnquiet braines, and such as are curious in matters which appertaine not vnto them. 8 Hee rebuketh idlenesse and slouthfulnesse, which vices whosoeuer are giuen vnto, fall into other wickednesse, to the great offence of the Church. 9 The thirde part of the Epistle, which is intermixed among the former exhortations (which he returneth vnto afterward) wherein he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the maner of the resurrection, and of the latter day. 10 We must take heede that we doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, as they vse to doe which thinke that they are vtterly perished. 11 A confirmation: for death is but a sleepe of the body (for he speaketh of the faithfull) vntill the Lorde commeth. 12 A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the head is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the vertue of God. d They die in Christ, which continue in faith whereby they are graffed into Christ, euen to the last breath. e Will call their bodies out of their graues, and ioyne their soules to them againe.

13 The maner of the resurrection shalbe thus. The bodies of the dead shall be as it were raised out of sleepe, at the sound of the trumpet of God. Christ him selfe shall descende from heauen. The Saints (for he speaketh properly of them) which shall then be founde aliue together with the dead which shall rise, shalbe taken vp into the cloudes to meete the Lorde, and shall be in perpetuall glory with him. f In the Name of the Lorde, as though he himselfe spake vnto you. g He speaketh of these things, as though he should be one of them whom the Lorde shall finde aliue at his comming, because that time is vncertaine: and therefore euery one of vs ought to be in such a readines, as if the Lord were comming at euery moment. h The word which the Apostle vseth here, signifieth properly that encouragement which mariners vse one to another, when they altogether with one shoute put foorth their oares and rowe together. ✠ 1.Cor.15.52. i Suddenly and in the twinckling of an eye.

15 13 For this say we vnto you by the f worde of the Lorde, that g we which liue, and are remaining in the comming of the Lorde, shall not preuent them which sleepe.
16 For the Lorde himselfe shall descende from heauen with a h shoute, and with the voyce of the Archangel, and ✠ with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: 17 Then shall we which liue and remaine, be i caught vp with them also in the clouds, to meete the Lord in the ayre: and so shall we euer be with the Lorde.
18 Wherefore, comfort your selues one another with these wordes.

CHAP. V.

1 Condemning the curious searching for the seasons of Christes comming, 4 hee warneth them to be ready dayly to receiue him: 11 And so giueth them sundry good lessons.

1 The day that God hath appointed [illegible] knowe [illegible] that it is sure [illegible] shall come [illegible] when [illegible] for no[illegible] ✠ Act.1.7. [illegible] 2 [illegible] which [illegible] with [illegible] pledge of [illegible] it is our [illegible] to liue [illegible] deliciously [illegible] we [illegible] taken [illegible] sleepe in [illegible] con[illegible] haue [illegible] the Lord, [illegible] suffer our [illegible] be op[illegible] with the [illegible] this world, [illegible] is meete [illegible] darknes of [illegible] and this [illegible] light. [illegible] must fight [illegible] with faith and hope much lesse ought we lie carelessely snorting. ✠ Esai.59.17.ephe. 4 Hee pricketh vs forwardes by setting most certaine hope of victorie be[illegible] vs. 5 The death of Christ is a pledge of our victorie, for therefore he died, [illegible] we might be partakers of his life or vertue, yea euen whiles we liue here.

BVt 1 of the times and a seasons, brethren, yee haue no neede that I write vnto you.
2 For yee your selues knowe perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, euen as a theefe in the night.
3 For when they shall say, Peace and safetie, then shall come vpon them sudden destruction, as the trauaile vpon a woman with childe, and they shall not escape.
4 2 But ye, brethren, are not in darknes, that that day shall come on you, as it were a theefe.
5 Yee are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkenesse.
6 Therefore let vs not sleepe as doe other, but let vs watch and be sober.
7 For they that sleepe, sleepe in the night, and they that be drunken, are drunken in the night.
8 3 But let vs which are of the day, be sober, ✠ putting on the brest plate of faith and loue, and of the hope of saluation for an helmet.
9 4 For God hath not appointed vs vnto wrath, but to obtaine saluation by the meanes of
our Lord Iesus Christ,
10 5 Which died for vs, that whether we wake or sleepe, we should liue together with him.
11 6 Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as ye doe.
12 7 Nowe we beseeche you, brethren, that ye b acknowledge them which labour among you, and are ouer you in the c Lord, and admonish you, 13 That yee haue them in singular loue for d their workes sake. 8 Bee at peace among your selues.
14 9 We desire you, brethren, admonish them that are e out of order: comfort ŷ feeble minded:
beare with the weake: be pacient toward all men.
15 10 ✠ See that none recompense euil for euill vnto any man: but euer folow that which is good, both toward your selues, and toward all men.
16 11 Reioyce euermore.
17 ✠ Pray continually.
18 In all things, giue thankes: for this is the f will of God in Christ Iesus toward you.
19 12 Quench not the Spirit.
20 Despise not g prophecying.
21 Try all things, & keepe that which is good.
22 13 Absteine from all h appearance of euill.
23 Nowe the very God of peace i sanctifie you throughout: and I pray God that your whole spi-rite and soule and body, may be kept blamelesse vnto the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.
24 14 ✠ k Faithfull is hee which calleth you,
which will also l doe it.
25 15 Brethren, pray for vs.
26 Greete all the brethren with an holy kisse.
27 I charge you in the Lorde, that this Epistle be read vnto all the brethren the Saints.
28 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you, Amen.

6 We must not onely watch our selues, but we are also bounde to stirre vp and confirme one another. 7 We must haue great consideration of them which are appointed to the ministerie of the word, and gouernement of the Church by God, & doe their duetie. b That you acknowledge and take them for such as they are, that is to say, men worthy to bee greatly accompted of among you. c In those things which perteine to Gods seruice: so is the ecclesiasticall function distinguished from ciuill authoritie, and true shepheards from wolues. d So then, where this cause ceaseth, there must the honour cease. 8 The maintenance of mutuall concord, is especially to be looked vnto. 9 We must haue consideration of euery man, and as the disease is, so must the remedie bee vsed. e That keepe not their ranke or standing. 10 Charitie ought not to be ouercome with any iniuries. ✠ Prou.17.13. and 20.22. matth.5.39. rom.12.17. 1.peter 3.9. 11 A quiet and appeased minde, is nourished with continuall prayers, respecting the will of God. ✠ Luke 18.1. f An acceptable thing to God, and such as hee liketh well of. 12 The sparkes of the Spirite of God that are kindled in vs, are nourished with dayly hearing the worde of God: but true doctrine must bee diligently distinguished from false. g The expounding of the worde of God. 13 A generall conclusion, that wee waiting for the comming of Christ, doe giue our selues to purenesse both in minde, will, and body, through the grace and strength of the Spirit of God. h Whatsoeuer hath but the very shewe of euill, absteine from it. i Separate you from the worlde, and make you holy to himselfe through his Spirit, in Christ, in whome onely you shall atteine vnto that true peace. 14 The good will and power of God is a sure confirmation against all difficulties, whereof we haue a sure witnes in our vocation. ✠ 1.Corin.1.9. k Alwayes one, and euer like himselfe, who performeth in deede whatsoeuer he promiseth: and an effectuall calling is nothing els but a right declaring and true setting foorth of Gods will: and therefore the saluation of the elect, is safe and sure. l Who will also make you perfite. 15 The last part of the epistle, wherein with most waightie charge, hee commendeth both himselfe and this epistle vnto them.

¶ The first Epistle vnto the Thessalonians written from Athens.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 He commendeth the increase of faith, and charitie, 4 and the patience of the Thessalonians: 6 and describing Gods vengeance against such as oppresse the godly, 10 hee teacheth the godly to waite for the last iudgement.

PAul and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ:
2 Grace be with you, & peace fro
God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.
3 ✠ 1 We ought to thanke God alwayes for you, brethren, as it is meete, because that your faith a groweth exceedingly, and the loue of euery one of you toward another, aboundeth, 4 So that we our selues reioyce of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience & faith in al your persecutions & tribulations that ye suffer,

✠ 1.Thess.1.2. 1 The first part of the epistle, wherin he reioyceth that through the grace of God, they haue manfully susteined all the assaultes of their enemies, wherein he confirmeth them, moreouer shewing with what giftes they must chiefly fight, to wit, with faith and charitie, which must dayly increase. a That whereas it grewe vp before, it doeth also receiue some increase euery day more and more.

5 ✠ 2 Which

✠ [illegible]
2 He openeth the fountaine of all our comfort, to wit, that in afflictions which we suffer of the wicked for righteousnes sake, we may beholde as it were in a glasse the testimonie of that iudgemet to come, and the ende thereof most acceptable to vs, and most sharpe to his enemies.
3 A proofe: God is iust, therefore he will worthily punish the vniust, and wil doe away the miseries of his people.
4 He confirmeth them also by the way, by this meanes, that the condition both of this present state and the state to come, is common to him with them.

5 ✠ [2] Which is a manifest token of the righteous iudgement of God, that yee may bee counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.
6 [3] For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you, 7 And to you which are troubled, rest [4] with vs, ✠ [5] when the Lorde Iesus shall shewe himselfe from heauen with his mightie Angels, 8 In flaming fire, tendring vengeance vnto them, [6] that doe not knowe God, and which obey not vnto the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ, 9 Which shall bee punished with euerlasting perdition, from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power, 10 When hee shall come to bee glorified in his Saints, and to be made marueilous in all them that beleeue ([7] because our testimonie toward you was beleeued) in that day.
11 [8] Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthy of [b] this calling, and fulfill [c] all the good pleasure of his goodnes, and the [d] worke of faith with power, 12 That the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ may bee glorified in you, and yee in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lorde Iesus Christ.

✠ 1.Thess.4.16. 5 A most glorious description of the second comming of Christ, to bee set against all the miseries of the godly, and the triumphes of the wicked. 6 There is no knowledge of God vnto saluation, without the Gospell of Christ. 7 The children of God shalbe counted by the faith which they haue in the Gospel, which is preached vnto them by the Apostles. 8 Seeing that wee haue the marke set before vs, it remaineth that we goe vnto it. And we goe to it, by certaine degrees of causes: first by the free loue and good pleasure of God, by vertue whereof all other inferiour causes worke: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Christ, and from calling, faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in vs, and vs in Christ. b By (calling) hee meaneth not the very acte of calling, but that selfe same thing whereunto wee are called, which is the glory of that heauenly kingdome. c Which hee determined long since onely vpon his gratious and mercifull goodnesse towardes you. d So then, faith is an excellent worke of God in vs: and wee see hereplainly that the Apostle leaueth nothing to free will, to make it checkemate with Gods working therein, as the Papists dreame.

CHAP. II.

2 Hee sheweth that the day of the Lorde shall not come, till there be a departure from the faith, 3 and that Antichrist bee reueiled, 8 whose destruction hee setteth out, 15 and thereupon exhorteth to constancie.

1 The second part of the Epistle, conteining an excellent prophecie of the state of the Church, which shall be from the Apostles times vnto the latter day of iudgement.
a If we thinke earnestly vpon that vnmeasurable glory, which we shalbe partakers of with Christ, it will be an excellent remedie

NOwe [1] we beseech you, brethren, by the com-ming of our Lord Iesus Christ, and by our [a] assembling vnto him,
2 [2] That ye be not suddenly mooued from your minde, nor troubled neither by [b] spirite, nor by [c] word, nor by [d] letter, as it were from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand.
3 Let no man deceiue you by any meanes:
[3] for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that [e] that man of sinne be disclosed, euen the sonne of perdition, 4 Which is an aduersarie, and [f] exalteth himselfe against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: [4] so that he doeth sit as God in the Temple of God, shewing himselfe that he is God.
5 [5] Remember yee not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these things?
6 And nowe yee knowe [g] what withholdeth that he might be reueiled in his time.
7 [6] For the mysterie of iniquitie doeth already worke: [7] onely he which now [h] withholdeth, shall let till he be taken out of the way.
8 [8] And then shal [i] that wicked man be reueiled, ✠ whome the Lorde shall [k] consume with the [l] Spirite of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightnes of his comming, 9 [9] Euen him whose comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all power, and signes, and [m] lying wonders,
10 And in all deceiuablenes of vnrighteousnes, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the trueth, that they might be saued.
11 And therefore God shal send them [n] strong delusion, that they should beleeue lies, 12 That all they might bee damned which beleeued not the trueth, but [o] had pleasure in vnrighteousnes.
13 [10] But wee ought to giue thankes alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lorde, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through [p] sanctification of the Spirit, and the [q] faith of trueth, 14 Whereunto hee called you by our [r] Gospel, to obtaine the glory of our Lord Iesus Christ.
15 [11] Therefore, brethren, stande fast & keepe the instructions, which ye haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.
16 Nowe the same Iesus Christ our Lorde, and our God euen the Father which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euerlasting consolation and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your heartes, and stablish you in euery worde and good worke.

4 He foretelleth that Antichrist (that is, [illegible]) he be that shall occupie that seate that falleth away from God) shal not reigne without the Church, but in the very bosome of the Church.
5 This prophecie was continually declared to the Auncient Church, but it was neglected of them that followed.
g What hindreth and stayeth.
6 Euen in the Apostles time the first foundations of the Apostatical seate were layde, but yet so that they deceiued men.
7 He foretelleth, that when the empire of Rome is taken away, the [illegible] that falleth [illegible] from God [illegible] cede [illegible] holde [illegible] the olde [illegible] [illegible] somewhat [illegible] poured [illegible].
h He [illegible] the Roman empire.
8 That [illegible] length [illegible] of the [illegible]

for vs against wauering and impatience, so that neither the glistering of the worlde shall allure vs, nor the dreadfull sight of the crosse dismay vs. 2 Wee must take heede of false prophets, especially in this matter, which goe about to deceiue, and that for the most part, after three sortes: for either they bragge of fained propheticall reuelations, or they bring coniectures and reasons of their owne, or vse counterfeite writings. b By dreames and fables, which men pretend to bee spirituall reuelations. c Either by word of mouth, or by bookes written. d Either by forged letter, or falsely glosed vpon. 3 The Apostle foretelleth that before the comming of the Lorde, there shall bee a throne set vp cleane contrary to Christes glory, wherein that wicked man shall sit, and transferre all things that appertaine to God, to himselfe, and many shall fall away from God to him. e By speaking of one, he pointeth out the body of the tyrannous and persecuting Church. f All men know who he is that sayeth hee can shut vp heauen and open it at his pleasure, and tooke vpon him to bee Lorde and Master aboue all kings and princes, before whome kings and princes fall downe and worship, honouring that Antichrist as a god.

shall vtterly be abolished by Christes comming. i Worde for worde, [illegible] fellow: that is to say, hee that shall tread Gods Lawe cleane vnder foote. k Bring to nought. l With his worde, for the true Ministers of the [illegible] mouth, whereby the Lord breatheth out that mightie and euerlasting worde, [illegible] breake his enemies in sunder, as it were an yron rodde. 9 Hee foretelleth [illegible] tan will bestowe all his might and power, and vse all false miracles that [illegible] establish that seate, and that with great successe, because the wickednes of the [illegible] doeth so deserue it: yet so, that onely the vnfaithfull shall perish through hi[illegible]. m Which are partly false, and partly wrought to establish a false sode. [illegible] mightie working to deceiue them. o They liked lies so well, that they [illegible] them, which is the greatest madnesse that may be. 10 The elect shall [illegible] and safe from all these mischiefes. Nowe election is knowen by these [illegible] Faith is gathered by sanctification: faith, by that that wee accorde vnto the [illegible] trueth, by calling, through the preaching of the Gospell: from whence wee [illegible] length to a certaine hope of glorification. p To sanctifie you. q Faith [illegible] layeth holde not vpon lies, but vpon the trueth of God, which is the Gospell. r By [illegible] preaching. 11 The conclusion: It remaineth then, that wee continue in the doctrine which was deliuered vnto vs by the mouth and writings of the Apostles, through the free good will of God, which comforteth vs with an inuincible hope, and also in all godlines our whole life long.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospell with their prayers, 6 and to withdrawe themselues from those, who through idlenes, 11 and curiositie [illegible] good order: 14 Whom he excludeth from the company of the faithfull.

FVrthermore, [1] brethren, ✠ pray for vs, that the word of the Lord may haue free passage and be glorified, euen as it is with you, 2 And that we may be deliuered from [a] vnrea-

1 He addeth now consequently according to his maner, diuers admonitions: The first of them is, that they make prayers for the increase and free passage of the [illegible], and for the safetie of the faithfull ministers of the same. ✠ [illegible] a Which haue no care of their duetie.

[illegible] the Gos-pel is [illegible] of so many, [illegible] that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithstanding, the Church shall neuer be destroyed by the multitude of the wicked, because it is grounded and stayed vpon the faithfull promise of God.
b From Satans snares, or from euil.
3 The second admonition is, that they followe alwayes the doctrine of the Apostles as a rule for their life.
4 Thirdly, he diligently and earnestly admonisheth them of two things which are giuen vs by the [illegible] grace of [illegible] to wit, of [illegible] and a [illegible] minde [illegible] comming [illegible] sonable and euill men: [a] for all men haue not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithfull, which will stablish you, and keepe you from [b] euil.
4 [3] And we are perswaded of you through the Lorde, that ye both doe, and will doe the thinges which we warne you of.
5 [4] And the Lorde guide your hearts to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Christ.
6 [5] Wee warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that yee withdrawe your selues from euery brother that walketh inordinately, and not after the instruction, which he receiued of vs.
7 [6] For ye your selues knowe, ✠ how ye ought to follow vs: ✠ for wee behaued not our selues in-ordinately among you, 8 Neither tooke wee bread of any man for nought: but wee wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, because wee would not be chargeable to any of you.
9 Not because we haue not authoritie, but that we might make our selues an ensample vnto you to follow vs.
10 For euen when we were with you, this wee warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that he should [c] not eate.
11 For wee heare, that there are some which walke among you inordinately, and worke not at all, [8] but are busie bodies.
12 [9] Therefore them that are such, wee warne and exhort by our Lorde Iesus Christ, that they worke with quietnes, and eate their owne bread.
13 [10] And ye, brethren, bee not weary in well doing.
14 [11] If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and haue no [12] company with him, [13] that he may be ashamed: 15 [14] Yet count him not as an enemie, but admonish him as a brother.
16 [15] Nowe the Lorde himselfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by al meanes. The Lord be with you all.
17 [16] The salutation of mee Paul, with mine owne hand, which is the token in euery Epistle: so I write,
18 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

[illegible] he sayeth, that idle and lasie persons, ought not to bee relieued of the [illegible], that they are not to bee suffered. 6 Least hee might seeme to deale [illegible] them, he setteth foorth himselfe for an example, who besides his trauaile [illegible] laboured with his handes, which he sayeth he was not simply bound to [illegible] 1.Corinth. 11.1. ✠ 1.Thess.4.11. c What shall wee doe then with those [illegible] Monkes, and sacrificing Priests? A Monke (saith Socrates, booke 8. of his [illegible] historie) which worketh not with handes, is like a thiefe.

7 Howe great a fault idlenes is, he declareth by that, that God created no man in vaine or to no purpose, neither is there any vnto whome he hath not allotted as it were a certaine standing and roome. Whereupon it foloweth, that the order which God hath appointed, is troubled by the idle, yea broken, which is great sinne & wickednes. 8 Hee reprehendeth a vice, which is ioyned with the former, whereupon follow an infinite sort of mischiefes: to wit, that there are none more busie in other mens matters, then they which neglect their owne. 9 The Lorde commaundeth and the Apostles pray in the Name of Christ, first, that no man be idle, and next, that euery man doe quietly and carefully see to do his duetie in that office and calling wherein the Lord hath placed him. 10 Wee must take heed, that some mens vnworthines cause vs not to be slacker in wel doing. 11 Excommunication is a punishment for the obstinate. 12 Wee must haue no familiaritie nor fellowship with the excommunicate. 13 The ende of the excommunication is not the destruction, but the saluation of the sinner, that at least through shame he may be driuen to repentance. 14 We must so eschew familiaritie with the excommunicate, that we diligently seeke all occasions and meanes that may bee to bring them againe into the right way. 15 Prayers are the seales of all exhortations. 16 The Apostle subscribeth his letters with his owne hand, that false letters might not be brought and put in place of true.

¶ The second Epistle to the Thessalonians,
written from Athens.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

Setting forth a perfect patterne of a true Pastour, whose office especially consisteth in teaching, 4 he warneth him that vaine questions set apart, hee teache those thinges, 5 which further charitie and faith: 12 and that his authoritie be not condemned, 14 he sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

PAVL [1] an Apostle of IESVS
CHRIST, by the ‖ commaunde-ment of God our Sauiour, and of our Lord Iesus Christ our hope,
2 Vnto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, [a] mercie, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Iesus our Lord.
3 [2] As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so doe, that thou mayest warne some, that they teache none other doctrine,
4 [3] Neither that they giue heede to fables and [b] genealogies which are endlesse, which breede questions rather then godly edifying which is by faith.
5 [4] For the [illegible] of the [c] commaundement is [d] loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith vnfained.
6 [5] From the which thinges some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vaine iangling.
7 [6] They would be doctours of the Lawe, and yet vnderstande not what they speake, neither whereof they affirme.
8 [7] And we knowe, that the Lawe is good, if a man vse it lawfully, 9 [8] Knowing this, that the Lawe is not giuen vnto a [e] righteous man, but vnto the lawlesse and disobedient, to the vngodly, and to [f] sinners, to the vnholy, and to the prophane, to murtherers of fathers and mothers, to manslayers, 10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to men-stealers, to lyars, to the periured, and if there be any other thing, that is cōtrary to wholesome doctrine, 11 [9] Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, [10] which is committed vnto me.

[illegible] all, he [illegible] his own [illegible] and [illegible] might [illegible] by [illegible] and [illegible] shall he [illegible] ẏ summe [illegible] Apostolicall [illegible] to wit, the [illegible] of God in [illegible] Iesus apprehended by faith, the ende whereof is yet hoped for.
‖ Or, ordinance.
a There is as much difference betwixt mercie and grace, as is betwixt the effect, and the cause: For grace is that free good will of God, whereby he chose vs in Christ, and mercie is that free iustification which foloweth it. 2 This whole Epistle consisteth in admonitions, wherein all the dueties of a faithfull Pastour are liuely set out. And the first admonition is this, that no innouation be made either in the Apostles doctrine it selfe, or in the maner of teaching it. 3 The doctrine is corrupted not onely by false opinions, but also by vaine and curious speculations: the declaration and vtterance whereof can nothing helpe our faith. b Hee noteth out one kinde of vaine questions [illegible] The second admonition is, that the right vse and practise of the doctrine [illegible] with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charitie [illegible] and true faith. ✠ Rom.13.10. c Of the Lawe.

d There is neither loue without a good conscience, nor a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the word of God.
5 That which he spake before generally of vaine and curious controuersies, he applieth to them which pretending a zeale of the Law, dwelled vpon outward things, and neuer made an ende of babbling of foolish trifles.
6 There are none more vnlearned, and more impudēt in vsurping the name of holines, then foolish sophistical bablers. 7 The taking away of an obiection: He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right vse and practise of it. 8 He in deede escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doeth not abhorre it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Law condemneth, giueth himselfe with al his heart, to obserue it: and not he that maketh a vaine babbling of outwarde and curious matters. e And such a one is he, whom the Lord hath indued with true doctrine, & with the holy Ghost. f To such as make an arte as it were of sinning. 9 He setteth against fond and vaine babbling, not onely the Lawe, but the Gospel also, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholesome doctrine conteined in the commaundements of God, and therefore he calleth it a glorious Gospel, and the Gospel of the blessed God, the vertue whereof these babblers knewe not. 10 A reason why neither any other Gospell is to bee taught then hee hath taught in the Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospel beside that, which God committed to him.

11 He mainteineth of necessitie his Apostleship against some that did carpe at his former life, debasing himselfe euen to hell, to aduance Christs onely mercie, wherewith he abolished all those his former doings.
g Which gaue me strength, not onely when I had no will to doe well, but also when I was wholy giuen to euill.
h These are the preparatiue workes which Paul braggeth of.
12 He proueth this change by the effectes, for that, that he that was a prophane man, is become a beleeuer: and he that did most outragiously persecute Christ, burneth nowe in loue towards him.
13 He turneth the reproche of the aduersaries vpon their owne head, shewing that this singular example of the goodnesse of God, redoundeth to the commoditie of the whole Church. i Worthie to bee beleeued. ✠ Math 9.13 marke 2.17. 14 Hee breaketh out into an exclamation, euen for very zeale of minde, for that hee cannot satisfie himselfe in amplifying the grace of God. k Looke Iohn 17.3. 15 The conclusion of both the former fatherly admonitions, to wit, that Timothie striuing manfully against all letters, being called to the ministerie according to many prophecies which went before of him, should both mainteine the doctrine which hee had receiued, and keepe also a good conscience. l By the helpe of them. m Wholesome and sound doctrine. 16 Whosoeuer keepe not a good conscience, doe lose also by litle and litle, the gift of vnderstanding: which hee proueth by two most lamentable examples. ✠ 1.Cor.5.5. 17 Such as fall from God, and his religion, are not to be suffered in the Church, but rather ought to be excommunicated. n Cast out of the Church, and so deliuered them to Satan. o That by their smart they might learne what it is to blaspheme.

12 [11] Therefore I thanke him, which hath made me g strong, that is, Christ Iesus our Lord:
for he counted mee faithfull, and put mee in his seruice:
13 When before I was a [h] blasphemer, and a persecuter, and an oppresser: but I was receiued to mercie: for I did it ignorantly through vnbeliefe.
14 But the grace of our Lorde was exceeding abundant [12] with faith and loue, which is in Christ Iesus.
15 [13] This is a [i] true saying, and by all meanes worthy to be receiued, that ✠ Christ Iesus came into the worlde to saue sinners, of whome I am chiefe.
16 Notwithstanding, for this cause was I recei-ued to mercie, that Iesus Christ should first shewe on mee all long suffering vnto the ensample of them, which shall in time to come beleeue in him
vnto eternall life.
17 [14] Nowe vnto the King euerlasting, im-mortall, inuisible, vnto God [k] onely wise, be honour and glorie, for euer, and euer, Amen.
18 [15] This commaundement commit I vnto thee, sonne Timotheus, according to the prophecies, which went before vpon thee, that thou [l] by them shouldest fight a good fight, 19 Hauing [m] faith and a good conscience, [16] which some haue put away, and as concerning faith, haue made shipwracke.
20 Of whome is Hymeneus, and Alexander, ✠ [17] whome I haue [n] deliuered vnto Satan, that they might [o] learne not to blaspheme.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them to make publike prayers for all men, 4. 5 and that for two causes: 8 And therefore he willeth all men in all places to pray. 9 And declareth in what apparell 11 and with what modestie, women ought to behaue themselues in holy assemblies.

1 Hauing dispatched those things which perteine to doctrine, he speaketh nowe in the second place of the other part of the ministerie of the worde, to wit, of publike prayers. And first of all, declaring this question, for whome we ought to pray: he teacheth that we must pray for all men, and especially for all maner of magistrates, which thing was at that time somewhat doubted of, seeing that kings, yea and the most part of magistrates were at that time enemies of the Church. 2 An argument taken of the ende: to wit, because that Magistrates are appointed to this ende, that men might peaceably and quietly liue in all godlinesse and honestie, and therefore must we commend them especially to God, that they may faithfully execute so necessarie an office. a This worde conteineth all kinde of duetie, which is to be vsed amongst men in all their affaires. 3 An other argument, why Churches or Congregations ought to pray for all men, without any difference of nation, kinde, age, or order: to wit, because the Lorde by calling of all sortes, yea sometime those that are greatest enemies to the Gospel, will haue his Church gathered together after this sort, and therefore prayers to be made for all.

I [1] Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giuing of thanks be made for all men,
2 For Kings, and for all that are in authoritie, [2] that we may leade a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlinesse and [a] honestie.
3 [3] For this is good & acceptable in the sight of God our Sauiour, 4 Who will that all men shalbe saued, and come vnto the acknowledging of the trueth.
5 [4] For there is one God, and one [illegible] tour betweene God and man, which is the [b] man Christ Iesus,
6 Who gaue himselfe a ransome for all men,
[5] to be that testimonie in due time,
7 ✠ Whereunto I am ordeined a preacher and an Apostle (I speake the trueth in Christ, and lie not) euen a teacher of the Gentiles in [c] faith and veritie.
8 [6] I will therefore that the men pray, euery where [d] lifting vp pure hands without [e] wrath, or [f] douting.
9 ✠ [7] Likewise also the women, that they aray themselues in comely apparell, with shamefastnes and modestie, not with broyded haire, or gold, or pearles, or costly apparell, 10 But (as becommeth women that professe the feare of God) with good workes.
11 Let the woman learne in silence with all subiection.
12 ∵ I permit not a woman to teache, [8] neither to vsurpe authoritie ouer the man, but to be in silence.
13 [9] For ✠ Adam was first formed, then Eue.
14 ✠ [10] And Adam was not [g] deceiued, but the woman was deceiued, and was in the transgression.
15 [11] Notwithstanding, through bearing of children she shalbe saued if they continue in faith, and loue, and holines with modestie.

4 God should not els be manifested to be the onely God of all men, vnlesse he should shewe his goodnesse in sauing of all sortes of men: neither should Christ be seene to be the onely Mediatour betweene God and all sortes of men, by hauing taken vpon him that nature of man which is common to all men, vnlesse he had satisfied for all sortes of men, and made intercession for all. b Christ Iesus [illegible] which wa[illegible] man. 5 A confirm[illegible] because that eu[illegible] to the Gentiles [illegible] the secret of saluation nowe opened and made ma[illegible] the Apostle [illegible] self being [illegible] ted, prop[illegible] this off[illegible] he d[illegible] ly and [illegible] ✠ 1.[illegible]

c Faithfully and syncerely: and by faith hee meaneth wholesome and [illegible] and by trueth, an vpright and syncere handling of it. 6 He hath spoken [illegible] sons for whom wee must pray: and nowe he teacheth that the differe[illegible] is taken away: for in times past, one onely nation, and in one certaine p[illegible] together to publike seruice: but nowe Churches or Congregations are [illegible] together euery where, (orderly and decently) and men come together to [illegible] publikely with common prayer, neither must we striue for the nation, or [illegible] rification of the body, or for the place, but for the minde to haue it cle[illegible] offence, and full of sure trust and confidence. d Hee putteth the figur[illegible] it selfe, the lifting vp of handes for the calling vpon God. e Without [illegible] and offences of the minde, which hinder vs from calling vpon God with a [illegible] ence. f Doubting which is against faith, Iames 1.6. ✠ 1.Pet.3.3. 7 [illegible] appointeth women to learne in the publike assemblies with silence and [illegible] being comely apparelled without any riot or excesse in their apparell [illegible] 14.34. 8 The first argument, why it is not lawfull for women to teac[illegible] Congregation, because by this meanes, they should be placed aboue men [illegible] should be their masters: which is against Gods ordinance. 9 Hee proue[illegible] ordinance of God, whereby the woman is subiect to man, first by that, [illegible] made the woman after man, for mans sake. ✠ Gene.1.27. and 2.7.21. ✠ G[illegible] 10 Then, because that after sinne, God inioyned the woman this punis[illegible] that the man was deceiued by her. g Adam was deceiued, but through [illegible] meanes, and therefore shee is worthily for this cause subiect to her husband [illegible] to be. 11 Hee addeth a comfort by the way, that their subiection [illegible] but that women may bee saued as well as men, if they behaue themselues [illegible] burdens of mariage holily and modestly, with faith and charitie.

CHAP. III.

2 He setteth out Bishops, 8 and Christian Deacons, with their wiues, 12 children and families: 15 he calleth the Church the house of God.

1 Hauing dispatched the treatise as well of doctrine and of the maner of handling of it, as also of publike prayer, he nowe in the thirde place commeth to the persons themselues, speaking first of Pastors, and afterwarde of Deacons, and hee vseth a preface, that the Church may knowe that these bee certeine and sure rules. 2 A bishopricke or the ministerie of the worde is not an idle dignitie, but a worke, and that an excellent worke: and therefore a Bishoppe must bee furnished with many vertues both at home and abroade. Wherefore it is requisite before hee be chosen, to examine well his learning, his giftes, and ablenesse, and his life. a Hee speaketh not here of ambitious seeking, for the which there cannot bee a [illegible] in the Church, but generally of the minde and disposition of man, framed and disposed to helpe and edifie the Church of God, when and wheresoeuer it shall please the Lorde. ✠ Titus 1.6. b Therefore be that [illegible] and marred men from the office of Bishops, [illegible] because they are married, is Antichrist.

THis [1] is a true saying, [2] If any man [a] desire the office of a Bishop, hee desireth a worthie worke.
2 ✠ A Bishop therefore must bee vnreproueable, ble, the husband of [b] one wife, watching, tempe-

c A common tipler, and one that will sit by it.
d Lest by reason that he is aduanced to that degree, he take occasion to be proud, which will vndoe him, and so he fall into the same condemnation that the deuill himselfe is fallen into.
3 Likewise the Deacons must first be proued, that there may be a good tryall of their honestie, trueth, sobrietie, minde void of couetousnesse, that they are well instructed in the doctrine of faith, and [illegible] short, of [illegible] good conscience and integritie.
e These are they [illegible] had to see to [illegible] [illegible]
f The doctrine of the Gospel, which [illegible] [illegible]

rate, modest, harberous, apt to teache, 3 Not c giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous, 4 One that can rule his owne house honestly, hauing children vnder obedience with all honestie.
5 For if any cannot rule his owne house, how shall he care for the Church of God?
6 He may not bee a yong scholer, lest he being puffed vp fall into the d condemnation of the deuill.
7 He must also bee well reported of, euen of them which are without, lest hee fall into rebuke, and the snare of the deuill.
8 3 Likewise must e Deacons be graue, not double tongued, not giuen vnto much wine, neither to filthy lucre, 9 ✠ Hauing the f mysterie of the faith in pure conscience.
10 And let them first be proued: then let them minister, if they be found blameles.
11 4 Likewise their wiues must be honest, not euill speakers, but sober, and faithfull in all things.
12 5 Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their owne housholdes.
13 For they that haue ministred well, get them selues a good g degree, and h great libertie in the faith, which is in Christ Iesus.
14 6 These things write I vnto thee, trusting to come very shortly vnto thee.
15 But if I tary long, ẏ thou maiest yet know, how thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in ẏ 7 house of God, which is the Church of the liuing God,
the i pillar and ground of trueth.
16 8 And without controuersie, great is the mysterie of godlinesse, which is, God is manifested in the flesh, k iustified in the Spirit, seene of Angels, preached vnto the Gentiles, beleeued on in the world, and receiued vp in glorie.

[illegible] must be [illegible] Deacons [illegible] that haue [illegible] then [illegible] time, [illegible] be [illegible] ministers [illegible]

[illegible] and estimation. h Bold and assured confidence without feare. 6 Paul [illegible] to adde many peculiar things perteining to the dayly office of a Pa[illegible] hath first a worde or two concerning his comming to Timothie, that hee [illegible] so much the more carefull, lest at his comming hee might bee reproued [illegible]gence. 7 The Pastour hath alwayes to thinke, howe that he is occupied [illegible] house of the liuing God, wherein the treasure of the trueth is kept. i To [illegible] respect of men: for the Church resteth vpon that corner stone, Christ, and is the [illegible] of the trueth, but not the mother. 8 There is nothing more excellent [illegible] trueth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preseruer here amongst [illegible] ministerie of the worde being appointed to that ende and purpose: for it [illegible] the greatest matters that may bee thought of, to wit, that God is be[illegible] in the person of Christ by taking our nature vpon him, whose Maie[illegible] standing in so great weakenes was manifested many waies, in so much [illegible] sight of it pearced the very Angels, and to conclude, hee being preached [illegible] Gentiles was receiued of them, and is nowe placed aboue in glory vn[illegible]. k The power of the Godhead shewed it selfe so maruelously in that weake [illegible] Christ, that though hee were a weake man, yet all the worlde knoweth hee was [illegible] God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee condemneth aswell false doctrines 3 of mariage and the choise of meates, 7 as also prophane fables: 8 And commendeth the Godly exercise, 13 and the daily reading of the Scripture.

1 He setteth against that true doctrine, false opinions, which he foretelleth that certaine which shall fall away from God and his religion,

NOwe 1 the Spirit speaketh euidently, that in the latter times some shall depart from the a faith, and shall giue heede vnto spirits of errour, and doctrines of deuils,
2 2 Which speake lies through b hypocrisie, & haue their c consciences burned ẇ an hote yron,
3 3 Forbidding to marrie, and commanding to absteine from meates 4 which God hath created 5 to be receiued 6 with giuing thankes of them which beleeue and knowe the trueth.
4 7 For euery creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be receiued with thankesgiuing.
5 8 For it is d sanctified by the e word of God,
and prayer.
6 9 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hast bene nourished vp in the wordes of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou hast continually f followed.
7 10 But cast away prophane, and olde wiues fables, 11 and exercise thy selfe vnto g godlinesse.
8 12 For bodily exercise profiteth litle: but godlinesse is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promes of the life present, and of that that is to come.
9 13 This is a true saying, and by all meanes worthie to be receiued.
10 For therefore wee labour and are rebuked, because wee trust in the liuing God, which is the Sauiour of all men, specially of those that beleeue.
11 These things warne and teache.
12 14 Let no man despise thy youth, but be vnto them that beleeue, an ensample, in worde, in conuersation, in loue, in spirit, in faith and in purenesse.
13 15 Till I come, giue attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.
14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was giuen thee by prophecie with the laying on of the hands of the companie of the Eldership.
15 These things exercise, and giue thy selfe vnto them, that it may be seene howe thou profitest among all men.
16 Take heede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both h saue thy selfe, & them that heare thee.

3 He setteth down two kindes of this false doctrine, to wit, the Lawe of sole life, and difference of meates.
4 He prooueth that hee iustly called such doctrines deuilish, first, because the teachers of them make lawes of things which are not their owne: for haue they created the meates?
5 Secondly, because they ouerthrowe with their decrees, the ende wherefore they were created of God, to wit, that we shoulde vse them.
6 Thirdly, for that by this meanes they robbe God of his glory who will be honoured in the vse of them. And here withall, the Apostle declareth that we must vse the liberalitie of God, soberly, and with a good conscience.
7 He setteth an Apostolicall rule, for taking away the difference of meates, against that false doctrine.
8 He vseth Gods benefites rightly, which acknowledgeth the giuer of them by his worde, and calleth vpon him.

shall bring in by the suggestion of Satan, and so, that a great nomber shall giue eare to them. a From the true doctrine of God. 2 Although heretikes counterfet holines neuer so much, yet haue they no conscience. b For they will as it were practise the art of disguised persons and pl[illegible] that we may not thinke they will lie lurking in some one corner, or keepe any resem[illegible] of shamefastnes. c Whose conscience waxed so hard, that there grew an hard [illegible] it, and so became to haue a canker in it, and now at length required [illegible] necessitie to be burned with an hote yron.

d It is so made pure and holy in respect of vs, so that wee may vse it with a good conscience, as receiued at the Lordes handr. e Wee confesse and acknowledge that God is the maker and giuer of those creatures which wee vse. Secondly, that wee are of the number of those, who through Christes benefite, haue recouered that right ouer all creatures, which Adam lost by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers wee craue of the Lorde, that wee may vse those meates with a good conscience, which wee receiue at his handes. Fourthly, wee make an ende of our eating and drinking, with thankesgiuing and prayer: and so are our meates sanctified to vs. 9 The conclusion with an exhortation to Timothie, to propound these thinges diligently to the Churches, which hee had sucked of the Apostle euen in a maner from the teate. f Neuer departing from the side of it. 10 Hee setteth againe true doctrine not onely against that false and apostaticall doctrine, but also against all vaine and curious subtilties. 11 It is not onely requisite that the Minister of the worde bee sounde in doctrine, but also that his life bee godly and religious. g In the true seruing of God. 12 Godlinesse consisteth in spirituall exercise, and not in outwarde austerenesse of life, which though it bee something to bee accounted of if it be rightly vsed, yet is it in no wise comparable with godlinesse. For it profiteth not of it selfe, but through the benefite of another, but this hath the promise both of the life present, and of that that is to come. 13 He goeth a litle from his matter, and sheweth that they which giue themselues to godlinesse, although they are afflicted and reproched, are notwithstanding not to bee counted miserable as other men are, because they are not afflicted for that cause that other men are, and the ende of them both is farre different one from the other. For howe can God forsake his, which is bountifull euen towards his enemies? And hee willeth that this doctrine bee well beaten into their heads. 14 Nowe he returneth to that exhortation, shewing which are the true vertues of a Pastour, whereby hee may come to bee reuerenced although hee bee but young, to wit, such speache and life as are witnesses of charitie, zeale, faith, and puritie: but here is no mention made of the crosses staffe, ring, cloke, and such other foolish and childish toyes. 15 The priuate exercise of Pastours, is continuall reading of the Scriptures, whenceout they may draw matter of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselues and to other. h Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the Ministers of the worde are so saide to saue themselues and other, for that in them the Lorde hath put the worde of reconciliation.

C H A P. V.

1 Hauing set downe a maner howe to rebuke all degrees, 3 hee entreateth of widowes, who then were chosen for the seruice of the Church: 17 Then hee commeth to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the body.

REbuke [1] not an Elder, but exhort him as a father, and the yonger men as brethren, 2 The elder women as mothers, the yonger as sisters, with all purenesse.
3 [2] [a] Honour widowes, which are widowes in deede.
4 [3] But if any widowe haue children or nephewes, let them learne first to shewe godlinesse [4] toward their owne house, and [5] to recompense their kinred: [6] for that is an honest thing and acceptable before God.
5 [7] And she that is a widowe in deede and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.
6 [8] But shee that liueth in pleasure, is dead, while she liueth.
7 These things therefore warne them of, that they may be blamelesse.
8 If there bee any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his house-holde, he denieth the faith, and is worse then an infidell.
9 [9] Let not a widowe be taken into the number vnder three score yeere olde, that hath bene the wife of [b] one husband, 10 And well reported of for good workes: if she haue nourished her children, if shee haue lodged the strangers, if she haue [c] washed the Saintes feete, if she haue ministred vnto them which were in aduersitie, if shee were continually giuen vnto euery good worke.
11 [10] But [d] refuse the yonger widowes: for when they haue begunne to waxe wanton against Christ, they will marrie, 12 Hauing damnation, because they haue broken the first faith.
13 [11] And likewise also being idle they learne to goe about from house to house: yea they are not onely ydle, but also pratlers and busibodies, speaking things which are not comely.
14 [12] I will therefore that the yonger women marie, and beare children, and gouerne the house, and giue none occasion to the aduersarie to speake
euill.
15 For certaine are alreadie turned backe after Satan.
16 [13] If any faithfull man, or faithfull woman haue widowes, let them minister vnto them, and let not the Church bee charged, that there

1 Of keeping measure in priuate reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kindes.
2 The Apostle giueth these rules touching the care of widowes.
a Haue care of those widowes which haue neede of helpe.
3 Widowes children & nephewes must take care for their parents, according to their habilitie.
4 The first reason, because that, that which they bestow vpon theirs, they bestowe it vpon themselues.
5 An other, because nature it selfe teacheth vs to recompense our parents.
6 The third: because this duetifulnesse pleaseth God.
7 The second rule: Let the Church haue care of such as are widowes in deede, that is to say, such as are poore and destitute of helpe of their owne friends, and liue godly and religiously.
8 The third rule: Let widowes that liue in pleasure, and neglect the care of their owne familie, be holden and accompted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse then very infidels.
9 The fourth rule: Let none vnder three score yeere olde, bee taken into the number of widowes, to serue the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproche of vnchastitie, and are well reported of, for their diligence, charitie, and integritie. b That hath had no more husbandes, but one at one time. c This is spoken in respect of the maner of those countries. 10 The first reason why yonger widowes are not to bee admitted to this ministerie, to witte, because for the lightnesse of their age, they will at length shake off the burden that Christ hath laide vpon them, and thinke rather vpon marying againe: and so will forsake the ministerie whereunto they had bounde them selues. d Take them not into the colledge of widowes. 11 An other reason: because they are for the most part pratlers and busie bodies, and gadders vp and downe neglecting their charge and duetie. 12 The fifth rule: Let yonger widowes marie and gouerne their houses godly. 13 The sixth rule: Let the faithfull helpe their widowes at their owne charges as much as they can, and let not the Congregation be burdened with these expenses.

may be sufficient for them that are widowes in
deede.
17 ¶ [14] The Elders that rule well, let them be had in [e] double honour, [f] specially they which labour in the worde and doctrine, 18 For the Scripture sayeth, ✠ Thou shalt not mousell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, ✠ The labourer is worthie of his wages.
19 [15] Against an Elder receiue none accusation, but vnder two or three witnesses.
20 [16] Them that sinne, rebuke openly, that the rest also may feare.
21 ¶ [17] I charge thee before God & the Lord Iesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou ob-serue these things without preferring one to an other, and doe nothing partially.
22 [18] Lay handes [g] suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other mens sinnes: keepe thy selfe pure.
23 [19] Drinke no longer water, but vse a litle wine for thy stomakes sake, and thine often infir-

14 Nowe hee giueth rules, and sheweth howe he ought to behaue himselfe with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastours and such as haue the gouernance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their companie. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see vnto this especiallie, as God himselfe hath commaunded, that the Elders that doe their duetie well, bee honestly mainteined.

C H A P. VI.

1 Hee sheweth the duetie of seruants: 10 and what a mischieuous euill couetousnesse is: 13 and hauing spoken somewhat of riche men, hee once againe forbiddeth Timothie 20. to cumber himselfe with vaine babblings.

LEt [1] as many seruaunts as are vnder the yoke, count their masters worthie of all honour, [2] that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill spoken of.

let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather doe seruice, because they are faithfull, and beloued, and [a] partakers of the be-

1 Hee addeth [illegible] so rules for the seruauntes duetie towardes their masters, whereupon no doubt there were many questions then moued by them, which tooke occasion by the Gospell to trouble the common state. And this is the first rule: Let seruauntes that are come to the faith and haue infidels to their masters, serue them notwithstanding with great fidelitie. 2 The reason: lest God shoulde seeme by the doctrine of the Gospell to stirre vp men to rebellion and all wickednesse. 3 The seconde rule: Let not seruauntes that are come to the faith, and haue also masters of the same profession and religion, abuse the name of brotherhoode, but let them so much the rather obey them. a Let this bee sufficient, that as touching those things which pertaine to euerlasting life, they are partakers of the same good will and loue of God, as their masters themselues are.

4 A generall conclusion, that these things ought not onely to be simply taught, but must with exhortations be diligently beaten into their heads.

nesse. 4 These things teach and exhort.
3 5 If any man teach otherwise, and consen-teth not to the wholesome wordes of our Lorde Iesus Christ, and to the doctrine, which is according to godlinesse,
4 He is pufte vp and knoweth nothing, but doteth about questions and b strife of words, whereof commeth enuie, strife, railings, euill surmisings, 5 Prowarde c disputations of men of corrupt mindes and destitute of the trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlines: from such separate thy selfe.
6 6 But godlinesse is great gaine, if a man be content with that he hath.
7 7 For we brought nothing into the worlde, and it is certaine, that we can carie nothing out.
8 Therefore when wee haue foode and raiment, let vs therewith be content.
9 8 For they that will be rich, fall into tentation and snares, and into many foolish and noysome lustes, which drowne men in perdition and destruction.
10 For the desire of money is the roote of all euill, which while some lusted after, they erred from the faith, and d pearced themselues through with many sorowes.

things, and followe after righteousnesse, godlinesse, faith, loue, patience, and meekenesse.

eternall life, whereunto thou art also called, & hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

3 Hee commendeth Timothies faith, 6 and exhorteth him to goe on faithfully in the charge committed vnto him: 8 And that neither for his bonds, 15 nor the reuolting of others, be faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apostleship. 14 Hee willeth him to haue care of the thing committed vnto him, 16 and praiseth Onesiphorus.

PAul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, a according to the promesse of life which is in Christ
Iesus,
2 To Timotheus my beloued sonne: Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from Iesus Christ our Lord.
3 1 I thanke God, ✠ whom I serue from mine
b elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day,
4 Desiring to see thee, mindefull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy: 5 When I call to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.
6 2 Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou c stirre vp the gift of God which is in thee, by the putting on of mine handes.
7 For God hath not giuen to vs the Spirite of d feare, but of power, and of loue, & of a sound
minde.
8 3 Be not therefore ashamed of the testimo-

a Sent of God to preach that life, which he promised in Christ Iesus.
1 The chiefest marke that hee shooteth at in this Epistle, is to confirme Timothie to continue constantly and manfully euen to the ende, setting first before him the great good will he beareth him, and then reckoning vp the excellent giftes which God would as it were haue to be by inheritance in Timothie, and his ancestors, which might so much the more make him bounde to God. ✠ Actes 22.3. b From Abraham, Isaac and Iacob: for he speaketh not of Pharisaie, but of Christianitie.

2 He warneth vs to set the inuincible power of the Spirit, which God hath giuen vs, against those stormes which may and doe come vpon vs. c The gift of God is as it were a certaine liuely flame kindled in our hearts, which the flesh and the deuill goe about to put out: and therefore we on the contrary side must labour as much as we can to foster and keepe it burning. d To pearce vs through, and terrifie vs, as men whom the Lord will destroy. 3 Hee prooueth that the ignominie or shame of the crosse is not onely not to be ashamed of, but also that it is glorious and most honourable; first, because the Gospell wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the testimonie of Christ: and secondly, because at length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them.

e For his sake.
f The Gospel after a sort is said to be afflicted in them that preache it.
g Through the power of God.
4 He sheweth with howe great benefites God hath bound vs to mainteine boldely and constantly his glorie which is ioyned with our saluation, and reckoneth vp the causes of our saluation, to wit, that free and eternall purpose of God to saue vs in Christ which was to come, whereby it should come to passe, that wee should at length be freely called of God by the preaching of the Gospel, to Christ the destroyer of death and authour of immortalitie.
✠ 1.Cor.1.2.

9 4 Who hath saued vs, and called vs with an ✠ holy calling, not according to our ✠ workes, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was h giuen to vs through Christ Iesus i before the ∵ world was,
10 But is nowe made manifest by that appearing of our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortalitie vnto k light through the Gospel.
11 ✠ 5 Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.
12 6 For the which cause I also suffer these things, 7 but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I haue beleeued, and I am perswaded that he is able to keepe that which I haue committed to him against that day.
13 8 Keepe the true paterne of the wholesome wordes, which thou hast heard of me in faith and loue which is in Christ Iesus.

which dwelleth in vs.
15 11 This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

It is an hard thing to doe it, but the Spirit of God is mightie, who hath inwardly indued vs with his vertue. 11 He preuenteth an offence which arose by the meanes of certaine that fell from God and the religion, and vttereth also their names that they might be knowen of all men. But he setteth against them the singular faith of one man, that one only good example might counterpoyse and weigh downe all euill examples.

souldier of Iesus Christ.
4 No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe

7 5 Consider what I say: and the Lord giue thee vnderstanding in all things.
8 6 Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seede of Dauid, was raysed againe from the dead
according to my Gospel, 9 7 Wherein I suffer trouble as an euill doer, euen vnto bondes: but the worde of God is not bounde.
10 Therefore I suffer all things, for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternall glorie.
11 8 It is a true saying, For if wee be ✠ c dead

he cannot denie himselfe.
14 Of these things put them in remembrance, about wordes, which is to no profit, but to the peruerting of the hearers.

15 9 Studie to shewe thy selfe approued vnto
God, a workeman that needeth not to bee ashamed, diuiding the worde of trueth e aright.
16 f Stay prophane, and vaine babblings:
10 for they shall encrease vnto more vngodlinesse.
17 And their worde shall fret as a canker: of ledge the trueth,

of the deuil, of whome they are taken prisoners, to doe his will.

12 The taking a-way of an obiection: it is no dishonour to the good man of the house, that he hath not in a great house all vessels of one sort and for one seruice, but we must looke to this that we be found vessels prepared to honour. ✠ Rom. 9.21. h By these wordes is meant the execution of the matter, and not the cause: for in that wee purge our selues, it is not to be attributed to any free will that is in vs, but to God, who freely and wholy worketh in vs, a good and an effectuall will. 13 Returning to the matter from whence he digressed, verse 16, hee warneth him to exercise himselfe in waightie matters, and such as [illegible] to godlinesse. 14 The sixt admonition: We must aboue all things es[illegible] all bitternesse of mind both in teaching all men, and also in calling them [illegible] haue gone out of the way. ✠ 1.Cor.1.2. ∵ 1.Tim.1.4.and 4.7 tit.3.9. [illegible] them through our patient bearing with them, but not to please them or ex[illegible] their wickednesse. k He meaneth such as doe not yet see the trueth.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee foretelleth the dangerous times that are to insue: 9 but with the certaine hope of victorie, 10 he encourageth him to the combat, 14 setting out especially the tryall of sounde doctrine.

This [1] knowe also, that in the ✻ last dayes shall come perilous times.
2 For men shalbe louers of their owne selues, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me.

12 Yea, and all that will liue godly in Christ
Iesus, shall suffer persecution.
13 But the euill men and deceiuers shall waxe ued.

thou hast learned, and which are committed vnto thee, knowing of whō thou hast learned them:

tures of a childe, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation, through the faith which is in Christ Iesus.

ing made perfect vnto all good workes.

But we must especially holde fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the summe whereof is this, that wee are saued through faith in Christ Iesus. b Thou knowest throughly not onely what I taught and did, but also howe I was minded and disposed. c Which is in Pisidia.

d Their wickednes shal dayly encrease. ✠ 2.Peter.1.20. 5 The eight admonition which is most precious: A Pastour must be wise by the worde of God onely: wherein we haue perfectly deliuered vnto vs, what soeuer perteyneth either to discerne, knowe and establish true opinions, and to confute false and furthermore, to correct euill maners, and to frame good. e The Prophets and expounders of Gods will, are properly and peculiarly called, Men of God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee chargeth him to preach the Gospell with all diligence, 3 in that so miserable a time: 6 That his death is hard at hande, 8 yet so, that as a conquerour, hee maketh haste to a glorious triumph. 10 Hee sheweth the cause why hee sendeth for Timothie, 11 euen by reason of his present state.

I [1] Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lorde Iesus Christ, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his
kingdome,
2 Preache the worde: be instant, in season and out of season: improue, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering and doctrine.
3 [2] For the time will come, when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but hauing their eares itching, shall after their own lustes get them an heape of teachers, 4 And shall turne their eares from the trueth, and shalbe giuen vnto [a] fables.
5 [3] But watch thou in all thinges: suffer ad-uersitie: doe the worke of an Euangelist: [b] cause thy ministerie to be throughly liked of.
6 [4] For I am nowe readie to be [c] offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.
7 I haue fought a good fight, and haue finished my course: I haue kept the faith.
8 For hence foorth is laide vp for mee the crowne of righteousnesse, which the Lorde the righteous iudge shall giue me at that day: and not to me onely, but vnto all them also that loue that his appearing.
9 [5] Make speede to come vnto me at once:
10 For Demas hath forsaken mee, and hath [d] embraced this present world, & is departed vnto Thessalonica, Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmatia.
11 ✠ Onely Luke is with me. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for he is profitable vnto me to minister.
12 And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus.
13 The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou commest, bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parchments.
14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much euill: the Lorde rewarde him according to his workes.

1 The principall and chiefe of all admonitions being therefore proposed with a most earnest charge, is this: that the worde of God be propounded with a certaine holy importunitie, as necessitie requireth: but so, that a good and true ground of the doctrine be laid, and the vehemencie be tempered with al holy meekenes. 2 Faithfull pastours in times past tooke all occasions they could, because men were very prompt and readie to returne to their fables. a To false and vnprofitable doctrines, which the world is nowe so bewitched withall, that is had rather the open light of the trueth were vtterly put out, then it would come out of darkenesse. 3 The wickednes and falling away of the worlde, ought to cause faithfull ministers to be so much the more carefull. b Proue and shew by good & substantiall proofe, that thou art the true minister of God. 4 He foretelleth his death to be at hande, and setteth before them an excellent example, both of inuincible constancie, and sure hope. c To be offered for a drinke offering: and he alludeth to the powring out of blood or wine which was vsed in sacrifices. 5 The last part of the epistle, setting forth grieuous complaints against certaine, and examples of singular godlinesse in euery place, and of a minde neuer wearied. d Contented himselfe with this world. ✠ Col 4.10,14.

15 Of whom be thou ware also: for he with-stoode our preaching sore.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not be laide to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully beleeued, and that all the Gentiles shoulde heare: and I was deliuered out of the mouth of the e lion.

18 And the Lorde will deliuer me from euery f euill worke, and will preserue me vnto his g hea-uenly kingdome: to whom be praise for euer and euer, Amen.

19 Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the ✠ house-holde of Onesiphorus.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TITVS.

CHAP. I.

1 He sheweth what kinde of men ought to be chosen Ministers: 10 howe vaine babblers mouthes shoulde be stopped: 12 and through this occasion hee toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 and the Iewes who put holinesse in outward things.

Paul 1 a a seruaunt of God, and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods b elect, 2 and the acknowledging of the trueth, which is according vnto godlinesse, 2 Vnto the c hope of eternall life, which God that cannot lie, hath d promised before the ✠ e world began:

3 3 But hath made his worde manifest in due time through the preaching, which is ✠ committed vnto me, according to the commaundement of God our f Sauiour:

4 4 To Titus my naturall sonne according to the common faith, 5 Grace, mercie, and peace from God the Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ our Sauiour.

5 6 For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest continue to redresse the things that remaine, and shouldest ordeine Elders in euery ci-tie, as I appointed thee,

6 ∵ If any be vnreproueable, the husband of one wife, hauing faithfull children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are g disobedient.

7 7 For a Bishop must bee vnreproueable, as Gods h steward, not i froward, not angrie, not gi-uen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthie lucre,

8 But harberous, one that loueth goodnesse, k wise, righteous, holy, temperate,

9 8 Holding fast that faithfull worde according to doctrine, 9 that hee also may be able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and conuince them that say against it.

10 10 For there are many disobedient & vaine talkers and deceiuers of mindes, chiefly they of the l Circumcision,

11 Whose mouthes must be stopped, which subuert whole houses, teaching things, which they ought not, for filthy lucres sake.

12 m One of themselues, euen one of their owne prophets said, The Cretians are alwayes liars, euill beastes, slowe bellies.

13 This witnesse is true: wherefore conuince them n sharpely, that they may be sound in ẏ faith,

14 And not taking heede to ✠ Iewish fables and commaundements of men, that turne away from the trueth.

15 11 Vnto the pure ✠ are all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing, is nothing pure, but euen their o mindes and con-sciences are defiled.

16 They professe that they knowe God, but by workes they denie him, and are abominable & disobedient, and vnto euery good worke reprobate.

1 He voucheth his Apostleship, (not for Titus, but for the Cretenses sake) both by the testimonie of his outward calling, and by his consent wherein he agreeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWES.

THe drift and ende of this Epistle, is to shewe that Iesus Christ the Sonne of God both God and man, is that true eternall and onely Prophet, King, and high Priest, that was shadowed by the figures of the olde Law, and is now in deed exhibited: of whom the whole Church ought to be taught, gouerned, and sanctified.

CHAP. I.

1 To shewe that the doctrine which Christ brought, is most excellent, in that it is the knitting vp of all prophecies, 4 hee aduanceth him aboue the Angels: 10 And prooueth by diuers testimonies of the Scripture, that he farre passeth all other.

1 The first part of the generall proposition of this Epistle: The Sonne of God is in deede that Prophet or teacher, which hath actually now performed that that God after a sort and in shadowes signified by his Prophets, and hath fully opened his Fathers will to the worlde.
a So that the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and nothing must be added to this latter.
b Which one Sonne is God and man.
2 The second part of the same proposition: The same Sonne is appointed of the Father to be our King and Lorde, by whom also he made all things, and in whome onely he setteth foorth his glory, yea and himselfe also to be beholden of vs, who beareth vp and susteineth all things by his will & pleasure.

AT 1 sundry times and in diuers maners God spake in the olde time to our fathers by the Prophetes: in these a last dayes hee hath spoken vnto vs by his b Sonne, 2 2 Whom he hath made c heire of al things,
by whome also he made the d worldes, 3 ✠ Who being the e brightnes of the glory, and the ingraued forme of his f person, and g bearing vp all things by his mightie worde, 3 hath by himselfe purged our sinnes, and h sitteth at the right hand of the Maiestie in the highest places, 4 4 And is made so much more excellent then the Angels, in as much as hee hath obteined a more excellent i Name then they.
5 5 For vnto which of the Angels sayde he at any time, ✠ Thou art my Sonne, k this day begate I thee? 6 and againe, I ∵ will be his Father, and he shalbe my Sonne?
6 7 And l againe, when he bringeth in his first begotten Sonne into the world, he sayth, ※ And let all the Angels of God worship him.
7 8 And of the Angels he saith, ✠ He maketh the spirites his m messengers, and his ministers a flame n of fire.
8 But vnto the Sonne he saith, ✠ O God, thy o throne is for euer p and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a q scepter of righteousnes.
9 Thou hast loued righteousnes & r hated iniquitie.
Wherefore God, eue thy God, hath s anointed thee w^t the oyle of gladnes aboue thy t felowes.
10 9 And, ∵ Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast u established the earth, and the heauens are the workes of thine handes.
11 They shall perish, but thou doest remaine:
and they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment.
12 And as a vesture shalt thou folde them vp,
and they shall be changed: but thou art the same,
and thy yeeres shall not faile.
13 10 Vnto which also of the Angels sayde hee at any time, ※ Sit at my right hand, til I make thine enemies thy footestoole?
14 Are they not al x ministring spirits, sent forth to minister, for their sakes which shalbe heires of saluation?

c Possessour and equall compartner of all things with the Father. d That is, whatsoeuer hath bene at any time, is, or shalbe. ✠ Col.1.15. e He in whome that glory and Maiestie of the Father shineth, who is otherwise infinite, and cannot be beholden. f His Fathers person. g Susteineth, defendeth, and cherisheth. 3 The thirde part of the same proposition: The same Sonne executed the office of the hie Priest in offering vp himselfe, and is our onely and most mightie Mediatour in heauen. h This sheweth that the fauour of that his sacrifice is not onely most acceptable to the Father, but also is euerlasting, and furthermore howe farre this high Priest passeth all the other high Priests. 4 Before he commeth to declare the office of Christ, he setteth foorth the excellencie of his person, and first of all he sheweth him so to be man, that therewithall he is God also. i Dignitie and honour. 5.6.7.8.9.10. 1 Thereof he inferreth, that good heede must be giuen to Christes doctrine. 9 And he setteth him out vnto vs euen as our brother in our flesh, that we may with a good will yeelde vp our selues wholy vnto him.

WHerefore 1 wee ought diligently to giue heede to the thinges which a wee haue

2 For if the c worde spoken by Angels was stedfast, and euery transgression, and disobedience receiued a iust recompence of reward, 3 How shall we escape, if we neglect so great saluation, 2 which at the first began to be preached

1 Now as it were [illegible] pausing with himselfe & shewing to what end and purpose al these things were spoke, to wit, to vnderstand by the excellencie of Christ aboue all creatures, that his doctrine, maiestie, and Priesthode, is most perfect, hee vseth an exhortation taken from a comparison.

8 ∵ Thou hast put all things in subiection vnder his feete. And in that he hath put all things in not be subiect vnto him. 5 But wee yet see not all things subdued vnto him, honour, ✠ which was made litle m inferiour to the Angels, 7 through the n suffering of death, that by Gods grace he might o taste death for 8 all men.

10 9 For it became p him, for whome are all these things, and by whome are all these things, 10 seeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, 11 that he should consecrate the q Prince of their saluation through afflictions.
11 12 For he that r sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified, are all of s one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren,

[illegible] m Who abased himselfe for a season, and tooke vpon him the shape of [illegible] 7 Hee sheweth the cause of this subiection, to wit, to taste of death [illegible], that so doing the part of a redeemer, he might not only be our Pro[illegible] King, but also our high Priest. n That he might die. o Feele death. [illegible] consisteth the force of the argument: for wee coulde not at length bee [illegible] with him, vnlesse he had bene abased for vs euen all the faithfull. And by [illegible] the Apostle commeth to the other part of the declaration of Christes [illegible] wherein hee prooueth him to bee in such sort God, that hee is also man. [illegible] prooueth moreouer by other arguments, why it behoued the Sonne of [illegible] true God (as hee prooued a litle before) to become man notwithstan[illegible] subiect to all miseries, sinne onely except. p God. 10 First of all, be[illegible] Father, to whose glory all these thinges are to be referred, purposed to [illegible] many sonnes vnto glory. And howe coulde he haue men for his sonnes, vn[illegible] his onely begotten Sonne had become brother to men? 11 Secondly, [illegible] Father determined to bring those sonnes to glory, to wit, out of that ignomi[illegible] wherein they lay before. Therefore the Sonne shoulde not haue bene seene [illegible] to be made man, vnlesse hee had bene made like vnto other men, that hee [illegible] come to glorie by the selfe same way, by the which he should bring other: [illegible], it became him which was Prince of the saluation of other, to be con[illegible] aboue other, through those afflictions, Prophet, King, and Priest, which [illegible] the partes of that principalitie for the saluation of other. q The Chiefetaine, [illegible] is chiefest in dignitie, so is hee the first begotten from among the dead, a[illegible] many brethren. 12 The ground of both the former arguments: for neither should we be sonnes through him, neither coulde hee be consecrate through afflictions, vnlesse hee had bene made man like vnto vs. But because this Sonne-hoode dependeth not vpon nature onely, for no man is accompted the sonne of God, vnlesse that besides that hee is a sonne of a man, he be also Christes brother, (which is by sanctification, that is, by becomming one with Christ, who sanctifieth vs through fayth) therefore the Apostle maketh mention of the sanctifier, to wit, of Christ, and of them that are sanctified, to wit, of all the faithfull, whome therefore Christ vouchsafeth to call brethren. r He vseth the time that nowe is, to shewe vs that we are yet still going on, and increasing in this sanctification: and by sanctification he meaneth our separation from the rest of the world, our cleansing from sinne, and our dedication wholy vnto God, all which Christ alone worketh in vs. s One, of one selfe same nature of man.

x Are made of flesh and blood, which is a fraile and brittle nature. ✠ Hose. 13.14. 1. corin. 15.55. y The deuill is sayde to haue the power of death, because he is the authour of sinne: and from sinne commeth death, and for this cause hee vrgeth vs dayly to sinne. z He speaketh of one as of the Prince, ioyning to him secretly all his angels. a By (death) thou must vnderstande here, that death which is ioyned with the wrath of God, as it must needes be, if it bee without Christ, then the which there can be nothing deuised more miserable. 15 He expoundeth those wordes of flesh and blood, shewing that Christ is true man, and that not by turning his diuine nature, but by taking of mans nature. And he nameth Abraham, respecting the promises made to Abraham in this behalfe. b The nature of Angels. c The very nature of man. 16 Hee applieth the same to the Priesthode, for which he should not haue bene fit, vnlesse he had become man, and that like vnto vs in all things, sinne onely except. d Not only as touching nature, but qualities also. e That he might be truely be touched with the feeling of our miseries. f Doing his office sincerely. g Was tried and egged to wickednes by the deuill.

CHAP. III.

1 Nowe hee sheweth howe farre inferiour Moses is to Christ, 5. 6 euen so much as the seruant to the Master: and so hee bringeth in certaine exhortations and threatnings taken out of Dauid, 8 against such as either stubbornly resist, 12 or els are very slowe to obey.

THerefore, 1 holy brethren, partakers of the heauenly vocation, consider the a Apostle and high Priest of our b profession Christ Iesus: 2 2 Who was faithfull to him that hath c appointed him, 3 euen as ✠ Moses was in al his house.
3 4 For this man is counted worthy of more glory then Moses, inasmuch as he which hath builded the house, hath more honour then the house.
4 For euery house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God.
5 5 Nowe Moses verely was faithfull in all his house, as a seruant, for a witnesse of the things

1 Hauing layde the foundation, that is to say, declared and prooued both the natures of one selfe same Christ, he giueth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, King, and Priest, and as touching the office of teaching and gouerning, compareth him with Moses and Iosua, vnto the 14. verse of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthode. And he propoundeth that which he purposeth to speake of, with a most graue exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the onely euerlasting teacher, gouernour, and high Priest. a The Embassadour or messenger, as Rom. 15. hee is called the minister of Circumcision. b Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we professe. 2 He confirmeth this exhortation with two reasons, first of all because Christ Iesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, because he throughly executed the offices that his Father enioyned him. c Apostle and high Priest. 3 Nowe he commeth to the comparison with Moses, and hee maketh them like one to the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers ouer Gods house, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after hee sheweth that there is great vnlikelinesse in that same similitude. ✠ Nomb. 12.7. 4 The first comparison: The builder of the house is better then the house it selfe, therefore is Christ better then Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord and God, made all this house. 5 An other comparison: Moses was a faithfull seruant in this house, that is, in the Church, seruing the Lorde that was to come, but Christ ruleth and gouerneth his house as Lorde.

which should be spoken after.
6 But Christ is as the Sonne, ouer his owne house,⁶ whose d house we are, if we holde fast that e confidence and that reioycing of that hope vnto the ende.
7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, ✠ To day
if ye f shall heare his voyce, 8 Harden not your hearts, as in the g prouoca-tion, according to the day of the tentation in the wildernes,
9 Where your fathers tempted mee, prooued me, and sawe my workes fourtie yeeres long.
10 Wherefore I was grieued with that generation, and said, They h erre euer in their heart, neither haue they knowen my wayes.
11 Therefore I sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.
12 ⁷ Take heede, brethren, least at any time there be in any of you an euill heart, and vnfaithfull, to depart away from the liuing God.
13 But exhort one another dayly, i while it is called to day, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulnes of sinne.
14 ⁸ For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe sure vnto the ende that k beginning, wherewith we are vpholden, 15 l So long as it is saide, To day if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the prouoca-
tion.
16 For some when they heard, prouoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.
17 But with whome was hee displeased fourtie yeeres? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, ✠ whose carkeises fell in the wildernes?
18 And to whom sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but vnto them that obeyed not?
19 So wee see that they could not enter in, because of vnbeliefe.

6 He applieth the former doctrine to his ende, exhorting all men by the wordes of Dauid to heare the Sonne himselfe speake, and to giue full credite to his wordes, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternall rest.
d To wit, Christs.
e He calleth that excellent effect of faith (whereby we crie Abba, that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence he ioyneth hope.
✠ Psal. 95.8. chap. 4.7.
f So that God was to speake once againe after Moses.
g In the day that they vexed the Lord, or stroue with him.
h They are brutish and maide.
7 Now weying the wordes of Dauid, he sheweth first by this word, To day, that we must not neglect the occasion while we haue it: for that word is not to be restrained to Dauids time, but it comprehendeth all that time wherein God calleth vs.
i While to day lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospel is offered to vs.
8 Nowe he considereth these wordes, If you heare his voyce, &c. shewing that they are spoken and meant of the hearing of faith, against which he setteth hardening through vnbeliefe.
k That beginning of trust and confidence: and after the maner of the Hebrues, hee calleth that, beginning, which is chiefest.
l So long as this voyce soundeth out.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee ioyneth exhortation with threatning, lest they euen as their fathers were, be depriued of the rest offered vnto them, 11 but that they endeuour to enter into it: 14 And so he beginneth to intreate of Christes Priesthoode.

Let vs feare therefore, least at any time by forsaking the promes of entring into his rest, any of you should seeme to be depriued.
2 ¹ For vnto vs was the Gospel preached as also vnto them: but the word that they heard, profited not them, because it was not a mixed with faith in those that heard it.
3 ² For wee which haue beleeued, doe enter into rest, as he said to the other, ✠ As I haue sworne in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the workes were finished from the foundation of the world.
4 For hee spake in a certaine place of the seuenth day on this wise, ✠ And God did rest the seuenth day from all his workes.
5 And in this place againe, If they shall enter into my rest.
6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter thereinto, and they to whom it was first preached, entred not therein for vnbeliefes sake: 7 Againe hee appointed in Dauid a certaine day, by To day, after so long a time, saying, as it is saide, ∵ This day, if ye heare his voyce, harden not your hearts.
8 For if b Iesus had giuen them rest, then would he not after this haue spoken of another day.
9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.
10 c For he that is entred into his rest, hath also ceased from his owne workes, as God did from his.
11 ³ Let vs studie therefore to enter into that rest, lest d any man fall after the same ensample of disobedience.
12 ⁴ For the e worde of God is f liuely, and mightie in operation, and sharper then any two edged sworde, and entreth through, euen vnto the diuiding asunder of the g soule and the h spirit, and of the ioynts, and the marow, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.
13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in i his sight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, with whom we haue to doe.
14 ⁵ Seeing then that we haue a great hie Priest, which is entred into heauen, euen Iesus the Sonne of God, let vs k holde fast our profession.
15 ⁶ For wee haue not an hie Priest, which can not be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne.
16 Let vs therefore go boldly vnto the throne of grace, that wee may receiue mercie, and finde grace to helpe in time of neede.

1 By these words, His voyce, he sheweth that Dauid ment the preaching of Christ, who was then also preached, for Moses and the Prophets respected none other.
a He compareth the preaching of the Gospel to drinke, which being drunke, that is to say, heard, profiteth nothing, vnlesse it be tempered with faith.
2 Lest any man should obiect, that those wordes were ment of the land of Canaan, and of Moses doctrine, and therefore cannot well be drawen to Christ, and to eternall life, the Apostle sheweth that there are two maner of rests spoken of in the Scriptures: the one, of the seuenth day, wherein God is said to haue rested from al his workes: an other is said to be that same, whereinto Iosua led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereunto we are called, and that he prooueth by two reasons. For seeing that Dauid so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, vseth these words, To day, and threatneth them still that they shall not enter into the rest of God, which refused then the voyce of God that sounded in their eares, wee must needes say that he meant another time then the time of Moses, and another rest then the rest of the land of Canaan: And that is, that euerlasting rest, wherein wee begin to liue to God, after that the race of this life ceaseth: as God rested the seuenth day from those his workes, that is to say, from making the worlde. Moreouer the Apostle therewithall signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the lande of Canaan and all that order of the Lawe did shadow, is opened in the Gospel onely.

3 He returneth to an exhortation.
d Lest any man become a like example of infidelitie.

CHAP. V.

1 First hee sheweth the dutie of the hie Priests. 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to bee our hie Priest, 7 and that hee hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

For ¹ euery hie Priest is taken from among men, [illegible] principles of a Catechisme, which comprehend the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, were giuen in fewe wordes, and briefly to the rude and ignorant, to wit, the profession of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine were demaunded of them which were not as yet receiued members of the Church, at the dayes appointed for Baptisme: and of the children of the faithfull which were baptized in their infancie, when handes were layde vpon them. And of those articles, two are by name recited: the resurrection of the flesh, and the eternall iudgement.

THerefore, leauing the doctrine of the a beginning of Christ, let vs be led forward vnto perfection, 1 not laying againe the foundation of repentance from dead workes, and of faith toward God, 2 Of the doctrine of baptismes, and laying on of handes, and of the resurrection from the dead,
and of eternall iudgement.
3 And this will we doe if God permit.
4 2 ✠ For it is b impossible that they which were once lightened, and haue c tasted of the heauenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost, 5 And haue tasted of the good word of God,
and of the powers of the world to come, 6 If they fal away, should be renued againe by repentance: seeing they d crucifie againe to themselues the Sonne of God, & make a mocke of him.
7 3 For the earth which drinketh in the raine
that commeth oft vpon it, & bringeth forth herbes meete for them by whome it is dressed, receiueth blessing of God.
8 But that which beareth thornes and briars, is reproued, and is neere vnto cursing, whose ende is to be burned.
9 4 But beloued, we haue perswaded our selues better things of you, and such as accompany saluation, though we thus speake.
10 5 For God is not vnrighteous, that he should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which ye shewed toward his Name, in that ye haue ministred vnto the Saints, and yet minister.
11 And wee desire that euery one of you shewe the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the ende,
12 6 That ye be not slouthfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherite the promises.
13 7 For when God made the promise to Abraham, because hee had no greater to sweare by, hee sware by himselfe,
14 Saying, ✠ Surely I will e aboundantly blesse thee and multiplie thee marueilously.
15 And so after that he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promes.
16 For men verely sweare by him that is greater then themselues, and an othe for confirmation is among them an ende of all strife.
17 So God, willing more f aboundantly to shew vnto the heires of promes the stablenes of his coū-sell, bound himselfe by an othe, 18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is vnpossible that God should lye, wee might haue strong consolation, which haue our refuge to lay holde vpon that hope that is set before vs, 19 8 Which hope wee haue, as an ancre of the soule, both sure and stedfast, and it entreth into that which is within the vaile, 20 9 Whither the forerunner is for vs entred in, euen Iesus that is made an hie Priest for euer after the order of Melchi-sedec.

2 Hee addeth a vehemencie to his exhortation, and a most sharpe threatning of the certaine destruction that shall come to them which fall from God and his religion. ✠ Chapter 10.26 matth.12.45. 2.pet.2.10. b Hee speaketh of a generall back sliding, and such as doe altogether fall away from the faith, and not of sinnes which are committed through the frailtie of man against the first and the second table. c We must marke the force of this word, for it is one thing to beleeue as Lydia did, whose heart God opened, Actes 16.13 and another thing to haue some taste.

d As men that hate Christ, and as though they crucified him againe, making stocke to all the worlde, and thus to their owne destruction, as Iulian the Apostata or backslider did.
3 He setteth forth the former threatning with a similitude.
4 He mitigateth and asswageth all that sharpnes, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.
5 Hee prayseth them for their charitie, thereby encouraging them to goe forward, and to holde out to the ende.
6 Hee sheweth what vertues chiefly they haue neede of to goe forward constantly, and also to profit: to wit, of charitie, and patience: and lest any man should obiect and say, that these things are impossible to be done, hee willeth them to set before themselues the examples of their auncesters, and to followe them.
7 An other pricke, to pricke them forward: Because the hope of the inheritance is certaine, if we continue to the ende, for God hath not onely promised it, but also promised it with an othe.
✠ Gene.12.2. and 17.4. and 22.17.
e I will heape vp benefites most plentifully vpon thee. f More then was needefull, were it not for the wickednes of men which beleeue not God, no though he sweare. 8 Hee likeneth hope to an ancre: because that euen as an ancre being cast into the bottome of the sea, stayeth the whole ship, so doeth hope also enter euen into the very secret places of heauen. And hee maketh mention of the Sanctuarie, alluding to the olde tabernacle, & by this meanes returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leuitical. 9 He repeateth Dauids wordes, wherein all those comparisons whereof hee hath before made mention, are signified, as he declareth in all the next chapter.

CHAP. VII.

1 He hath hitherto stirred them vp, to marke diligently what things are to be considered in Melchi-sedec, 15 wherein hee is like vnto Christ. 20 Wherefore the Law should giue place to the Gospel.

FOr this 1 Melchi-sedec was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who mette Abraham, as hee returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and a blessed him:
2 To whome also Abraham gaue the tithe of all things; who first is by interpretation King of righteousnes: after that, hee is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace,

1 Declaring those wordes, According to the order of Melchi-sedec, whereupon that comparison standeth of the Priesthoode of Christ with the Leuiticall: first, Melchisedec himselfe is considered as the figure of Christ, and these are the heades of that comparison. Melchi-sedec was a King and a Priest, and such an one in deede is Christ alone. Hee was a King of peace and righteousnes, such an one in deede is Christ alone. ✠ Gene.14.18. a With a solemne and [illegible] blessing.

Without

3 [2] Without father, without mother, without kinred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither ende of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, and continueth a Priest for euer.
4 [3] Nowe consider howe great this man was, vnto whome euen the Patriarke Abraham gaue
the tithe of the spoyles.
5 For verely they which are the childrē of Le-ui, which receiue the office of the Priesthode, haue a ✠ commaundement to take, according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they [b] came out of ẏ loynes of Abraham.
6 But he whose kindred is not coūted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.
7 And [c] without all contradiction the lesse is blessed of the greater.
8 And here men that die, receiue tithes: but there he receiueth them, of whome it is witnessed, that he liueth.
9 [4] And to say as the thing is, Leui also which receiueth tithes, payed tithes in Abraham.
10 For hee was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham, when Melchi-sedec met him.
11 [5] If therefore [d] perfection had bene by the Priesthode of the Leuites (for vnder it the Lawe was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchi-sedec, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?
12 [6] For if the Priesthood be changed, then of necessitie must there be a change of the [e] Lawe.
13 For hee of whome these things are spoken, perteineth vnto another tribe, whereof no man [f] serued at the altar.
14 For it is euident, that our Lord sprung out of Iuda, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood.
15 [7] And it is yet a more euident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchi-sedec, there is risen vp another Priest, 16 [8] Which is not made Priest after the [g] Law of the carnal commandement, but after the power of the endlesse life.
17 For hee testifieth thus, ✠ Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec.
18 [9] For the [h] commaundement that went afore, is disanulled, because of the weakenes thereof, and vnprofitablenes.
19 For the Law made nothing perfite, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfite, whereby we drawe neere vnto God.
20 [10] And for as much as it is not without an othe (for these are made Priests without an othe: 21 But this is made with an othe by him that said vnto him, ✠ The Lord hath sworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec)
22 By so much is Iesus made a suretie of a better Testament.
23 [11] And among them many were made Priests, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.
24 But this man, because hee endureth euer, hath a Priesthood, which [i] cannot passe from one to another.
25 Wherefore, hee is [k] able also perfectly to saue them that come vnto God by him, seeing he euer liueth, to make intercession for them.
26 [12] For such an hie Priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmelesse, vndefiled, separate from sinners, and made hier then the heauens: 27 Which needeth not daily as those hie Priests to offer vp sacrifice, ✠ first for his owne sinnes, and then for the peoples: [13] for [l] that did he [m] once, when he offered vp himselfe.
28 For the Lawe maketh men hie Priestes, which haue infirmitie: but the [n] worde of the othe [14] that [o] was since the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is consecrated for euermore.

2 An other figure: Melchi-sedec is set before vs to bee considered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father, nor his mother, nor his ancesters, nor his death are written of: and such an one in deede is the Sonne of God, to wit, an euerlasting Priest: as hee is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as he is man, without father wonderfully conceiued.

3 An other figure: Melchi-sedec in consideration of his priesthoode was aboue Abraham, for he tooke tenthes of him, and blessed him as a Priest: Such an one in deede is Christ, vpō whome dependeth euen Abrahams sanctification and all the beleeuers, & whom all men ought to worship and reuerence as the authour of all.

b Were begotten of Abraham.

c He speaketh of the publike blessing which the Priestes vsed.

4 A double amplification: The first, that Melchi-sedec tooke the tenthes, as one immortall (to wit, in respect that he is the figure of Christ, for his death is in no place made mention of, and Dauid setteth him foorth as an euerlasting Priest) but the Leuiticall Priestes, as mortall men, for they succeede one another: the second, that Leui himselfe was tithed in Abraham by Melchi-sedec. Therefore the Priesthode of Melchi-sedec (that is, Christes, who is pronounced to bee an euerlasting Priest according to his order) is more excellent then the Leuiticall. 5 The thirde treatise of this Epistle, wherein after hee hath prooued Christ to be a King, a Prophet, and a Priest, he now handleth distinctly the condition and excellencie of all these offices, shewing that all these were but shadowes in all other, but in Christ they are true and perfect. And hee beginneth with the Priesthode, wherewith also the former treatise ended, that by this meanes all the partes and members of the disputation, may better hang together. And first of all hee prooueth that the Leuiticall Priesthode was imperfect, because another Priest is promised a long time after, according to another order, that is to say, of another maner of rule and fashion. d If the priesthode of Leui could haue made any man perfite. 6 He sheweth howe that by the institution of the new Priesthode, not only the imperfection of the Priesthode of Leui was declared, but also that it was changed for this: for these two cannot stand together, because that first appointment of the tribe of Leui, did shut forth the tribe of Iuda, and made it also inferiour to Leui: and this later doeth place the Priesthode in the tribe of Iuda. e Of the institution of Aaron. f Had any thing to do about the altar. 7 Lest any man might obiect, that the Priesthode in deede was translated from Leui to Iuda, but yet notwithstanding the same remaineth still, he both weigheth and expoundeth those wordes of Dauid, for euer, according to the order of Melchi-sedec, whereby also a diuers institution of Priesthode is well perceiued. 8 He prooueth the diuersitie and excellencie of the institution of Melchi-sedecs Priesthode, by this, that the Priesthode of the Lawe did stande vpon an outwarde and bodily anoynting: but the sacrifice of Melchi-sedec is set out to be euerlasting and mere spirituall. g Not after the ordination, which commandeth fraile and transitorie things, as was done in Aarons consecration, and all that whole Priesthode. ✠ Psalme 110.4. chap.5.6.

9 Againe, that no man might obiect that the last Priesthode was added to make a perfite one, by the coupling of them both together, he prooueth that the first was abrogated by the later, as vnprofitable, and that by the nature of them both. For howe could those corporall and transitorie things sanctifie vs, either of themselues, or being ioyned with an other?

h The ceremoniall lawe.

10 Another argument, whereby he prooueth that the Priesthoode of Christ is better then the Priesthode of Leui, because his was established with an othe, but theirs was not [illegible]

✠ Psal. [illegible]

11 Another argument [illegible] the [illegible] The Le[illegible] Priestes [illegible] tall men [illegible] not be [illegible] but Chri[illegible] euerlasting, so hath hee also an euerlasting Priesthode, making most [illegible] intercession for them which by him come vnto God. i Which cannot [illegible] k Hee is fit and meete. 12 An other argument: There are required [illegible] Priest innocencie and perfite pureness, which may separate him from [illegible] whom hee offereth. But the Leuiticall hie Priestes shall not be found [illegible] for they offer first for their owne sinnes: but Christ onely is such a one [illegible] fore the true and onely hie Priest. ✠ Leuit.16.11. 13 An other [illegible] which notwithstanding hee handleth afterwarde: The Leuiticall Pri[illegible] sacrifice after sacrifice, first for themselues, and then for the people [illegible] offered not for himselfe, but for other, not sacrifices, but him selfe [illegible] times, but once. And this ought not to seeme strange, sayth hee, for so [illegible] are weake, but this man is consecrated an euerlasting Priest, and that [illegible] l That sacrifice which hee offered. m It was so done, that it needeth not to be repeated or offered againe any more. n The commaundement of God [illegible] bound with an othe. 14 Another argument taken of the time; former [illegible] taken away by the later. o Exhibited.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To prooue more certainely that the ceremonies of the Lawe are abrogated, 5 hee sheweth that they were appointed to serue the heauenly paterne. 8 He bringeth in the place of Ieremie, 15 to prooue the amendement of the olde couenant.

Nowe [1] of the things which wee haue spoken, this is the summe, that wee haue such an hie Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maiestie in heauens, 2 [2] And is a minister of the [a] Sanctuarie, [3] and of that [b] true Tabernacle which the Lorde pight, and not man.
3 [4] For euery high Priest is ordeined to offer both giftes and sacrifices: wherefore it was of ne-cessitie, that this man should haue somewhat also to offer.

1 He briefly [illegible] peateth that whereunto al the things are to bee referred, to wit, that wee haue a farre other hie Priest then those Leuiticall hie Priestes are, euen such an one as sitteth at the right hand of the most hie God in heauen.

2 They of Leui were hie Priestes in an earthly sanctuarie, but Christ is in the heauenly. a Of heauen. 3 They of Leui exercised their priesthode in a fraile tabernacle, but Christ beareth about with him a farre other tabernacle, to wit, his body which God himselfe made to be euerlasting, as it shall afterwarde be declared, chap.9.11. b Of his body. 4 He bringeth a reason why it must needes be that Christ should haue a body (which hee calleth a tabernacle which the Lorde pight & not man) to wit, that he might haue what to offer: for otherwise hee could not be an hie Priest. And the selfe same body is both the tabernacle & the sacrifice.

5 Hee giueth a reason why he said that our hie Priest is in the heauenly Sanctuarie, and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were nowe on the earth, hee coulde not minister in the earthly Sanctuarie, seeing there are yet Leuiticall Priestes which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be paternes of that perfite example. And to what purpose shoulde the paternes serue when the true and originall example is present?
✠ Exod 25.40. actes 7.44.
6 He entreth into the comparison of the olde and transitorie Testament or couenant being but for a time, [illegible] of the Leuiticall Priests were [illegible], with [illegible] the euerlasting Mediatour [illegible] in Christ, [illegible] that this [illegible] better [illegible] in all [illegible], but also [illegible] was abrogated by this. [illegible] by [illegible] of [illegible] there [illegible] Testament [illegible] couenant, [illegible] that [illegible] not perfite.

4 5 For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priestes that according to the Lawe offer giftes, 5 Who serue vnto the paterne and shadowe of heauenly things, as Moses was warned by God, when he was about to finish the Tabernacle. ✠ See, saide hee, that thou make all things according to the paterne, shewed to thee in the mount.
6 6 But nowe our hie Priest hath obteined a more excellent office, in as much as hee is the Mediatour of a better Testament, which is established vpon better promises.
7 7 For if that first Testament had bene vnblameable, no place should haue bene sought for the second.
8 For in rebuking them he saith, ✠ Beholde, the dayes will come, saith the Lorde, when I shal make with the c house of Israel, and with the house of Iuda a newe Testament: 9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.
10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I wil be their God, and they shalbe my people, 11 And they shall not teache euery man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall knowe me, from the least of them to the greatest of them.
12 For I will bee mercifull to their vnrighteousnes, and I will remember their sinnes and their iniquities no more.
13 8 In that he saith a new Testament, he hath abrogate the olde: nowe that which is disanulled and waxed olde, is ready to vanish away.

✠ Iere.31.31,32,33,34. rom. 11.27. chap.10.16. c Hee [illegible] house, as it were one familie of the whole kingdome: for whereas the kingdome of Dauid was deuided into two factions, the Prophet giueth vs to vnderstande [illegible] the newe Testament they shalbe ioyned together againe in one. 8 The [illegible] Therefore by the later and the new, the first and olde is taken away, for [illegible] not be called new if it differed not from the olde. And againe that same is [illegible] taken away, which is subiect to corruption, and therefore imperfit.

CHAP. IX.

2 Comparing the forme of the Tabernacle, 10 and the ceremonies of the Lawe, 11 vnto the trueth set out in Christ, 15 he concludeth that nowe there is no more neede of an other Priest, 24 because Christ himselfe hath fulfilled these dueties vnder the newe couenant.

1 [illegible] diuision of the [illegible] Tabernacle [illegible] hee calleth worldly, that is to say, transitorie and earthly, into two partes, to wit, into the holy places, and the Holiest of all.
a An earthly and a fading.
b He calleth it the second vaile, not because there were two vailes, but because it was behinde the Sanctuarie or the first Tabernacle.

THen 1 the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a a worldly Sanctuarie.
2 For the first Tabernacle was made, wherein was the candlesticke, and the table, and the shewebread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.
3 And after b the second vaile was the Tabernacle, which is called the c Holiest of all,
4 Which had the golden censer, and the Arke of the Testament ouerlayde rounde about with golde, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and ∵ Aarons rod that had budded, and the ⌘ tables of the Testament.
5 ✠ And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the d mercie seate: of which things we will not nowe speake particularly.

c The holiest Sanctuarie. ∵ Nom.17.10. ⌘ 1 King.8.9. 2 chro.5.10. ✠ Exodus 25.22. d The Hebrewes call the couer of the Arke of the couenant, the mercy seate, whome both the Grecians and we followe.

6 2 Nowe when these things were thus ordeined, the Priestes went alwayes into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the seruice.
7 But into the second went the ✠ hie Priest alone, once euery yere, not without blood which he offered for himselfe, and for the e ignorances of
the people.
8 3 Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into ẏ Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first tabernacle was standing, 9 4 Which was a figure f for that present time, wherein were offred giftes and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the seruice, 10 5 Which onely stood in meates and drinkes, and diuers washings, and carnal rites, g which were inioyned, vntill the time of reformation.
11 6 But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, 7 by a h greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with handes, that is,
not of this building, 12 8 Neither by the blood of i goates and calues: but by his owne blood entred hee in once vnto the holy place, and obteined eternall redemption for vs.
13 ✠ 9 For if the blood of bulles and of goates, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are vncleane, sanctifieth as touching the k purifying of the flesh, 14 How much more shall the ∵ blood of Christ which through the eternall Spirit offered himselfe without fault to God, ⌘ purge your conscience from l dead workes, to serue the liuing God?
15 10 And for this cause is he the Mediatour of

2 Now he commeth to the sacrifices which he deuideth into those daily sacrifices, and that yeerely and solemne sacrifice, with the which the hie Priest onely but once euery yeere entring into the Holiest of all with blood, offered for himselfe and the people.
✠ Exod 30.10. leuit.16.2.
3 Of that yeerely rite and ceremonie he gathereth that the way was not by such sacrifices opened into heauen, which was shadowed by the Holiest of all: For why did the hie Priest alone enter in thither, shutting out all other, and that to offer sacrifices there both for himselfe and for others, and after, did shut the Holiest of all againe?
4 An obiection: If the way were not opened into heauen by those sacrifices (that is to say, if the worshippers were not purged by them) why then were those ceremonies vsed? To wit, that men might bee called backe to that spirituall example, that is to say, to Christ, who shoulde correct all those thinges at his comming. f For that time that that figure had to last. 5 An other reason why they could not make cleane the conscience of the worshipper, to wit, because they were outwarde and carnall or corporall thinges. g For they were as you woulde say a burden, from which Christ deliuered vs. 6 Nowe hee entreth into the declaration of the figures, and first of all comparing the Leuiticall hie Priest with Christ, (that is to say, the figure with the thing it selfe) hee attributeth to Christ the administration of good thinges to come, that is, euerlasting, which those carnall thinges had respect vnto. 7 An other comparison of the first corruptible Tabernacle with the latter (that is to say, with the humane nature of Christ) which is the true incorruptible Temple of God, whereinto the Sonne of God entred, as the Leuiticall hie Priestes into the other which was fraile and transitorie. h By a more excellent and better. 8 An other comparison of the blood of the sacrifices with Christ. The Leuiticall hie Priestes entring by those their holy places into their Sanctuarie, offered corruptible blood for one yeere onely: but Christ entring into that holy body of his, entred by it into heauen it selfe, offering his owne most pure blood for an euerlasting redemption: For one selfe same Christ answereth both to the hie Priest, and the Tabernacle, and the sacrifices, and the offerings them selues, as the trueth to the figures, so that Christ is both hie Priest, and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all these both truely, and for euer. i For in this yeerely sacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kindes of sacrifices, the one a goate, the other a heifer, or calfe. ✠ Leuiticus 16.14. nombers 19.4. 9 If the outward sprinkling of blood and ashes of beastes, was a true and effectuall signe of purifying and clensing, howe much more shall the thing it selfe and the trueth being present, which in times past was shadowed by those externall Sacraments, that is to say, his blood, which is in such sort mans blood, that it is also the blood of the Sonne of God, and therefore hath an euerlasting vertue of purifying and cleansing, doe it? k Hee considereth the signes apart, being separate from the thing it selfe. ∵ 1.Peter 1.19. 1.iohn 1.7. reuelati 1.5. ⌘ Luke 1.74. l From sinnes which proceede from death, and bring foorth nothing but death. 10 The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beastes did not purge sinnes, the newe Testament which was beforetime promised, whereunto those outwarde thinges had respect, is nowe in deede established, by the vertue whereof all transgressions might bee taken away, and heauen in deede opened vnto vs: whereof it followeth that Christ shedde his blood also for the Fathers, for hee was shadowed by those olde ceremonies, otherwise, vnlesse they had serued to represent him, they had bene nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the latter, not as concerning the vertue of it, (that is to say, remission of sinnes) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing it selfe was finished, that is to say, wherein Christ was in deede exhibited to the worlde, and fulfilled all things which were necessarie to our saluation.

✠ Rom.5.6. 1.pet.3.18.

11 A reason why the Testament must be established by the death of the Mediatour, because this Testament hath the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectuall by death, and therefore that it might be effectuall, it must needes be that he that made the Testament, should die.

✠ Gala.3.15.

12 There must be a proportion betweene those things which purifie, & those which are purified: Vnder the Lawe all those figures were earthly, the Tabernacle, the booke, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the signes of heauenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should be purified with some matter and ceremonie of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasts, with water, wooll, hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, an heauenly tabernacle, an heauenly sacrifice, an heauenly people, an heauenly doctrine, and heauen it selfe is set open before vs for an euerlasting habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with that euerlasting offering of the quickening blood of Christ.

the newe Testament, that through ✠ death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receiue the promise of eternall inheritance.
16 [11] For where a Testament is, there must bee
the death of him that made the Testament.
17 ✠ For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as hee that made it, is aliue.
18 [12] Wherefore, neither was the first ordeined without blood.
19 For when Moses had spoken euery precept to the people, [m] according to the Lawe, hee tooke the blood of calues and of goates, with water and purple wool and hyssope, and [n] sprinckled both the booke, and all the people, 20 ∵ Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed vnto you.
21 Moreouer, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministring vessels.
22 And almost all things are by the Lawe purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.
23 It was then necessary, that the [o] similitudes of heauenly things shoulde bee purified with such things: but the heauenly things themselues are purified with better sacrifices then are these.
24 [13] For Christ is not entred into the holy places that are made with handes, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuary: but is entred into very heauen, to appeare now in the sight of God for vs, 25 [14] Not that hee should offer himselfe often, as the hie Priest entred into the Holy place euery yeere with other blood, 26 [15] (For then must he haue often suffred since the foundation of the world) but now in the [p] end of the world hath he bene made manifest, once to put away [q] sinne by the sacrifice of himselfe.
27 And as it is appointed vnto men that they shall [r] once die, and after that commeth the iudgement: 28 So ✠ Christ was once offered to take away the sinnes of [s] many, [16] and vnto them that looke for him, shall hee appeare the second time without sinne vnto saluation.

CHAP. X.

1 He proueth that the sacrifices of the Lawe were vnperfect, 3 because they were yerely renued: 5 But that the sacrifice of Christ is one, and perpetuall, 6 hee proueth by Dauids testimonie: 19 Then hee addeth an exhortation, 29 and seuerely threatneth them that reiect the grace of Christ. 36 In the ende he praiseth patience, 38 that commeth of faith.

For [1] the Lawe hauing the shadowe of good things to [a] come, and not the very image of the things, can neuer with those sacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the commers thereunto.
2 For woulde they not then haue ceased to haue bene offered, because that the offerers once purged, shoulde haue had no more conscience of sinnes?
3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes euery yeere.
4 For it is vnpossible that the blood of bulles and goates should take away sinnes.
5 [2] Wherefore when hee [b] commeth into the world, he saith, ✠ Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not: but a [c] body hast thou ordeined me.
6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure.
7 Then I said, Loe, I come (In the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I should doe thy wil, O God.
8 Aboue, when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and sinne offrings thou wouldest not haue, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are offered by the Lawe) 9 Then said he, Loe, I come to doe thy wil, O God, he taketh away the [d] first, that he may stablish
the second.
10 By the which will we are sanctified, euen by the offring of the body of Iesus Christ once made.
11 [3] And euery Priest [e] standeth dayly ministring, and oft times offereth one maner of offring, which can neuer take away sinnes: 12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, ✠ sitteth for euer at the right hande
of God,
13 [4] And from henceforth tarieth, ∵ till his enemies be made his footestoole.
14 For with one offering hath hee consecrated for euer them that are sanctified.

The Apostle answereth, first touching that yeerely sacrifice which was the solemnest of all, wherein (saith he) there was made euery yeere a remembrance againe of all former sinnes. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctifie: for to what purpose should the sinnes which [illegible] purged [illegible]

m As the Lord had commaunded. n Hee vsed to sprinkle. ∵ Exod.24.8. o The similitudes of heauenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to be set foorth with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wooll, and hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, and therefore they coulde not but be sanctified with the offering of his liuely blood. 13 An other double comparison: The Leuitical hie Priest entred into the Sanctuarie, which was made in deede by the commaundement of God, but yet with mens handes, that it might be a paterne of another more excellent, to wit of the heauenly palace. But Christ entred euen into heauen it selfe. Againe, hee appeared before the Arke, but Christ before God the Father himselfe. 14 An other double comparison: The Leuitical hie Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his owne: hee euery yeere once iterated his offering: Christ offering himselfe but once, abolished sinne altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come. 15 An argument to proue that Christs offring ought not to be repeated: Seeing that sinnes were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is proued that sinnes cannot be purged, but by the onely blood of Christ: he must needes haue died oftentimes, since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christes oblation which was once done in the latter dayes, neither coulde nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the vertue of it extendeth both to sinnes that were before, and to sinnes that are after his comming. p In the latter dayes. q That whole roote of sinne. r He speaketh of the naturall state and condition of man: For as for Lazarus and certaine other that died twise, that was no vsual thing but extraordinarie: and as for them that shalbe changed, their changing is a kinde of death, 1.Corinth.15.51. ✠ Rom.5.8 1.peter 3 18. s Thus the generall promise is restrained to the elect onely: and we haue to seeke the testimonie of our election, not in the secret counsell of God, but in the effects that our faith worketh, and so we must climbe vp from the lowest steppe to the highest, there to finde such comfort as is most certaine, and shall neuer be moued. 16 Shortly by the way hee setteth out Christ as Iudge, partly to terrifie them, which doe not rest themselues in the onely oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keepe the faithfull in their duetie, that they goe not backe.

But Christ hauing offered one sacrifice once for the sinnes of all men, and hauing sanctified his owne for euer, sitteth at the right hande of the Father, hauing all power in his handes. e At the altar. ✠ Chap.1.13. psal 110.1, 1.cor.15.25. 4 Hee preuenteth a priuie obiection, to wit, that yet notwithstãding we are subiect to sinne and death, whereunto the Apostle answereth, that the full efficacie of Christs vertue hath not yet shewed it selfe, but shall at length appeare when hee will at once put to flight all his enemies, with whome as yet we striue. ∵ Chap.1.13. 5 Although there do yet remaine in vs reliques of sinne, yet the worke of our sanctification which is to bee perfected, hangeth vpon the selfe same sacrifice which neuer shalbe repeated: and that the Apostle prooueth by alleadging againe the testimonie of Ieremie, thus. Sinne is taken away by the newe Testament, seeing the Lord saith that it shall come to passe, that according to the forme of it, he will no more remember our sinnes: Therefore wee neede nowe no purging sacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but we must rather take paines, that we may nowe through faith be partakers of that sacrifice. ✠ Iere.31.33. roma.11.27. chap.8.8.

CHAP. XI.

1 He declareth in the whole chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approued of God, attained saluation no other way then by faith, that the Iewes may know, that by the same onely, they are knit vnto the Fathers in an holy vnion.

NOwe [1] faith is the ground of things, which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene.
2 [2] For by it our a elders were wel reported of.
3 ✠ [3] Though faith wee vnderstande that the world was ordeined by the worde of God, so that the things which wee b see, are not made of things which did appeare.
4 [4] By faith Abel ∵ offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by ✠ the which hee obtained witnes that hee was righteous, God testifying of his giftes: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.
5 [5] By faith was ✠ Enoch translated, that hee should not c see death: neither was hee found: for God had translated him: for before hee was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.
6 But without faith it is vnpossible to please him: for hee that commeth to God, must beleeue that God is, and that he is a d rewarder of them that seeke him.
7 [6] By faith * Noe being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, mooued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the sauing of his housholde, through the which Arke hee condemned the world, and was made heire of the righ-teousnes, which is by faith.
8 [7] By faith ✠ Abraham, when he was called, obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which hee should afterwarde receiue for inheritance, and hee went out, not knowing whither he went.
9 By faith he abode in the land of promes, as in a strange countrey, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Iacob heires with him of the same promes.
10 For he looked for a citie hauing a e foundation, whose builder and maker is God.
11 Through faith ✠ Sara also receiued strength to conceiue seede, and was deliuered of a childe when shee was past age, because shee iudged him faithfull which had promised.
12 And therefore sprang there of one, euen of one which was f dead, so many as the starres of the skie in multitude, and as the sande of the sea shore which is innumerable.

c Whereas bee[illegible] all kinde of b[illegible] nesse in his h[illegible] and power, y[illegible] fered willingly [illegible] ignominie of the Crosse.
3 An amplification, taken of the circumstance of the person and the things themselues, which he compareth betwixt them selues: for howe great is Iesus in comparison of vs, and howe farre more grieuous things did hee suffer then we? 4 Hee taketh an argument of the profite which commeth to vs by Gods chastisements, vnlesse we be in fault. First of all because sinne, or that rebellious wickednesse of our flesh, is by this meanes tamed. 5 Secondly, because they are testimonies of his fatherly good will towards vs, in so much that they shewe themselues to bee bastards, which cannot abide to be chastened of God. ✠ Prou.3.11. 6 Thirdly, If all men yeelde this right to fathers, to whome next after God we owe this life, that they may rightfully correct their children, shall we not be much more subiect to that our Father, who is the Authour of the spirituall and euerlasting life? 7 An amplification of the same argument: Those fathers haue corrected vs after their fansie, for some fraile and transitorie profite: but God chasteneth and instructeth vs for our singular profite, to make vs partakers of his holinesse: which thing although these our senses doe not presently perceiue, yet the ende of the matter proueth it.

vs after their owne pleasure: but hee chasteneth vs for our profite, that we might bee partakers of his holinesse.

11 Now no chastising for the present seemeth to bee ioyous, but grieuous: but afterwarde, it bringeth the quiet fruite of righteousnesse, vnto them which are thereby exercised.

12 [8] Wherefore lift vp your hands which [d] hang downe, and your weake knees,

13 And make [e] straight steppes vnto your feete, lest that which is halting, be turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed.

14 ✠ [9] Followe peace with all men, and holi-nesse, without the which no man shall see ỹ Lord.

15 [10] Take heede, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no [f] roote of bitternes spring vp and trouble you, lest thereby many be defiled.

16 [11] Let there be no fornicator, or prophane person as ✠ Esau, which for one portion of meate sold his birthright.

17 ∵ For yee knowe howe that afterwarde also

tance, though he sought that blessing with teares.

18 [12] For yee are not come vnto the ⁎ mount cused themselues, ⁎ that the word should not be spoken to them any more,

20 (For they were not able to abide that which was commaunded, * yea, though a beast touche the mountaine, it shalbe stoned, or thrust through with a dart:

21 And so terrible was the [i] sight which appeared, that Moses said, I feare and quake.)

22 But ye are come vnto the mount Sion, and to the citie of the liuing God, the celestiall Hieru-salem, and to the company of innumerable Angels,

23 And to the assemblie and congregation of the first borne, which are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the spirits of iust and [k] perfite men,

24 And to Iesus the Mediatour of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling that speaketh better things then that of Abel.

25 [13] See that ye despise not him that speaketh:
for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth; much more shall we not escape, if we turne away from him, that speaketh frõ heauen.

26 [14] Whose voyce then shooke the earth, and nowe hath declared, saying, ✠ [l] Yet once more will I shake, not the earth onely, but also heauen.

27 And this worde, Yet once more, signifieth the remouing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remaine.

28 [15] Wherefore seeing wee receiue a kingdome, which cannot be shaken, let vs haue grace whereby we may so serue God, that we may please him with [m] reuerence and [n] feare.

29 For ✠ euen our God is a consuming fire.

1 He giueth good lessons not onely for maners, 7 but also for doctrine.

Let ✠ [1] brotherly loue continue.

though ye were bounde with them: and them that are in affliction, as [a] if yee were also afflicted in the body.

4 [2] Mariage is honourable among all, and the bed vndefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will iudge.

5 [3] Let your conuersation be without coue-tousnesse, and bee content with those things that Priest for sinne, are burnt without the campe.

fie the people with his owne blood, suffered with-13 [8] Let vs goe foorth to him therefore out of the campe, bearing his reproch.

And this is the summe of a Christian life, respecting the first table.

6 Hee toucheth them which mixed an externall worship, and especially the difference of Meates with the Gospel, which doctrine hee plainely condemneth as cleane repugnant to the benefite of Christ. d By this one kind which concerneth the difference of cleane and vncleane meates, wee haue to vnderstande all the ceremoniall worshippe. e Which obserued the difference of them superstitiously. 7 He refuteth their errour by an apte and fitte comparison. They which in times past serued the Tabernacle, did not eate of the sacrifices whose blood was brought for sinne into the holy place by the hie Priest. Moreouer these sacrifices did represent Christ our offring. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which serue the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the seruice of the Lawe: but let not vs be ashamed to folowe him out of Hierusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffered: for in this also Christ, who is the trueth, answereth that figure, in that he suffered without the gate. f By the Altar, hee meaneth the offerings. g Whereof they cannot be partakers, which stubburnely reteine the rites of the Lawe. ✠ Leuit. 4.11. and 6.30 and 16.27. 8 Hee goeth on further in this comparison, and sheweth that this also signified vnto vs, that the godly folowers of Christ must as it were goe out of the worlde bearing his crosse. ✠ Mich. 2.10. 9 Nowe that those corporall sacrifices are taken away, hee teacheth vs that the true sacrifices of confession remaine, which consist partly in giuing of thankes, and partly in liberalitie, with which sacrifices in deede God is nowe delighted. ∵ Hose. 14.3.

CHAP. I.

4 He entreateth of patience, 6 of faith, 10 and of lowlinesse of minde in rich men. 13 That tentations come not of God for our euill, 17 because hee is the authour of all goodnesse. 21 In what maner the worde of life must be receiued.

IAmes a seruaunt of God, and of the Lorde Iesus Christ, to the twelue Tribes, which are [b] scattered abroade, salutation.
2 [1] My brethren, [c] count it exceeding ioy, [2] when ye fall into diuers tentations,
3 ✠ [3] Knowing that the [d] trying of your faith
bringeth forth patience, 4 [4] And let patience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect & entier, lacking nothing.
5 [5] If any of you lacke [e] wisedome, let him aske of God, which giueth to al men liberally, and reprocheth no man, and it shall be giuen him.
6 ✠ But let him aske in faith, and [f] wauer not: [6] for hee that wauereth, is like a waue of the sea, tost of the winde, and caried away.
7 Neither let that man thinke that hee shall receiue any thing of the Lord.
8 A double minded man is vnstable in [g] all his wayes.
9 [7] Let the brother of [h] lowe degree reioyce in that he is exalted:
10 [8] Againe hee that is [i] riche, in that hee is made lowe: [9] for as the flower of the grasse, shall he ✠ vanish away.
11 For as when the sunne riseth with heate, then the grasse withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man wither away in all his [k] wayes.
12 [10] ✠ Blessed is the man, that endureth [l] tentation: for when hee is tried, hee shall receiue the crowne of life, which the Lorde hath promised to them that loue him.
13 [11] Let no man say when hee is [m] tempted,
I am tempted of God: [12] for God cannot be tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man.
14 But euery man is tempted, when hee is drawen away by his owne concupiscence, and is entised.
15 Then when lust hath conceiued, it bringeth foorth [n] sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death.
16 [13] Erre not, my deare brethren.
17 Euery good giuing, and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and commeth downe from the [o] Father of lights, with whom is no variablenesse, neither [p] shadowe of turning.
18 [14] Of his owne [q] will begate he vs with the worde of trueth, that wee shoulde be as the [r] first fruites of his creatures.
19 Wherefore my deare brethren, ∴ let euery

b To all the beleeuing Iewes, of what Tribe soeuer they be, and are dispersed through the whole world.
1 The first place or part touching comfort in afflictions, wherein we ought not to be cast downe and be faint hearted, but rather reioyce and be glad.
c Seeing their condition was miserable in that scattering abroade, hee doeth well to begin as hee doeth.
2 The first argument, because our faith is tried through affliction: which ought to be most pure, for so is it behoueable for vs.
✠ Rom. 5. 3.
3 The second. Because patience, a farre passing and most excellent vertue, is by this meanes ingendred in vs. d That wherewith your faith is tried, to witte, those manifolde tentations.
4 The third argument propounded in maner of an exhortation, that true and continuall patience may be discerned from fained and for a time. The crosse is as it were the instrument wherewith God doeth polish and fine vs. Therefore the worke and effect of afflictions, is the perfecting of vs in Christ. 5 An answere to a priuie obiection: It is easely said, but it is not so easely done. He answereth that we neede in this case a farre other maner of wisedome, then the wisedome of man, to iudge those things best for vs, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet we shall easely obteine this gift of wisedome, if we aske it rightly, that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is most bountiful and liberall. e By wisedome he meaneth the knowledge of that doctrine whereof mention was made before, to witte, wherefore wee are afflicted of God, and what fruite we haue to reape of affliction. ✠ Matth. 7. 7. mar. 11. 24. luk. 11. 9. iohn 14. 13 and 16. 23. f Why then, what neede other Mediatours? 6 A digression or going aside from his matter, against prayers which are conceiued with a doubting mind, whereas we haue a certaine promise of God, and this is the second part of the Epistle. g In all his thoughts and his deedes. 7 He returneth to his purpose, repeating the proposition, which is, that wee must reioyce in the crosse, for it doeth not presse vs downe, but exalt vs. h Who is afflicted with pouertie, or contempt, or with any kinde of calamitie. 8 Before he concludeth, he giueth a doctrine contrary to the former: to witte, howe we ought to vse prosperitie, which is plentie of all things: to witte, so, that no man therefore please himselfe, but be so much the more voide of pride. i Who hath all things at his will.

9 An argument taken of the very nature of the things themselues, for that they are most vaine and vncertaine.
✠ Esai. 40. 6. 1. pet. 1. 24.
k Whatsoeuer either purposed in his minde or doeth.
10 The conclusion: Therefore must patiently beare the crosse, and he addeth a fourth argument which comprehendeth ... of all the ... to wit, because ... come by this ... to the crowne of life, but yet ... grace according to the promise.
✠ Iob 5. 17.
l Afflictions ... by the Lorde ... him.
11 The third part of this Epistle, wherein he descendeth from outwarde tentations, that is, from afflictions whereby God trieth vs, to inwarde, that is, to those lustes whereby we are stirred vp to doe euill. The summe is this: Euery man is the authour of these temptations to himselfe, and not of God: for wee beare about in our bosomes that wicked corruption, which taketh occasions by what meanes so euer, to stirre vp euill motions in vs, whence out at length proceede wicked doings, and in conclusion foloweth death the iust reward of them. m When he is prouoked to doe euill. 12 Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot be the authour of euill doing in vs, because he desireth not euil. n By sinne is meant in this place, actuall sinne. 13 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the authour of all goodnesse, and so, that he is alwayes like himselfe: howe then can he be thought to be authour of euill? o From him who is the fountaine and authour of all goodnesse. p He goeth on in the metaphore: for the sunne by his manifold and sundry kindes of turning, maketh houres, dayes, moneths, yeeres, light and darkenesse. 14 The fourth part, concerning the excellencie and fruite of the worde of God. The summe is this: we must heare the worde of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seede, wherewith God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs vnto himselfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures. And the Apostle condemneth two faults, which doe greatly trouble vs in this matter, to wit, for that we so please our selues, that we had rather speake our selues, then heare God speaking: yea wee fume and are angrie when we are reprehended: against which faultes, he setteth a peaceable and quiet minde, and such an one as is desirous of puritie. q This is it which Paul calleth gracious fauour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our saluation. r As it were an holy kinde of offering, taken out of the residue of men.

man be swift to heare, slowe to speake, and slowe to wrath.
20 For the wrath of man doth not accomplish the [f] righteousnesse of God.
21 Wherefore lay apart all filthinesse, and su-perfluitie of maliciousnesse, and receiue with [t] meekenes the word that is graffed in you, which is able to saue your soules.
22 ✠ [15] And be ye doers of the worde, and not hearers onely, [16] deceiuing your owne selues.
23 [17] For if any heare the worde, and doe it not, he is like vnto a man, that beholdeth his [u] naturall face in a glasse.
24 For when he hath considered himselfe, hee goeth his way, and forgetteth immediatly what maner of one he was.
25 But who so looketh in the perfect Lawe of libertie, and continueth therein, hee not being a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, shalbe blessed in his [x] deede.
26 [18] If any man among you seeme religious,
and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiueth his [y] owne heart, this mans religion is vaine.
27 [19] Pure religion and vndefiled before God, euen the Father, is this, to [z] visite the fatherlesse, and widowes in their aduersitie, and to keepe himselfe vnspotted of the world.

f That which God appoueth.

t By meekenes, he meaneth modestie, and whatsoeuer is contrary to an hautie and proude stomacke.

✠ Matth.7.21. rom.2.13.

15 Another admonition: Therefore is Gods worde heard, that wee may frame our liues according to the prescript thereof.

16 He addeth reasons, & those most weightie: first, because they that doe otherwise, doe very much hurt themselues.

17 Secondly, because they lose the chiefest vse of Gods worde, which correct not [illegible] the faults that they knowe. u Hee alludeth to that naturall spot, to which is [illegible] that puritie whereunto wee are borne againe, the liuely image whereof wee be[illegible] in the Lawe. x Behauing himselfe so: for workes doe shewe faith. 18 The [illegible] admonition: The worde of God prescribeth a rule not onely to doe well, but [illegible] speake well. y The fountaine of all brabling, and cursed speaking, and sawci[illegible] thus, that men knowe not themselues. 19 The fourth: the true seruice of God [illegible]eth in charitie toward our neighbours (especially such as neede others helpe, as [illegible] fatherlesse and widowes) and puritie of life. z To haue a care of them, and [illegible] them as much as we can.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee sayeth, that to haue respect of persons is not agreeable to Christian faith, 14 which to professe in wordes is not enough, vnlesse 15 we shewe it also in deedes of mercie and charitie, 21 after the example of Abraham.

MY 1 brethren, haue not the faith of our [a] glorious Lorde Iesus Christ ✠ in respect of persons.
2 For if there come into your company a man with a golde ring, and in goodly apparell, and there come in also a poore man in vile raiment, 3 And ye haue a respect to him that weareth the gaie clothing, and say vnto him, Sit thou here in a [b] goodly place, and say vnto the poore, Stand thou there, or sit here vnder my footestoole, 4 Are ye not partiall in [c] your selues, and are become iudges of euill thoughts?
5 [2] Hearken my beloued brethren, hath not God chosen the [d] poore of this worlde, that they should be rich in faith, and heires of the kingdome which he promised to them that loue him?
6 But ye haue despised the poore. [3] Doe not the riche oppresse you by tyrannie, and doe not they drawe you before the iudgement seates?
7 Doe not they blaspheme the worthie
Name after which ye be [e] named?
8 [4] But if yee fulfill the [f] royall Lawe according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe, ye doe well.
9 But if yee regarde the persons, yee commit sinne, and are rebuked of the Lawe, as transgressours.
10 [5] For whosoeuer shall keepe the whole Lawe, and yet faileth in one point, hee is guiltie of [g] all.
11 [6] For he that saide, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, saide also, Thou shalt not kill. Nowe though thou doest none adulterie, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressour of the Lawe.
12 [7] So speake ye, and so doe, as they that shall be iudged by the Lawe of libertie.
13 For there shalbe condemnation merciles to him that sheweth not [h] mercie, and mercie reioyceth against condemnation.
14 [8] What auaileth it, my brethren, though a man saith he hath faith, when he hath no workes?
can that faith saue him?
15 [9] For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of dayly foode, 16 And one of you say vnto them, Depart in peace: warme your selues, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding ye giue them not those things, which are needefull to the body, what helpeth it?
17 Euen so the faith, if it haue no workes, is dead in it selfe.
18 But [i] some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I haue workes: shewe me thy faith out of thy workes, and I will shewe thee my faith by my workes.
19 [10] Thou beleeuest that there is one God:
thou doest well: the deuils also beleeue it, and tremble.
20 [11] But wilt thou vnderstand, O thou vaine
man, that ẏ faith which is without workes, is dead?
21 Was not Abraham our father [k] iustified through workes, ✠ when he offred Isaac his sonne vpon the altar?
22 Seest thou not that the faith [l] wrought with his workes? and through the workes was the faith made [m] perfect.
23 And the Scripture was [n] fulfilled which sayeth, ✠ Abraham beleeued God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse: and hee was called the friend of God.

1 [illegible] Chapter [illegible] pro[illegible] from a [illegible], cannot [illegible] with the [illegible] of persons [illegible] which he [illegible] plainely [illegible] foorth [illegible] example, [illegible] there[illegible] disdaine [illegible] riche.

a [illegible] wee knewe [illegible] Christes glory [illegible] esteemed it as [illegible] ought to doe, there woulde not be such respect of persons as there is.

✠ Leuit.19.15. deut.1.17. and 16.19. prou.24.23.

b In a worshipfull and honourable place.

c Haue yee not (which you ought not to doe) by this meanes within your selues iudged one man to be preferred before another? 2 Hee sheweth, that they are peruerse and naughtie iudges, which preferre the rich before the poore, by that that God on the contrarie side preferreth the poore, whom hee hath enriched with true riches, before the rich. d The needie and wretched, and (if wee measure it after the opinion of the worlde) the verest abiects of all men. 3 Secondly, he proueth them to be mad men: for that the rich men are rather to be holden execrable and cursed, considering that they persecute the Curch, and blaspheme Christ: for hee speaketh of wicked and prophane riche men, such as the most part of them haue beene alwayes, against whom hee setteth the poore and abiect. e Words for worde, which is called vpon, of you.

4 The Conclusion: Charitie which God prescribeth cannot agree with the accepting of persons, seeing that wee must walke in the kings hie way.

f The Law is saide to be royall and like the kings hie way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, and that the Lawe calleth euery one our neighbour without respect, whom we may helpe by any kinde of duetie.

5 A newe argument to prooue the same conclusion: They doe not loue their neighbours, which neglect some, and ambitiously honour others: for he doeth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commaundements of God that, that is not so commodious for him, nay he is rather guiltie generally for the breache of the whole Lawe, although he obserue the residue.

g Not that all sinnes are equall, but because he that breaketh one title of the Lawe, offendeth the maiestie of the Lawe giuer.

6 A proofe: because the Lawe maker is alwayes one and the selfe same, and the body of the Law cannot be deuided.

7 The conclusion of the whole treatise: we are vpon this condition deliuered from the curse of the Lawe by the mercie of God, that in like sort we shoulde maintaine and cherish charitie and good will one towardes another, and who so doeth not so, shall not taste of the grace of God. h He that is hard and currish against his neighbour, or els helpeth him not, he shall finde God an hard and rough Iudge to himselfeward. 8 The fifth place which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and liuely faith. And the proposition of this place is this: faith which bringeth not foorth workes, is not that faith whereby wee are iustified, but an image of faith: or els this, they are not iustified by faith, which shewe not the effects of faith. 9 The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hungrie, Fill thy bellie, and yet giueth him nothing, this shall not be true charitie: so if a man say he beleeueth, and bringeth foorth no workes of his faith, this shall not be a true faith, but a certaine dead thing set out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to brag, vnlesse hee will openly incurre reprehension, seeing that the cause is vnderstood by the effectes. i Nay, thus may euery man beate downe thy pride. 10 Another reason taken of an absurditie: If such a faith were the true faith whereby wee are iustified, the deuils should be iustified, for they haue that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not iustified therefore, neither is that faith a true faith. 11 The third reason from the example of Abraham, who no doubt had a true faith: but hee in offering his sonne, shewed himselfe to haue that faith which was not voide of workes, and therefore hee receiued a true testimonie when it was saide, that faith was imputed to him for righteousnesse. k Was hee not by his workes knowen and found to be iustified? for hee speaketh not here of the causes of iustification, but by what effectes wee may knowe that a man is iustified. ✠ Genesis 22.10. l Was effectuall and fruitfull with good workes. m That the faith was declared to bee a true faith, and that by workes. n Then was the Scripture fulfilled, when it appeared plainely, howe truely it was written of Abraham. ✠ Genesis 15.6. rom. 4.3. galatians 3.6.

11 The conclusion: He is onely iustified that hath that faith which hath workes following it.
o Is prooued to be iust.
p Of that dead and fruitles faith which you boast of.

24 11 Ye see then howe that of workes a man is o iustified, and not of p faith onely.
25 13 Likewise also was not ✠ Rahab the harlot iustified through workes, when shee had recei-ued the messengers, & sent them out another way?
26 14 For as the body without the spirit is dead, euen so the faith without workes is dead.

13 A fourth reason taken from a like example of Rahab the harlot, who also prooued by her workes that shee was iustified by a true faith. ✠ Iosh. 2.1. 14 The conclusion repeated againe: faith which bringeth not forth fruites and workes, is not faith, but a dead carcase.

CHAP. III.

3 To shewe that a Christian man must gouerne his tongue with the bridle of faith and charitie, 9 hee declareth the commodities and mischiefes that insue thereof: 15 and howe much mans wisedome 17 differeth from heauenly.

1 The first part or place: Let no man vsurpe (as most men ambitiously doe) authoritie to iudge and censure others rigorously.
2 A reason: Because they prouoke Gods seueritie against themselues, which doe so curiously & rigorously condemne others, being themselues guiltie and faultie.
a Vnlesse we surcease from this masterlike and proud finding fault with others.
‖Or, stumble.
3 The seuenth place, touching the brideling of the tongue, ioyned with the former, so that it is manifest that there is no man which may not iustly be found fault withal, seeing it is a rare vertue to bridle the tongue.
4 He sheweth by two similitudes, the one taken frō the bridles of horses, the other from the rudders of shippes, how great matters may be brought to passe by the good moderation of the tongue.
5 On the contrary part he sheweth how great discommodities arise by the intemperancie of the tongue, throughout the whole wolde, to

MY 1 brethren, be not many masters, 2 knowing that wee a shall receiue the greater condemnation.
2 For in many things wee ‖ sinne all. 3 If any man sinne not in word, he is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.
3 4 Beholde, wee put bittes into the horses mouthes, that they shoulde obey vs, and we turne about all their bodie.
4 Behold also the shippes, which though they be so great, and are driuen of fierce windes, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whither soeuer the gouernour listeth.
5 Euen so the tongue is a litle member, and boasteth of great things: 5 beholde, howe great a thing a litle fire kindleth.
6 And the tongue is fire, yea, a b worlde of wickednesse: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and c setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.
7 For the whole nature of beasts, & of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath bene tamed of the nature of man.
8 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruly euill, full of deadly poyson.
9 6 Therewith blesse wee God euen the Father, and therewith curse we men, which are made after the 7 similitude of God.
10 8 Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.
11 Doeth a fountaine sende forth at one place sweete water and bitter?
12 Can the figge tree, my brethren, bring forth oliues, either a vine figges? so can no fountaine make both salt water and sweete.
13 9 Who is a wise man & endued with knowledge among you? let him shew by good conuersa-tion his workes in meekenesse of wisedome.
14 But if yee haue bitter enuying and strife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither be liars against the trueth.

the ende that men may so much the more diligently giue themselues to moderate it. b An heape of all mischiefes. c It is able to set the whole worlde on fire. 6 Amongst other faultes of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reproueth backbiting and speaking euill of our neighbours, euen in them especially, which otherwise wil seeme godly and religious. 7 He denieth by two reasons, that God can be praised by that man, that vseth cursed speaking or to backbite: first because man is the Image of God, which whosoeuer reuerenceth not, doeth not honour God himselfe. 8 Secondly, because the order of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrary the one to the other, to stande the one with the other. 9 The eight part which hangeth with the former, touching meekenes of minde, against which he setteth enuie and a contentious minde. And in the beginning he stoppeth the mouth of the chiefe fountaine of all these mischiefes, to wit, a false perswasion of wisedome, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisedome, but that is heauenly, and frameth our mindes to all kinde of true moderation and simplicitie.

15 This wisedome descendeth not from aboue, but is earthly, sensuall, and deuilish.
16 For where enuying and strife is, there is sedition, and all maner of euill workes.
17 But the wisedome that is from aboue, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easie to be intreated, full of d mercie & good fruites, without iudging,
and without hypocrisie.
18 10 And the fruite of righteousnesse is sowen
in peace, of them that make peace.

d He setteth mercie against the fierce and cruel nature of men, and sheweth that heauenly wisedome bringeth forth good fruites, for hee that is heauenly wise, referreth all things to Gods glorie, and the profite of his neighbour.

10 Because the world perswadeth it selfe that they are miserable which liue peaceably and simplie: on the contrary side the Apostle pronounceth that they shall at the length reape the haruest of peaceable righteousnesse.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee reckoneth vp the mischiefes that proceede of the workes of the flesh. 7 He exhorteth to humilitie, 8 and to purge the heart 9 from pride, 10 backbiting, 14 and the forgetfulnesse of our owne infirmitie.

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, condemning certaine other causes of warres & contentions, to wit, vnbridled pleasures, and immoderate lustes, by their effectes: for so much as the Lord doeth worthily make the [illegible] nothing els [illegible] in whom they [illegible] but vncurable torments.
2 He reprehendeth them by name, which [illegible] not ashamed [illegible] goe about to [illegible] God the mi[illegible] and helpe [illegible] lustes & [illegible] which [illegible] of themselues [illegible] lawfull, or [illegible] lawfull, [illegible] to wicked [illegible] ses and vices.
3 An other reason why [illegible] bridled [illegible] and pleasures [illegible] vtterly to be condemned, to [illegible] because [illegible] that giueth [illegible] selfe to the w[illegible] diuorceth him from God, and breaketh the band

FRom 1 whence are warres and contentions among you? are they not hence, euen of your pleasures, that fight in your members?
2 Ye lust, and haue not: yee enuie, and desire immoderately, and cannot obtaine: ye fight, and warre, and get nothing, 2 because ye aske not.
3 Yee aske, and receiue not, because ye aske a-misse, that ye might lay the same out on your pleasures.
4 3 Ye adulterers and adulteresses, knowe yee not that the amitie of the world is the enimitie of God? Whosoeuer therefore will be a friend of the world, maketh himselfe the enemie of God.
5 4 Doe ye thinke that the Scripture sayeth in vaine, The spirit that dwelleth in vs, lusteth after enuie?
6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore sayth, ✠ God resisteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble.
7 ✠ 5 Submit your selues to God: resist the deuill, and he will flee from you.
8 Drawe neere to God, and he will draw neere to you. Clense your handes, yee sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.
9 6 Suffer afflictions, and sorrowe ye, & weepe: let your laughter bee turned into mourning, and your ioy into a heauinesse.
10 ✠ Cast downe your selues before the Lord, and he will lift you vp.
11 7 Speake not euill one of another, brethren.
He that speaketh euill of his brother, or hee that condemneth his brother, speaketh euil of the Law, and condemneth the Lawe: and if thou condem-nest the Lawe, thou art not an obseruer of the Lawe, but a iudge.

of that holy and spirituall mariage. 4 The taking away of an obiection: Indeede our mindes runne headlong into these vices, but wee ought so much the more diligently take heede of them: which care and studie shall not bee in vaine, seeing that God resisteth the stubburne, and giueth that grace to the modest and humble that surmounteth all those vices. ✠ Prou. 3.34. 1 peter 5.5. ✠ Ephes. 4.27. 5 The conclusion: We must set the contrary vertues against those vices, and therefore whereas we obeyed the suggestions of the deuill, wee must submit our mindes to God, and resist the deuill, with a certaine and assured hope of victorie. To bee short, wee must employ our selues to come neere vnto God by puritie and synceritie of life. 6 He goeth on in the same comparison of contraries, and setteth against those prophane ioyes an earnest sorowe of minde, and against pride and arrogancie, holy modestie. a By this worde the Grecians meane an heauinesse ioyned with shamefastnesse, which is to bee seene in a cast downe countenance, and setled as it were vpon the grounde. ✠ 1. Peter 5.6. 7 Hee reprehendeth most sharpely another double mischiefe of pride: the one is, in that the proude and arrogant will haue other men to liue according to their will and pleasure, and therefore they doe most arrogantly condemne whatsoeuer pleaseth them not: which thing cannot be done without great iniurie to our only Lawe maker, for by this meanes his Lawes are founde fault withall, as not circumspectly ynough written, and men chalenge that vnto themselues which properly belongeth to God alone, in that they laye a Lawe vpon mens consciences.

12 There

8 The other fault is this: That men doe so confidently determine vpon these and those matters and busi-nesses, as though that euery momēt of their life didnot depend of God.
✠ 1.Cor.4.19.
9 The conclusion of all the former treatise: The know-ledge of the will of God, doeth not onely nothing at all profite, vnlesse the life be answerable vnto it, but also maketh the sinnes farre more grieuous.

12 There is one Lawgiuer, which is able to saue, and to destroy. ✠ Who art thou that iudgest another man?
13 [8] Goe to now ye that say, To day or to mo-rowe we will goe into such a citie, and continue there a yeere, and bye and sell, and get gaine, 14 (And yet ye cannot tell what shalbe to mo-rowe. For what is your life? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a litle time, and afterward va-nisheth away)
15 For that ye ought to say, ✠ If the Lord will,
and, if we liue, we will doe this or that.
16 But nowe ye reioyce in your boastings: all such reioycing is euill.
17 [9] Therefore, to him that knoweth how to doe well, and doeth it not, to him it is sinne.

CHAP. V.

1 He threatneth the riche with Gods seuere iudgement, for their pride, 7 that the poore bearing the miserable ende of the riche, 8 may patiently beare afflictions, 11 as Iob did, 14 euen in their distresses.

1 He denounceth vtter destruction to the wicked and prophane riche men, and such as are drowned in their riotousnesse, mocking at their foolish cōfidence when as there is nothing in deede more vaine then such things.
a The Lord who is mightie then [illegible], hath heard [illegible].
b Ye haue pampered your selues.
c The Hebrewes [illegible] day, that is [illegible] to so[illegible] banketting, [illegible] slaughter [illegible].
2 He applieth [illegible] the poore, [illegible] he spake [illegible] the riche, [illegible] them to [illegible] for ẏ Lords [illegible] patient-[illegible] who will re-[illegible] the iniuries [illegible] the riche [illegible] doe them.

GO [1] to nowe, ye rich men: weepe, and howle for your miseries that shall come vpon you.
2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are moth eaten.
3 Your gold and siluer is cankred, & the rust of them shalbe a witnesse against you, and shall eate your flesh, as it were fire. Ye haue heaped vp treasure for the last dayes.
4 Behold, the hire of the labourers, which haue reaped your fieldes (which is of you kept backe by fraude) cryeth, and the cryes of them which haue reaped, are entred into the [a] eares of the Lord of hostes.
5 Ye haue liued in pleasure on the earth, and in wantonnes. Ye haue [b] nourished your heartes, as in a [c] day of slaughter.
6 Yee haue condemned and haue killed the iust, and he hath not resisted you.
7 [2] Bee patient therefore, brethren, vnto the comming of the Lord. [3] Behold, the husbandman wayteth for the precious fruite of the earth, and hath long patience for it, vntill he receiue the former, and the latter rayne.
8 Be ye also patient therefore and settle your hearts: for ẏ comming of the Lord draweth neere.
9 [4] [d] Grudge not one against another, brethren, least ye be condemned: [5] behold, the iudge standeth before the doore.
10 [6] Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an ensample of suffering aduersitie, and of long patience, which haue spoken in the Name of the Lord.
11 Behold, wee count them blessed which endure. Ye haue heard of the patience of Iob, and haue knowen what [e] ende the Lord made, For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull.
12 [7] But before all thinges, my brethren, ✠ sweare not, neither by heauen, nor by earth, nor by any other othe: but let [f] your yea, be yea, and your nay, nay, lest ye fall into condemnation.
13 [8] Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray.
Is any merie? Let him sing.
14 [9] Is any sicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoynt him with ✠ [g] oyle in the [h] Name of the Lord.
15 And the prayer of faith shall saue the sicke, and the Lorde shall raise him vp: and if hee haue committed [i] sinnes, they shalbe forgiuen him.
16 [10] Acknowledge your faultes one to another, and pray one for another, that yee may bee healed: [11] for the prayer of a righteous man auai-leth much, if it be feruent.
17 ∵ Helias was a man subiect to like passions as we are, and hee prayed earnestly that it might not rayne, and it rayned not on the earth for three yeeres and sixe moneths.
18 And he prayed againe, and the heauen gaue rayne, and the earth brought forth her fruite.
19 [12] Brethren, ✠ if any of you hath erred from the trueth, and some man hath [k] conuerted
him,
20 Let him knowe that he which hath conuerted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall saue a soule from death, and shal hide a multitude of sinnes.

6 Because most men are wont to obiect, that it is good to repell iniuries by what meanes so euer, he setteth against that, the examples of the Fathers, whose patience had a most happie ende, because God as a most bountifull Father, neuer forsaketh his.
e What ende the Lorde gaue.
7 Because euen the best men sometimes through impatience breake out into othes sometimes lesser, sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth vs to detest such wickednesse, and to accustome our tonges to simple and true talke.
✠ Math.5.34.
f That that you haue to say or affirme, speake or affirme it simply, and without an othe: and that that you will denie, denie it simply and flatly.
8 He sheweth the best remedie against all afflictions, to wit, prayers which haue their place both in sorowe and ioye.

[illegible] the taking away of an obiection: Although his comming seeme to linger, yet [illegible] least we must follow the husbandmen, who doe patiently wait for the times [illegible] are proper for the fruites of the earth. And againe, God will not deferre the [illegible] iote of the time that he hath appointed. 4 He commendeth Christian pati-[illegible], for that where as other through impatience vse to accuse one an other, the faithfull on the contrary side, complaine not although they receiue iniurie. d By grudging he meaneth a certaine inward complaining which betokeneth impatiencie. 5 The conclusion: The Lord is at the doore, who will defend his owne, & reuenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble our selues.

9 He sheweth peculiarly, to what physicians especially wee must goe, when wee are diseased, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then also coulde cure the bodie, (for so much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefest cause of sicknesses and diseases, by obteining for the sicke through their prayers and exhortations, remission of sinnes. ✠ Marke 6.13. g This was a signe of the gift of healing: and nowe seeing we haue the gift no more, the signe is no longer necessarie. h By calling on the Name of the Lord. i Hee hath reason in making mention of sinnes, for diseases are for the most part sent because of sinnes. 10 Because God pardoneth their sinnes which confesse and acknowledge them, and not theirs which iustifie themselues, therefore the Apostle addeth, that wee ought freely to conferre one with another touching those inwarde diseases, that we may helpe one another with our prayers. 11 He commendeth prayers by the effectes that come of them, that all men may vnderstande that there is nothing more effectuall then they are, so that they proceede from a pure minde. ∵ 1.King.17.1. and 18 45. luke 4.25. 12 The taking away of an obiection: All reprehensions are not condemned, seeing that on the contrary part there is nothing more acceptable to God then to call into the way, a brother that was wandring out of the way. ✠ Matth.18,15. k Hath called him backe from his way.

THE FIRST EPISTLE GE-NERALL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee extolleth Gods mercie shewed in Christ, which wee lay holde on by faith, and possesse through hope: 10 whereof the Prophets foretolde. 13 Hee exhorteth 15 to renounce the worlde, 23 and their former life, and so wholy yeelde themselues to God.

PETER an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, to the strangers that dwell here and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,
2 [1] Elect according to the [a] foreknowledge of God ẏ Father vnto [b] sanctification of the Spirit,

1 Peter purposing to speake of the dueties of a Christian life, reasoneth first of the principles and beginnings of all Christian actions, rising farre higher then nature, and carying vs also farre aboue the same. For he sheweth that we which are otherwise of nature sinners, were through the free mercie of God the Father first chosen from euerlasting: then according to that euerlasting decree, were by a certaine second creation made his sonnes in Christ his onely begotten, by whose Spirit we are inwardly changed, & by whose bloud we are also reconciled, to the end, ẏ as Christ himselfe rose againe from the dead, we also might be receiued into that same heauenly and euerlasting glory. a Or, according to the purpose of God, who neuer altereth nor changeth the same. b That being set apart from the rest of the wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghost, they should be consecrate to God, Ephes.1.5.

through obedience and sprinkeling of the blood of Iesus Christ: Grace and peace bee multiplied
vnto you.

3 Blessed bee God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which according to his aboundant mercie hath begotten vs againe vnto a c liuely hope by the resurrection of Iesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortall and vndefiled, and that withereth not, reserued in heauen
for vs,

5 [2] Which are kept by the power of God through faith vnto saluation, which is prepared to be shewed in the d last time.

6 Wherein yee reioyce, though nowe for a season (if neede require) yee are in heauinesse, through manifold tentations,

7 That the triall of your faith, being much more precious then golde that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might bee founde vnto your praise, and honour and glorie at the e appearing of Iesus Christ:

8 Whom yee haue not seene, and yet loue him, in whom nowe, though yee see him not, yet doe you beleeue, and reioyce with ioy vnspeakeable and glorious,

9 Receiuing the ‖ ende of your faith, euen the saluation of your soules.

10 3 Of the which saluation the Prophets haue inquired and searched, which prophecied of the grace that should come vnto you,

11 Searching when or what time the Spi-rite which testified before of Christ which was in them, shoulde declare the sufferings that should come vnto Christ, and the glorie that shoulde followe.

12 Vnto whom it was reueiled, that not vnto themselues, but vnto vs they shoulde minister the things, which are nowe shewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the Gospel by the holy Ghost f sent downe from heauen, the which thinges the Angels desire to beholde.

13 4 Wherefore, g girde vp the loynes of your minde: be sober, 5 and trust h perfectly on that grace 6 that is brought vnto you, 7 in the reuelation of Iesus Christ,

14 [8] As obedient children, not fashioning your selues vnto the former lustes of your ignorance:

15 But as he which hath called you, is holie, so be ye holy in ✣ all maner of conuersation,

16 9 Because it is written, ✣ Be ye holie, for I am holie.

17 10 And if ye i call him Father, which without ∵ respect of person iudgeth according to euery mans worke, passe the time of your dwelling here in feare,

18 11 Knowing that yee were not redeemed with corruptible things, as siluer and golde, from your vaine conuersation, receiued by the traditions of the fathers,

19 ✻ But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a Lambe vndefiled, and without spot.

20 12 Which was ✻ ordeined before the k foundation of the world, but was declared in the last times for your sakes,

21 Which by his meanes doe beleeue in God that raised him from the dead, and gaue him glorie, that your faith and hope might be in God.

22 13 Hauing purified your soules in obeying the trueth through the spirite, to * loue brotherly without faining, loue one another with a pure heart feruently.

23 Being borne anewe, not of mortall seede, but of immortall, by the worde of God, who li-ueth and endureth for euer.

24 14 For all ✣ l flesh is as grasse, and all the glorie of man is as the flower of grasse. The grasse withereth, and the flower falleth away.

25 15 But the worde of the Lorde endureth for euer: and this is the worde which is preached among you.

c Euerlasting hope.

2 Nowe hee sheweth by what way wee come vnto that glorie, to witte, through all kinde of afflictions, wherein notwithstanding faith maketh vs so secure, that wee are not onely not ouercome with sorowe, but also through the beholding of God himselfe (who otherwise is inuisible) with the eyes of faith, are vnspeakeably ioyfull: because all such things, as they are but for a time, so are they not applied vnto vs to destroy vs, but as it were by fire to purge vs, and to make vs perfite, that at the length wee may obteine saluation.

d This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the ende, when as that great restoring of all things shalbe, which all creatures looke for, Romanes 8.19.

e Hee speaketh of the seconde comming of Christ. ‖ Or, rewarde. 3 Hee putteth a difference betweene true faith, that is to say, that faith which onely hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophetes and Apostles, and false faith: Afterwarde hee maketh two degrees of one and the selfesame faith, according to the maner of the diuers reuelations, when as in deede it is but one onely faith: Thirdly, hee sayeth, that the preaching of the Apostles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophetes, although the latter ende of it bee as yet looked for of the very Angels. f Hee alludeth to the prophecie of Ioel, which was exhibited, vpon the day of Pentecost, in the Apostles, as it were in the first fruites of the holy Ghost, which this same our Peter declareth, Actes 2.6. 4 Hee goeth from faith to hope, which is in deede a companion that cannot bee sundred from faith: and hee vseth an argument taken of comparison: Wee ought not to be wearied in looking for so excellent a thing, which the very Angels waite for with great desire. g This is a borowed speach, taken of a common vsage amongst them: for by reason that they weare long garments, they coulde not trauaile vnlesse they girded vp themselues: and hence it is that Christ saide, Let your loynes bee girded vp. 5 Hee setteth foorth very briefly, what maner of hope wars ought to be, to witte, continuall, vntill we enioy the thing we hope for: then, what we haue to hope for, to witte, grace (that is, free saluation) reueiled to vs in the Gospell, and not that, that men doe rashly and foondly promise to themselues. h Soundly and sincerely. 6 An argument to stirre vp our mindes, seeing that God doeth not waite till wee seeke him, but causeth so great a benefite to bee brought euen vnto vs. 7 Hee setteth out the ende of faith, least any man shoulde promise himselfe, either sooner or later that full saluation, to witte, the latter comming of Christ: and therewithall warneth vs, not to measure the dignitie of the Gospell according to the present state, seeing that that which wee are nowe, is not yet reueiled.

8 Hee passeth from faith and hope, to the fruites of them both, which are vnderstoode in the name of obedience: And it consisteth in two things, in renouncing our lustes, and liuing godly: which lustes haue their beginning of that blindnes wherein all men are borne: but holinesse proceedeth from the grace and fauour of GOD which adopteth vs, and therefore regenerateth vs, that the father and the children may be of one disposition.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth the newe borne in faith, to leade their liues answerable to the same: 6 and lest their faith shoulde stagger, hee bringeth in that which was foretolde touching Christ. 11 Then hee willeth them to be obedient to Magistrates, 21 and that they patiently beare aduersitie after Christes example.

✠ Rom.6.4. ephes.4.23. coloss.3.8. hebre.12.1.

1 Hauing laid for the foundation the Spirit of God effectually working by the worde, and hauing built thereupon three vertues which are the groundes of all Christian actions, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie: nowe he proceedeth to a generall exhortation, the first member whereof is, that wee flee all shewe, both of secrete and also open malice.

2 The second is, that being newly [illegible] & borne [illegible] the nowe seede [illegible] vncorrupt [illegible] drawing and [illegible] greedily [illegible] same word as [illegible] milke, we should [illegible] and more as [illegible] were growe vp [illegible] that spirituall [illegible] And he cal-

5 Ye also as liuely stones, bee made a spirituall house, 5 an holy ✠ Priesthood to offer vp spirituall sacrifices acceptable to God by Iesus Christ.

6 6 Wherefore also it is conteyned in the Scripture, ∵ Beholde, I put in Sion a chiefe corner stone, elect and precious: and hee that beleeueth therein, shall not be ashamed.

7 7 Vnto you therefore which beleeue, it is precious: but vnto them which be disobedient, the ✱ stone which the builders disalowed, the same is made the head of the corner,

8 And a ✠ stone to stumble at, and a rocke of offence, euen to them which stumble at the worde, being disobedient, vnto the which thing they were euen ordeined.

9 8 But ye are a chosen generation, a royall ✠ Priesthoode, an holy nation, a people set a libertie, that yee shoulde shewe foorth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darkenesse into his marueilous light,

10 ✠ Which in time past were not a people, yet are nowe the people of God: which in time past were not vnder mercie, but nowe haue obteined mercie.

14 Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, 18 for the punishment of euill doers, and for the praise of them that doe well.

15 19 For so is the will of God, that by well doing ye may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men, ∵ Rom.13.14. galat.5.16.

11 Another argument: The children of God liue not according to the flesh, that is, according to that corrupt nature, but according to the spirit. Therefore fleshly motions ought not to beare rule in vs.

[illegible] Syncere, not onely because it is a most pure thing, but also that wee should [illegible] of them which corrupt it. a As becommeth newe men. 3 He com-[illegible] that spirituall nourishment for the sweetenesse and profite of it. ||Or, doe [illegible] 4 He goeth on forward in the same exhortation, but vseth another kinde [illegible] speache, alluding to the Temple. Therefore he sayeth, that the compa-[illegible] the faithfull is as it were a certaine holy and spirituall building, built of liue-[illegible] the foundation whereof is Christ, as a liuely stone susteining all that are [illegible] vnto him with his liuing vertue, and knitting them together with himselfe, [illegible] this so great a treasure bee neglected of men. 5 Going forward in the [illegible] similitude, he compareth vs nowe to Priestes, placed to this ende in that spiri-[illegible] temple, that wee shoulde serue him with a spirituall worship, that is, with ho-[illegible] and righteousnesse: but as the temple, so is the Priesthood built vpon Christ, [illegible] onely all our spirituall offerings are accepted. ✠ Reuela.1.6. 6 Hee [illegible] it by the testimonie of the Prophet Esai. ∵ Esai 28.16. romanes 9.33. [illegible] setting the most blessed condition of the beleeuers, and the most miserable [illegible] rebellious one against the other, he pricketh forwarde the beleeuers, and tri-[illegible] ouer the other: and also preuenteth an offence which ariseth hereof, that [illegible] doe more resist this doctrine of the Gospell, then they which are chiefest a-[illegible] the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote these thinges, the [illegible] Priestes, and Elders, and Scribes. Therefore hee answereth first of all that there is no cause why any man shoulde bee astonished at this their stubbernesse as though it were a strange matter, seeing wee haue beene forewarned so long before, that it shoulde so come to passe: and moreouer, that it pleased God to create and make certaine to this selfe same purpose, that the Sonne of God might bee glorified in their iust condemnation. Thirdly, for that the glorie of Christ is hereby set foorth greatly, whereas notwithstanding Christ remaineth the sure head of his Church, and they that stumble at him, cast downe and ouerthrowe them selues, and not Christ. Fourthly, although they bee created to this ende and purpose, yet their fall and decaie is not to be attributed to God, but to their owne obstinate stubbernesse which commeth betweene Gods decree, and the execution thereof or their condemnation, and is the true and proper cause of their destruction. ✱ Psalme 118.22. matthewe 21.42. actes 4.11. ✠ Esai 8.14. romanes 9.33. 8 The contrarie member, to witte, he describeth the singular excellencie of the elect, and also lest any man shoulde doubt whether hee be chosen or not, the Apostle calleth vs backe to the effectuall calling, that is, to the voyce of the Gospell sounding both in our eares and mindes by the outwarde preaching and Sacraments, whereby wee may certainely vnderstand that euerlasting decree of our saluation, (which otherwise is most secrete and hidden) and that through the onely mercie of God, who freely chooseth and calleth vs. Therefore this onely remaineth, sayeth hee, that by all meanes possible wee set foorth so great goodnesse of the most mightie God.

13 The fourth argument, taken of the profite of so doing: for by this meanes also wee prouide for our good name and estimation, whilest wee compell them at length to change their mindes, which spake euill of vs. ✱ Chapter 3.16. 14 The fifth argument, which also is of great force: Because the glory of God is greatly set foorth by that meanes, whilest by example of our honest life, euen the most prophane men are brought vnto God, and submit themselues vnto him. ✠ Matthew 5.16. b When God shall also haue mercie on them. 15 That which hee spake generally, hee nowe expoundeth by partes, describing seuerally euery mans duetie. And first of all hee speaketh of obedience which is due both to the Lawes, and also to the Magistrates, both higher and lower. * Romanes 13.1. c By ordinance, is meant the framing and ordering of ciuill gouernement: which hee calleth ordinance of man, not because man inuented it, but because it is proper to men. 16 The first argument: because the Lord is the Authour and reuenger of this policie of men, that is, which is set amongest men: and therefore the true seruauntes of the Lorde must aboue all others bee diligent obseruers of this order. 17 Hee preuenteth a cauill which is made by some, that say they will obey Kinges and the higher Magistrates, and yet contemne their ministers: as though their ministers were not armed with their authoritie which sent them. 18 The seconde argument taken of the ende of this order, which is not onely most profitable, but also very necessarie: seeing that by this meanes vertue is rewarded, and vice punished: wherein the quietnesse and happinesse of this life consisteth. 19 Hee declareth the first argument more amplie, shewing that Christian libertie doeth amongst all thinges least or not at all consist herein, to witte, to cast off the bridle of Lawes, (as at that time some altogether vnskilfull in the kingdome of God reported) but rather in this, that liuing holilie according to the will of God, wee shoulde make manifest to all men, that the Gospell is not a cloke for sinne and wickednesse, seeing wee are in such sort free, that yet wee are still the seruauntes of God and not of sinne. 20 Hee diuideth the ciuill life of man, by occasion of those thinges which hee spake, into two generall partes: to witte, into those dueties which priuate men owe to priuate men, and especially the faithfull to the faithfull, and into that subiection whereby inferiours are bounde to their superiours: but so, that Kinges be not made equall to God, seeing that feare is due to God, and honour to kings. d Bee charitable and duetifull towardes all men. ✠ Chapter 1.22. romanes 12.10. e The assemblie and fellowship of the brethren, as Zacharie 11.14. ✠ Ephesians 6.5. colossians 3.22. 21 Hee goeth to the duetie of seruauntes towardes their masters, which hee describeth with these boundes, that seruauntes submit themselues willingly and not by constraint, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the frowarde and sharpe masters. ∵ 2. Corinthians 7.10. 22 The taking away of an obiection: In deede the condition of seruauntes is hard, especially if they haue frowarde masters: but this their subiection shall be so much the more acceptable to God, if his will preuaile more with seruauntes, then the masters iniuries.

But howe shall wee attaine vnto it [illegible] sanctifie God in our mindes and heartes, that is to say, if we rest vpon him [illegible] that is Almightie, that loueth mankinde, that is good and true in deede. ✠ E[illegible] 8.12,13. k Be not dismaide as they are. l Giue him all praise and glorie, and hang onely on him. 16 Hee will haue vs, when wee are afflicted for righteousnesse sake, to be carefull not for redeeming of our life, either with denying or renouncing the trueth, or with like violence, or any such meanes: but rather to giue an accompt of our fayth boldly, and yet with a meeke spirite, and full of godly reuerence, that the enemies may not haue any thing iustly to obiect, but may rather be ashamed of themselues. 17 A reason which standeth vpon two generall rules of Christianitie, which notwithstanding all men allowe not of. The one is, if wee must needes suffer afflictions, it is better to suffer wrongfully then rightfully: the other is this, because wee are so afflicted not by happe, but by the will of our God. * Rom. 5.6. hebr. 9.15. 18 A proofe of either of the rules, by the example of Christ himselfe our chiefe paterne, who was afflicted not for his owne sinnes (which were none) but for ours, and that according to his Fathers decree. 19 An argument taken of comparison: Christ the iust, suffered for vs that are vniust, & shal it grieue vs which are vniust to suffer for the Iustes cause? 20 Another argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth vs to his Father that same way that hee went himselfe, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ is not onely set before vs for an example to followe, but also hee holdeth vs vp by his vertue in all the difficulties of this life, vntill hee bring vs to his Father.

21 Another argument taken of the happie ende of these afflictions, wherein also Christ goeth before vs both in example and vertue, as one who suffered most grieuous torments euen vnto death, although but in one part onely of him, to wit, in the flesh or mans nature: but yet became conquerour by the vertue of his diuinitie.
m As touching his manhoode, for his body was dead, and his soule felt the sorowes of death.

bring vs to God, [21] and was put to death concerning the [m] flesh, but was quickened by the spirit.
19 [22] By ‖ the which hee also went, and preached vnto the ‖ spirits that are in prison.
20 Which were in time passed disobedient, when [n] once the long suffering of God abode in the dayes of ✠ Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherein fewe, that is, eight [o] soules were saued in the water.
21 [23] Whereof the baptisme that nowe is, answering that figure, (which is not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but a confident demaun-ding which a good conscience maketh to [p] God) saueth vs also [24] by the resurrection of Iesus Christ, 22 Which is at the right hande of God, gone into heauen, to whome the Angels, and Powers, and might are subiect.

22 A secret obiection: Christ in deede might doe this, but what is that to vs? Yes (sayth the Apostle) for Christ hath shewed forth this vertue in all ages both to the preseruation of the godly, were they neuer so few and miserable, and to reuenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the historie of the flood: for Christ is he which in those dayes (when God through his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was present, not in corporall presence, but by his diuine vertue, preaching repentance, euen by the mouth of Noe himselfe who then prepared the Arke, to those disobedient spirits which are now in prison, waiting for the full recompence of their rebellion, and saued those fewe (that is, eight onely persons) in the water. ‖ By the vertue of which Spirit, that is to [illegible] of the diuinitie: therefore this word, Spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the soule, [illegible] we will say, that Christ was raised vp againe and quickened by the vertue of his [illegible]. ‖ Hee calleth them spirits, in respect of his time, not in respect of the time that [illegible] in the flesh. n This worde (once) sheweth that there was a furthermost day [illegible], and if that were once past, there should be no more. ✠ Gen.6.14. matt.24. [illegible] o Men. 23 A proportionall applying of the former example [illegible] which followed the comming of Christ: for that preseruation of Noe [illegible] was a figure of our Baptisme, not as though that materiall water of [illegible] saueth vs, as those waters which bare vp the Arke saued Noe, but because [illegible] his inward vertue, which the outward baptisme shadoweth, preserueth [illegible] washed, so that we may call vpon God with a good conscience. p The [illegible] being sanctified may freely call vpon God. 24 That selfe same vertue, [illegible] Christ rose againe, and nowe being caried vp into heauen hath receiued [illegible] doeth at this day defend and preserue vs.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He bringeth in Christes example, and applieth it 6 to the mortifying of the flesh, especially commending Charitie: 12 And so intreateth of patience. 17 That it is necessarie that correction beginne at the Church.

[illegible] ed [illegible] and [illegible] his [illegible] he re- [illegible] ex- [illegible] which [illegible] taking [illegible] by that [illegible] ayd ton- [illegible] death [illegible] ion of [illegible] ming [illegible] tion, [illegible] sanctifi- [illegible] as to [illegible] the flesh, [illegible] to say, to [illegible] off from our wickednes and viciousnes: and to rise againe to God, that is to say, to be renued by the vertue of the holy Ghost,

FOrasmuch [1] then as Christ hath suffered for vs in the flesh, arme your selues likewise with the same minde, which is, that he which hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sinne, 2 That he henceforward should liue (as much time as [a] remaineth in the flesh) not after the lustes of men, but after the will of God.
3 ✠ [2] For it is sufficient for vs that we haue spēt the time past of ẏ life, after the [b] lust of the Gentiles, walking in wantonnes, lustes, drunkennes, in gluttonie, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.
4 [3] Wherein it seemeth to them [c] strange, that yee runne not with them vnto the same excesse of riot: therefore speake they euill of you, 5 Which shall giue accounts to him, that is ready to judge quicke and dead.
6 [4] For vnto this purpose was the Gospell that we may leade the rest of our life which remaineth, after the will of God. a So much of this present life as remaineth yet to be passed ouer. ✠ Ephe.4.22. 2 By putting vs in minde of the dishonestie of our former life led in the filth of sinne, he calleth vs to earnest repentance. b Wickedly & licenciously after the maner of the Gentiles. 3 That we be not mooued with the enemies peruerse & slanderous judgements of vs, we haue to set against them that last judgement of God which remaineth for them, for none, whether they be then found liuing, or were dead before, shal escape it. c They thinke it a new and strange matter. 4 A digression: because he made mention of the last generall judgement. And he preuenteth an obiection, that, seeing Christ came very lately, they may seeme to be excusable which died before. But this the Apostle denieth: for (saith he) this selfe same Gospel was preached vnto them also (for he speaketh vnto the Iewes,) and that to the same ende that I now preach it vnto you, to wit, that the flesh being abolished and put away (that is to say, that wicked and naughty corruption which reigneth in men) they should suffer themselues to be gouerned by the vertue of the Spirit of God.

preached also vnto the dead, that they might bee condemned, according to men in the flesh, but might liue according to God in the spirit.
¶ 7 [5] Nowe the ende of all things is at hand. Be ye therefore sober, and watching in prayer.
8 [6] But aboue all thinges haue feruent loue among you: ✠ for loue shall couer the multitude of sinnes.
9 [7] Be ye ✠ harberous one to another, without grudging.
10 [8] ∵ Let euery man as hee hath receiued the gift, minister the same one to another, [9] as good disposers of the manifolde grace of God.
11 [10] If any man speake, let him speake as the wordes of God. If any man minister, let him doe it as of the abilitie which God ministreth, that God in all things may be glorified through Iesus Christ, to whome is prayse and dominion for euer, and euer, Amen.
¶ 12 [11] Dearely beloued, thinke it not [d] strange [12] concerning the firie triall, which is among you to proue you, as though some strange thing were come vnto you:
13 [13] But reioyce, in asmuch as yee are parta-kers of Christs sufferings, that when his glory shall appeare, ye may be glad and reioyce.
14 ✠ [14] If yee be railed vpon for the Name of Christ, blessed are ye: for the [e] spirit of glory, and of God resteth vpon you: which on their part is euill spoken of: but on your part is glorified.
15 [15] But let none of you suffer as a murthe-rer, or as a thiefe, or an euill doer, or as a busibody in other mens matters.
16 But if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalfe.
17 [16] For the time is come, that judgement must beginne at the house of God. [17] If it first beginne at vs, what shall the ende be of them which obey not the Gospel of God?
18 ✠ And if the righteous scarcely be saued,

5 He returneth to his purpose, vsing an argument taken from the circumstance of the time, Because the last ende is at hand, and therefore we must so much the more diligently watch and pray, with true sobrietie of minde.
6 He comendeth charitie of one towards another, because it doeth as it were burie a multitude of sinnes, and therefore preserueth and mainteineth peace and concord: for they that loue one another, doe easily forgiue one another their offences.
✠ Prouer.10.12.
7 Of all the duties of charitie, he commendeth one namely, which was at that time most necessarie, to wit, hospitalitie, which he will haue to be voluntarily and most courteous and bountifull.
✠ Rom.12.13. hebr.13.2.
8 Hee sheweth the vse of charitie, to wit, that euery man bestow that gift which he hath receiued, to the profit of his neighbour. ∵ Rom.12.6. philip.2.14. 9 A reason, because that what gift so euer we haue, wee haue receiued it of God vpon this condition, to be his disposers and stewardes. 10 He reckoneth vp two kindes of these gifts as chiefe, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other ecclesiasticall functions, wherein two thinges especially are to be obserued: to wit, that the pure worde of God be taught, and whatsoeuer is done, bee referred to the glory of God the Father in Christ, as to the proper marke. 11 Because the crosse is ioyned with the sincere profession of religion, the Apostle fitly repeateth that which hee touched before, warning vs not to bee troubled at persecutions and afflictions, as at a newe and strange thing. d As though some newe thing had befallen you, which you neuer thought of before. 12 The first reason: Because the Lorde meaneth not to consume vs with this fire (as it were) but to purge vs of our drosse and make vs perfite. 13 An other reason: Because the afflictions of the godly and the wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three pointes. First, because the godly communicate with Christ in their afflictions, and therefore shall in their time bee partakers also of his glory. ✠ Math.5.10. 14 Secondly, because that although the infidels thinke farre otherwise, who in afflicting the godly blaspheme God, yet the godly in that they are so rayled vpon, are honoured of God with the true spirituall glory, and their adoption is sealed in them by the Spirit of God. e By spirite, hee meaneth the giftes of the spirite. 15 The thirde difference: for the godly are not afflicted for their euill doings but for righteousnesse sake as Christians: whereby it commeth to passe that the crosse, seeing it is a testimonie vnto them of faith and righteousnesse, ministreth to them not an occasion of sorowe, but of vnspeakeable ioye: nowe the Apostle propoundeth this third difference vnder the forme of an exhortation. 16 The thirde reason: Because the Lorde of all the worlde being especially carefull for them of his housholde, doeth therefore chastise them first of all, yet so that hee keepeth a measure in his greatest seueritie. And as hee hath alwayes vsed to doe heretofore, so doeth he now especially when as he exhibited himselfe in person to his Church. 17 Least the godly should be offended and stumble at that vaine shadowe of felicitie of the wicked, as though God were not the gouernour of the world, for that the wicked are in good case and the godly in euill, the Apostle teacheth by an argument of a comparison of them together, that God who spareth not his owne, but nourtereth them vnder the crosse, will at length in his time handle the rebellious and wicked farre otherwise whom he hath appointed to vtter destruction. ✠ Prou.2.31.

where

where shall the vngodly and the sinner appeare?
19 [18] Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their soules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithfull Creator.

18 The conclusion: Seeing the godly are not afflicted by chance, but by the will of God, they ought not to despaire, but goe forwarde notwithstanding in the way of holinesse and well doing, commending themselues to God their faithfull Creator, that is to say, their Father.

CHAP. V.

1 He warneth the Elders not to vsurpe authoritie ouer the Church, 5 willing the yonger sort to be willing to bee taught, and to bee modest, 8 to be sober and watchfull to resist the cruel aduersary.

THe [1] elders which are among you, [2] I beseech which am also an elder, and a witnes of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shalbe reueiled,
2 [3] [a] Feede the [4] flocke of God, which [5] de-pendeth vpon you, [6] caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a readie minde:
3 Not as though ye were lords ouer Gods [b] heritage, but that yee may bee ensamples to the flocke.
4 [7] And when that chiefe shepheard shall ap-peare, ye shall receiue an incorruptible crowne of glory.
5 [8] Likewise yee yonger, submit your selues vnto the elders, and submit your selues euery man, one to another: ✠ decke your selues inwardly in lowlines of minde: [9] for ✠ God resisteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble.
6 Humble ✠ your selues therefore [10] vnder the mightie hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time.
7 ∵ Cast all your care on him: for hee careth for you.

rie the deuil as a roaring lyon walketh about, seeking whom he may deuoure: 9 Whome resist stedfast in the faith, [12] knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your [c] brethren which are in the world.
10 [13] And the God of all grace, which hath called vs vnto his eternal glory by Christ Iesus, after that ye haue suffered a little, make you perfite, confirme, strengthen and stablish you.
11 To him be glory and dominion for euer and
euer, Amen.
12 [14] By Syluanus a faithfull brother vnto you, as I suppose, haue I written briefly, exhorting and testifying howe that this is the true grace of God, wherein ye stand.
13 [15] The Church that is at [d] Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Marcus my sonne.
14 Greete ye one another with the ⁑ kisse of loue. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Iesus, Amen.

1 Hee describeth peculiarly the office of the Elders, that is to say, of them that haue the care of the Church.

2 He vseth a preface touching the circumstance of his owne person: to wit, that hee as their companion communeth with them not of matters which he knoweth not, but wherein he is as well experienced as any, and propoundeth vnto them no other condition but that which hee himselfe hath susteined before them, and doeth still take the same paines, and also hath one selfe same hope together with them.

3 The first rule: Hee that is a shepheard, let him feede the flocke. a Hee sayeth not, offer for the quicke and the dead, and sing patched shreds in a strange tongue, but, (feede.) 4 The second: Let the shepheard consider, that the flocke is not his, but Gods. 5 The thirde: Let not shepheards inuade other mens flocks, but let them feede that which God hath committed vnto them. 6 Let the shepheards gouerne the Church with the worde, and example of godly and vnblameable life, not by constraint, but willingly, not for filthie lucre, but of a readie minde, not as lordes ouer Gods portion and heritage, but as his ministers. b Which is the Christian people. 7 That the shepheards mindes be not ouercome either with the wickednes of men, or their crueltie, hee warneth them to cast their eyes continually vpon that chiefe shepheard, and the crowne which is layd vp for them in heauen. 8 He commendeth many peculiar Christian vertues, and especially modestie: which admonition all of vs stand in neede of, but especially the yonger sort, by reason of the vntowardnesse and pride of that age. ✠ Rom. 12.10.

9 Because pride seemeth to many to be the way vnto the glory of this life, the Apostle witnesseth on the contrary side, that ignominie and shame is the reward of pride, and glory the rewarde of modestie.
✠ James 4.10.
10 Because those proude and loftie spirits threaten the modest and humble, the Apostle warneth vs to set the power of God against the vanitie of proude men, and to hang wholy vpon his prouidence.

THE SECOND EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

1 Hauing spoken of the bountifulnesse of God, 5 and of the vertues of faith, 6 Hee exhorteth them to holines of life, 12 and that his counsell may be the more effectuall, 14 Hee sheweth that his death is at hand, 16 and that himselfe did see the power of Christ which he opened vnto them.

SImon [1] Peter a seruant and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to you which haue obteined like precious faith with vs by the [a] righteousnes of our God and Sauiour Iesus Christ:
2 Grace and peace bee multiplied to you,
[2] through the acknowledging of God, and of Iesus
our Lord,
3 [3] According as his [b] diuine power hath gi-uen vnto vs all things that perteine vnto [c] life and godlinesse, through the [d] acknowledging of him that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue.
4 [4] Whereby most great and precious promises are giuen vnto vs, that by them yee shoulde be partakers of the [e] diuine nature, in that yee flee the corruption, which is in the [f] worlde through [g] lust.
5 [5] Therefore giue euen all diligence thereun-to: [h] ioyne moreouer vertue with your faith: and with vertue, knowledge: 6 [6] And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlinesse:

1 A salutation, wherein he giueth them to vnderstand that he dealeth with them as Christes embassadour, and otherwise agreeth with them in one selfe same faith which is grounded vpon the righteousnesse of Iesus Christ, our God and Sauiour.

a In that that God standing to his promises, shewed himselfe faithfull, and therefore iust vnto vs. 2 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ, from whence all our blessednes issueth and floweth. 3 Christ setteth foorth himselfe vnto vs plainely in the Gospel, and that by his onely power, and giueth vs all things which are requisite both to eternall life, wherein he hath appointed to glorifie vs, and also to godlinesse, in that he doeth furnish vs with true vertue. b Hee speaketh of Christ, whome he maketh God, and the onely Sauiour. c Vnto saluation. d This is the summe of true religion, to be led by Christ to the Father, as it were by the hand.

4 [illegible] of the [illegible] uence [illegible] the [illegible] great bene[illegible] wit, God [illegible] free promis[illegible] whence all the[illegible] benefits proce[illegible] I say, these most excellent benefites, whereby we are deliuered from the corruption of the worlde (that is, from the wicked lustes which we cary about vs) and are made, after a sort, like vnto God himselfe. e By the diuine nature hee meaneth not the substance of the Godhead, but the partaking of those qualities, whereby the image of God is restored in vs. f In men. g For lust is the state of corruption, and hath his place euen in our very bowels and inmost partes. 5 Hauing layed the foundation (that is, hauing declared the causes of our saluation, and especially of our sanctification) nowe hee beginneth to exhort vs to giue our mindes wholy to the true vse of this grace. And hee beginneth with faith, without which nothing can please God, and hee warneth vs to haue it full fraught with vertue (that is to say, with good and godly maners) being ioyned with the knowledge of Gods will, without which, there is neither faith, neither any true vertue. h Supply also, and support or ayde. 6 Hee reckoneth vp certaine other principall vertues, whereof some pertaine to the first table of the Lawe, others to the last.

7 And with godlines, brotherly kindnes: and with brotherly kindnes, loue.

8 [7] For if these things bee among you, and abound, they will make you that ye neither shalbe idle, nor vnfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Iesus Christ:

9 For he that hath not these things, is blinde, and [i] can not see farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his olde sinnes.

10 [8] Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall neuer fall.

11 For by this meanes an entring shall be ministred vnto you aboundantly into the euerlasting kingdome of our Lorde and Sauiour Iesus Christ.

12 [9] Wherefore, I will not bee negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things, though that ye haue knowledge, and be stablished in the present trueth.

13 For I thinke it meete as long as I am in this [k] tabernacle, to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seeing I know that the time is at hand that I must lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Iesus Christ hath ✣ shewed me.

15 I will endeuour therefore alwayes, that yee also may bee able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing.

16 ✣ [10] For we followed not deceiuable fables when wee opened vnto you the power, and comming of our Lorde Iesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his maiestie:

17 For hee receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voyce to him from that excellent glory, ∵ This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am wel pleased.

18 And this voyce wee heard when it came from heauen, being with him in the Holy mount.

19 [11] Wee haue also a most sure worde of the Prophets, [12] to the which ye doe well that ye take heede, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, vntill the [l] day dawne, and the [m] day starre arise in your hearts.

20 ✕ [13] So that ye first knowe this, that no prophecie of the [n] Scripture is of any [o] priuate interpretation.

21 For the prophecie came not in olde time by the will of man: but [p] holy men of God spake as they were [q] moued by the holy Ghost.

7 As those fruites doe spring from the true knowledge of Christ, so in like sort the knowledge it selfe is fostered and groweth by bringing foorth such fruites, in so much that he that is vnfruitfull, did either neuer know the true light, or hath forgotten the gift of sanctification which he hath receiued.

i He that hath not an effectuall knowledge of God in him, is blind as touching the kingdome of God, for hee can not see things that are a farre off, that is to say, heauenly things.

8 The conclusion: Therefore seeing [illegible] calling and [illegible] is approo[illegible] those fruits, [illegible] confirmed [illegible] moreouer [illegible] is the [illegible] to the [illegible] king[illegible] Christ, [illegible] that [illegible] minds [illegible] way. [illegible] amplifying [illegible] conclusion [illegible] mo[illegible] where[illegible] declareth his [illegible] foretel[illegible] of this [illegible] is at [illegible]

k [illegible] body.
✣ [illegible] 21.18.
✣ [illegible] 1.17.

10 [illegible] other am[illegible] taken [illegible] the great [illegible] and also [illegible] of this [illegible], as whereof [the] Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of God is authour, whose glory the Apostle him[selfe] [illegible] sawe and heard. ∵ Matth.17.5. 11 The trueth of the Gospel is hereby also manifest, in that it agreeth wholy with the foretellings of the Prophetes. 12 The doctrine of the Apostles doeth not shut out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme eche other by eche others testimonies, but the Prophetes were as candles which gaue light vnto the blinde, vntill the brightnesse of the Gospell beganne to shine. l A more full and open knowledge, then was vnder the shadowes of the Lawe. m That clearer doctrine of the Gospell. ✕ 2.Timoth.3.16. 13 The Prophets are to be read, but so, that wee aske of God the gift of interpretation, for hee that is the Authour of the writings of the Prophetes, is also the interpreter of them. n Hee ioyneth the Scripture and prophecie together, to distinguish true Prophecies from false. o For all interpretation commeth from God. p The godly interpreters and messengers. q Inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were the motions of the prophane soothsayers and foretellers of things to come.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee foretelleth them of false teachers, 3 whose wicked sleightes and destruction hee declareth. 12 Hee compareth them to brute beastes, 17 and to welles without water, 20 because they seeke to withdrawe men from God to their olde filthinesse.

BVt [1] there were false prophets also among the [a] people, euen as there shalbe false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lorde, that hath bought them, and bring vpon themselues swift damnation.

2 [2] And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of trueth shalbe euil spoken of,

3 [3] And through couetousnes shall they with fained words make [b] marchandise of you, [4] whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbreth not.

4 For if God spared not the ✣ Angels that had sinned, but cast them downe into [c] hell, and deliuered them into [d] chaines of darkenes, to be kept vnto damnation:

5 Neither hath spared the [e] olde world, but saued ✣ Noe the eight person a [f] preacher of righteousnesse, and brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly,

6 And ∵ turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrhe into ashes, condemned them and ouerthrewe them, and made them an ensample vnto them that after should liue vngodly,

7 And deliuered iust Loth vexed with the vncleanly conuersation of the wicked:

8 (For hee being righteous, and dwelling among them, in [g] seeing and hearing, [h] vexed his righteous soule from day to day with their vnlawfull deedes.)

9 The Lord [i] knoweth to deliuer the godly out of tentation, and to reserue the vniust vnto the day of iudgement vnder punishment.

10 [5] And chiefly them that walke after the flesh, in the lust of vncleannesse, and despise gouernement, which are bold, and stand in their owne conceite, and feare not to speake euill of them that are in [k] dignitie.

11 Where as the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement against them before the Lord.

12 [6] But these, as naturall brute beasts, led with sensualitie and [l] made to bee taken, and destroyed, speake euill of those things which they know not, and shall perish through their [m] owne corruption,

13 And shall receiue the wages of vnrighteousnesse, as they which count it pleasure dayly to liue deliciously. ‖ Spottes they are and blottes, deliting them selues in their deceiuings, [n] in feasting with you,

1 As in times past there were two kinds of prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them, that there shall be some true & some false teachers in the Church, in so much that Christ himselfe shalbe denied of some, which notwithstanding shall call him redeemer.

a Vnder the Law, while the state and policie of the Iewes was yet standing.

2 There shall not onely be heresies, but also many followers of them.

3 Couetousnes for the most part is a companion of heresie, & maketh marchandise euen of soules.

b They will abuse you and sell you as they sell cattell in a faire.

4 A comfort for the godly: God who cast the Angels that fell away from him, headlong into the darknesse of hell, at length to be iudged: and who destroyed the olde world with the flood, & preserued Noe the eight person: & who burned Sodom, and saued Lot, will deliuer his elect from these errours, and wil vtterly destroy those vnrighteous.

c So the Grecians called the deepe dungeons vnder the earth, which should be appointed to torment the soules of the wicked in.

A true and liuely description of the Romish cleargie (as they call it.) k Princes, and great men, be they neuer so high in authoritie. 6 A liuely painting out of the same persons, wherein they are compared to beastes which are made to snare them selues to destruction, while they giue themselues to fill their bellies: For there is no greater ignorance then is in these men, although they most impudently finde fault with those thinges which they knowe not: and it shall come to passe that they shall destroye themselues as beastes with those pleasures wherewith they are delighted, and dishonour and defile the company of the godly. l Made to this ende to bee a praye to others: So doe these men willingly cast them selues into Satans snares. m Their owne wicked maners shall bring them to destruction. ‖ Or, litle rockes. n When as by being amongst the Christians in the holy bankets which the Church keepeth, they would seeme by that meanes to bee true members of the Church, yet they are in deede but blots of the Church.

7 He condemneth those men, as shewing euen in their behauiour and countenance an vnmeasurable lust, as making marchandise of the soules of light persons, as men exercised in all the craftes of couetousnesse, to bee short, as men that sell themselues for money to curse the sonnes of God after Balaams example, whom the dumme beast reproued.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee sheweth that hee writeth the same thinges againe, 2 because they must often be stirred vp, 4 because dangers hang ouer their heads through certaine mockers: 8 therefore hee warneth the godly that they doe not after the iudgement of the flesh, 12 appoint the day of the Lorde, 14 but that they thinke it alwayes at hand, 15 in which doctrine hee sheweth that Paul agreeth with him.

1 The remedie against those wicked enemies, both of true doctrine and holinesse, is to be sought for by the continuall meditation of the writings of the Prophetes and Apostles.
* 1.Timoth.4.1. 2.timoth.3.1. iude 18.
2 He voucheth the seconde comming of Christ against the Epicures by name.

THis 1 seconde Epistle I nowe write vnto you, beloued, wherewith I stirre vp, and warne your pure mindes,
2 To call to remembrance the wordes, which were tolde before of the holy Prophets, and also the commaundement of vs the Apostles of the Lorde and Sauiour.
3 * 2 This first vnderstande, that there shall come in the last dayes, a mockers, which wil walke
after their lustes,
4 3 And say, Where is the promes of his comming? for since the fathers died, all things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.
5 4 For this they willingly know not, that the heauens were of olde, and the b earth that was of a Monstrous men, who will seeme wise by their contempt of God, and wicked boldnesse. 3 The reason which these mockers pretende: because the course of nature is all one as it was from the beginning, therefore the worlde was from euerlasting, and shalbe for euer. 4 He setteth against them the creation of heauen and earth by the worde of God, which these men are willingly ignorant of. b Which appeared, when the waters were gathered together into one place.

the water and by the water, by the worde of God.
6 5 Wherefore the world that then was, perished, ouerflowed with the c water.
7 6 For the heauens and earth, which are nowe, are kept by the same word in store, and reserued vnto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of vngodly men.
8 7 Dearely beloued, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lorde, ✠ as a thousande yeeres, and as a thousande yeeres as one day.
9 8 The Lord of that promes is not slacke (as some men count slackenesse) 9 but is pacient toward vs, and ✠ would haue no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance.
10 10 But the ∵ day of the Lord will come as a thiefe in the night, in the which the heauens shall passe away with a d noyse, and the elements shall melt with heate, and the earth with the workes that are therein, shalbe burnt vp.
11 11 Seeing therefore that all these thinges must be dissolued, what maner of persons ought ye to be in holy conuersation and godlinesse, 12 Looking for, and e hasting vnto the comming of that day of God, by the which the heauens being on fire, shall be dissolued, and the elements shall melt with heate?
13 But wee looke for ✕ newe heauens, and a newe earth, according to his promes, f wherein dwelleth righteousnesse.
14 Wherefore, beloued, seeing that ye looke for such things, be diligent that yee may be found in him in g peace, without spot and blamelesse.
15 ✻ And suppose that the long suffering of our Lord is saluation, 12 euen as our beloued brother Paul according to the wisedome giuen vnto him wrote to you, 16 As one, that in all his Epistles speaketh of these things: 13 among the ‖ which some thinges are hard to be vnderstand, which they that are vnlearned and vnstable, wrest, as they doe also other Scriptures vnto their owne destruction.
17 Ye therefore beloued, seeing ye know these things before, beware, lest yee be also plucked away with the errour of the wicked, and fall from your owne stedfastnesse.
18 But growe in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lorde and Sauiour Iesus Christ: to him be glory both now and euermore. Amen.

5 Secondly, hee setteth against them the vniuersal flood, which was the destruction, as it were of the whole world.
c For the waters returning into their former place, this world, that is to say, the heauens of the earth which we see, and all liuing creatures which liue vpon the earth, perished.
6 Thirdly, hee pronounceth that it shall not be harder for God to burne heauen and earth with fire in that day which is appointed for the destruction of the wicked (which thing he wil also doe) then it was for him in times past to make them with his onely worde, and afterwarde to [illegible] whelme [illegible] with water.

But this is the remedie against such deceite, to labour that wee may dayly more and more growe vp and increase in the knowledge of Christ. ‖ That is to say, among the which things: for he disputeth not here whether Pauls Epistles be plaine or darke, but sayth, that amongst those things which Paul hath written of in his Epistles, and Peter himselfe in these two of his owne, there are some things which cannot be so easily vnderstoode, and therefore are of some drawen to their owne destruction: and this hee sayth to make vs more attentiue and diligent, and not to remoue vs from the reading of holy things: for to what ende should they haue written vaine speculations?

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee testifieth that hee bringeth the eternall worde wherein is life, 5 and light. 9 God will be mercifull vnto the faithfull, if groning vnder the burden of their sinnes, they learne to flee vnto his mercie.

1 THat [1] which was from the beginning, which wee haue [a] heard, which wee haue seene with these our eyes, which wee haue looked vpon, and these handes of ours haue handled of that [b] worde of life,

2 (For that life was made manifest, and wee haue seene it, and beare witnes, and [c] shewe vnto you that eternall life, which was with the Father, and was manifest vnto vs)

3 That, I say, which wee haue seene and heard, declare wee vnto you, [2] that yee may also haue fellowship with vs, and that our fellowship also may be with the Father, and with his Sonne IESVS Christ.

4 And these things write wee vnto you, that that your ioy may be full.

5 [3] This then is the message which wee haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God ✝ is light, and in him is no darkenes.

6 If wee say that wee haue fellowship with him, and walke in darkenesse, we lie, and doe not truely:

7 But if we walke in the [d] light as hee is in the light, we haue fellowship one with another, [4] and the ✝ blood of Iesus Christ his Sonne clenseth vs from all sinne.

8 [5] ∵ If we say that we haue no sinne, we [e] deceiue our selues, and [f] trueth is not in vs.

9 [6] If we acknowledge our sinnes, he is [g] faithfull and iust, to [h] forgiue vs our sinnes, & to clense vs from all vnrighteousnes.

10 [7] If we say wee haue not sinned, wee make him [i] a liar, and his [k] worde is not in vs.

1 He beginneth with the description of the person of Christ, whome he maketh one and not two: and him both God from euerlasting (for he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternall life) and also made true man, whome Iohn himselfe and his companions, both heard, and beholde, and handled.

a I heard him speake, I sawe him my selfe with mine eyes, I handled with mine handes him that is very [illegible] being made [illegible] man, and not [illegible] but others [illegible] were [illegible] same euer[illegible] Worde, by [illegible] things [illegible] and in [illegible] there [illegible] by [illegible] do[illegible] [illegible] shewed, [illegible] could [illegible] haue [illegible] of it, if [illegible] not bene thus shewed.

2 The vse of this doctrine is this, that all of vs [illegible] coupled and ioyned together with Christ by faith, might become the sonnes [illegible] in which thing onely consisteth all happinesse. 3 Nowe he entreth [illegible] question, whereby we may vnderstande that wee are ioyned together with [illegible] to wit, if wee be gouerned with his light, which is perceiued by the orde[illegible] of our life. And thus he reasoneth. God is in himselfe most pure light, there[illegible] agreeth well with them, which are lightsome, but with them that are [illegible] hee hath no fellowship. ✝ Iohn 8.12. d God is sayde to be light [illegible] owne nature, and to bee in light, that is to say, in that euerlasting infinite bles[illegible]: and wee are sayde to walke in light, in that the beames of that light doe shine [illegible] vs in the Worde. 4 A digression or going from the matter he is in hand with, to the remission of sinnes: for this our sanctification which walke in the light, is a testimonie of our ioyning and knitting together with Christ: but because this our light is very darke, wee must needes obteine an other benefite in Christ, to wit, that our sinnes may be forgiuen vs being sprinkled with his blood: and this in conclusion is the proppe and stay of our saluation. ✝ Hebrewes 9.28. 1.peter 1.19 reuelati.1.5. 5 There is none but needeth this benefite, because there is none that is not a sinner. ∵ 1.Kings 8.46. 2.chron.6.36. prouerbes 20.9. e This place doeth fully refute that perfitnesse and workes of supererogation which the Papists dreame of. f So then, Iohn speaketh not thus for modestie sake, as some say, but because it is so in deede. 6 Therefore the beginning of saluation is to acknowledge our wickednesse, and to require pardon of him who freely forgiueth all sinnes, because hee hath promised so to doe, and hee is faithfull and iust. g So then our saluation hangeth vpon the free promes of God, who because hee is faithfull and iust, will performe that which hee hath promised. h Where are then our merites? for this is our true felicitie. 7 A rehearsall of the former sentence, wherein he condemned all of sinne without exception: in so much that if any man perswade himselfe otherwise, he doeth as much as in him lieth, make the worde of God himselfe vaine and to no purpose, yea he maketh God a liar: for to what ende either in times past needed sacrifices, or nowe Christ and the Gospel, if wee be not sinners? i They doe not onely deceiue themselues, but are blasphemous against God. k His doctrine shall haue no place in vs: that is, in our heartes.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth that Christ is our Mediatour and aduocate, 3 and sheweth that the knowledge of God consisteth in holinesse of life, 12 which appertaineth to all sorts, 14 that depend on Christ alone: 15 Then hauing exhorted them to contemne the worlde, 18 Hee giueth warning that antichristes be auoyded, 24 and that the knowen trueth be stoode vnto.

1 MY [1] litle children, these things write I vnto you, that ye sinne not: and if any man sinne, wee haue an [a] Aduocate with the Father, Iesus Christ, the Iust.

2 And he is the [b] reconciliation for our sinnes: and not for ours onely, but also for the sinnes of the [c] whole world.

3 [2] And hereby we are sure that we [d] knowe him, [e] if we keepe his commaundements.

4 [3] He that saith, I knowe him, and keepeth not his commaundements, is a liar, and the trueth is not in him.

5 [4] But hee that keepeth his worde, in him is the [f] loue of God perfect in deede: hereby wee knowe that ye are in [g] him.

6 [5] He that saith he remaineth in him, ought euen so to walke, as he hath walked.

7 [6] Brethren, I write no newe commaundement vnto you: but an olde commaundement, which ye haue had from the beginning: this olde commaundement is that worde, which yee haue heard from the beginning.

8 [7] Againe, a new comandement I write vnto you, that [h] which is true in him, and also in you: for the darkenes is past, & that true light now shineth.

9 [8] He that saith that he is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darkenesse, vntill this time.

10 ✝ Hee that loueth his brother, abideth in that light, & there is none occasion of euill in him.

11 But hee that hateth his brother, is in darkenesse, and walketh in darkenesse, and knoweth not whither hee goeth, because that darkenesse hath blinded his eyes.

12 [9] Litle children, [i] I write vnto you, because your sinnes are forgiuen you for his [k] Names sake.

1 It foloweth not hereof that wee must giue our wicked nature the bridle, or sinne so much the more freely, because our sinnes are clensed away by the blood of Christ, but wee must rather so much the more diligently resist sinne. And yet we must not despaire because of our weaknes, for we haue an aduocate and a a purger, Christ Iesus the iust, and therefore acceptable vnto his Father.

a In that hee nameth Christ, he shutteth forth all other.

b Reconciliation and intercession goe together, to giue vs to vnderstand that he is both aduocate and hie Priest.

c For men of all sortes, of all ages, and all places, so that this benefite belongeth not to the Iewes only, of whom he speaketh as appeareth, vers.7 but also to other natiōs

2 He returneth to the testimonie of our coniunction with God, to wit, to sanctification, declaring what it is to walke in the light, to wit, to keepe Gods commaundements. Whereby it followeth that holines doeth not consist in those things which men haue deuised, neither in a vaine profession of the Gospell. d Thus must be vnderstoode of such a knowledge as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge. e For the tree is knowen by the fruite. 3 Holinesse, that is, a life ordered according to the prescript of God commaundements, howe weake soeuer wee be, is of necessitie ioyned with faith, that is, with the true knowledge of the Father in the Sonne. 4 He that keepeth Gods commandements loueth God in deede: He that loueth God, is in God, or is ioyned together with God. Therefore hee that keepeth his commaundements, is in him. f Wherewith wee loue God. g Hee meaneth our coniunction with Christ. 5 He that is one with Christ, must needs liue his life, that is, must walke in his steps. 6 The Apostle going about to expound the commaundement of Charitie one towards another, telleth first, that when he vrgeth holines, he bringeth no new trade of life (as they vse to doe which deuise traditions one after another) but putteth them in minde of that same lawe which God gaue in the beginning, to wit, by Moses, at that time that God began to make Lawes to his people. 7 He addeth, that that doctrine in deede is olde but it is nowe after a sort new, both in respect of Christ, and also of vs: in whom he through the Gospel, engraueth his Law effectually, not in tables of stone, but in our mindes. h Which thing (to wit, that the doctrine is new which I write vnto you) is true in him, & in you. 8 Nowe he commeth to the second table, that is, to charitie one towards another, and denieth that that man hath true light in him, or is in deede regenerate and the sonne of God, which hateth his brother: and such an one wandereth miserably in darkenes, brag he of neuer so great knowledge of God, for that wittingly and willingly hee casteth himselfe headlong into hell. ✝ Chap.3.14. 9 He returneth againe from sanctification to remission of sinnes, because that free reconciliation in Christ is the ground of our saluation, whereupon afterwards sanctification must be built as vpon a fundation. i Therefore I write vnto you, because you are of their number whom God hath reconciled to himselfe. k For his owne sake: And in that he nameth Christ, he shutteth out all other, whether they be in heauen or earth.

13 [10] I write

10 He sheweth that this doctrine agreeth to all ages, and first of all speaking to old men, he sheweth that Christ and his doctrine are passing ancient, and therefore if they be delited with olde things, nothing ought to be more acceptable vnto them.

11 He aduertiseth yong men, if they be desirous to shew their strength, that they haue a most glorious combate set here before them, to wit, Satan the worst enemie, who must be ouercome: willing them to be as sure of the victorie, as if they had already gotten it.

12 Finally, hee sheweth to children, that that true Father from whom they haue to looke for all good things, is set forth vnto them in the Gospel.

13 He addeth afterward in like order, as many exhortations: as if he should say, Remember, you Fathers, as I wrote euen nowe, that

13 [10] I write vnto you, fathers, because ye haue knowen him that is from the beginning. [11] I write vnto you, yong men, because yee haue ouercome that wicked one. [12] I write vnto you, litle children, because ye haue knowen the Father.
14 [13] I haue written vnto you, fathers, because ye haue knowen him, that is from the beginning.
I haue written vnto you, yong men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye haue ouercome that wicked one.
15 [14] Loue not this [l] world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man loue this world, the [m] loue of the Father is not in him.
16 For all that is in this worlde (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this world.
17 [15] And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth euer.
18 [16] [n] Litle children, [17] it is the last time, [18] and as yee haue heard that Antichrist shall come, euen nowe are there many Antichrists: whereby wee know that it is the last time.
19 [19] They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, [o] they should haue cotinued with vs. [20] But this commeth to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs.
20 [21] But yee haue an [p] oyntment from that [q] Holy one, and know all things.
21 [22] I haue not written vnto you, because yee know not the trueth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the trueth.
22 [23] Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Iesus is [r] that Christ? the same is that Antichrist that denyeth the Father and the Sonne.
23 [s] Whosoeuer denyeth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father.
24 [24] Let therefore abide in you that same which ye haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, ye also shall continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.
25 And this is the promes that he hath promised vs, euen that eternall life.
26 [25] These things haue I written vnto you, concerning them that deceiue you.
27 But that [t] anoynting which yee receiued of him, dwelleth in you: and ye [u] neede not that any man teache you: but as the same [x] Anoynting teacheth you of all things, and it is true, and is not lying,
and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.
28 [26] And now, litle children, abide in him, that when hee shall appeare, we may be bolde, and not be ashamed before him at his comming.
29 [27] If ye know that he is righteous, knowe ye that he which doeth righteously, is borne of him.

the euerlasting Sonne of God is reueiled to vs. Remember yee yong men, that that strength whereby I said that you put Satan to flight, is giuen you by the word of God which dwelleth in you. 14 The world which is full of wicked desires, lustes, or pleasures, and pride, is vtterly hated of our heauenly Father. Therefore the Father and the worlde cannot bee loued together: and this admonition is very necessary for greene and florishing youth. l He speaketh of the worlde, as it agreeth not with the will of God, for otherwise God is saide to loue the world with an infinite loue, John 3.16, that is to say, those whome he chose out of the world. m Wherewith the Father is loued. 15 He sheweth how much better it is to obey the Fathers wil, then the lusts of the world, by both their natures and vnlike euent. 16 Now hee turneth himselfe to litle children, which notwithstanding are well instructed in the summe of religion, and willeth them by diuers reasons to shake off slouthfulnes, which is too too familiar with that age. n Hee vseth this word (Litle) not because he speaketh to children, but to allure them the more by vsing such sweete wordes. 17 First, because the last time is at hand, so that the matter suffereth no delay. 18 Secondly, because Antichrists, that is, such as fall from God are already come, euen as they heard that they should come And it was very requisite to warne that vnheedy and warilesse age of that danger. 19 A digression against certaine offences and stumblings blocks whereat that rude age especially might stumble and be shaken. Therefore that they should not be terrified with the foule falling backe of certaine, first he maketh plaine vnto them, that although such as fall from God and his religion had place in the Church, yet they were neuer of the Church: because the Church is the company of the elect, which cannot perish, and therefore cannot fall from Christ. o So then the elect can neuer fall from grace. 20 Secondly, hee sheweth that these things fall out to the profit of the Church, that hypocrites may be plainely knowen. 21 Thirdly, he comforteth them to make them stand fast, insomuch as they are anointed of the holy Ghost with the true knowledge of saluation. p The grace of the holy Ghost: and this is a borowed kinde of speach taken from the oyntings vsed in the Lawe. q From Christ who is peculiarly called Holy. 22 The taking away of an obiection. He wrote not these things as to men which are ignorant of religion, but rather as to them which doe wel know the trueth, yea so farre forth that they are able to discerne trueth from falsehood. 23 He sheweth now plainly the false doctrine of the Antichrists, to wit, that either they fight against the person of Christ, or his office, or both together and at once And they that do so, do in vaine boast and bragge of God, for that in denying the Sonne, the Father also is denied. r Is the true Messias. s They then are deceiued themselues, and also doe deceiue others, which say that the Turkes and other infidels worship the same God that we doe. 24 The whole preaching of the Prophets and Apostles is contrary to that doctrine: Therefore it is vtterly to bee cast away, and this wholy to be holden and kept, which leadeth vs to seeke eternall life in the free promes, that is to say, in Christ alone, who is giuen vs of the Father.

25 The same Spirit which indueth the elect with the knowledge of the trueth and sanctifieth them, giueth them therewithall the gift of perseuerance, to continue to the ende. t The Spirit which you haue receiued of Christ, and which hath led you into all trueth. u You are not ignorant of those things, and therefore I teache them not as things that were neuer heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you do know. x He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith, and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that hee taketh nothing from the honour due to the holy Ghost. 26 The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise. 27 A passing ouer to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handleth the same matter after another order, for before he taught vs to go vp from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, he goeth downe frō the causes to the effects. And this is the summe of this argument: God is the fountaine of all righteousnes, and therefore they that giue themselues to righteousnes, are knowen to be borne of him, because they resemble the Father.

CHAP. III.

1 Setting downe the inestimable glory of this, that wee are Gods sonnes, 7 hee sheweth that newnes of life must bee testified by good workes, whereof Charitie is a manifest token, 19 Of faith, 22 and praying vnto God.

BEholde, [1] [a] what loue the Father hath giuen to vs, that wee should bee [b] called the sonnes of God: [2] for this cause this world knoweth you not,
because it knoweth not him.
2 [3] Dearely beloued, nowe are we the sonnes of God, but yet it is not made manifest what wee shall be: and we know that when he shalbe made manifest, we shalbe [c] like him: for we shall see him [d] as he is.
3 [4] And euery man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himselfe, euen [e] as he is pure.
4 [5] Whosoeuer [f] committeth sinne, transgresseth also the Lawe: for [g] sinne is the transgression of the Lawe.
5 [6] And ye knowe that he was made manifest, that he might ✠ take away our sinnes, and in him is no sinne.
6 Whosoeuer abideth in him, sinneth not:
whosoeuer [h] sinneth, hath not seene him, neither hath knowen him.
7 [7] Little children, let no man deceiue you:
hee that doeth righteousnesse, is righteous, as hee

1 He be[illegible] to decla[illegible] greatne[illegible] Father[illegible] Sonne[illegible] high[illegible] wit, [illegible] loue[illegible] w[illegible] vs, [illegible] dop[illegible] his [illegible] a H[illegible] how [illegible] b That [illegible] be the [illegible] God, [illegible] the world [illegible] cri[illegible] we [illegible] 2 Before [illegible] clareth [illegible] tion, he [illegible] things: the [illegible] that this [illegible] dignitie is [illegible] he esteeme[illegible] ding to the iudgement of the flesh, because it is vnknowen to the worlde, for the worlde knoweth not God the Father himselfe. 3 The other: This dignitie is not fully made manifest to vs our selues, much lesse to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, insomuch that we shalbe like to the Sonne of God himselfe, and shal enioy his sight in deede, such as he is now, but yet notwithstanding this is deferred vntil his next comming. c Like but not equall. d For now we see as in a glasse, 1 Cor. 13.12. 4 Now he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope,) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoeuer is made the sonne of God, endeuoureth to resemble the Father in puritie. e This word signifieth a likenes, but not an equalitie. 5 The rule of this puritie can from no whence els be taken but from the Law of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sinne. f Giueth not himselfe to puritie. g A short definition of sinne. 6 An argument taken from the materiall cause of our saluation: Christ in himselfe is most pure, and he came to take away our sinnes, by sanctifying vs with the holy Ghost. Therfore whosoeuer is truely partaker of Christ, doth not giue himself to sinne, & contrarywise he that giueth himselfe to sinne, knoweth not Christ. ✠ Isai. 53.6,9,11. 1 pet. 2.22,24. h He is said to sinne, that giueth not himselfe to puritie, and in him sinne reigneth, but sinne is said to dwell in the faithfull and not to reigne in them. 7 Another argument of things coupled together: Hee that liueth iustly, is iust, and resembleth Christ that is iust, and by that is knowen to be the sonne of God.

8 [8]He that ✠ committeth sinne, is of the [l] deuil:
for the deuill [k] sinneth from the [l] beginning: for this purpose was made manifest that Sonne of God, that he might loose the workes of the deuill.

9 Whosoeuer is borne of God, sinneth not: for his [m] seede remaineth in him, neither can he sinne, because he is borne of God.

10 [9]In this are the children of God knowen, and the children of the deuill: whosoeuer doeth not righteousnesse, is not of God, [10] neither he that lo-ueth not his brother.

11 [11]For this is the message, that ye heard from the beginning, that ✠ we should loue one another,

12 [12] Not as [n] Cain which was of that wicked one, and slewe his brother: [13] and wherefore slewe he him? because his owne workes were euil, and his brothers good.

13 Marueile not, my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 [14]We [o] knowe that we are translated from death vnto life, because we loue the brethren: ✠ he that loueth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 [15]Whosoeuer hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and ye knowe that no manslayer hath eter-
nall life abiding in him.

16 ✠ [16]Hereby haue wee perceiued loue, that he layde downe his life for vs: therefore we ought also to lay downe our liues for the brethren.

17 * [17]And whosoeuer hath this [p] worldes good, and seeth his brother haue neede, and [q] shut-teth vp his compassion from him, howe dwelleth the loue of God in him?

18 [18]My little children, let vs not loue in worde, neither in tongue onely, but in deede and in trueth.

19 [19]For thereby we know that we are of the trueth, [20] and shall before him assure our hearts.

20 For [r] if our heart condemne vs, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 [21] Beloued, if our heart condemne vs not,
then haue we boldnesse toward God.

22 ✠ [22] And whatsoeuer we aske we receiue of him, because wee keepe his commaundements, and doe those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 ✠ This is then his commaundement, That wee beleeue in the Name of his Sonne Iesus Christ, and loue one another as he gaue commandement.

24 ∵ For he that keepeth his commandements, dwelleth in him, and hee in him: and hereby wee knowe that hee abideth in vs, euen by that [f] Spirite which he hath giuen vs.

8 An argument taken of contraries: The deuil is the authour of sinne, and therefore he is of the deuil, or is ruled by the inspiration of the deuil, that serueth sinne: and if he be the deuils sonne, then is he not Gods sonne: for the deuil and God are so contrary the one to the other, that euen the Sonne of God was sent to destroy the workes of the deuil. And thereupon followeth the contrary: Hee that loueth his brother, hath passed to life, for in deede we are borne dead. ✠ Iohn 15.13. ephes.5.2. 16 Nowe he sheweth howe farre Christian charitie extendeth, euen so farre, that according to the example of Christ, euery man forget himselfe, to prouide for and helpe his brethren. * Luke 3. 11. 17 He reasoneth by comparisons: for if wee are bound euen to giue our life for our neighbours, howe much more are we bound to helpe our brothers necessitie with our goods and substance? p Wherewith this life is sustained. q Openeth not his heart to him, nor helpeth him willingly and cheerefully. 18 Christian charitie standeth not in words but in deed, and proceedeth from a sincere affection. 19 He commendeth charitie by a triple effect: for first of all, by it we knowe that we are in deede the sonnes of God, as he shewed before. 20 Thereof it commeth that wee haue a quiet conscience, as on the contrary side he that thinketh that he hath God for a iudge, because he is guiltie to himselfe, either he is neuer or els very rashly quiet, for God hath a farre quicker sight then we, and iudgeth more seuerely. r If an euill conscience conuinceth vs, much more ought the iudgement of God condemne vs, who knoweth our hearts better then we our selues doe. 21 A thirde effect also riseth of the former, that in these miseries we are sure to be heard, because we are the sonnes of God as we vnderstand by the grace of sanctification, which is proper to the elect.

✠ Matth.21.22. iohn 15.7. and 16. 23. chap.5.14. 22 The conclusion: That faith in Christ, and loue one towards another are things loyned together, and therefore the outward testimonies of sanctification must and doe answere that inward testimonie of the Spirit giuen vnto vs. ✠ Iohn 6.29. and 17.3. ∵ Iohn 13.34. and 15.10. f He meaneth the Spirit of sanctification, whereby we are borne anewe and liue to God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hauing spoken somewhat touching the trying of spirits: 4 For some speake after the world, 5 and some after God: 7 He returneth to charitie, 11. 19 and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly loue.

Dearely [1] beloued, beleeue not euery [a] spirite, but trie the spirites whether they are of God:
for many false prophetes are gone out into this world.

2 [2] Hereby shall ye knowe the Spirit of God, [b] Euery spirit which confesseth that [c] Iesus Christ is come in the [d] flesh, is of God.

3 And euery spirit that confesseth not that Ie-sus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whome yee haue heard, how that he should come, and nowe already he is in this world.

4 [3] Litle children, ye are of God, and haue o-uercome them: for greater is he that is in you, then he that is in this world.

5 [4] They are of this worlde, therefore speake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

6 [5] Wee are of God, ✠ he that knoweth God, heareth vs: he that is not of God, heareth vs not.
Hereby know we the [e] spirit of trueth, and the spirit of errour.

7 [6] Beloued, let vs loue one another: [7] for loue commeth of God, and euery one that loueth, is borne of God, and knoweth God.

8 He that loueth not, knoweth not God: [8] for God is [f] loue.

1 Taking occasion by the name of the Spirit, least loue and charitie should be separated from the worship of God, which chiefly dependeth of his true knowledge, he returneth to that which he spake of in the second chapter touching the taking heede of Antichrists. And he wil haue vs here to take heede of two things, the one is, that seeing there bee many false prophets, wee doe not lightly giue credit to euery man: the other is, that because many men teach false things, we should not therefore beleeue any. Wee must then obserue a meane, that wee may bee able to discerne the Spirits of God which are altogether to be followed, from impure spirits which are to be eschewed. a Thus is spoken by the figure Metonymie, and it is as if hee had saide, Beleeue not euery one that sayeth that hee hath a gift of the holy Ghost to doe the office of a Prophet. 2 Hee giueth a certaine and perpetuall rule to knowe the doctrine of Antichrist by, to wit, if either the diuine or humane nature of Christ, or the true vniting of them together be denied: or if the least iote that may bee, be derogated from his office who is our onely King, Prophet, and euerlasting hie Priest. b Hee speaketh simply of the doctrine, and not of the person. c The true Messias. d Is true man. 3 Hee comforteth the elect with a most sure hope of victorie: but yet so, that he teacheth them that they fight not with their owne vertue, but with the vertue and power of God. 4 Hee bringeth a reason why the worlde receiueth these teachers more willingly then the true: to wit, because they breathe out nothing but that which is worldly: which is another note also to know the doctrine of Antichrist by. 5 Hee testifieth vnto them, that his doctrine and the doctrine of his fellowes, is the assured worde of God, which of necessitie wee haue boldly to set against all the mouthes of the whole world, and thereby discerne the trueth from falsehoode. ✠ Iohn 8.47. e True Prophets, against whome are set false prophetes, that is, such as erre themselues, and leade other into errour. 6 Hee returneth to the commending of brotherly loue and charitie. 7 The first reason: Because it is a very diuine thing, and therefore very meete for the sonnes of God: so that whosoeuer is voyde of it, can not bee saide to knowe God aright. 8 A confirmation: for it is the nature of God to loue men, whereof wee haue a most manifest proofe aboue all other, in that that of his onely free and infinite good will towardes vs his enemies, hee deliuered vnto death, not a common man, but that his owne Sonne, yea his onely begotten Sonne, to the ende that wee being reconciled through his blood, might bee made partakers of his euerlasting glorie. f In that hee calleth God, Loue, hee sayeth more then if hee had sayde that he loueth vs infinitely.

✠ Iohn.3.16.
9 An other reason by comparison: If God so loued vs, shall not we his children loue one another?
✠ Iohn.1.18.
1.tim.6.16.
10 A third reason: Because God is inuisible, therefore by this effect of his Spirit, to wit, by charitie, he is vnderstood, yea and to be not out of vs, but ioyned with vs and in vs, in whō he is so effectually working.
g Is surely in vs in deede, and in trueth, 11 He vnderlayeth this charitie with an other foundation, to wit, faith in Iesus, which ioyneth vs in deed with him, euen as charitie witnesseth that we are ioyned with him. Furthermore he testifieth of Christ, as who had seene him with his eies.
h With such a confession as commeth from true faith, and is accompanied with loue, so that there be an agreement of all things.

9 ✠ Herein was that loue of God made manifest amongst vs, because God sent that his onely begotten sonne into this world, that we might liue through him.
10 Herein is that loue, not that we loued God, but that he loued vs, and sent his Sonne to be a reconciliation for our sinnes.
11 [9] Beloued, if God so loued vs, we ought also to loue one another.
12 ✠ [10] No man hath seene God at any time.
If wee loue one another, God dwelleth in vs, and his loue is g perfect in vs.
13 Hereby know we, that we dwel in him, and he in vs: because he hath giuen vs of his Spirit.
14 [11] And we haue seene, & doe testifie, ŷ the Father sent ŷ Sonne to be ŷ Sauiour of the world.
15 Whosoeuer h confesseth that Iesus is the Sōne of God, in him dwelleth God, & he in God.
16 And wee haue knowen, & beleeued ŷ loue that God hath in vs. [12] God is loue, and he that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God, & God in him.
17 [13] Herein is that loue perfect in vs, that we should haue boldnes in the day of iudgment: for i as he is, euen so are we in this world.
18 There is no k feare in loue, but perfect loue casteth out feare: for feare hath painefulnesse: and he that feareth, is not perfect in loue.
19 [14] We loue him, because he loued vs first.
20 [15] If any man say, I loue God, and hate his brother, he is a liar: [16] for how can he that loueth not his brother whome hee hath seene, loue God whom he hath not seene?
21 ∵ [17] And this cōmandement haue we of him, that he ŷ loueth God, should loue his brother also.

12 A fourth reason: God is the fountaine and welspring of charitie, yea charitie it selfe: therefore whosoeuer abideth in it, hath God with him. 13 Againe (as a litle before) he commendeth loue, for that seeing that by our agreement with God in this thing, we haue a certaine testimonie of our adoption, it commeth thereby to passe that without feare we looke for that latter day of iudgement, so that trembling, and that torment of conscience is cast out by this loue. i This signifieth a likenes, not an equalitie. k If we vnderstand by loue, that we are in God, and God in vs, that we are sonnes, and that we know God, and that euerlasting life is in vs: he concludeth aright, that we may well gather peace and quietnesse thereby. 14 Lest any man should thinke that that peace of conscience proceedeth from our loue as from the cause, he goeth backe to the fountaine, to wit, to the free loue wherewith God loueth vs although we deserued and do deserue his wrath. And hereof springeth another double charitie, which both are tokens and witnesses of that first, to wit, that, wherwith we loue God who loued vs first, and then for his sake our neighbours also. 15 As hee shewed that the loue of our neighbour cannot be separate from the loue wherewith God loueth vs, because this last engendreth the other: so hee denieth that the other kind of loue wherewith wee loue God, can be separate from the loue of our neighbour: whereof it followeth, that they lie impudently which say they worship God, and yet regard not their neighbours. 16 The first reason taken of comparison, why wee cannot hate our neighbour, and loue God, to wit, because that he that cannot loue his brother, whome he seeth, how can he loue God whome he seeth not? ∵ Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 17 A second reason, why God cannot bee hated and our neighbour loued, because the selfe same Lawmaker commanded both to loue him and our neighbour.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee sheweth that brotherly loue and faith are things inseparable: 10 And that there is no faith towards God, but by beleeuing in Christ: 14 Hence proceedeth calling vpon God with assurance, 16 and also that our prayers bee auaileable for our brethren.

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, shewing how both those loues come into vs, from that loue wherewith

WHosoeuer [1] beleeueth that Iesus is that a Christ, is borne of God: and euery one that loueth him, which begate, loueth b him also which is begotten of him.
2 [2] In this we know that we loue the children

God loueth vs, to wit, by Iesus our Mediatour laid hold on by faith in whom we are made the children of God, & do loue the Father of whom we are so begotten, and also our brethren which are begotten with vs. a Is the true Messias. b [illegible] he meaneth all the faithfull. 2 The loue of our neighbour doth so hang vpon [illegible] loue wherewith we loue God, that this last must needes go before ŷ first: whereof it followeth, that that is not to be called loue when men agree together to do euill, neither that, when as in louing our neighbours, we respect not Gods commandements.

of God, when we loue God, and keepe his c com-mandements.
3 [3] For this is the loue of God, that wee keepe his commandements: [4] and his ✠ commandements are not d burdenous.
4 [5] For all that is borne of God, ouercommeth this worlde: [6] and this is that victorie that e hath ouercome this world, euen our f faith.
5 ✠ [7] Who is it that ouercommeth this world, but he which beleeueth that Iesus is that Sonne of God?
6 [8] This is that Iesus Christ that came by water and blood: [9] not by water onely, but by water and blood: and it is that g Spirit, that beareth witnesse: for that Spirit is trueth.
7 For there are three, which beare recorde in heauen, the Father, the h Worde, and the holy Ghost: and these three are i one.
8 And there are three, which beare record in the earth, the spirit, and the water and the blood:
and these three agree in one.
9 [10] If wee receiue the witnesse of men, the witnesse of God is greater: for k this is the witnesse of God, which he testified of his Sonne.
10 ∵ [11] He that beleeueth in that Sonne of God, hath the witnes in himselfe: he that beleeueth not God, hath made him a lyar, because hee beleeued not ŷ record, that God witnessed of that his Sonne.
11 [12] And this is that record, to wit, that God hath giuen vnto vs eternall life, and this life is in that his Sonne.
12 He that hath that Sonne, hath ŷ life: and he that hath not ŷ Sonne of God, hath not that life.
13 [13] These things haue I written vnto you,

c There is no loue where there is no true doctrine.
3 The reason for to loue God, is to keepe his commandements, which being so, and seeing that both the loues are commanded of one and the selfe same Lawmaker, (as he taught before) it foloweth also, that we doe not loue our neighbour, when we breake Gods commandements.
4 Because experience teacheth vs that there is no abilitie in our flesh, neither yet will to performe Gods commandements, therefore least the Apostle should seeme, by so often putting them in mind of the keeping of the commandements of God, to require things that [illegible]

✠ Mat.11.30. d To them that bee regenerate, that is to say, borne [illegible] led by the Spirit of God, and are through grace deliuered from the curse [illegible] 5 A reason: Because by regeneration we haue gotten strength [illegible] world, that is to say, whatsoeuer striueth against the commande[illegible] 6 Hee declareth what that strength is, to wit, faith. e He [illegible] past, to giue vs to vnderstand, that although wee bee in the battell, [illegible] shalbe conquerours, and are most certaine of the victorie. f [illegible] mentall cause, and as a meane and hand whereby we lay holde on him [illegible] performe this, that is, hath and doth ouercome the worlde, euen Chri[illegible] 15.57. 7 Moreouer hee declareth two things, the one, what [illegible] wit, that which resteth vpon Iesus Christ the Sonne of God alone [illegible] loweth the other, to wit, that this strength is not proper to faith, [illegible] an instrument is drawen from Iesus Christ the Sonne of God. [illegible] the excellencie of Christ in whome onely all things are giuen vs, [illegible] three heauenly, and three earthly, which wholy and fully agree [illegible] uenly witnesses are, the Father who sent the Sonne, the Worde [illegible] came flesh, and the holy Ghost. 14 [14] [illegible] is that assurance, that we haue in him, ✝ that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.
15 And if we know that he heareth vs, whatsoeuer we aske, we know that we haue the petitions, that we haue desired of him.
16 [15] If any man see his brother sinne a sinne that is not vnto death, let him [l] aske, and he shall giue him life for them that sinne not vnto death.
✝ There is a sinne vnto death: I say not that thou shouldest pray for it.
17 [16] All vnrighteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne not vnto death.
18 [17] We know ẏ whosoeuer is borne of God, sinneth not: but he ẏ is begotten of God, keepeth himselfe, and that wicked one toucheth him not.
19 [18] Wee know that wee are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesse.
20 But we know ẏ that Sonne of God is ✝ come, &hath giuen vs a mind to know him, which is true:
&we are in him ẏ is true, that is, in ẏ his Sône Iesus Christ: this same is ẏ very [m] God and ẏ eternal life.
21 [19] Litle children keepe your selues from idoles, Amen.

14 Because we do not yet in effect obteine that which we hope for, the Apostle ioyneth inuocation or prayer with faith, which he will haue to proceede from faith, and moreouer to be conceiued in such sort, that nothing be asked but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and such prayers cannot bee vaine. ✝ Chap.3.22. 15 We haue to make prayers not onely for our selues, but also for our brethren which doe sinne, that their sinnes be not vnto them, to death: and yet he excepteth that sinne which is neuer forgiuen, or the sinne against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an vniuersall & wilful falling away from the knowen trueth of the Gospel. l This is as much as if he said, let him desire the Lord to forgiue him, and he will forgiue him being so desired. ✝ Matth.12.31. marke 3.29.

16 The taking away of an obiection: In deede all iniquitie is comprehended vnder the name of sinnes but yet we must not despaire therefore, because euery sinne is not deadly, and without hope of remedie. 17 A reason why not all may rather why no sinne is mortall to some: to wit, because they be borne of God, that is to say, made the sonnes of God in Christ, and being indued with his Spirit, they doe not serue sinne, neither are deadly wounded of Satan. 18 Euery man must particularly applie to himselfe the generall promises, that we may certainely perswade our selues, that whereas all the worlde is by nature lost, we are freely made the sonnes of God, by the sending of Iesus Christ his sonne vnto vs, of whom we are lightened with the knowledge of the true God and euerlasting life. ✝ Luke 24.45. m The diuinitie of Christ is most plainely prooued by this place. 19 He expresseth a plaine precept of taking heede of idoles: which he setteth against the onely true God, that with this seale as it were he might seale vp all the former doctrine.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 This Epistle is written to a woman of great renowme, 4 who brought vp her children in the feare of God: 6 hee exhorteth her to continue in Christian Charitie, 7 that shee accompanie not with Antichristes, 10 but auoide them.

THE ELDER to the [a] elect
[b] Lady, and her children, [1] whome I loue in the trueth: and not I onely, but also all that haue knowen the trueth,
2 For the trueths sake which dwelleth in vs, and shalbe with vs for euer:
3 Grace be with you, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ the Sonne of the Father, with [c] trueth and loue.
4 [2] I reioyced greatly, that I founde of thy children walking in [d] trueth, as we haue receiued a commandement of the Father.
5 And nowe beseeche I thee, Lady, (not as writing a newe commaundement vnto thee, but that same which we had from the beginning) that we ✝ loue one another.
6 And this is that loue, that we should walke
after his commaundements. This commandement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, ye should walke in it.
7 [3] For many deceiuers are entred into this worlde, which confesse not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh. Hee that is such one, is a decei-uer and an Antichrist.
8 [4] [e] Looke to your selues, that wee lose not the things which we haue done, but that wee may receiue a full reward.
9 Whosoeuer transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. Hee that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, hee hath both the Father and the Sonne.
10 [5] If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, ✝ receiue him not to house, neither bid him, God speede:
11 For he that biddeth him, God speede, is partaker of his euill deedes. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet I woulde not write with paper & ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, & speake mouth to mouth, ẏ our ioy may be full.
12 The sonnes of thine elect sister greete thee,
Amen.

[illegible] proper [illegible] to be ta[illegible] [illegible] is to [illegible] Ladie. [illegible] pro[illegible] [illegible] one towards another which the Lord hath commanded, and also es[illegible] wholesome and sounde doctrine, which also is deliuered vnto vs: for [illegible] commandement of God is a sounde and sure foundation both of the rule of [illegible] of doctrine, and these cannot bee separated the one from the other. [illegible] as the trueth directeth them. ✝ Iohn 15.12.

3 Antichristes fighting against the person and office of Christ, were alreadie crept into the Church, in the time of the Apostles. 4 He that maketh shipwracke of doctrine, loseth all. e Beware, and take good heede. 5 We ought to haue nothing to doe with them that defende peruerse doctrine. ✝ Rom.16.17.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 Hee commendeth Gaius for hospitalitie, 9 and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vaine glory: 10 hee exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the ende commendeth Demetrius.

THE [1] Elder vnto the beloued Gaius, whome I loue in the trueth.
2 Beloued, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and faredst well as thy soule prospereth.
3 For I reioyced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the trueth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the trueth.
4 I haue no greater ioy then [a] these, that is, to heare that my sonnes walke in veritie.
5 Beloued, thou doest [b] faithfully, whatsoe-uer thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers, 6 Which bare witnesse of thy loue before the Churches. Whom if thou [c] bringest on their iour-ney as it beseemeth according to God, thou shalt doe well,
7 Because that for his Names sake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.
8 We therefore ought to receiue such, that we might be [d] helpers to the trueth.
9 [2] I wrote vnto the Church: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence among them, receiueth vs not.
10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance his deedes which he doeth, pratling against vs with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither he himself receiueth the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.
11 Beloued, followe not that which is euill, but that which is good: he that doeth well, is of God:
but he that doeth euill, hath not [e] seene God.

1 An example of a Christian gratulation.
a When these ioyne. b As becommeth a beleeuer and a Christian. c He commendeth to Gaius, either those selfe same men whom hee had entertained before, returning nowe againe to him, about the affaires of the Church, or els some other which had like businesse.

d That we our selues may helpe somewhat to the preaching of the trueth. 2 Ambition and couetousnesse two pestilent plagues (especially in them which haue any Ecclesiasticall function) are condemned in Diotrephes person. e Hath not knowen God.

12 Demetrius

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men,and of the trueth it selfe : yea , and we our selues beare record, and ye know that our record is true.
13 I haue many things to write: but I will not with yncke and pen write vnto thee: 14 For I trust I shall shortly see thee, & we shal speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greete the friends by name.

THE GENERALL EPISTLE OF IVDE.

1 Hee warneth the godly to take heede of such men, 4 that make the grace of God a cloke for their wantonnesse: 5 and that they shall not scape vnpunished, for the contempt of that grace, 6. 7 hee prooueth by three examples: 14 and alledgeth the prophecie of Enoch: 20 Finally he sheweth the godly a meane, to ouerthrowe all the snares of those deceiuers.

IVde a seruaunt of Iesus Christ , and [a] brother of Iames , to them which are called and sanctified [b] of God the Father , and [c] returned to Iesus
Christ:
2 Mercie vnto you , and peace and loue be multiplied.
3 [1] Beloued, when I gaue al diligence to write vnto you of the [d] common saluation,it was neede-full for me to write vnto you to exhort you , that ye should earnestly [e] contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was [f] once giuen vnto the Saintes.
4 [2] For there are certaine men crept in,which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation : [3] vngodly men they are which turne the grace of our God into wantonnesse,and ✠ denie God the onely Lord,and our Lord Iesus Christ.
5 [4] I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as ye once knew this,how that ẏ Lorde,
after that he had deliuered ẏ people out of Egypt, ✠ destroyed them afterward which beleeued not.
6 [5] The ∵ Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation,he hath reserued in euerlasting chaines vnder darkenesse vnto the iudgement of the great day.
7 As ⁑ Sodom and Gomorrhe,and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, [g] committed fornication , and followed [h] strange flesh, are set foorth for an ensample , and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire.
8 Likewise notwithstanding these [i] sleepers also defile the flesh, [6] and despise [k] gouernement,and speake euill of them that are in authoritie.
9 [7] Yet Michael the Archangel , when hee stroue against the deuill , and disputed about the body of Moses , durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.
10 [8] But these speake euill of those thinges, which they knowe not:and whatsoeuer things they know naturally , as beasts, which are without reason,in those things they corrupt themselues.
11 [9] Wo be vnto them: for they haue followed the way ✠ of Cain , and are cast away by the deceit ✠ of Balaams wages , and perish in the gainesaying ∵ of Core.
12 [10] These are rockes in your [l] feasts of charitie when they feast with you, without [m] all feare, feeding themselues: ⁑ cloudes they are without water, caried about of windes, corrupt trees & without fruit, twise dead, and plucked vp by the rootes.
13 They are the raging waues of the sea, foming out their owne shame : they are wandring starres, to whom is reserued the [n] blackenesse of darkenes for euer.
14 And Enoch also the seuenth from Adam, prophecied of such, saying, ⁂ Beholde, the Lorde [o] commeth with thousands of his Saints, 15 To giue iudgement against all men , and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of all their cruell speakings, which wicked sinners haue spoken against him.
16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lustes: ⁂ Whose mouthes speake proud things , hauing mens persons in admiration, because of aduantage.
17 [11] But , ye beloued , remember the wordes which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ,
18 How that they tolde you that there should be mockers ✠ in the last time, which should walke
after their owne vngodly lustes.
19 [12] These are they that separate themselues from other, naturall, hauing not the Spirite.
20 But, ye beloued , edifie your selues in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost, 21 And keepe your selues in the loue of God, looking for the mercie of our Lorde Iesus Christ,
vnto eternall life.
22 [13] And haue compassion of some, in putting difference:
23 And other saue with [p] feare , pulling them out of the fire, & hate euen that [q] garment which is spotted by the flesh.
24 [14] Now vnto him that is able to keepe you, that ye fall not,and to present you faultlesse before the presence of his glory with ioy, 25 That is, to God onely wise , our Sauiour, be glorie, and maiestie, & dominion, and power, both nowe and for euer, Amen.

a This is put to make a difference betweene him and Iudas Iscarioth.
b By God the Father.
c Set apart by the euerlasting counsell of God, to be deliuered to Christ to be kept.
1 The ende and marke whereat he shooteth in this Epistle, is that he confirmeth the godly against certaine wicked men, both in wholesome doctrine and good maners.
d Of those things that pertaine to the saluation of all of vs.
e That ye shoulde defend the faith by all the might you can, both by true doctrine, and good example of life.
f Which was once so giuen, that it may neuer be changed.
2 It is by Gods prouidence and not by chance, that many wicked men creepe into the Church.
3 He condemneth this first in them, that they take a pretence or occasion to waxe wanton, by the grace of God : which can not be , but the chiefe empire of Christ must be abrogated, in that such men giue vp themselues to Satan, as at this day the sect of Anabaptistes doeth, which they call Libertines. ✠ 2.Pet.2 1. 4 Hee setteth foorth the horrible punishment of them which haue abused the grace of God to followe their owne lustes. ✠ Numb.14.37. 5 The fall of the Angels was most seuerely punished, how much more then will the Lord punish wicked and faithlesse men? ∵ 2.Pet.2.4. ⁑ Gen.19.24. g Following the steppes of Sodome and Gomorrhe. h Thus hee couertly setteth foorth their horrible and monstrous lustes. i Which are so blockish and void of reason, as if all their senses and wittes were in a most dead sleepe. 6 Another most pernitious doctrine of theirs, in that they take away the authoritie of Magistrates, and speake euill of them, as at this day the Anabaptists doe. k It is a greater matter to despise gouernment then the gouernours , that is to say, the matter it selfe then the persons.
7 An argument of comparison : Michael one of the chiefest Angels , was content to deliuer Satan, although a most accursed enemie , to the iudgement of God to be punished : and these peruerse men are not ashamed to speake euill of the powers which are ordeined of God. 8 The conclusion: These men are in a double fault, to witte , both for their rash folie in condemning some, and for their impudent and shamelesse contempt of that knowledge , which when they had gotten, yet notwithstanding they liued as brute beasts, seruing their bellies.

9 He foretelleth their destruction, because they resemble or shewe forth Cains shamelesse malice, Balaams filthie couetousnesse, and to be short, Cores seditious and ambitious head.

¶ I HAVE NOT THOVGHT GOOD TO PVT FORTH ANY such thing as yet, vpon the Reuelation, as I haue vpon the former bookes: notwithstanding I liked well to set downe in the meane season that, that I wrote a fewe yeeres since, concerning the authoritie of this booke. And this is it.

Because some men haue of long time doubted of the authoritie of this booke, I will in fewe wordes confute those arguments, which are commonly brought to this purpose, and after shewe mine owne opinion, and what I thinke. And I will recite the arguments in such order, as Erasmus hath painfully and diligently gathered them together: whose iudgement seemeth to me so vncertaine in this point (as it is also in many other) that no man readily tell what opinion he was of, saue that after much adoe, hee seemeth to bende this way, that hee is of opinion, that this booke is of some authoritie, though not of so good as the rest of the bookes are which we receiue without any gainesaying. Therefore let vs heare what hee saieth. Hierome witnesseth, sayeth hee, that the Grecians in his time did not receiue the Reuelation. Dorotheus Bishop of Tyrus, and a Martyr, in his abbridgement of liues recordeth that Iohn wrate his Gospell in the Ile of Pathmos, but maketh no mention of this booke. Athanasius a Grecian in his catalogue doeth not say that this is Iohns worke. Dionysius of Alexandria, as Eusebius reporteth his wordes, in the seuenth booke of his Ecclesiasticall historie, thinketh that this booke was written of some other Iohn, who was a godly man. Eusebius himselfe so citeth this booke in diuers places of his historie, that hee doeth not flatly vouche it be Iohns: but alleageth one Caius that was a good Christian in the fourth booke of his historie, who sayeth it was written of one Cerinthus an heretike. Let this be the first argument which I answere in this sort. If wee weigh the reasons that mooued those men to reiect this booke, then wee shall see howe vndeseruedly they did it. Againe as some did reiect it, so did the most part receiue it: in so much that Epiphanius reckeneth them amongest heretikes that did reiect it: as for Iustine the Philosopher, and Irene Bishop of Lions which were both Martyrs, and did not onely allowe it, but also wrote commentaries vpon it, I will not speake of them. As for that that is alledged of Dorotheus, it is to no great purpose, for that hee is thought to reiect it, because he spake not of it. As touching Athanasius, Erasmus himselfe witnesseth that it is doubtfull whether that worke be his or no. Concerning Dionysius wee will weigh by and by what hee saieth, when wee come to consider of his reasons. As for Caius (what man so euer hee was) hee is easilie to bee refuted euen by Dionysius his wordes in the third booke of the Ecclesiasticall historie. As for Eusebius I make no account of him, for there are none learned, but finde want of iudgement in him. Nowe let vs come to the other argument. Hierome writeth (saieth hee) that certaine very well learned men founde great fault and spake sharpely against the whole matter of this booke, as though there were nothing in it worthie the grauitie of an Apostle, but onely a common historie of things shadowed with certaine darke figures and hard kinde of speaches. And moreouer that in the very sentences themselues there was nothing that becommed the grauitie of an Apostle. Which I answere in this sort: What learned men so euer these were, they are greatly to be blamed, in that they durst be so bolde to speake euill of that booke, which no doubt is very short, if those things bee excepted, which are translated words for words out of the Prophetes. Basil, Gregorie, Cyril, Epiphanius, Irene, Hippolite, as Aretas witnesseth, were not of this iudgement, which thought not onely as Dionysius of Alexandria did, that some godly man wrote this booke, but also plainely vouched it to be Iohn the Apostle, which no doubt they woulde neuer haue done, if they had founde no resemblance of the grauitie of an Apostle in it. And whether of these shall I count for the better learned? whether these men, which haue giuen recorde both of their singular godlinesse, and excellent learning by publishing many workes, or those men rather, whose onely names are scarcely heard of: and the reason they vse, giue sufficient proofe howe learned they were? They say there appeared no grauitie in this writer, and yet hee hath taken euery whit almost worde for worde out of the Prophetes: they say hee hath put downe a common historie. But howe can that be, seeing (a fewe things onely except) hee maketh no relation of things past, but foretelleth things to come? And therefore they doe not onely not speake that, that is trueth, but not so much as any piece or resemblance of trueth.

Nowe let vs come to the third argument: Hee is very curious (saith one) in setting downe his owne name, as though hee should indite an obligation, and not write a booke, which is not onely not vsed of any of the Apostles, but is also vnaccustomed of himselfe: for in his Gospell where hee entreateth a great deale more modest matters, then these are, hee neuer nameth himselfe, but onely poynteth it out by some such markes as these, the disciple whom Iesus loued. And Paul when hee is enforced to speake of his Reuelation setteth out the matter vnder an other mans person. And yet this man, while hee describeth the secrete conference which hee had with Angels, had neuer done with these kinde of wordes, I Iohn. This reason mooued Dionysius of Alexandria to thinke, that some other man wrote this booke. But what weake, and slender coniectures are these? litle did these good men consider, that it was one thing to write an historie, and an other to set downe a prophecie: for the trueth of an historie hangeth not so much vpon the credite of the writer, as vpon other circumstances: but a prophecie, because it foretelleth things to come, standeth vpon the authoritie of him that reueileth it, and his that preacheth it, so that it is of necessitie to giue vs to vnderstande, both from whence the forewarning came, and who reuealed it, and who wrote it. Whereupon wee see, that not onely in the beginning of prophecies, but also almost in euery vision, there is nothing so curiously set downe as the Name of God who spake it, and the name of the Prophete who wrote it. Take for example, onely the Prophete Ieremie, who maketh mention of his name, at the least an hundred times. And so was it requisite for him to doe, that hee might not seeme to seeke lurking corners to hide himselfe in as the false prophetes did. And what? doe wee not finde from the seuenth Chapter of Daniel, that almost in euery vearse hee repeateth his owne name, and sayeth, I Daniel? And howe oft doeth Esay repeate these wordes, Esay the sonne of Amos? But Iohn did not so in his Gospell. I graunt: for hee wrote an historie, wherein that befell him, which befell to none other of the disciples: for hee was occasioned to speake many things of himselfe. Nay, Paul also did not so: In deede he did not so, in any place where hee handled not his visions purposely, but whensoeuer hee toucheth the excellencie of his ministerie, howe boldely and howe magnifically doeth hee call himselfe that Paul which was appointed to be an Apostle, not of men, nor by men, but by Iesus Christ? And howe? when hee reporteth those his great combates, doeth he take vpon him another mans person? Nay let vs goe further: Iohns name is not to be found (vnlesse I be deceiued in my reckoning) aboue fiue times in all this worke: and those wordes (I Iohn) but onely thrise, to witte, chap.1. verse 9. and yet with an explication added to it, which may suffice abundantly to put away all suspition of pride: and againe, chap.21.verse 2. and chap.22.verse 8. in both which places hee reporteth onely simplie what he sawe, to the ende that no man might doubt of the trueth of his prophecie. Therefore, to make an ende of this reason in fewe wordes, that argument which Dionysius maketh, is not onely vaine, but also argueth want of skill, and is in deede very slanderous: nay, I may say more, and say truely (without any malice to any as the Lorde is witnesse) that this was too vnaduisedly spoken, where hee sayeth, that the Euangelist is as curious in his often repeating of Iohn, as if he had bene writing an obligation, and no booke.

Nowe to the fourth argument: In all the Greeke copies that I haue seene, sayeth hee, it was not intituled the Reuelation of Iohn the Euangelist, but, of Iohn the diuine, which is sufficient to prooue it was Iohn the Euangelist: for all that are learned knowe that hee was by excellencie, and by a prerogatiue as it were, called by this name the Diuine, of all the olde writers, because neuer man wrote so plainely and diuinely of the diuinitie of Christ as hee did. As for the other Iohn, who I thinke was a counterfaite, was not called by this excellent name Diuine, but an Elder.

Nowe for the vnlikenesse of his stile, and speach, which that Dionysius of Alexandria prooueth by three reasons as Nicephorus recordeth, Eccles. lib.6.cap.23. first by the whole course and nature of his wordes, secondly, that where as the Gospell and Catholike Epistle of Iohn, agree in very many pointes, this booke hath not one worde like. Lastly, because Iohn had an excellent gift of speach, but this man is very clownish, barbarous, and tripped oft in his language. To the first I answere, that in so diuers a matter, it is no marueile, to see so diuers a kinde of stile: for in the historie of the Gospell, and in the Epistles, though hee spake as hee was mooued by the holy Ghost, yet he spake what his minde led him: and here he is but the writer of such thinges as hee heard and were deliuered him: In the other he somewhat maketh report of the historie, and sometime teacheth, but in this he speaketh of things to come, and in such order of wordes as hee is appointed: And shall wee marueile then that he vseth not one selfe same kinde of sentences? Nay, what writer was there euer that was tied so short? are not many things deliuered to him in the very wordes of the olde Prophetes, euen in the same that Ezechiel, Daniel, Zacharie, Esai, and other spake withall, by the direction of the selfe same Spirite, which spake the selfe same in them in oldetime? And therefore it is no maruaile that hee vseth not so refined a kinde of speach, as happily they woulde desire, seeing hee swarueth neither in speach, nor in characters, from the Prophetes which wrote in the Hebrewe tongue: and therefore there is lesse cause of suspition that it shoulde be any counterfeit worke slily crept into the Church.

Nowe remaineth the last argument, which seemeth to charge him that hee fauoureth the heresie of the Chiliastes, whereupon diuers thought that Cerinthus made this booke and fathered it vpon some of the Apostles. But for mine owne part, though I graunt that that the Chiliastes haue abused many testimonies out of this booke, yet I cannot yeelde to that, and thinke that some heretikes should make it, vnles some man be able to shewe me, that those places cannot fitly be taken in any other sense: or els what booke is there that [illegible] receiue? And that those places are otherwise to be taken, diuers learned men haue shewed long agoe: so that the like hath befallen this booke as did to the Epistle to the Hebrewes, which some men reiected very obstinately, because it seemed to make for the Nouatians: whereas in deede they ought rather to haue accused their owne ignorance. Moreouer, seeing Cerinthus had many other mad and wicked opinions, as that hee denied that God made the world, and taught that Christ was borne of Marie, and Ioseph, as all other men are borne, and maketh Christ, and Iesus two distinct persons: howe commeth it to passe that he sprinkled none of his foule holy water amongst the rest in this booke? But he was so farre from so doing, that contrariwise there may be diuers arguments taken out of this booke against those errours: so that it may appeare by this one reason, that Cerinthus was not the authour of this booke. And againe, whereas hee speaketh of the thousand yeeres, hee mentioneth no one iote of those things, which Cerinthus so impudently chatted of. For where is there any mention of that ryote which Cerinthus talketh of? where is that eating? drinking? where are those marriages and pastimes? where are the sacrifices and holy dayes which should be kept at Hierusalem? Therefore this is a vaine and a foolish argument. And seeing these things are so, though I would stiffely stand in contention for the authours name, yet I rather iudge it to be Iohn the Apostle, then any other mans: For besides that it appeareth to be very auncient, and the learnedst and the godliest of the olde Fathers doubt not, but it was Iohns.

These coniectures also leade me to thinke so: for that I finde none of those dayes to whom either prophecies so full of maiestie, or so honourable a name of a diuine, may be ascribed: and moreouer, that it sauoureth of the worthinesse an excellencie of and Apostle, to write to the Churches of Asia, and not to one Church: lastly, because those things which are here spoken of Pathmos, agree wholy with that which the old Fathers haue written with one consent, concerning Iohns banishment. And yet notwithstanding if it may be lawfull to coniecture by the kind of speach it selfe, I would thinke it to be no mans sooner then Markes, who was also called Iohn he is so like not only in words, but also in diuers kindes of speach, to the Gospel of S. Marke, in so much that these two bookes haue almost one kinde of character. As for the booke it selfe, though I confesse that these mysteries are as yet very darke to me, yet notwithstanding, seeing there appeareth in all partes of it a great maiestie of the spirit of prophecie, and the very steppes and sentences, yea and the wordes of the olde Prophets, seeing there are to be founde in it manifest and mightie testimonies, both of the Diuinitie of Christ, and also of our redemption: And last of all, seeing that part of those things are most manifestly come to passe, which were foretolde by him, as those things which he spake of the destruction of the Churches of Asia, and of the kingdome of the whore, which sitteth vpon seuen hilles, I am perswaded and thinke that the holy Ghosts meaning was to heape vp together, in this most precious booke, all such things, as by the forewarning of the old Prophets remained to be fulfilled after the comming of Christe and added also a fewe things, as he thought expedient for vs. I graunt they are very darke, but that is no strange thing in the Prophets writings, as especially in Ezechiels. But this is our fault, because we take not diligent heede to things but ouerslip those iudgements of Gods prouidence, which dayly are to be seene in his gouerning of the Church, by hauing our hearts too much set vpon our owne priuate affaires. To bee short, the Lord knoweth what, and howe farre it is expedient for vs to knowe, and therefore in times past, hee so disposed the light of his Prophets, as for his infinite wisedome he sawe it would be profitable for his Church. And therefore godly men haue to searche and wade in these mysteries with feare and reuerence so farre forth, as lawfully and profitably they may: and let all men reuerence the mysteries of God, which are comprehended in this booke, whether they know them, or know them not, rather then as many do, either mocke at them, or defile them with their fantasticall commentaries.

THE [a] REVELATION OF IOHN THE DIVINE.

a An opening of secret and hid thinges.

CHAP. I.

1 He declareth what kinde of doctrine is here handled, 8 euen his, that is the beginning and ending: 12 Then the mysterie of the seuen candlestickes and starres 20 is expounded.

THE reuelation of [b] Iesus Christ, which God gaue vnto him, to shewe vnto his seruants things which must shortly be done: which hee sent, and shewed by his Angel vnto his seruant Iohn,

2 Who bare record of ẏ word of God, & of the testimonie of Iesus Christ, and of all things ẏ he saw.

3 Blessed is he that readeth, and they that heare the wordes of this prophecie, and keepe those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4 Iohn, to the seuen Churches which are in Asia, Grace be with you, and peace from him, [c] Which ✠ is, and Which was, and Which is to come, & from the [d] seuen Spirits which are before his Trone,

5 And from Iesus Christ, which is that ✠ faithful witnes, and ∵ that first begotten of the dead, & that Prince of the Kings of the earth, vnto him that loued vs, & washed vs from our sinnes in his ✠ blood,

6 And made vs ✠ Kings and Priests vnto God euen his Father, to him I say be glory, and dominion for euermore, Amen.

7 Beholde, he commeth with * cloudes, and euery [e] eye shall see him: yea, euen they which pearced him thorowe: and all kinreds of the earth shall waile before him, Euen so, Amen.

8 I ✠ am [f] Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, Which is, and Which was, and Which is to come, euen the Almightie.

9 I Iohn, euen your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Iesus Christ, was in the yle called [g] Patmos, for the worde of God, & for the witnessing of Iesus Christ.

10 And I was rauished in [h] spirit on the [i] Lordes day, and heard behinde me a great voyce, as it had bene of a trumpet, 11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first and that last: & that which thou seest, write in a booke, and send it vnto the seuen Churches which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, and vno Smyrna, and vnto Pergamus, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea.

12 Then I turned backe to [k] see the voyce, that spake with me: and when I was turned, I sawe seuen golden candlestickes, 13 And in the middes of the seuen candlesticks, one like vnto the Sonne of man, clothed with a garment downe to the feete, and girded about the pappes with a golden girdle.

14 His head, & haires were white as white wooll, and as snowe, and his eyes were as a flame of fire,

15 And his feete like vnto fine brasse, burning as in a fornace: and his voyce as the sounde of many waters.

16 And he had in his right hand seuen starres: and out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sword: and his face shone as the sunne shineth in his strength.

17 And when I saw him, I fell at his feete as dead: then he laid his right hande vpon mee, saying vnto me, Feare not: I am that ✠ first and that last,

18 And am aliue, but I was dead: and beholde, I am aliue for euermore, Amen: and I haue the keyes of hell and of death.

19 Write the things which thou hast seene, and the things which are, & the things which shall come hereafter.

20 The misterie of the seuen starres which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seuen golden candlestickes, is this, The seuen starres are the [l] Angels of the seuen Churches: and the seuen candlestickes which thou sawest, are the seuen Churches.

CHAP. II.

1 Iohn is commaunded to write these things, which the Lord knewe necessarie to the Churches of Ephesus, 8 of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamus, 18 and of Thyatira, 25 that they keepe those things which they receiued of the Apostles.

VNto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus write,
These things saith hee that holdeth the seuen starres in his right hand, and walketh in the middes of the seuen golden candlestickes.
2 I knowe thy workes, and thy labour, and thy patience, and howe thou canst not beare with them which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, & are not,& hast found thẽ liars.
3 And thou wast burdened & hast patiẽce, and for my Names sake hast laboured & hast not fainted 4 Neuertheles, I haue somewhat [a] against thee, because thou hast left thy first loue.
5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first workes: or els I will come against thee shortly, & will remooue thy candlesticke out of his place, except thou amend.
6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the works of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.
7 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spi-
rite saith vnto the Churches, To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in the middes of the [b] Paradise of God.
8 ¶ And vnto the Angel of the Church of the [c] Smyrnians write, These things saith he that is first, and last, which was dead and is aliue.
9 I knowe thy workes and tribulation, and pouertie (but thou art riche) and I knowe the blasphe-mie of them, which say they are Iewes, and are not,
but are the Synagogue of Satan.
10 Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to passe, that the deuill shall cast some of you into prison, that yee may be tryed, and ye shall haue tribulation tenne dayes:
be thou faithfull vnto the death, and I will giue thee
the crowne of life.
11 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches. He that ouercommeth, shall not be hurt of the second death.
12 And to the Angel of the Church, which is at [d] Pergamus write, This saith hee which hath that sharpe sworde with two edges.
13 I knowe thy workes and where thou dwel-lest, euen where Satans throne is, and thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my faith, euen in [e] those dayes when Antipas my faithfull martyr was slaine among you, where Satan dwelleth.
14 But I haue a fewe things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintaine the doctrine of ✠ Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling blocke before the children of Israel, that they should [f] eate of things sacrificed vnto Idoles, and commit fornication.
15 Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.
16 Repent thy selfe, or els I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sworde of my mouth.
17 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spi-
rite saith vnto the Churches. To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the [g] Manna that is hid, and will giue him a [h] white stone, and in the stone a newe name written, which no man knoweth sauing he that receiueth it.
18 ¶ And vnto ÿ Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine brasse.
19 I knowe thy workes and thy loue, and [i] seruice, and faith, and thy patience, and thy workes, and that they are mo at the last, then at the first.
20 Notwithstanding, I haue a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Iezabel, which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teache and to de-ceiue my seruants to make them commit [k] fornication, and to eate meates sacrificed vnto idoles.
21 And I gaue her space to repent of her fornication, and she repented not.
22 Beholde, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.
23 And I wil kill her children with death: and all the Churches shall know that I am he which ✠ search the reines and heartes: and I will giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your workes.
24 And vnto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, As many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowen the [l] deepenesse of Satan (as they speake) I will [m] put vpon you none other burden, 25 But that which ye haue alreadie, hold fast till I come.
26 For he ÿ ouercommeth & keepeth my workes vnto the end, to him will I giue power ouer nations, 27 ✠ And he shall rule them wͭ a rodde of yron:
and as the vessels of a potter, shall they bee broken.
28 Euen as I receiued of my Father, so wil I giue him the morning starre.
29 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spi-rite saith to the Churches.

CHAP. III.

1 The first Epistle sent to the Pastours of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 and of the Laodiceans, 16 that they be not luke warme, 20 but endeuour to further Gods glorie.

ANd write vnto the Angel of the Church which is at [a] Sardis, These things saith he that hath the seuen Spirits of God, and the seuen starres, I knowe thy workes: for thou hast a [b] name that thou liuest, but thou art dead.
2 Bee awake, and strengthen the things which remaine, that are [c] readie to die: for I haue not found thy workes perfite before God.
3 Remember therefore, how thou hast receiued and heard, & hold fast & repent. ∵ If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a thiefe, and thou shalt not knowe what houre I will come vpon thee.
4 Notwithstanding thou hast a fewe names yet in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garments: and they shall walke with mee in white: for they are [d] worthy.
5 Hee that ouercommeth shalbe clothed in white aray, and I will not put out his name out of the ✠ booke of life, but I will confesse his name before my Father, and before his Angels.
6 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spi-
rite saith vnto the Churches.
7 ¶ And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia, These things saith hee that is Holy, and True, which hath the [e] keye of Dauid, which openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth
and no man openeth, 8 I knowe thy workes: beholde, I haue set before thee an open doore, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a litle strength and hast kept my worde, and hast not denied my Name.

rit saith vnto the Churches.

twentie Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crownes of golde.
5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings,

2 And I sawe a strong Angell which preached and to loose the seales thereof?

3 And no man in heauen, nor in earth, neither ther to looke thereon.

4 Then I wept much, because no man was found

Lambe, hauing euery one harps & golden vials full of odours, which are the [a] prayers of the Saintes, 9 And they sung a [b] new song, saying, Thou art worthie to take the Booke, and to open the seales thereof, because thou wast killed, and hast redeemed

11 Then I beheld, and I heard the voyce of many Angels rounde about the throne, and about the beastes and the Elders, and there were ※ [c] ten thousand times ten thousand, and thousand thousands, 12 Saying with a loude voice, Worthie is the Lambe ẏ was killed to [d] receiue power, & riches, & wisdome, & strength, & honour, & glory, and praise.

13 And

13 And al the creatures which are in heauen, and on the earth, and vnder the earth, and in the sea, and all that are in them, heard I, saying, Praise, & honour, and glory, and power be vnto him, that sitteth vpon
the throne, and vnto the Lambe for euermore.
14 And the foure beasts said, Amen, & the foure and twentie Elders fell downe and worshipped him that liueth for euermore.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lambe openeth the first seale of the booke, 3 the seconde, 5 the third, 7 the fourth, 9 the fifth, 12 and the sixth, and then arise murders, famine, pestilence, outcries of Saints, earthquakes, and diuers strange sights in heauen.

AFter, I beheld when the Lambe had opened one of the seales, & I heard one of the foure beastes say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.
2 Therefore I beheld, & loe, there was a white horse, and he that sate on him, had a bowe, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and he went forth conquering that he might ouercome.
3 And when he had opened the second seale, I heard the second beast say, Come and see.
4 And there went out an other horse, that was red, & power was giuen to him that sate thereon, to take peace from ẏ earth, & that they should kill one another, & there was giuen vnto him a great sword.
5 And when hee had opened the third seale, I heard the third beast say, Come and see: Then I beheld, and loe, a blacke horse, & he that sate on him, had balances in his hand.
6 And I heard a voyce in the middes of ẏ foure beastes say, A a measure of wheate for a penie, and three measures of barly for a peny, & oyle, and wine hurt thou not.
7 And when hee had opened the fourth seale, I heard the voice of the fourth beast say, Come & see.
8 And I looked, and beholde, a pale horse, and his name that sate on him was Death, and Hell folowed after him, & power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sworde, and with hunger, and with death, and with beastes of the earth.
9 And when hee had opened the fifth seale, I sawe vnder the altar the soules of them, that were killed for the worde of God, and for the testimonie which they mainteined.
10 And they cried with a loud voyce, saying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! doest not thou iudge and auenge our blood on them that dwell on
the earth?
11 And long white robes were giuen vnto euery one, and it was saide vnto them, that they shoulde rest for a litle season vntill their fellowe seruants, and their brethren that shoulde be killed euen as they were, were b fulfilled.
12 And I behelde when he had opened the sixt seale, and loe, there was a great earthquake, and the sunne was as blacke as c sackecloth of haire, and the moone was like blood.
13 And the starres of heauen fell vnto the earth, as a figge tree casteth her greene figges, when it is shaken of a mightie winde.
14 And heauen departed away, as a scroule, when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and yle were moo-ued out of their places.
15 And the Kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe captaines, and the mighty men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hid themselues in dennes, & among the rockes of the mountaines,
16 And said to the mountaines [illegible]ks, ✠ Fal on

CHAP. VII.

1 The Angels comming to hurt the earth, 3 are staied vntill the Elect of the Lord 5 of all tribes were sealed. 13 Such as suffered persecution for Christes sake, 16 haue great felicitie, 17 and ioy.

ANd after that, I sawe foure Angels stand on the a foure corners of the earth, holding the foure windes of the earth, that the winds should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree.
2 And I sawe another Angel come vp from the East, which had the seale of the liuing God, and he cried with a loude voyce to the foure Angels to whõ power was giuen to hurt the earth, & the sea, saying, 3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the sea, neither the trees, till we haue sealed the seruants of our God in their foreheads.
4 And I heard the number of them, which were sealed, and there were sealed an hundreth and foure and fourtie thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.
5 Of the tribe of Iuda were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Ruben were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed twelue thousand.
6 Of the tribe of Aser were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Nephthali were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Manasses were sealed twelue thousand.
7 Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of b Leui were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Issachar were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were sealed twelue thousand.
8 Of the tribe of c Ioseph were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Beniamin were sealed twelue thousand.
9 After these things I behelde, and loe a great multitude, which no man could number, of all natitions and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stoode before the throne, and before the Lambe, clothed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.
10 And they cried with a loud voice, saying, Sal-uation commeth of our God, that sitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.
11 And all the Angels stoode rounde about the throne, and about the Elders, and the foure beastes, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God,
12 Saying, Amen. Praise, and glory, and wisdome, and thankes, and honour, and power, and might be vnto our God for euermore, Amen.
13 And one of the Elders spake, saying vnto me,
What are these which are arayed in lõg white robes?
and whence came they?
14 And I saide vnto him, Lorde, thou knowest.
And he saide to me, These are they, which came out of great tribulation, and haue washed their long robes, and haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.
15 Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serue him d day and night in his Temple, and he that sitteth on the throne, will dwell

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the seuenth seale, 3 the Saints prayers are offered vp with odours. 6 The seuen Angels come foorth with trumpets. 7 The foure first blowe, and fire falleth on the earth, 8 the sea is turned into blood, 10, 11 the waters waxe bitter, 12 And the starres are darkened.

AND when he had opened the seuenth seale, there was silence in heauen about halfe an houre.
2 And I sawe the seuen Angels, which [a] stoode before God, and to them were giuen seuen trumpets.
3 Then another Angel came and stoode before the altar hauing a golden censer, and much odours was giuen vnto him, that hee shoulde offer with the prayers of all Saints vpon the golden altar, which is before the throne.
4 And the smoke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints, [b] went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.
5 And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake.
6 Then the seuen Angels, which had the seuen trumpets, prepared themselues to blow the trumpets.
7 So the first Angel blewe the trumpet, and there was haile and fire, mingled with blood, & they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene grasse was burnt.
8 And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the thirde part of the sea became blood.
9 And the thirde part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the thirde part of shippes were destroyed.
10 Then the third Angel blew the trumpet, and there fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torche, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.
11 And the name of the starre is called worme-wood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.
12 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the thirde part of the sunne was smitten, and the thirde part of the moone, and the thirde part of the starres, so that the thirde part of them was darkened:
and the day was smitten, that the thirde part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.
13 And I behelde, and heard one Angel flying through the middes of heauen, saying with a loude voyce, Wo, wo, wo to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the soundes to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets.

a Which appeare before him as his ministers.

b Our prayers are nothing worth, vnlesse that true and sweete sauour of that onely oblation be especially and before all things with them, that is to say, vnlesse we being first of all iustified through faith in his Sonne, be acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. IX.

1 The fifth Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoyling locustes come out. 13 The sixt Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth foorth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankinde.

AND the fifth Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a starre fall from heauen vnto the earth, and to him was giuen the key of the [a] bottomlesse pit.
2 And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoke of the pit, as the smoke of a great fornace, and the sunne, and the ayre were darkened by the smoke of the pit.
3 And there came out of the smoke Locustes vpon the earth, and vnto them was giuen power, as the scorpions of the earth haue power.
4 And it was comanded them, that they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheads.
5 And to them was comanded that they should not kil them, but that they should be vexed fiue mo-neths, & that their paine should be as the paine that commeth of a scorpion, when he hath stung a man.
6 ✠ Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flie from them.
7 And the forme of the locustes was like vnto horses prepared vnto battel, and on their heads were as it were crownes, like vnto golde, and their faces were like the faces of men.
8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lyons.
9 And they had habbergions, like to habbergions of yron: & the sound of their wings was like the sound of charets whe many horses runne vnto battel.
10 And they had tailes like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men fiue moneths.
11 And they haue a King ouer them, which is the Angel of the bottomlesse pit, whose name in He-brewe is Abaddon, and in Greeke he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.
12 One woe is past, and beholde, yet two woes come after this.
13 ¶ Then the sixt Angel blew the trumpet, and I heard a voyce from the [b] foure hornes of the golden altar, which is before God, 14 Saying to the sixt Angel, which had the trumpet, Loose the foure Angels, which are bound in the great riuer Euphrates.
15 And the foure Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an houre, at a day, at a moneth, and at a yeere to slay the thirde part of men.
16 And the nomber of horsemen of warre were twentie thousand times ten thousand: for I heard the nomber of them.
17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, & them that sate on them, hauing firie habbergions, and of Iacinth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lyons: and out of their mouthes went foorth fire and smoke and brimstone.
18 Of these three was the thirde part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouthes.
19 For their power is in their mouthes, & in their tailes: for their tailes were like vnto serpents, and had heads, wherewith they hurt.
20 And the remnant of the men which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the workes of their handes that they should not worship deuils, and ✠ idoles of golde and of siluer, and of brasse, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither heare nor goe.
21 Also they repented not of their murther, and of their sorcerie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

1 Another Angel appeareth clothed with a cloude, 2 holding a booke open, 3 and crieth out. 8 A voyce from heauen commandeth Iohn to take the booke: 10 he eateth it.

AND I sawe another mightie Angel come downe from heauen, clothed with a cloude, and the raine bowe vpon his head, and his face was as the sunne, and his feete as pillars of fire.
2 And hee had in his hand a litle booke open, and he put his right foote vpon the sea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cried with a loude voyce,as when a lyon roareth:and when he had cried,seuen thunders vttered their voyces.
4 And whẽ the seuen thunders had vttered their voyces,I was about to write:but I heard a voyce frõ heauen saying vnto me,[a]Seale vp those things which the seuen thunders haue spoken,and write them not.
5 And the Angel which I sawe stand vpon the sea, and vpon the earth, [b]lift vp his hand to heauen, 6 And sware by him that liueth for euermore, which created heauen , and the things that therein are,and the earth,and the things that therein are,and the sea,and the things that therein are , that [c] time should be no more.
7 But in the dayes of the voyce of the seuenth Angel,when he shall beginne to blow the trumpet, euen the mysterie of God shalbe finished,as he hath declared to his seruants the Prophets.
8 And the voyce which I heard from heauen, spake vnto me againe,and said,Go and take the litle booke which is open in the hand of the Angel,which standeth vpon the sea and vpon the earth.
9 So I went vnto the Angel, and sayde to him, Giue me the litle booke.And he said vnto me,Take it,and eate it vp , and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shalbe in thy mouth as sweete as honie.
10 Then I tooke the litle booke out of ỹ Angels hand,and ate it vp,and it was in my mouth as sweete as hony: but whẽ I had eaten it my belly was bitter.

gaine among the people and nations , and tongu es,

1 The temple is commanded to be measured. 3 The Lord stirreth vp two witnesses 7 whom the beast murthereth, 9 and no man burieth them. 11 God raiseth them to life, 12 and calleth them vp to heauẽ. 13 The wicked are terrified 15 by the trumpet of the seuenth Angel: The resurrection, 18 and iudgement is described.

THen was giuen me a reede, like vnto a rod, and the Angel stoode by , saying, Rise and mete the Temple of God, and the altar , and them that worship therein.
2 But the [a] court which is without the temple [b] cast out, and mete it not : for it is giuen vnto the Gentiles , and the holy citie shall they treade vnder foote,two and fourtie moneths.
3 But I wil giue power vnto my two witnesses, and they shall prophecie a thousand two hundreth and threescore dayes,clothed in sackecloth.
4 These are two oliue trees , and two candlestickes, standing before the God of the earth.
5 And if any man wil hurt them,fire proceedeth out of their mouthes , and deuoureth their enemies:
for if any man wil hurt thẽ , thus must he be killed.
6 These haue power to shut heauen,that it raine
not in the dayes of their prophecying , and haue power ouer waters to turne them into blood , and to smite the earth with all maner plagues,as often as they will.
7 And when they haue [c] finished their testimonie, the beast that commeth out of the bottomlesse pit, shall make warre against them , and shall ouer-come them,and kill them.
8 And their corpses shall lie in the streetes of the great citie , which [d] spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where our Lorde also was crucified.
9 And they of the people and kinreds , and tongues, and Gentiles shall see their corpses three dayes and an halfe,and shal not suffer their carkeises to be put in graues.
10 And they that dwell vpon the earth,shall re-ioyce ouer them and be glad , and shall sende giftes one to another: for these two Prophets vexed them that dwelt on the earth.
11 But after three dayes and an halfe,the spirit of life comming from God , shall enter into them, and they shall stand vp vpon their feete : and great feare shall come vpon them which sawe them.
12 And they shall heare a great voyce from heauen, saying vnto them, Come vp hither. And they shall ascend vp to heauen in a cloude, and their enemies shall see them.
13 And the same houre shall there bee a great earthquake,and the tenth part of the citie shall fall, and in the earthquake shalbe slaine in nomber seuen thousand : and the remnant were sore feared , and [e] gaue glory to the God of heauen.
14 The second woe is past, and beholde,the third woe will come anon.
15 And the seuenth Angell blewe the trumpet, and there were great voyces in heauen, saying, The kingdomes of this worlde are our Lordes , and his Christes, and he shall reigne for euermore.
16 Then the foure and twentie Elders,which sate before God on their seates,fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God,
17 Saying, We giue thee thankes, Lorde God al-mightie, Which art, and which wast,and Which art shouldest destroy them, which destroy the earth.

1 A woman 2 appeareth trauailing with childe, 4 whose childe the dragon would deuoure, 7 but Michael ouercommeth him, 9 and casteth him out, 13 and the more hee is cast downe and vanquished,the more fiercely he exerciseth his subtilties.

ANd there appeared a great wonder in heauen:
A woman clothed with the sunne,& the moone was vnder her feete, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue starres.
2 And she was with childe, and cried trauelling in birth , and was pained ready to be deliuered.
3 And there appeared another wonder in heauẽ:
for beholde,a great red dragon hauing seuen heads,
and ten hornes,and seuen crownes vpon his heads: 4 And his taile drew the third part of the starres of heauen,and cast them to the earth. And the dragon stood before the woman,which was ready to be deliuered , to deuoure her childe , when shee had brought it foorth.
5 So shee brought foorth a man childe,which should rule all nations with a rod of yron: and that her childe was taken vp vnto God & to his throne.
6 And the woman fled into wildernes where she hath a place prepared of God,that they should feede her there a thousand, two hundreth and three score dayes.
7 And there was a battell in heauen, Michael and his Angels fought against the dragon , and the dragon fought and his angels.

8 But they preuailed not, neither was their a place found any more in heauen.

a They were cast out, so that they were neuer seene in heauen any more.

9 And the great dragon, that olde serpent, called the deuil and Satan, was cast out, which deceiueth all the world: hee was euen cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.
10 Then I heard a loude voyce in heauen, saying, Now is saluation, and strength, and the kingdome of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night.
11 But they ouercame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that worde of their testimonie, and they b loued not their liues vnto the death.

b He is said in the Hebrewe tongue, to loue his life, that esteemeth nothing more precious then his life: and on the other side, he is saide not to loue his life, who doubteth not to hazard it, when soeuer neede requireth.

12 Therefore reioyce, yee heauens, and yee that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the sea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.
13 And when the dragon sawe that hee was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man childe.
14 But to the woman were giuen two wings of a great egle, that she might flie into the wildernes, into her c place, where shee is nourished for a time, and times, & halfe a time, frō the presence of the serpent.

c Into that place which God had appointed for her.

15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that he might cause her to be caried away of the flood.
16 But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swalowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.
17 Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her seede, which keepe the cōmaundements of God, and haue the testimonie of Iesus Christ.
18 And I stoode on the sea sand,

CHAP. XIII.

1 The beast with many heads is described, 8 which draweth the most part of the worlde to idolatrie. 11 The other beast rising out of the earth, 15 giueth power vnto him.

AND I sawe a beast rise out of the sea, hauing seuen heads, and ten hornes, and vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and vpon his heades the name of blasphemie.
2 And the beast which I sawe, was like a Leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.
3 And I sawe one of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondred and folowed the beast.
4 And they worshipped the dragon which gaue power vnto the beast, & they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like vnto the beast? who is able to warre with him?
5 And there was giuen vnto him a mouth, that spake great thinges and blasphemies, and power was giuen vnto him, to doe two and fourtie moneths.
6 And he opened his mouth vnto blasphemie against God, to blaspheme his Name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heauen.
7 And it was giuen vnto him to make warre with the Saints, and to ouercome them, and power was gi-uen him ouer euery kinred, and tongue, and nation.
8 Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, shall worship him, whose names are not written in the booke of life of that Lambe, which was slaine from the beginning of the world.

led by a sworde: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints.
11 And I beheld another beast comming vp out of the earth, which had two hornes like the Lambe, but he spake like the dragon.
12 And hee did all that the first beast could doe before him, and he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.
13 And hee did great wonders, so that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men, 14 And deceiued them that dwel on the earth by the signes, which were permitted to him to doe in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did liue.
15 And it was permitted to him to giue a a spirite vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed.

a To giue life, as Iannes and Iambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

16 And hee made all, both small and great, riche and poore, free and bond, to receiue a b marke in their right hand or in their foreheads,

b The marke of the name of the beast.

17 And that no man might buy or sell, saue hee that had the marke, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.
18 Here is wisdome. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man, and his number is sixe hundreth threescore and sixe.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The Lambe standeth on mount Sion, 4 with his chaste worshippers. 6 One Angell preacheth the Gospell: 8 an other foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the thirde warneth that the beast bee auoyded. 13 A voyce from heauen pronounceth them happy who die in the Lorde. 16 The Lordes sickle is thrust into the haruest, 18 and into the vintage.

THen I looked, and loe, a Lambe stood on mount Sion, and with him an hundreth, fourtie and foure thousande, hauing his Fathers Name written in their foreheads.
2 And I heard a voyce from heauen, as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder:
and I heard the voyce of harpers harping with their harpes.
3 And they sung as it were a newe song before the throne, and before the foure beastes, and the Elders: and no man could learne that song, but the hun-dreth, fourtie & foure thousand, which were bought from the earth.
4 These are they, which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: these followe the Lambe whithersoeuer he goeth: these are bought from men, being the first fruites vnto God, and to the Lambe.
5 And in their mouthes was found no guile: for they are without spot before the throne of God.
6 ¶ Then I sawe another Angel flie in the mids
of heauen, hauing an euerlasting Gospel, to preache vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to euery nation, and kinred, and tongue, and people, 7 ✝ Saying with a loude voyce, Feare God, and ✝ Psal. 145. 6. giue glory to him: for the houre of his iudgement is come: and worship him that made ∵ heauen & earth, ∵ Actes 14. 15.
and the sea, and the fountaines of waters.
8 And there followed another Angell, saying, ✱ Isai. 21. 9. iere. 51. 8. chap. 18. 2.
✱ Babylon that great citie is fallen, it is fallen: for she made all nations to drinke of the wine of the a wrath of

a Of her fornication, whereby God was prouoked to wrath.

of her fornication.
9 ¶ And the third Angel followed them, saying with a loude voyce, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receiue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand,
10 The same shal drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, and he shal be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe.
11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend euermore: and they shall haue no rest day nor night, which worship the beast and his image, and whosoeuer receiueth the print of his name.
12 Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keepe the commaundements of God, and the faith of Iesus.
13 Then I heard a voice from heauen, saying vnto me, Write, The dead which die b in the Lord, are fully blessed. Euen so saith the Spirite: for they rest from their labours, and their c workes follow them.

b That is, for the Lord.

c By workes, is meant, the reward which followeth good workes.

14 ¶ And I looked, and beholde, a white cloude, and vpon the cloude one sitting like vnto the Sonne of man, hauing on his head a golden crowne, and in his hand a sharpe sickle.
15 And another Angell came out of the Temple, crying with a loude voyce to him that sate on the cloude, ✠ Thrust in thy sickle & reape: for the time is come to reape: for the ✠ haruest of the earth is ripe.

✠ Ioel 3. 13.
✠ Matt. 13.39.

16 And hee that sate on the cloude, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.
17 Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heauen, hauing also a sharpe sickle.
18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fire, and cryed with a loude cry to him that had the sharpe sickle, & sayd, Thrust in thy sharpe sickle, and gather the clusters of the vineyard of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.
19 And the Angel thrust in his sharpe sickle on the earth, and cut downe the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great wine presse of the wrath of God.
20 And the wine presse was troden without the citie, and blood came out of the wine presse, vnto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and sixe hundreth furlongs.

CHAP. XV.

1 The seuen Angels hauing the seuen last plagues. 3 They that conquered the beast, praise God. 6 To the seuen Angels, 7 seuen vials full of Gods wrath, are deliuered.

AND I sawe another signe in heauen, great and marueilous, seuen Angels, hauing the seuen last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.
2 And I saw as it were a glassie sea, mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victorie of the beast, and of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, stande at the glassie sea, hauing the harpes of God,
3 And they sung the song of Moses the a seruant of God, and the song of the Lambe, saying, Great and marueilous are thy works, Lord God almightie: iust and true are thy ✠ b wayes, king of Saints.
4 ✠ Who shall not feare thee, O Lorde, and glorifie thy Name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy iudgements are made manifest.

a Soo Moses called, for honors sake, as it is set forth, Deu. 34. 10.

b Thy doings.
✠ Iere. 10. 7.

5 And after that, I looked, and beholde, the Temple of the tabernacle of testimonie was open in heauen.
6 And the seuen Angels came out of the Temple, which had the seuen plagues, clothed in pure and bright linnen, and hauing their breastes girded with golden girdles.
7 And one of the foure beastes gaue vnto the seuen Angels seuen golden vials full of the wrath of God, which liueth for euermore.
8 And the Temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, til the seuen plagues of the seuen Angels were fulfilled.

CHAP. XVI.

2 and 17 The Angels powre out the seuen vials of Gods wrath giuen vnto them, and so diuers plagues arise in the worlde, 18 to terrifie the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great citie.

AND I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, saying to the seuen Angels, Go your wayes, and powre out the seuen vials of the wrath of God vpon
the earth.
2 And the first went and powred out his vial vp-on the earth: and there fel a noysome, and a grieuous sore vpō the men, which had the marke of the beast, and vpon them which worshipped his image.
3 And the second Angel powred out his vial vp-on the sea, and it a became as the blood of a dead man: and euery liuing thing died in the sea.

a It was turned into rotten and filthie blood, such as is in dead bodies.

4 And the third Angel powred out his vial vp-on the riuers and fountaines of waters, and they became blood.
5 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, thou art iust, Which art, and Which wast: and Holy,
because thou hast iudged these things.
6 For they shed the blood of the Saints, & Prophets, and therefore hast thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthy.
7 And I heard another out of the Sanctuarie say, Euen so, Lord God almightie, true and righteous are thy iudgements.
8 And the fourth Angel powred out his vial on the sunne, and it was giuen vnto him to torment men with heate of fire, 9 And men boyled in great heate, and blas-phemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer these plagues, and they repented not, to giue him glory.
10 And the fifth Angel powred out his vial vpon
the throne of the beast, and his kingdome waxed darke, and they gnawed their tongues for sorow, 11 And blasphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their sores, and repented not of their workes.
12 And the sixth Angel powred out his vial vp-on the great riuer Euphrates, and the water thereof dried vp, that the way of the kings of the East should be prepared.
13 And I sawe three vncleane spirites like frogs come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet.
14 For they are the spirits of deuils, working miracles, to goe vnto the Kings of the earth, and of the whole worlde, to gather them to the battell of that great day of God Almightie.
15 (✠ Beholde, I come as a theefe. Blessed is hee that watcheth and keepeth his garments, least hee walke naked, and men see his filthines)

✠ Chap 3.3. math.24.44. luke 12.39.

16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew Arma gedon.
17 ¶ And the seuenth Angel powred out his viall into the ayre: and there came a loude voyce out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, saying,

saying, It is done.
18 And there were voyces, and thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were vpon the earth, euen so mightie an earthquake.
19 And the great citie was deuided into three partes, and the cities of the nations fell: and that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, ✠to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fiercenesse of his wrath.
20 And euery yle fled away, and the mountaines were not [b] found.
21 And there fell a great haile, like [c] talents, out of heauen vpon the men, & men blasphemed God, because of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

✠ Iere. 25. 15.
b Appeared not: which the Hebrewes vtter after th[is] sort, were not, Gen. 5. 24.
c As it were about the weight of a talent: and a talent was threescore pound that is, sixe hundreth groates, whereby is signified a marueilous and strange kind of weight.

CHAP. XVII.

1 That great whore is described, 2 with whome the kings of the earth committed fornication. 6 She is drunken with the blood of Saints. 7 The mysterie of the woman and the beast that carieth her, expounded: 11 their destruction. 14 The Lambes victorie.

THen there came one of the seuen Angels, which had the seuen vials, and talked with me, saying vnto me, Come: I will shewe thee the [a] damnation of the great whore that sitteth vpon many waters, 2 With whome haue committed fornication the Kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.
3 So he caried me away into the wildernesse in the Spirit, and I sawe a woman sit vpon a [b] skarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemie, which had seuen heads, and tenne hornes.
4 And the woman was arayed in purple & skar-let, and gilded with golde, and precious stones, and pearles, and had a cup of gold in her hand, full of abominations, and filthines of her fornication.
5 And in her forehead was a name written, A mysterie, that great Babylon, that mother of whore-domes, and abominations of the earth.
6 And I saw ẏ woman drunken with the blood of Saintes, and with the blood of the Martyrs of IESVS: and when I sawe her, I wondred with great marueile.
7 Then the Angel saide vnto mee, Wherefore marueilest thou? I will shewe thee the misterie of that woman, and of that beast, that beareth her,
which hath seuen heads, and tenne hornes.
8 The beast that thou hast seene, was, and is not,
and shall ascend out of the bottomles pit, and shall goe into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth, shall wonder (whose names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of ẏ world) when they behold the beast that was, and is not, & yet is.
9 Here is the mind that hath wisdome. The [c] seuen heads, are seuen mountaines whereon the woman sitteth: they are also seuen Kings.
10 Fiue are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when he commeth he must continue a short space.
11 And the beast that was, and is not, is euen the eight, and is one of the seuen, and shal goe into destruction.
12 And the ten hornes which thou sawest, are tenne Kings, which yet haue not receiued a kingdome, but shal receiue power, as Kings at one houre with the beast.
13 These haue one minde, and shall giue their power, and authoritie vnto the beast.
14 These shall fight with the Lambe, and the Lambe shall ouercome them: ✠for he is Lorde of Lordes, and King of Kings: and they that are on his side called, and chosen, and faithfull.
15 And he said vnto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are people, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.
16 And the tenne hornes which thou sawest vp-on the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, & shall eate her flesh, and burne her with fire.
17 For God hath put in their heartes to fulfill his wil, and to do with one consent for to giue their kingdome vnto the beast, vntill the wordes of God be fulfilled.
18 And that woman which thou sawest, is that great citie, which reigneth ouer the kings of ẏ earth.

a The sentence that is pronounced against this harlot.
b A skarlet colour, that is, with a red and purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish clergie were so much delighted with this colour.
c Very children knowe, what that seuen hilled citie is, which is so much spoken of, and whereof Virgill thus reporteth. And compassed seuen towres within one wall: that citie it is, which when John wrate these things, had rule ouer the Kings of the earth: it was, and is not, and yet it remaineth to this day, but it is declining to destruction.
✠ Chap. 19. 16. 1. Tim. 6. 15.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The horrible destruction of Babylon is set out. 11. 16. 18 The marchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxuriousnesse of it, weepe, and waile: 20 But all the elect reioyce for that iust vengeance of God.

ANd after these things, I sawe another Angel come downe from heauen, hauing great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glorie, 2 And he cryed out mightily with a loud voyce, saying, ✠ It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great citie, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the holde of all foule spirits, & a cage of euery vncleane and hatefull birde.
3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the Kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the marchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.
4 And I heard another voyce from heauen say, Goe out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sinnes, and that ye receiue not of her plagues, 5 For her sinnes are [a] come vp into heauen, and God hath remembred her iniquities.
6 Rewarde her, euen as she hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her workes: and in the cup that she hath filled to you, fill her ẏ double.
7 In as much as she glorified her selfe, and liued in pleasuree, so much giue you to her torment & so-row: for she saith [b] in her heart, I sit being a queene, and am [c] no widowe, and shall [d] see no mourning.
8 Therefore shal her plagues come at [e] one day, death, and sorowe, and famine, and she shalbe burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord.
9 And the Kings of the earth shall bewayle her,
and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, and liued in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning, 10 And shall stand a farre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great citie Babylon, that mightie citie: for in one houre is thy iudgemẽt come.
11 And the marchants of the earth shall weepe and wayle ouer her: for no man byeth their ware any more.
12 The ware of golde, and siluer, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of silke, and skarlet, and of all maner of Thyne wood, and of all vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brasse, and of yron, and of marble, 13 And of cinnamom, and odours, & ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheate, and beastes, and sheepe, and horses, and charets, and seruants, and soules of men.

17 For in one houre so great riches are come to thee, and no craftesman, of whatsoeuer craft he be, shall be found any more in thee: and the sound of a milstone shalbe heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voyce of the bridegrome and of the bride shalbe heard no more in thee: for thy mar-chants were the great men of the earth: and with thine inchantments were deceiued all nations.
24 And in her was found the blood of the Pro phets, and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The heauenly company prayse God, for auenging the blood of his seruants, on the whore. 9 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lambes supper. 10 The Angell will not be worshipped. 11 The mightie King of Kings appeareth from heauen. 19 The battell, 20 wherein the beast is taken, 21 and cast into the burning lake.

AND after these things I heard a great voyce of a great multitude in heauen, saying, [a] Halleluiah, saluation, and glorie, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.
2 For true and righteous are his iudgements:
for he hath condemned that great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants shed by her hand.
3 And againe they saide, Hallelu-iah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore.
4 And the foure & twentie Elders, and the foure beastes fell down, and worshipped God that sate on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.
5 Then a voyce came out of the throne, saying, Prayse our God, all yee his seruants, and yee that feare him, both small and great.
6 And I heard like a voyce of a great multitude, and as the voyce of many waters, and as the voyce of strong thundrings, saying, Hallelu-iah: for the Lord that God that almightie God hath reigned.
7 Let vs be glad and reioyce, and giue glory to his wife hath made her selfe ready.

8 And to her was granted, that she should bee fine linnen is the [b] righteousnesse of Saintes.

b Good workes which are liuely testimonies of faith.

14 And the hostes which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horses, clothed with fine linnen

17 And I sawe an Angel stand in the sunne, who cryed with a loud voyce, saying to al the foules that did flie by the middes of heauen, Come, and gather your selues together vnto ye supper of ye great God, 18 That ye may eate the flesh of Kings, and the flesh of hie Captaines, and the flesh of mightie men, and the flesh of horses, & of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of small and great.
19 And I sawe the beast, and the Kings of the earth, and their hostes gathered together to make battel against him that sate on the horse, and against his armie.
20 But ye beast was taken, & with him that false prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued ye beasts marke, and them yt worshipped his image. These both were aliue cast into a lake of fire, burning wt brimstone.
21 And the remnant were slayne with the sword of him that sitteth vpon the horse, which commeth

CHAP. XX.

1 The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thousande yeeres: 8 Being loosed, he stirreth vp Gog and Magog that is priuie and open enemies, against the Saintes, 11 but the vengeance of the Lorde cutteth off their insolencie. 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

AND I sawe an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the keye of the bottomles pit, & a great chaine in his hand.
2 And he tooke the dragon that olde serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and he bounde him a thousand yeeres:
3 And cast him into the bottomles pit, and he shut him vp, and sealed the doore vpon him, that he shoulde deceiue the people no more, till the thousand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he must bee loosed for a litle season.
4 And I sawe [a] seates: & they sate vpon them, &
iudgement

a For iudgement was committed to them, as to members ioyned to the head: not that Christes office was giuen ouer to them.

iudgement was giuen vnto them, & I saw the soules of them that were beheaded for the witnes of Iesus, and for the worde of God, & which did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads, or on their hands: and they liued, & reigned with Christ a thousand yeere.
5 But the rest of the dead men shall not liue againe, vntill the thousand yeres be finished: this is the first resurrection.
6 Blessed and holy is he, that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the second death hath no power: but they shalbe the Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reigne with him a thousand yeere.
7 And when the thousand yeres are expired, Satan shalbe loosed out of his prison, 8 And shall go out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euen ✠ Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whose number is, as the sand of the sea.
9 And they went vp into the b plaine of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints about, & the beloued citie: but fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.
10 And the deuill that deceiued them, was cast into a lake of fire and brimstone, where that beast and that false prophet are, and shall be tormented euen day and night for euermore.
11 And I saw a great white throne, and one that sate on it, from whose face fled away both the earth and heauen, and their place was no more found.
12 And I sawe the dead, both great & small stand before God: and the bookes were opened, & ✠ another booke was opened, which is the booke of life, & the dead were iudged of those things, which were written in the bookes, according to their workes.
13 And the sea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their workes.
14 And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.
15 And whosoeuer was not found written in the booke of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

CHAP. XXI.

1 He describeth newe Hierusalem descending from heauen, 9 the bride the Lambes wife, 11 and the glorious building of the citie, 19 garnished with precious stones: 22 whose temple the Lambe is.

AND I sawe * a newe heauen, and a newe earth:
for the * first heauen, & the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.
2 And I Iohn sawe the holy citie newe Hieru-salem come downe from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.
3 And I heard a great voice out of heauen, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them: and they shalbe his people, and God himselfe shalbe their God with them.
4 ✠ And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes: and there shalbe no more death, neither sorow, neither crying, neither shal there be any more paine: for the first things are passed.
5 And he that sate vpon the throne, said, *Behold I make all things newe: and he saide vnto me, Write: for these wordes are faithfull and true.
6 And he said vnto me, ✠ It is done, I am Alpha & Omega, the beginning and the ende. I wil giue to him ẏ is athirst, of the well of the water of life freely.
7 He that ouercommeth, shal inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall be my sonne.

8 But the fearefull and vnbeleeuing, and the abominable and murtherers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liers shall haue their a part in the lake, which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.
9 And there came vnto me one of the seuen Angels, which had the seuen vials full of the seuen last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come: I will shewe thee the bride, the Lambes wife.
10 And he caried me away in the spirit to a great and an hie mountaine, and he shewed me that great citie, that holie Hierusalem, descending out of heauen from God,
11 Hauing the glory of God: and her shining was like vnto a stone most precious, as a Iasper stone cleare as crystall,
12 And had a great wall and hie, and had twelue gates, and at the gates twelue Angels, & the names written, which are the twelue tribes of the children of Israel.
13 On the East part there were three gates, and on the Northside three gates, on the Southside three gates, and on the Westside three gates.
14 And the wall of the citie had twelue foundations, and in them the Names of the Lambes twelue Apostles.
15 And he that talked with me, had a golden reede, to measure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.
16 And the citie laye b foure square, and the length is as large as the bredth of it, and he measured the citie with the reede, twelue thousand furlongs: and the length, and the bredth, & the height of it are equall.
17 And he measured the wall thereof, an hun-dreth fourtie and foure cubites, by the measure of man, that is, of the c Angel.
18 And the building of ẏ wal of it was of Iasper:
and the citie was pure gold, like vnto cleare glasse.
19 And the foundations of ẏ wal of the city were garnished with all maner of precious stones: the first foundation was Iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of Chalcedonie: the fourth of an Emeraude: 20 The fift of a Sardonix: the sixt of a Sardius: the seuenth of a Chrysolite: the eight of a Beryl: the ninth of a Topaze: the tenth of a Chrysoprasus: the ele-uenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Amethyst.
21 And the twelue gates were twelue pearles, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the d streete of the citie is pure golde, as shining glasse.
22 And I sawe no Temple therein: for the Lorde
God almightie and the Lambe are the Temple of it.
23 ✠ And this citie hath no neede of the sunne, neither of the moone to shine in it: for the glorie of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it.
24 ✠ And the people which are saued, shal walke in the light of it: and the Kings of the earth shall bring their glorie and honour vnto it.
25 *And the gates of it shall not be shut by day:
for there shalbe no night there.
26 And the glorie, and honour of the Gentiles shall be brought vnto it.
27 And there shall enter into it none vncleane thing, neither whatsoeuer worketh abomination, or lies: but they which are written in ẏ Lambes booke of life.

AND he shewed me a pure riuer of water of life, cleare as crystall, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe.
2 In the middest of the street of it, and of either side of the riuer, was ẏ tree of life which bare twelue maner of fruits, and gaue fruit euery moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with.
3 And there shalbe no more curse, but ẏ throne
